TORONTO, Jan. 7.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market yesterday, as reported by the railways, were 90 carloads, composed of 1412 cattle, 938 hogs, 1180 sheep and 95 calves.

Exporters.

One or two loads of cattle, weighing 1250 to 1300 lbs. each, sold at $4.75 and $4.85 for butcher purposes. A few export bulls sold at $3.50 to $4.40 per cwt.

Butchers.

Trade brisk for best grades. Prime picked lots sold at $4.75 to $4.90, and one or two extra well finished cattle brought $5; loads of good, $4.50 to $4.75; medium at $4 to $4.25; common, $3.50 to $3.85; cows, $2.25 to $3.40; canners, $1 to $2 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

Deliveries of milkers and springers were fairly large. Prices ranged from $30 to $55 each, and one or two extra quality sold for more money.

Veal Calves.

Receipts of veal calves were moderate. Prices firm at $3.50 to $6.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Export ewes, $3.75 to $4 per cwt.; lambs, $5 to $6 per cwt.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris stated that $5.90 per cwt. for selects was the current price, and lights at $5.65. An odd lot of extra choice, well-finished hogs would be worth a little more.

ENEMY OF THE WHITES.

Intrigues of Dinizulu Exposed in Court.

Pietermaritzburg, Jan. 8.—At the preliminary examination of Dinizulu, the Zulu king, in the Central jail here, the first witness was the 13-year-old son of Chief Bambata. The boy related how after the outbreak of the native disturbances last year he went on a visit to the Usutu kraal—the residence of Dinizulu — with Bambata and others. Dinizulu summoned Bambata and said to him: "You are a coward. You waited until the white men came, and you looked at them, but you did not fight. You came here with words, seeking shelter. I will give you a gun and ammunition. Return and fight the white people. I will help you to that extent."

The witness said he had the gun, which was a Mauser, in his hands. He added that Dinizulu sent Cakigana to assist Bambata to manage his impi, Bambata being inexperienced. After the fighting Cakigana and Bambata went back to the Usutu kraal, Bambata subsequently returning to the bush.

After the final scattering of the impi many rebels came to Usutu, where Dinizulu employed them in general work. There were about thirty guns at Usutu. While at Usutu, the witness added, he noticed that guards were stationed at night whenever there was any suspicion that a European force was in the neighborhood.

Stole Bishop's Coat.

Cornwall, Jan. 8.—Twenty-three months in the Central Prison was the sentence handed out by Judge O'Reilly yesterday to Philip Benoit of Alexandria, the young man who stole Bishop MacDonell's fur-lined coat from the Palace Alexandria on New Year's night.

Benoit has already served a three-year term in the Kingston Penitentiary.

Gives Her Brain to Science.

New York, Jan. 8.—Unless some one "beats her to it" the distinction of being the first woman to proffer her brain for scientific purposes after the immutable law has decreed that she is done with it, will go to Miss Louise Randolph, a society leader. According to present plans, her brain will some day repose in a glass jar in the custody of the Anthropometric Society.

Rockefeller Withdraws Aid.

New York, Jan. 8.—John D. Rockefeller has withdrawn his support from the committee on the prevention of tuberculosis of the Charity Organization Society, and as a result the chief work of the committee is to be discontinued.

Mr. Rockefeller gave $7,500 last year. The stipulation was that $20,000 should be raised.

Open Water at Port Water.

Port Arthur, Jan. 8.—The record for late navigation was again broken yesterday when the tug Laura Grace left Pigeon River with a load of supplies for Thunder Bay. It is quite open, and the tug expects to make a couple of trips.

Who Will Get the Wardenship?

New County Council Will Hold its First Meeting on January 28th.

The new County Council, which will this year be composed of seventeen members, instead of sixteen as in 1907, Smith township having a deputy reeve, will hold its inaugural meeting on Tuesday, January 28th.

Much interest centres in the election of a warden to succeed the retiring occupant of the office, Mr. Patrick McNulty, of Asphodel. The three names most prominently mentioned in connection with the wardenship are Reeve Jas. Thompson, of Havelock, Reeve John Brown, of North Monaghan, and Reeve R. N. Scott of Smith. It is likely the choice will be between these three. All have had considerable municipal experience and in the hands of any one of them the office would be filled conscientiously and acceptably.

Fire Brigade Has Credit Balance of Seventy-Five Dollars

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Thanks to Those Who Helped to Make Opening a Success—Officers Elected.

The members of the Peterborough Fire Brigade have every reason to congratulate themselves on their excellent standing as a brigade among the community and on the flourishing condition of their affairs. At the annual meeting of the brigade held in the fire hall last night encouraging reports were presented by Secretary Gibbs and Treasurer Tremaine, the latter's statement showing a balance of $75 on the proper side of the ledger. The meeting was largely attended and much important business was transacted. A vote of thanks was passed to those who in any way assisted at the opening of the fire hall on New Year's day, and the local firemen are deeply grateful to all who were instrumental in making the function the success it was.

Chief Rutherford informed a Review representative that he was much pleased with the way the public turned out to the opening, thus showing their interest in the fire hall and the work of the brigade. The invitation he said had been a general one, and no special favors or concessions had been made to anybody. He was pleased to note the presence of so many children at the opening and was glad of the opportunity given them of inspecting the hall and enjoying themselves generally.

The election of officers at last night's meeting for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

Assistant Chief—J. Gibbs, Jr.
1st Lieutenant—W. G. Methered.
2nd Lieutenant—C. Butcher.
Secretary—W. J. Tremaine.
Treasurer—W. P. Adamson.
Finance Committee—S. Sharpe, W. Turner, W. Evans.

Was Absolutely Composed As He Walked to Death

John Boyd Hanged at Toronto Jail This Morning for Murder of E. S. Wandle on July 11th—Story of the Crime

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—At Toronto jail at 8.11 this morning, John Boyd, the colored hotel porter, who murdered E. S. Wandle, also colored, and a restaurant keeper on York street, on July 11th, was executed by Hangman Radcliffe.

He walked to death between guards with an unfaltering step, and was absolutely composed.

The drop of 7 feet broke his neck, and there was not a tremor in the body after the fall.

The spectators were strictly limited to press representatives, police and representatives of the Salvation Army.

Boyd's crime showed premeditation and a resolution to kill. After a quarrel with Wandle over a woman Boyd bought a revolver, and, going to Wandle's place, hunted his victim from room to room, killing him with two shots.

With Economy Farmers Will Have an Abundace of Fodder

A report has just been received from the Ontario Department of Agriculture on the crops and live stock of Ontario for 1907, in which the following reference to conditions in Peterborough county is made:—

Peterborough.— Reports differ as to the extra sale of live stock owing to the fear that supplies of food would be short. The general opinion, however, is that with economy nearly all farmers will be able to carry their stock through the winter. Young pigs are being sold at low prices. A limited quantity of hay and grain is being sold.

Asphodel—Most farmers, by strict economy in feeding, will have enough to winter their stock. Quite a few cattle were sacrificed owing to a sort of panic among the farmers, owing to the scarcity of feed, some two-year olds being sold for less than $10 each. There is very little hay for sale. Most of the fall wheat will be sold and some peas; but most of the other grains will be fed. Young pigs are being sacrificed.

Otonabee—The majority of our farmers have an abundance of hay and straw, coarse grain and roots for their stock, and the minority with care will get through, except for food for hogs. No supplies are being purchased by farmers. There is very little selling off of stock on account of the scarcity of fodder. There is the usual selling of young beef stock, and a limited quantity of hay, oats, barley and peas.

Faints in Witness Box; Scene at County Police Court Trial This Morning

Mrs. Thos. Weston Overcome While Giving Evidence in Assault Case This Morning—Fred Holland of Lakefield Faces Court on Two Charges—Testimony of an Unsavory Character—Witness Makes Serious Accusations.

While being cross-examined by Mr. G. N. Gordon at the county police court this morning Mrs. Thos. Weston was suddenly seized with a fainting spell. A peculiar phase of the matter is that Mr. Gordon was asking her if she was not subject to fainting when agitated. She was giving evidence in the case of indecent assault against Frederick Holland of Lakefield, alleged to have been committed on December 25th. His Worship County Police Magistrate Edmison noticed that she was becoming weak and advised her to sit down. In a second or two after resuming her seat she swooned away. Her husband who was waiting outside came in and carried her to an adjoining room, where she was revived. Under the circumstances the magistrate thought an adjournment advisable, and adjourned court until two o'clock this afternoon.

On the charge against Holland of selling liquor without a license on Christmas day, the evidence of which had all been heard before the opening of court this morning, judgment was reserved until after the testimony in the assault case had been heard.

Mr. Gordon, who also acted for the defence on this charge, said that the evidence of Mrs. Weston was denied by three persons in the house at the time.

The evidence of Mrs. Weston and her husband was conflicting. The evidence for the prosecution had been denied and broken down to such an extent that it was practically of no use. Mrs. Weston in asking for liquor had broken the law herself. She went to see Holland on a mission of temptation, as she knew she was doing wrong when she went and asked Holland for liquor.

Mr. Cochrane, representing the interests of the prosecution, said he had learned on good authority that Holland did not have a good character, and said nothing could be proved against the reputation of the witnesses for the prosecution.

"I don't know why I have any good reason to disbelieve what Mrs. Weston said," remarked the magistrate in summing up. "Mrs. Weston offered him a dollar for the whiskey, and the defence alleges the money was returned. I don't think this has been established. I think that the liquor was sold. Mrs. Weston swears positively she did not receive back the dollar. I think on the evidence I must make a conviction."

At this juncture Mr. Gordon argued that there was the evidence of three witnesses for the defence against one for the prosecution.

"The man knew he was violating the law," said His Worship, "when he sold the liquor and it has not been proved to my satisfaction that the money was returned."

"Her evidence has been contradicted in every portion of it," said Mr. Gordon.

His Worship said he would let the matter stand until after the evidence on the charge of assault preferred against Holland by Mrs. Weston was heard. The charge of assault was then proceeded with.

CHARGED WITH INDECENT ASSAULT.

Mrs. Weston, the complainant against Weston on the charge of indecent assault alleged to have taken place on last Christmas Day, was called as witness and gave evidence for the prosecution.

She went to the defendant's house on Christmas day for a bottle of whiskey. Mr. Holland was out at the time and she and his wife started out to go to the cement works where he was employed and asked him for a bottle of whiskey Mrs. Weston wanted. She gave him a dollar bill for the bottle of whiskey. Holland offered her the dollar back, stating he wished to return the money to her and wished her to go upstairs with him. She was sitting by the kitchen stove at the time, and when Holland made indecent approaches to her she fainted away. His wife was in the hallway winding up a gramaphone when the proposition was made to her. Mr. and Mrs. Holland carried her upstairs, witness stated. When she came to she found herself on a bed with his wife sitting on the foot of the bed.

She said Holland made a proposition to her after she had came downstairs again to keep house for him for a time.

"My wife's got no go in her," the witness said Holland stated. "I have taken a fancy to you."

"I haven't to you," the witness replied.

Witness left Holland's house after five o'clock. In a former hearing she stated she left home to go to Holland's at about 12 o'clock. She was accompanied part of the way home by Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Holland's mother-in-law, who remarked that Holland was a bad man.

"Thank God I have got out of his house, then," responded the witness.

The witness was put through a searching cross-examination by Mr. Gordon. She said she was there about two hours when Holland asked her to go upstairs with him. During this time Holland was drinking whiskey glass after glass, and he became so drunk he could hardly stand up. Didn't know how many glasses he took. Holland asked her to go upstairs about a dozen times. When witness came downstairs from the bedroom it was about half an hour after she had fainted away. His wife came upstairs and said, "Fred, what are you doing?" Witness said she wanted to go home to her children, and went downstairs.

THE WEATHER IN JANUARY

Rev. Iri Hicks, in the January number of his official organ, "Word and Works," has the following to say about the weather for the first month of 1908;—

A reactionary storm period is central on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd. There are several reasons for apprehending general and severe terrestial and atmospheric perturbations at and about this first storm period in 1908. Within twenty hours of sunset on the 3rd, general and heavy winter storms, amounting to blizzards and blockades in many sections, with severe seismic disturbances in many parts of the earth may reasonably be counted on. Parts of the earth on and south of the equator subject to earthquake disturbances, will be especially exposed to seismic lines of force at this time. No reader of these forecasts should be surprised if one of the greatest cold waves of the winter appears from about the 3rd to the 7th, progressively out of the Northwest. Watch indications and reports

A reactionary storm period falls on the 24th and 27th, with the mercury period central on the 27th. Rain and snow and sleet followed by colder may be expected. The month ends in a regular storm period.

New Officers of I.O.O.F. Lodges

Are Being Installed in Norwood, Marmora and Havelock

Bro R. J. Matchett, D.D.G.M., of Peterborough district, I.O.O.F., accompanied by Bros. W. J. The Peterborough triple linked men are in Marmora today. They will install the officers of Marmora Lodge, I.O.O.F., this evening and return to Peterborough tomorrow.

On Friday night the officers of Havelock Lodge will be installed.

Temperance People Will Erect Sheds

At Westwood if Hotel Sheds are Not Made Public

Westwood, January 7.—Mrs. John McConnell, of Montana, is visiting her brother, Mr. John Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, of North Dakota, are visiting at Mr. John Sargent's.

Mr and Mrs Jas. Anderson, of Goderich, are visiting the Faux brothers, Mrs. Anderson's brothers.

Rev D. D. McDonald, of Keene, preached a stirring sermon on temperance on Sunday evening last in the Methodist church here.

Rev D. A. Thompson, of Hastings, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church on Sunday last.

Local option won the day. Asphodel will be dry for another 3 years.

This Man Has No Use for Local Option

Mr. J. A. Wilson, of Orillia, Says it Will Kill That Town

One man who doesn't believe in local option is Mr. J. A. Wilson of Orillia, who passed through the city last night on his way to Ottawa. He was sorry to hear the local option by-law had carried in Orillia, and said it would kill the town both from the standpoint of commerce and from that of the summer tourist traffic.

"The tourists will pass through Orillia in summer," he said, "and go on to Barrie and other points, and it is going to do the town untold harm in the matter of business."

AN ENJOYABLE ENTERTAINMENT

A very successful entertainment was held at Salem, under the auspices of the Sunday school on the evening of Dec. 30. In spite of unfavorable roads and weather, there was a large attendance, the proceeds amounting to nineteen dollars and eighty-five cents. The following programme was rendered:

Hymn—All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name.

Prayer—Rev. C. Coon.

Address of welcome — Charlie Webster.

Address—Chairman, Mr. S. L. Sargent.

Duet—Life's Dream is Over, Miss Jean Girven and Mr. Bruce Quinn.

Recitation — Through the Looking Glass, Sadie Johnston.

Song—Love at Home, Myrtle Sargent.

Recitation—Johnny's Pa Learns to Skate, Wilfred Girven.

Recitation — When Mother Goes Away, Vita Sargent.

Song—Jesus, Little Lamb, Sadie Johnston.

Reading—Mrs. Puffer's Silver wedding, Edwin Sargent.

Recitation — Mother's Help, Bertha Sargent.

Song, selected—Mr. B. Deyell.

Recitation — Hoeing and Praying, Maggie Johnston.

Recitation — When Father Shaves, Sam Carpenter.

Dialogue — The Returned Brother, Miss Mabel Johnston, Messrs. Roy and Charlie Webster.

Instrumental, selected—Mrs. W. D. Sargent, Miss Margaret Girven and Mr. Ed. Hunter.

Recitation — Query, Florence Sargent.

Recitation — The New Church Organ, Annie Girven.

Song — Love Me, and the World is Mine, Mr. Bruce Quinn.

Refreshments.

Song, selected—Mr. C. Hanbidge.

Dial—The Sewing Circle, scene 1, the Misses Violet Webster and Lillie Hatherly.

Instrumental, selected — Mrs. W. D. Sargent, Miss Margaret Girven, and Mr. Ed. Hunter.

Dialogue—The Sewing Circle, scene 2, Misses Violet Webster, Lillie Hatherly, Marion Johnston, Ethel Armstrong, Jean Girven, Mabel Johnston, Annie Girven and Edwin Sargent.

Song, selected—Mrs. W. D. Sargent.

Dialogue—The New Boy, Miss Margaret Girven, Messrs. Edwin Sargent and Wilfred Girven.

Duet—Oysters and Clams, Messrs B. Deyell and C. Hanbidge.

Address—Rev. C. Coon.

Song, selected—Mr. T. Petrie.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the programme to an end; and thus a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

Gore's Landing and Harwood Must Go "Dry"

Local Option By-law Carries in Hamilton Township

Liquor can no longer be sold at Gore's Landing and Harwood, two of the popular Rice Lake summer resorts. These places are situated in Hamilton township, where the local option bylaw carried on Monday. Idly-Wyld, however, does not come within the local option jurisdiction, not being located in the same township as the other two places. The fact that Harwood and Gore's Landing will be "dry" in the future will have a considerable effect on conditions at Rice Lake. Many will be pleased, and there will also be some who won't feel so good about it.

The Allan and C. P. R. steamship lines both report that the number of returning immigrants from Canada during the last two months is far larger than the number brought out during the same period.

BURIED AT KINGSTON.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Frank Rogers took place this afternoon at 2.30 from 67 Gore street to Cataraqui cemetery. The service was conducted by the Dean of Ontario, who made touching reference to the loving character and life of the deceased and the tender sympathy extended to the bereaved orphans. The pall-bearers were Colonel McGill, Colonel Taylor, Mr. E. J. B. Pense, Capt. Cochrane, Mr. Frank Dobbs and Mr. H. Tandy.—Kingston News.

WAY OF THE WORLD.

Editorial work is one kind of brain work which concerns itself with reporting happenings and the application of thoughts and principles. Such work has a value and is entitled to recompense quite as much as selling of material things, constructing buildings or doing other work. The S.O.F. Record says: "It is strange but true, that there are men and communities of men who would not think for one moment of demanding of another his material products without recompense, who yet deem it perfectly justifiable to ask for and accept, without any return, the time and mental efforts of another where the products are not material things, although such expenditure of time and effort may not infrequently result also in added material benefits for those on whose behalf they have expended." Possibly no class of men render as much gratuitous service as editors, and too often their work goes unrewarded or unrecognized by a community.

Many Persons are Attending the Meetings

Several of the clergymen expressed themselves as surprised and delighted at the response made by the people of Peterborough, to their appeal on behalf of the meetings of the week of prayer.

Murray Street Baptist church was well filled with men and women, and numerous remarks of appreciation of the meeting were heard at the door. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt conducted the service, assisted by the choir of Murray Street Baptist church. The subject for the meeting, "The Consciousness of Sin," was discussed by Rev. Mr. Keith, Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. Mr. Webb, Rev. Mr. Coon, Rev. Mr. Pogue were noticed in the audience.

A large congregation also met at Park Street Baptist church, where Rev. Mr. Pearson presided. The address was given by Rev. Mr. Potter on the same subject discussed at Murray street. Rev. Mr. Brace and Rev. Mr. Manning were also present.

The meeting tonight will be held in George Street Methodist church, and a large attendance is expected. The subject will be "The Punishment of Sin."

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux arrived at Victoria, B.C., from Japan. He expressed a hope that the immigration question would be settled in a friendly manner.

MANY PAID LAST TRIBUTE OF RESPECT

Largely Attended Funeral of Late Wm. Pringle—Floral Offerings Were Numerous and Beautiful

With every token and tribute possible for one to make, the remains of the late Wm. Pringle were laid to rest in Little Lake cemetery yesterday afternoon. Probably no funeral ever held in this city has been so largely attended, and the long cortege was composed of the numerous acquaintances of the deceased gentleman who had esteemed him highly in his lifetime. In his business and public career the late Mr. Pringle came in contact with almost every man in Peterborough, and by reason of his affable and kind disposition he won many friends.

A man of sterling qualities, his loss is greatly felt, and is an irreparable one. His death was a great blow and the sorrow and regret expressed is widespread.

The funeral service at the house yesterday was conducted by Rev. Robert Pogue of St. Paul's church, of which the deceased was one of the most faithful and active members. Rev. Mr. Pogue made a few brief remarks in which he referred to the manly and clean life of the departed. He was a striking example of a Godly man, with high ideals, and always ready to lend assistance where required.

Rev. J. R. Webb, of Murray Street Baptist church, Rev. H. J. Keith of Knox church, and Rev. J. G. Potter of St. Andrew's church, also assisted the service.

The sad procession was a lengthy one and extended for several blocks. The young men of the Business College marched in a body at the front, followed by a large number of the members of Corinthian lodge, A.F. & A.M. The members of the Board of Education, the teachers of the Collegiate Institute, and Public school, the Public Library directors and several members of the Horticultural Society attended in a body, in addition to a long array of persons who drove in cutters.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Dr. Morrison, John Crane, W. H. Hill, T. A. S. Hay, W. G. Morrow and J. W. Carey.

The last sad rites at the grave were conducted by the Masonic brethren, Worshipful Brethren F. Mathews assisted by Very Worshipful Bro. Col. H. C. Rogers conducted the service.

The floral tributes were numerous and very beautiful and a fitting testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. Many designs including ones from the Board of Education, the Masonic Order, the Business College, St. Paul's church, and several others were sent.

The bereaved wife and family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their sad loss. Not only in the home will the late Mr. Pringle be greatly missed, but throughout the city his death is deeply lamented. Peterborough has lost one of its most useful citizens, and his place will be hard to fill.

STODDART STOCK CO. AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Every Night Next Week With Change of Play Each Night

That the Stoddart Stock Company is better adapted to what Mr. Stewart himself refers to as the "higher class of plays," there is no doubt. No one who saw their presentation of the "Belle of Richmond" but felt that the company as a whole was absolutely at home in the higher atmosphere of their new repertoire. Miss Stoddart's earnest abandon to her art is the strong point throughout her acting, and is admirably reinforced by a winning personality and a beautiful voice.

All the old favorites were on the boards last night, and hearty applause greeted Paull and Reynolds, the elongated comedian, and the eccentric Mr. Phillips, both of whom received hearty encores. The Armitage sisters were again well received in their Scotch dances, and heartily encored. —Kingston, Ont., Daily Whig.

He Got Largest Vote Ever Polled

Ald. Phelan Receives Congratulations on Heading the List

Ald. Harry Phelan, who headed the poll on election day, received 1938 votes. This is 861 more than he was given last year when he stood fifth in the race. The highest vote polled in 1907 was received by Ald. W. G. Morrow. The figure was 1216. This year Ald. Phelan, who, as stated, lead in the finish secured 1398, or 182 more than the winner in the battle twelve months ago. Ald Phelan in 1895 and 96 represented No. 2 Ward and in one year polled the biggest vote ever secured by a candidate in the city. On that occasion his friends presented him with a turkey, which he handed over to the poor. In 1896 Ald. Phelan was returned by acclamation. He then dropped out of municipal life for ten years, but re-entered last year when he was elected chairman of the Legal and Reception committee. Ald. Phelan is certainly a great vote getter and practically did no canvassing this year. His friends, since election day have been busy congratulating him on the signal honor of leading the list and capturing the greatest number of ballots ever given a candidate for aldermanic honors.

ENNISMORE

Ennismore, Jan. 8. — Following are the official figures from Ennismore:

Reeve—Samuel Killen, 126.

Councillors—Michael Perdue, 139; Timothy Crough, 129; William D. Cavanagh, 129; William Harrington, 123.

It was one of the liveliest contests held in Ennismore for many years. The old council will take their seats for the year 1908 with the exception of Mr. D. Kennedy, who resigned at the nomination. His chair will be taken by Mr. William D. Cavanagh.

CAVAN

The elections in Cavan resulted as follows:

Reeve—Chas. McNeil, acclamation.

Councillors — Wm. R. Shields, 317; Geo. Barry, 307; Geo. S. Thorne, 279.

The reeve and deputy were re-elected. All the councillors are new.

ASPHODEL

In Ashpodel township Wm. Oakman was elected reeve by a majority of 277 over John Walsh. Ex-Warden R. McNulty was not a candidate for the reeveship, having retired after nomination. The councillors elected are John McMillan, W. Comstock, Abraham Brown and John McNaughton.

The local option by-law was carried by the following vote. For 309; against 147. Majority for local option 162.

CHANDOS

The election in Chandos resulted in the return of Reeve Wm. Hales. With one poll yet to hear from, which will likely increase Mr. Hale's majority, the result is, Wm. Hales, 110, D. S. Campbell, 55.

Edmonton Keeps on Ordering Telephones in Big Batches

Canadian Machine Telephone Company Has to Keep Hustling to Keep Up With the Demand.

The following is from the Edmonton Bulletin:—

Clearly the city of Edmonton and the Canadian Machine Telephone Co. are indulging in a speed contest; and at present the company seem likely to finish a very poor second. About a year and a half ago we ordered a telephone system to be built—capacity 700 phones. Six months later the system was not completed, but as the city had been growing the makers were asked to provide for 500 more phones. The system is not yet completed, but as the city has continued to grow we are under the apparent necessity of ordering provision for another 500 phones.

The relation of the city and the company appear to be those of the hare and the hound, the city steadily traversing the pathway of progress at a speed that puts all our forecasts at the background, the company toiling somewhere in the rear, trying to overtake the city's growing need of telephone service. Where, when and how the pursuit will end is for the prophets and mathematicians, but at present the city appears to be making about two leaps for the company's one. A few days ago the company were congratulating themselves that the chase was nearly over. They even wrote the city to that effect, and said the 1,200 phones system would be shipped on January 20th. But Alderman Picard began to calculate and concluded that the 1,200 phone system would be about 500 phones short of the requirements. This will be cruel news to the company. They are confronted with a new task nearly as large as the original; the city has gained another lap as it were.

It is to be hoped the Company's disappointment will not deepen into discouragement, for though the present seems unpromising all things are possible to the resolute; and who knows but that some day the company may have accumulated enough telephone appliances to meet the city's immediate needs? Then they will have a fresh start with no handicap; their whole problem will be to manufacture as fast as the demand increases; and they need not fear that we shall hold them too rigidly to this small duty, for people who have subsisted so long on promise will be grateful for almost any kind of performance.

Chief Rutherford Tells What He Thinks of Action Of 57th Regimental Band

Says They Should Have Been on Hand on New Year's Day—"After Promising to Come to Give the Public a Little Music, Would Not do so Without Being Paid"—A Strong Expression of Opinion.

At the conclusion of the meeting of the fire brigade last night, Chief Rutherford, speaking to the members of the brigade, said he wished to make a few remarks in regard to the opening of the new hall. He complimented the firemen on the manner in which they carried out the programme in making a complete public demonstration. He said: There is one thing in connection with the matter that did not meet with the requirements of the day, and that was the shabby manner in which the band of the 57th Regiment used us, and the general public. For 25 years the city has provided rooms and light for this band, which was originated by the Peterborough Fire Department, and has ever since been supported by the city. And I think that on an occasion such as the opening, when there was no money to be made, but money to be spent, they, after promising to come and give the public a little music, would not do so without being paid. These remarks apply only to certain members of the band, and not to those who were perfectly reasonable and willing to come, but to those who were inclined to kick. Many of you gentlemen have given a quarter of a century of service to the city for practically nothing in the interests of our homes and people, and I feel very sorry that the children and citizens and visitors spent the day without one note of music from the band that has cost this city so much money.'

Italians Fought Like Madmen On Charlotte Street Last Evening

Three Natives of Sunny Italy Engage in Lively Fracas—Nicholas Renzetti Assaulted P. C. Newhall While Making the Arrest—Appeared in Court This Morning—Remanded Until To-morrow.

A melee, in which three Italians Nicholis Renzetti, Antonio Morone and Nicolo Morone were engaged, took place last evening at the Italian settlement, at 217 Charlotte street. The Morone brothers are boarders at Renzetti's, and it seems that trouble has existed between the two parties for some time past, and yesterday it reached a climax. Renzetti returned home in a state of intoxication, and a lively time ensued. No knives were drawn, the frenzied men resorting their fists for weapons, and one of them employed his teeth as a means of defence. Renzetti has one hand bandaged up today. He claims to have been bitten by Antonio Morone, but the latter states on the contrary, that he received the injury by cutting himself with a piece of broken glass.

There was an endless flow of profanity from the three, and until the police arrived there was a lively mixup, and confusion predominated. Officers Adams and Newhall made the arrest, but it was by no means an easy matter. Renzetti fought like a madman, and, with the assistance of his wife, who also was more or less engaged in the fracas, hit P.C. Newhall several blows. However, when he drew his baton, Renzetti walked along to the police station without further resistance. The two Morones went peaceably along and P.C. Adams had no difficulty with them. They were not the aggressors in the scrap, and only defended themselves against the infuriated Renzetti.

In the police court this morning the three appeared before Magistrate Dumble and pleaded not guilty to being disorderly last evening. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for Renzetti. Three additional charges were preferred against him, that of assaulting the Morone brothers, and one for assaulting Samuel Newhall, a police officer, while in the discharge of his duties. Mr. Gordon, on behalf of his client, pleaded not guilty to these.

The prosecution was not ready to go on, and an adjournment was made until tomorrow morning. Bail was granted Renzetti at $500, and Antonio and Nicolo Morone were given bail at $200 each. They were confined to gaol until the sureties could be procured.

Mr. Thomas Minicolo acted as interpreter. The prisoners cannot speak English fluently enough to give their evidence.

NORWOOD FAIR

Annual Meeting of the Society Will be Held on January 21st.

The annual meeting of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society, of which Mr. F. Birdsall is president, and J. E. Rosborough secretary, will be held in the Town Hall, Norwood, on Tuesday, January 21st, at one o'clock, for the election of officers, receiving reports, etc.

He Has Not Yet Paid the Fine

Geo. Moncrief, of Cavendish, who was fined $50 and costs for the too promiscuous use of firearms, by County P.M. Edmison has not paid the fine. He is in the county gaol, where he will have to stay for 30 days at hard labor, unless the money is forthcoming.

Loves the Sound of Scotch Braw

Mr. George D. Grant M.P., Met a True Hielan' Laddie in Ottawa

Those who best know Mr. Geo. D. Grant, the popular member of the federal house for North Ontario, best know him as a clever Canadian, proud of his Scottish name and clan. That is his strong point. He is Scotch as the heather, and when any Scottish day rolls around, St. Andrew's, Burns' night, or what not, George D. is in his glory. A piece of gay tartan, a sprig of heather, a Scottish song, and the skirl o' th' pipes—and George D. is the very soul of animation. The other day, shortly after St. Andrew's day, and the celebration thereof, Mr. Grant was coming down from the Parliament buildings, and, just as he made to pass out of the main entrance, a delivery rig from one of the Ottawa grocers turned in at the gate, and a red-cheeked, red-haired lad leaped from the seat and, approaching Mr. Grant, enquired: "Could ye tell us the the way to the wast block? Ahm in a braw hurry!" The accent was beyond words. George D., who is nothing if not polite, stopped, and patting the wee lad on the head made reply:

"Just over there, my man," waving his hand in the direction indicated. He afterwards said that the lad's accent was the sweetest music he had heard for months. "What is your name?" The lad made reply in the same gorgeous Scotch voice, and Mr. Grant pursued:

"Where are you from?"

"Scotlan'."

"Been out long?"

"Ay, fair. Twa months."

"Where are you living?"

"Wi m' mither."

Mr. Grant was about to open another series of questions when the kid other series of questions, when the kid turned briskly about, dashed over to his rig and clambered in. "Dinna' talk to m' mair! I'm fair hurried an' I've na time to fash wi' ye!" With this the rig rattled away, and Mr. Grant was left lamenting. Days afterwards, George D. was heard to regret the chance of having had a longer chat with the wee laddie. "He had an accent that would last one over Sunday."—Toronto Saturday Night.

First Meeting of New Board

Trustees Will Hold Inaugural Gathering To-morrow Night

The inaugural meeting of the Board of Education will take place at the secretary's office on Thursday, Jan. 9th, at 8 o'clock p.m. A chairman will be elected and committees will be appointed for the coming year.

Fort William is Very Ambitious

Seeking Power to Own and Operate St. Railway System

Toronto, Jan. 8.—Fort William is desirous of constructing and operating its own street electric railway, and notice of the intention of the corporation to promote a private bill at the next session granting the necessary power has been given. The bill contains a clause sanctioning the entering into an agreement on the part of the city, with the Fort William Car Company, and the raising of $50,000 in order that such arrangement may be carried out. Power is also sought to construct bridges over the Kaministiquia, Mission and McKellar rivers, the cost of which will be provided by debentures redeemable in forty years.

PURCHASE OF LOCATION.

Authority is asked for the purchase of fifteen acres adjoining the Imperial Steel and Wire Company's premises for $20,000, and for the raising of $410,000.

The city also wishes to take over the stone quarry near Mount McKay, and construct an electric road to it, connecting with the street railway, and for this purpose seeks permission to issue debentures for $25,000.

The bill further provides that the corporation may guarantee the bonds of John McKellar Memorial General Hospital, to be known as the McKellar General Hospital, to the extent of $80,000, and acquire sites for municipal docks and wharves, as well as for industrial enterprises.

MUST HAVE MORE POWER.

Port Arthur, Ont., Jan. 8.—The city council has authorized the purchase of two hundred horsepower electrical energy from the Kaministiquia Power company to assist in the operation of the street railway. This is the first departure from the principal of municipal operation in this city, as the town has not only held its own franchises, but supplied its own power. The step was taken only as a last resort, and only until more power can be developed at the city plant.

A Winnipeg despatch says President (William Mackenzie, of the Canadian (Northern, secured sixteen million dollars during his recent visit to England, which will be used in extending the railway.

SPORTING NEWS

Team for City League Game

Asked to be on Hand at 7 O'clock—O.H.A. Teams Practice From 7 to 8.

The team to represent the Strathconas in their game with the High Lifes to-night will be picked from the following:

Goal, Wilson; point, Barber; cover point, Dusty; forwards, McMillen, Weatherstone, Dobson, Long and Dunnigan. The above are requested to be present at seven o'clock together with the following seniors who will hold a practice: Morgan, Glover, Moore, Funnell, F. McGrath, Derocher, Rose, Oliver, Bay, Clarke.

Ground Floor Score Was Low

Cressman's Employees Cut Loose at Brock Street Rink

The hockey team (so-called by courtesy) from the ground floor of Cressman's establishment, had the kalsomine lathered all over them at Brock street rink last night between six and seven o'clock. The wielders of the whitewash sticks were the hockeyists from the second and third floors and the score was 7 to 0, the half time figure being 3-0.

There was a large number of supporters from the establishment in attendance who cheered their respective teams.

The players appeared with such placards as "smallpox, keep away," etc., needless to say this was on the back of a ground floor player. He may be now in the cellar. Bunty Titterson, guarded the nets for for skylights, and blocked everything. He had the kill quick sign on his back which prevented the rubber disc from going into the nets.

The ground floor bunch feel very sore over the great slaughter, and have been advised to visit the Zam-Buk factory.

The seven from the upper regions claim that they can put it over the "Semi-ready" outfit in "King Edward" style.

Following is the line-up:—

Lower		Upper
Titterson	Goal	T. Coan
Scott	Point	C. Little
W. Laing	Cover	C. Anderson
N. Darling	Rover	H. Harrison
Tisdale	Centre	G. Stewart
H. Cressman	R. Wing	F. Cressman
Jones	L. Wing	Patterson

Sporting Comment

An athletic wizard has been unearthed in Hamilton in one Bob Stamp, who claims the Canadian high jump record. Stamp also claims that he can clear six feet tow inches any time in practice, and also says that if it came to a pinch he believed he could beat the world's record of six feet 5 5-8 inches. If the truth is told it looks as if Michael J. Creed and Harry Porter would do better at home.

Tim O'Rourke is delighted with the showing made by Claude Pierce and Hilton Green in their race from Bronte yesterday. Tim is of the opinion that Pierce looks likely to get the Hamilton to Toronto record.

He covered the distance, 27 1-2 miles, in 3 hours 13 minutes, leaving Bronte at 9.45, Oakville was passed at 10.10, Port Credit at 11.15, New Toronto 11.55. Here Pierce drew away from Green, reaching Sunnyside at 12.35 and the Grand Central at 12.58, 25 minutes ahead of Green.

The Ottawa hockey team, if their showing at Quebec on Saturday night can be taken as any criterion, has apparently several first class has-beens on its line-up. It's time Harvey Pulford was getting out of such a strenuous game as hockey and taking to chess or something more in keeping with his years. Old age and hockey don't go well together. It's a good sign when the management of a club drops the old timers and pays attention to developing the youngsters. Hockey players, like dogs, have their day.

"Jiddy" Miller is apparently making good with the Brantford professionals. He played rover in the recent match between Brantford and Guelph and showed up well. "Jiddy" should be kept around the centre of the ice rather than along the boards.

Citizens should turn out at the city league games to-night. The Strathconas and High Lifes meet at eight o'clock and when they have finished, the Lakefield and Bridgenorth teams will take to the ice. Both games should hum with excitement as the four septettes are in good condition and eager for the fray.

Who hasn't heard of Lindsay's famous "Midgets?" Anyone, who hasn't should look up the issues of the Lindsay Post before the Lindsay Midgets met their namesakes from Stratford. The famous Lindsay septette will be here on Friday night to meet the Peterborough Strathconas and a great game should be the result. Lindsay is out to win the district and will have foemen worthy of their steel in the locals, Peterborough will have a strong team and a big crowd should see the match.

HOCKEY

EVERYBODY COME.

Some one should get busy and arrange for a special to Peterborough Friday to see the hockey game there. A good many sports would like to see this game, if there were suitable train service between the towns, and would help the scheme along if someone would get busy on the idea first.—Lindsay Post.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

The C.P.R. hereby challenge the G. T. R. to a game of hockey to be played in the Brock street rink in the near future. No ringers allowed.

WHITCROFT AND CROWLEY.

Fred Whitcroft and Bill Crowley are playing great hockey for Edmonton. The Edmonton team defeated Strathcona on New Year's Day, 9-4, and Whitcroft scored five of the nine. The Edmonton Bulletin says:

"Whitcroft as never showed up much better than on Christmas Day. He was in the game from start to finish and never let up, and Wilson in the goal stopped many hard shots, while Crowley at cover point was a stone wall."

The westerners are greatly pleased with the work of the two Peterborough stalwarts. Edmonton is playing fast hockey and look good to win the western championship.

BRANTFORD AFTER MARKS.

Manager Roy Brown is in Pittsburg after Jack Marks. He stated before he left for the Smoky City that he would bring Marks back with him. Marks is needed for right wing and if Brantford lands him there is no doubt about future prospects. It will be the strengthening of the forward line and the defence, and the Telephone City team will be balanced with weight and speed.

PORT HOPE BEAT COBOURG.

Port Hope, Jan. 7. — In the first league game here this season the local juniors defeated Cobourg by the score of 5 to 2. The ice was in wretched condition, which made the play heavy, but the match was one of the hardest fought ever witnessed on local ice. At half time the score was 2 to 0 in favor of the visitors, but in the second half the locals scored at will, notching five in short order. Cobourg's only score in this half came near the close of the game. The line-up:

Port Hope—Rowden, Nixon, Sinnot, McMillan, Vincent, Edsall and Hewson.

Cobourg — Guy, Rourke, Bolster, Peachey, Reynolds, Pratt, Throop.

W. S. Hancock, of Toronto, refereed and kept the game exceptionally clean.

The opening games of the City League will be played tonight, when the Strathconas meet the High Lifes in the first game, which commences at 8 o'clock, and Bridgenorth and Lakefield come together in the second game. The contests promise to be very fast, and a big crowd of fans is expected to attend. Mr. Geo. Lynch, who has always been eminently satisfactory as referee, will handle the bell.

CURLING

GOING TO LINDSAY.

Six rinks of Peterborough curlers will arrive Thursday morning, in compliance with the invitation forwarded by Lindsay club following the destruction of the Peterborough rink by fire. The visitors will enjoy practise games among themselves in the forenoon, and after dinner will meet six Lindsay rinks skipped by the following: Messrs. W. R. Widdess, Dr. Sutton, T. A. Fisher, J. M. McLennan, P. Kennedy, Rev. Welch.—Lindsay Post.

SEND REGRETS.

Mr. R. M. Waddell, secretary of the local curling club, has received letters from the clubs at Kingston and Orillia, expressing regret at the misfortune that had befallen the local club in the destruction of the the rink.

ATHLETICS

LONGBOAT AN AMATEUR.

Harry Rosenthal, Tom Longboat's former manager, speaking to the Detroit Free Press, made the following statement:

"To show how firm is my belief in Longboat's amateur standing, I will post a certified cheque for $1,000 with the editor of the Free Press, and will donate this amount to charity if anyone can produce proof that the redskin ever received a cent of money, directly or indirectly, for taking part in races. If the Yankee athletes maintain their present course they will be unable to compete in any event in which Longboat takes part. I believe that the Indian is the greatest runner of his time."

Mr. S. F. Whitham Was Defeated

In the election in Brantford for the mayoralty Mayor J. W. Bowlby defeated ex-Ald. S. F. Whitham, who was also his opponent last year, by a majority of 24 votes. Mr. Whitham is well known in Peterborough being here frequently in connection with his work as contractor for the new Normal school.

MODERN PAPER.

Not So Good or Lasting as the Old Fashioned Kind.

"The men who wrote history on tablets of stone in ages gone had a difficult task to perform and had to cultivate the habit of brevity," says a writer in a German paper, "but what they wrote was preserved. It will be different with the newspapers and books of the present time. The paper upon which they are printed will disintegrate in a few years and the records—historical, scientific and literary—will become dust.

"I saw two papers recently which told the whole story. One contained an account of the death of Napoleon Bonaparte. It was printed in 1821, was in a state of perfect preservation and looked as though it might last with ordinary care a hundred years. The other paper was kept because its leading article described the surrender of Sedan, which had taken place a day before. Although it had been printed nearly fifty years later, the Sedan paper had to be handled carefully to prevent its tearing in the creases. One of these papers was printed on old fashioned paper and the other on the modern kind.

"With the two specimens before me I cannot refrain from urging once more that a few numbers of all books and newspapers, enough for all first class libraries, be printed on good paper for the benefit of those who will live after us."

THE SKYROCKET.

How It Is Made and the Reason It Rises in the Air.

Of all fireworks none is more beautiful from a pyrotechnic point of view or more generally popular than the skyrocket.

The powder ingredients are sulphur, charcoal and saltpeter, roughly in the proportions of fourteen, twenty-six and sixty respectively. Except in the case of military or life saving rockets, the cylindrical case is of paper or pasteboard, somewhat constricted at the fuse end. Into this the powder is rammed tightly, a conical space being left for the insertion of the quick match which passes through the constriction, or "chokehole," into the mass of powder.

This forms the body of the rocket, which is closed at the top with a plaster of paris plug. Through this a small hole filled with a fuse communicates with the conical shaped head, holding stars, serpents, crackers or gold or silver rain. The whole is, of course, attached to a slender stick to direct its flight.

On the fuse being ignited and the main cylinder of powder exploded the enormous quantity of heated gases generated force their way downward through the narrow box, urging the rocket upward in the air.—Pearson's.

Power of Habit.

The power of habit was strikingly illustrated not long ago in a shirt waist factory. One woman who had done nothing but sew up the seams of sleeves for four years was taken off that particular job and was asked to run up seams in the body of the waists. She complained that the change made her so nervous that she could not work.

"But what is the difference?" asked the foreman. "There is nothing but a straight seam here, just the same as you have been used to."

"I know," replied the woman with true feminine logic, "but it isn't sleeves."

And it did indeed prove to be a fact that owing to her four years of steady work on sleeves it took her fully that many weeks to overcome her nervousness sufficiently to run the machine at her accustomed speed when sewing another part of the waist.—Exchange.

Amended.

A Pennsylvania divine formed one of a house party in Philadelphia where the younger son, in accordance with what the clergyman observed to be his constant habit, as soon as he had seated himself at breakfast immediately possessed himself of a large slice of bread, the quality of which he proceeded to test by a liberal mouthful.

The minister, a stickler in such matters of propriety, gazed blandly at him for a moment or so; then he folded his hands and closed his eyes in preparation for grace.

"For what we are about to receive," he intoned, with painful emphasis, "and for what our young friend has already received, Lord, make us truly thankful."

The Greed For Gold.

"It's a deplorable thing, this greed for gold," said the mournful person.

"Of course," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "If the greed for gold were not so general you and I might have a chance to get some. It's a case of too many people recognizing a good thing and trying to get in on it."

Phenomenon Explained.

A comparatively young man whose mustache remained jet black while the hair on his head turned white explained the phenomenon by saying it was because his lips enjoyed all the good things of life and his head had to suffer all the troubles.

The Strange Part.

"Isn't it strange that so few men discover the secret of success in life?"

"Yes, but it's stranger still that the secret is still a secret. Surely some of the men who discovered it must have told it to their wives."

Some families seem to have more skeletons than closets.

Richard N. Smith, a prosperous farmer of Hope township, hanged himself at Starkville.

WOMEN WHO CHARM

HEALTH IS THE FIRST ESSENTIAL

It Helps Women to Win and Hold Men's Admiration, Respect and Love.

Woman's greatest gift is the power to inspire admiration, respect, and love. There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature.

Mrs. T.E. Gillis

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. At the first indication of ill-health, painful or irregular periods, headache or backache, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begin its use.

Mrs. T. E. Gillis, Windsor, N. S., describes her illness, and cures, in the following letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"When I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was suffering with weakness and womb trouble, headaches, backaches, and that worn-out, tired feeling. I have only taken the Vegetable Compound a few short weeks, and it has made me well, strong and robust. I believe that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is without equal for female troubles."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating, (or flatulence), inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, or nervous prostration may be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How They Got the Better of Canada

A peculiar condition appertaining to the new French treaty is the circumstance that no Canadian business men are enthusiastically favorable to the agreement. This state of affairs may be attributable either to the fact that the bargain is not very well understood, or to the absence of advantageous features standing out in relief and commanding attention. Possibly, inability to master all the details, coupled with disappointment where the truth with regard to special items is known, is responsible for the coolness which prevails.

Be the reason for the want of good feeling what it may, says the Mail and Empire, there can be no doubt that the treaty is not all that it was expected to be. Canada looked for a wide open market in France, and for easy access to the new customers. These advantages we are not really given. One very notable point in the bargain is the circumstance that Canada cannot get the reciprocal benefit of reduced duties in France unless she expends a large sum annually in the form of a subsidy to a direct steamship line. This is a mistake. The negotiations ought to have stood out for the admission of our goods at reduced rates regardless of the route by which they passed from us to France. Had this course been taken the establishment of a French steamship line, assuming that the treaty was wisely drawn, would become in time a business necessity and would be entered upon by men of capital with every hope of success, whether bonused or not. The requirement that the steamships shall be placed on the direct route before the trade is created is a bar against the establishment of a line. On the other hand, the cultivation of the trade would call the direct line into existence. Dr. Chisholm, who represents East Huron and is one of the most thoughtful members of the House, has been looking into the details of the treaty, including the tariff rates, and his view is that the changes the French are going to levy upon our products in return for our lower scale of duties are not at all helpful. In the first place, there is no reduction in the French duties upon our poultry, our wheat, our oats, our barley, our rye, our Indian corn, our buckwheat, our flour, our oatmeal and our malt. Upon these products we get no advantage in return for whatever we give to France. The duties are as high as they would be were there no treaty. In the case of products upon which there is a reduced duty the new duty is practically, if not absolutely, prohibitory. Thus, the charge upon a horse sold to France is $30, while that upon cattle will vary from $30 to $40, according to weight. The duty upon meat is three cents a pound for mutton, two cents a pound for pork, and rather more than two cents a pound for beef.

That our farmers will get into France with their products in the face of such duties is improbable. The Ottawa ministers who negotiated the treaty ought to have got better terms than these. The treaty may be subject to explanations which will put it in a better light. But as it now stands, it must be a disappointment to all who wished to get better trade relations with France. Our diplomats are evidently no match for the French statesmen with whom they negotiated.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
in your spare time at home.
Take a Personal Course at School.

"To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—

THE COMING OF THE JAPS

Now that the failure of the Lemieux mission to Japan has been announced, arrangements have been made for the bringing to Canada of further consignments of Japanese. A despatch from Vancouver intimates that the influx from Honolulu is increasing, and that a steamer has been chartered to leave that port for Vancouver next week with a large party. The same report states that the Canadian-Australian liners have steerage passages booked ahead for six months by Japs in Honolulu, and that other vessels will bring big loads in the spring. It now looks as if the unhappy blunder which has deprived us of the right to regulate the immigration into our own ports would cost us dearly. The Pacific coast is in danger of becoming Orientalized and utterly impossible for Canadians, says the Mail and Empire.

The objection to the Oriental influx, it is well to bear in mind, is not based upon hostility to the Eastern races but upon the desire that the magnificent West shall be a white man's land and not another China or another Japan. If what is known as Western civilization takes possession of our rapidly developing areas we shall have a great Canadian population there adding strength to the country and offering opportunities for those of the East who wish to settle in the West. But if the West is Orientalized, if it is dominated by Japanese and Chinese, the white man, unless he be an employer of labor engaged in the demolition of the forests or in the marketing of our raw products, will not be able to make a home there. The foundation of all States is the labor engaged in their development. The worker of to-day becomes the business man of to-morrow. If our pioneer workers are men of the white races the leaders of the future will be Canadians. If the pioneers are Japanese or Chinese, the civilization of the future will be Asiatic. So long as we held the key to our own door we were able to determine what the situation in years to come should be. But the moment we gave it to the Japanese, as we did when we accepted the unfortunate treaty, the power to direct our own destinies was surrendered. To-day the Japanese may come when and in what numbers they please. Their coming means a revolution in the labor market. Living under conditions that are intolerable to the whites, the Japanese can and will work for wages lower than those upon which a white can exist. The presence of the Japs in Hawaii has foreshadowed what their occupation of other countries will lead to. From all skilled trades they are driving the whites because they can work for half the white man's pay. Their latest conquest is that of the small storekeeper. Not having to live up to the standard of the ordinary retailer, they have seized upon a large part of the retail business and will soon have it all. The artisans and the tradesmen having nothing left for them are compelled to seek a living where their competitors have not as yet been introduced. Honolulu is thus in a fair way to become a colony of Japan instead of a valuable part of the United States.

British Columbia ought to have been protected from a like fate. Had the warnings of the Royal Commission which enquired into the question of Japanese immigration been heeded, such protection would certainly have been given. The circumstance that we have actually placed it beyond our own power to say whether or not large numbers of Japanese shall settle in the country is most deplorable. It is a surrender of legislative rights that no self-respecting country ought to make, and that no country ruled by men worthy of their positions would be led into. The West is calling for redress; but in view of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's statement that he is opposed to the attitude of British Columbia, the ball under present conditions at Ottawa is made in vain.

A WORD TO BOYS

Our young friend, did you ever know—can you call to mind a single case of a person, who, having his own way to make in the world, spent his time on the streets or in any other form of idleness or dissipation to succeed in an eminent degree in any enterprise? Look over your list of friends and acquaintances and note their status. Do you not find upon examination that those who to-day are men of influence and honor, were the youths who made the most of valuable time, turning it to good account? And, on the other hand, do you not find that those who stood on the corners with a pipe or cigar in their mouths, went from bad to worse, from worse to ruin? Surely worse, from worse to ruin? Sadly, must the answer be made—oh! that it were not so,—they have failed. Will you profit by the experience of others? Go not that way. Never be idle. Every moment of your time is a golden one, use it so as to improve the mind, fix your mind on some noble object, be men; This call is for men, will you not be one of that number who can say, "I am a man."

PEN POINTS

How many votes did you lose?

Now for lower water rates.

Of course you knew how it would go.

Problem—Find a man who dropped a vote.

Meanwhile the struggle for the civic chairmanships goes merrily on. Oh, that we could peep behind the scenes!

It is now so quiet. Who would have thought that a couple of days ago a lively election contest was in progress.

Do not forget the meeting of all Conservatives of ward three at the Young Conservative Club rooms this evening.

The local option zone around Peterborough was considerably increased by Monday's vote. The coming summer in this district will be drier than ever.

All Peterborough people cannot seriously believe that cleanliness is next to Godliness, or they would not have voted unfavorably on the garbage plebiscite.

The newly elected representatives are busily receiving the congratulations of their friends, while the defeated candidates are engaged trying to figure out how it occurred.

Local option, which was adopted in Harvey township on Monday will not effect any liquor interests there. There is no hotel in the township, and it is a case of "as you were."

If Peterborough did not pronounce in favor of a system of garbage collection, we have the satisfaction, according to Sanitary Inspector Ball's information, of knowing that our milk supply is cleaner than that of Toronto.

The old Board of Education held its final meeting last night. It has done good work during the year in looking after the erection of new schools, making new appointments and generally guarding the education weal of the city. While we would not like to praise the chairman too highly, still, on the whole, he was eminently Fair.

The primary meetings of the Conservatives of the city to select delegates for the approaching convention are being well attended and a fine list of delegates is being chosen. All Conservatives are cordially invited. Ward three electors meet to-night at the rooms. Every member of the Liberal-Conservative party is urged to be present.

The Ottawa Journal remarks:—Organized municipalities in Ontario are to receive from the Provincial treasury eight cents per head of their population according to the census of 1901, as their share of the tax levied on the railways operating within the boundaries of the province. The total amount in 1906 at the same rate was $81,080. The sum is probably not enough to hurt railway shareholders, but it is enough to express the principle of the people's ownership of the provincial domain.

To the extent of $13,696 the provincial treasury benefitted more in 1907 from the railway tax than in 1906. The total income last year was $390,000 as compared with $376,304 in 1906. The proceeds of the tax are to be distributed on the same basis, however, as they were in 1906. That is to say that after a first deduction of $30,000 by the Government to cost of administration, etc., the Government retain half of the balance. The remaining $180,000 will be distributed among the municipalities on the basis of eight cents per head of the population, according to the census of 1901, after a deduction of three cents a day for all patients in asylums paying less than $1.50 a week. In 1906 the actual amount received by the municipalities was $81,080.

Toronto yesterday paid its final mark of homage to Edward Hanlan, erstwhile champion oarsman of the world. The great sculler nearly a quarter of a century ago, by his acquatic feats, did much to make known the name of Canada at a time when this country needed advertising of the right kind more than it does today. Since Ned Hanlan lost the championship there have been many leaders with the blades, but the dead oarsman in his day was the greatest of them all in style, speed, action and watermanship. He was indeed a national hero. He was square and incorruptible, and many will ever hold dear his name, his prowess and his great agility. The proposal emanating in Toronto to erect a monument to the dead champion at the starting point of the Island course off Hanlan's Point, is one that is being generally favored.

Metheral is the chairman of Ward Three and every Conservative in the ward is invited to be present this evening.

Tomorrow (Thursday) night the Conservatives of Ward Five will meet, and on Friday night Ward Four Conservatives will gather.

Annual Meeting Held Yesterday

George St. Ladies' Aid Society Has Had Successful Year

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George Street church, held yesterday afternoon, the following officers were elected:

Pres.—Mrs. Geo. Elliott.
First Vice Pres.—Mrs. S. R. Armstrong.
Second Vice Pres. — Mrs. A. W. Cressman.
Treasurer—Mrs. F. Mason.
Secretary—Mrs. B. Shortly.
Visitor for Ladies' Aid, Mrs. Stubbs.

Arrangements were made towards having the territory of the society mapped out into districts, with certain members in charge of each section, to visit, collect fees and look after the work generally.

The finances of the society are in good condition, and the outlook is bright for a successful year.

Invitation Cards for AT Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 1c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

Ladies' Aid Raised Over $400 in Year

Annual Meeting of Charlotte St. Society Was Held Yesterday

The Ladies' Aid Society of Charlotte-st. Methodist church made over $400 during 1907. This was one of the gratifying statements made at the annual meeting of the society held yesterday afternoon when there was a large attendance of the members. Mrs. Cunningham, last year's treasurer, presented a most interesting report which showed that 1907 was the best in the history of the society. Over $400 was raised and devoted towards the objects of the society.

Mrs. George Hall, last year's president, was in the chair until the new officers were elected, as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. Wright.
President.—Mrs. R. J. Wolstenholm.
Treasurer.—Mrs. Lyle.
Secretary.—Mrs. Lightfoot.

The work for the coming year was mapped out and other arrangements made. The ladies will sew for the poor and will, of course, give their usual aid to the church.

Attendance at Prayer Meeting

at Park St. Church Last Evening Was Large

All the available seating accommodation in Park street Baptist church was taken last evening at the week of prayer meeting. So far the meetings have been very successful and productive of much good. Rev. F. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, gave a strong address on "The Consciousness of Sin." Revs. A. H. Bruce, E. A. Pearson and H. M. Manning assisted in the service. Several requests for prayer were received and supplications on their behalf will be made. To-night the meeting will be held at George street Methodist church.

Report of Local Fires and Alarms

Will be Given by Secretary of Brigade In Short Time—65 This Year

In a short time a report of the fires in Peterborough for the past year will be prepared by the secretary of the local fire brigade. The number of fires for 1907 has fortunately been small and the total fires and alarms amount to 65. The brigade has been particularly successful in battering with the flames and have won the gratitude of those whom they directly aided and the general commendation of the public for their splendid work.

Immediate relief and permanent cure assured. Send no money but tell others of this offer. Write to-day to Mrs. M. Summers, Box P 62, Windsor Ont.

TURNIPY BUTTER

Whew! Take it away and give me some clover.
Whatever it is, it is utterly utter;
It wasn't brought up in Araby's groves,
What d'ye call it? Oh, turnipy butter.

Send it away to some foreign mission,
Send it a gift to the Mexican navy,
For now that I'm getting myself in condition,
To tell you the truth, I'd rather have gravey.

A mixture like that shouldn't cost half a dollar a
Pound isn't worth more'n a dime;
I won't run chances of catching the cholera,
So sit it outside in some chloride of lime.

It's ruined my griddle-cakes and flummoxed my toast,
My appetite now's unsteady and wavy;
I'll touch in no more, though I give up the ghost,
Hereafter I'll butter my pancakes with gravey.

More Delegates Were Selected

Another Large Attendance at Conservative Club Rooms

At the Young Conservative Club rooms the residents of Ward No. 2 met to select delegates for the convention which will be held on Wednesday, January 29th. Mr. Wm. Bullen, chairman presided last night.

To-night the representatives from Ward No. 3 will meet in the club rooms to choose delegates. A full attendance is required.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY OF THE CITY

Local Man Has Something New—Is Meeting With Much Success

Mr. Charles Reid has commenced the publication of a business directory, which in addition to a classified list of business establishments, shops, etc., will contain railway time tables, hockey schedules and other information of a useful nature. The directory will be a neat pocket book size, and Mr. Reid intends issuing about 4,000 each month. They will be distributed free and no doubt will be in great demand. The information in the book will make it invaluable, and Mr. Reid is leaving nothing undone to make it complete in every respect. If the scheme works out as successfully as it should, the directories will be issued monthly, such changes being made as will be necessary.

Mr. Reid is now calling upon the business people securing advertising, and is meeting with a generous response. It is expected that the first batch of the directories will be issued in about three weeks.

GIVES VALUABLE ADVICE

Simple Home Recipe Said to do Wonders for Many People.

A well known authority says that Backache is often nature's danger signal, which notifies the sufferer that the kidneys are sick.

The following simple home made mixture is said to relieve backache and cleanse and build up weak and disordered kidneys, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime.

A well known local druggist is authority that these ingredients are mainly of vegetable extraction, and harmless to use, and can be obtained at small cost from any good prescription pharmacy. Those who think they have kidney trouble or suffer with lame back or weak bladder, or such symptoms as frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, painful, thick, discolored urine, etc., should give this prescription a trial, as no harm can possibly follow its use, and it is said to do wonders for many people.

GOT WISE TO THE POSSUM

Bread Winner Sent to One Butcher too Many

George W. Johnson, a New Jersey negro, and his family had a turkey dinner on Christmas, but it was not a day of rejoicing for them, for they mourned the loss of Tim, a big black 'possum, their chief means of support for three years. Tim was caught young, fattened, trained as a 'possum should be, but not killed. In fact, he became the household pet.

But on Thanksgiving eve, 1904, the Johnson larder needed replenishing, and Tim was selected to make the sacrifice. He was bundled into a bag and taken to a Paterson butcher, who was glad to exchange a turkey and fixings for a fine, fat 'possum. The next day the turkey lost its savor because of the loss of Tim. That night Tim came sneaking up the lane. John, sr., saw his chance. Since that first trip to the butcher Tim went on many another, always returning the following day. He always brought about $2 in trade.

On Wednesday Johnson could not go out, and sent one of his sons to exchange Tim for a dinner. The exchange was made. Tim will never come back. He lost his head, because the boy went to a butcher who was up to all the tricks of a 'possum.

BIG CROWD AT JACKSON PARK

Band Was One of the Features Last Night

Merriment ruled at Jackson park last night, the toboggan slide and skating rink being in full swing. To make things livelier, the 57th regiment band was in attendance and furnished a liberal supply of good music. Every toboggan available was rented and there was a constant stream of humanity going down the slide. The skating rink was in good condition and was largely patronized. The sight was a very pretty one as the skaters glided around under the variegated colored lights to the inspiring music of the band.

The open air rink and toboggan slide are more popular than ever this year.

BARBERS ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Annual Meeting at Irwin's Shop—No Change in Prices

There was no change made in the price list by the local union barbers at their meeting at Irwin's shop last night and the schedule this year will be the same as that of last year.

The financial and recording secretary, Mr. H. Gainey, presented the yearly reports showing the union to be in a healthy condition.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President.—E. Hooey.
Vice-Pres.—E. Wright.
Cor. and Fin. Sec.—Harry Gainey.
Treasurer.—H. Briou.
Receiver.—A. Lewis.
Finance Com.—President, Vice-President and Treasurer.

The next meeting, which will be the regular monthly one, will be held on January 28th.

FIRE BRIGADE TO HAVE DANCE

Will be Held at Early Date—Invitations to be Issued

In a short time the members of the local fire brigade intend giving a private dance and entertainment to a number of their friends. Owing to the success of the last function it was decided to have another evening of the same character. A committee is making arrangements in connection with the affair and will issue invitations.

WEDDING BELLS

DAVIDSON—COOK

A very quiet wedding took place in Bloor Street Presbyterian Church, Toronto, last evening at six o'clock, when Mr. James Roger Davidson, of Brandon, Manitoba, formerly of Peterborough, was united in marriage to Miss Minnie Emma Evelyn Cook, of Peterborough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cook, of Cranbrook, B.C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Wallace. The bridal couple were unattended, and left last evening for their future home in Brandon. Only a very few friends were present. Among those from Peterborough were the Misses Dickson, Miss Laura Davidson and Mr. Dickson Davidson, brothers of the bridegroom, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson of this city.

The many friends of Mr. Davidson and bride will join in wishing them every success, prosperity and happiness along the journey of life.

All are in Favor of Cheap Power

Municipalities Pass By-laws Without Exception

Toronto, Jan. 7.—Hon. Adam Beck's policy of cheap power for the municipalities of the province has received an endorsement which the opponents of the scheme cannot mistake. In every municipality in which the ratepayers were asked for an opinion of its advantages through the medium of the ballot box, the answer has been emphatically in the affirmative. In spite of opposition against it, the voters have followed the example set them on New Year's day in Toronto and cast their ballots in favor of cheap power.

In Hamilton it was thought in the morning that owing to the small vote being polled there was a chance of the by-law being defeated. Mayor Stewart, who had made the round of the booths, was not so confident as he had been. In the afternoon the ratepayers came out in large numbers, and the result was that the majority in favor of the Power By-law, which authorized the issue of $225,000 for the equipment of a municipal lighting plant, was 1,366. The vote polled was, For, 3,039; against, 1,673.

In Guelph the vote for the by-law entailing an expenditure of $50,000, was carried by a majority of 670, and a hundred votes being recorded against it. Stratford ratepayers showed themselves to be in favor of cheap power by rolling up a majority for the by-law of 656, the adverse vote being 432. Brantford went for the Beck scheme by a vote of 1,131 against 734. In Galt, the balloting gave a majority of 246, the vote standing 756 to 510. Woodstock carried it by a large majority. In New Hamburg the by-law to raise $10,000 to secure electric energy was carried by 121 majority, only 31 voting in opposition. In St. Thomas the vote stood 1,294 in favor, to only 191 against, a majority of over a thousand.

In London the voting was nearly three to one in favor, the votes for the by-law numbering 1,581, and those against, 629. Waterloo also endorsed cheap power by a proportionately large majority.

Board of Education Pays Tribute to Late Wm. Pringle

No Regular Meeting Held Last Evening, Out of Respect to Memory of Deceased—Resolution of Condolence Passed.

Out of respect to the memory of the late Mr. Wm. Pringle, the members of the Board of Education met last evening and adjourned until next Thursday night. A resolution of condolence was passed and will be forwarded to the bereaved family. Those present were Mr. Robert Fair (chairman), W. G. Morrow, D. W. Dumble, B. F. Ackerman, Dr. Morrison, Dr. Burnham, W. G. Robinson, L. M. Hayes and W. H. Hill.

In opening the meeting Mr. Fair referred to the irreparable loss the board had suffered by the death of Mr. Pringle. He had served faithfully for four years, and as chairman of the supervision committee did excellent work. More particularly did he give good service as chairman of the King Edward school building committee. He devoted all his spare time and often sacrificed his own private business affairs to attend wholly to the building of the school. He did everything systematically and left nothing undone in the discharging of duties entrusted to him. It was when inspecting the King Edward school that he received a chill which eventually resulted in his death. He was proud of the building and it indeed is a fitting monument to his memory. Mr. Fair suggested that a portrait of the deceased member be procured and hung in the King Edward school.

Mr. W. H. Hill next made a few remarks. It was a sad loss, and by it the board has been rendered considerably weaker. The late Mr. Pringle was sincere, and was a friend in the truest sense of the word.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, in adding a few words of sorrow and regret at Mr. Pringle's lamented demise, said it was a sad occasion and the community has lost one of its most estimable citizens. He led a clean life, and was an example to be followed.

As principal of the Business College alone, he had sufficient work to keep him steadily engaged, but his ambition was also to serve the city and that service was a faithful one, and to all matters of education he gave his earnest consideration. His manly life was worthy of admiration.

The other members of the board, including Dr. Burnham, and Messrs. L. M. Hayes, John Crane and W. G. Robinson, also paid a tribute to the memory of the deceased.

Upon motion of Mr. W. H. Hill, seconded by Dr. Burnham, the following resolution was passed:

The Peterborough Board of Education deeply lament the untimely death of Mr. William Pringle, principal of the Peterborough Commercial College, who for four years has been a member of this board.

Mr. Pringle gave to this board the benefit of his large experience as an educator; he gave his valuable time and his best services; and, as chairman of the supervision committee and chairman of the building committee for the New King Edward school, rendered most valued service to the board.

We lament the loss of so zealous a member, always ready to give his time and labor to aid a work which he had at heart. Mr. Pringle, by his gentle, courteous and kindly manner so endeared himself to us all that we feel his death as a personal loss and mourn with the dear ones of his stricken home.

We unite in tendering to his bereaved widow and family our heartfelt sympathy.

License Inspector Stewart Pays Visit to Lakefield

To Enquire Into Allegation That Liquor Was Being Sold Freely—More About Local Option—Two Rather Serious Accidents.

Special to the Review

Lakefield, Jan. 7.—Mr. Roger Strickland, who has been working in the north country for the last three years, in the employ of the Grand Trunk Pacific, was in this village for a short visit last week. Mr. Strickland left for North Bay on Thursday last.

Inspector Stewart, of the license department, was in the village on Friday last, enquiring into the conditions regarding the alleged heavy consumption of liquor in this municipality.

Rev. R. S. Burns left for Starling on Saturday last, to take the Sunday services at his old home, and incidentally to preach in the interests of local option.

The misrepresentations and wrong constructions, which in some instances have been placed on the article dealing with local option, which appeared lately in the News, and was copied by the Review, are a strong commentary on the weakness of the local optionists' course of reasoning. Nothing was said in the News of the amount of liquor that was actually sold in the village. What was said was that a large amount was consumed here. Peterborough gets the benefit of the selling department. It is no use dealing further with the subject than to say that the writer was not in the employ of the hotel keepers, was in collusion with nobody to further the interests of anti-local optionists in other centres, and simply wrote what he did write from the strong feeling shared by him with many men of at least equal intelligence and probity as our leading optionists, of the utter failure of the act in so far as regards Lakefield.

Miss Winnie Palmer, of Peterborough, is paying a visit to Mr. and Mrs. [illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Jones, of [illegible] Point, gave a very enjoyable party on Thursday last to a number of their young friends.

AN ACCIDENT.

Oswald Bullock, the six year old son of Mr. Bullock, of Douro, met with a bad accident on Friday of last week. The little fellow was being lifted up through the trap door of the barn by his brother, when they both fell through. The fall resulted in a broken leg for the small boy, and a few bruises for his brother.

We are glad to learn that Isaac Hampton, son of Mr. John Hampton, of Smith, is recovering rapidly from the bruises he received in a runaway accident last week. He had a very narrow escape, the colt's hoof scraping a large patch of hair from his head.

The many friends of Mrs. Cumberland will be glad to learn that she is recovering rapidly from her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tanner, who have been spending a few days in Toronto, visiting friends, returned to Lakefield on Friday last.

A HOCKEY MATCH.

A game of hockey was played on New Year's Day in Hague's marsh between the Shamrocks and the Transpontine teams, two of our local aggregations. It was a case of "Ireland forever!" "Erin go bragh," etc., for the Shamrocks won by 5 to 4.

Mr. Armour, principal of the public school, returned on Friday last from Hastings, where he has been spending the Christmas vacation.

Miss Kenneally, of the local public school staff, is visiting friends in Hastings.

Miss Marguerite Webster returned on Monday last to the Ladies' College in London, Ont.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Thos. Junkin, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia, is progressing favorably towards recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie, who have been spending their Christmas holidays with friends in Toronto and Brantford, returned home on Friday last, accompanied by Mrs. Geo. Goulding, of Vernon, B.C.

Mr. Sutton, of the Government dredge, who has been working near Lindsay, returned home on Friday last.

Miss Atwood left on Tuesday to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Evans Atwood in Peterborough.

Miss Traill returned to Lakefield on Tuesday last, after a pleasant visit to friends in Peterborough.

Miss De la Fosse returned to Lakefield from Port Hope on Monday last.

Young Man Was Accidentally Shot

Port Hope, Jan. 8.—Von Dinner, son of Mr. George Dinner, Port Britain, met with a very unfortunate and painful accident yesterday afternoon. While out hunting the gun accidentally discharged, the contents of both barrels striking him in the side and causing a very bad wound. Two ribs were broken, and the flesh terribly torn. He was taken to the residence of Robert Carmadden and Dr Aldrich was summoned. One hundred and fifty shots and four pieces of bone, besides a quantity of wadding, were removed from the wound and it was also found that one of the lungs was pierced. Dr. Aldrich was out to see the patient this morning, and he is resting quietly, and if nothing further sets in the doctor feels confident of his recovery.

OBITUARY

DELPHINE McDONALD.

The death occurred last night at the residence of Mr. N. T. LaPlante, Crescent street, of Delphine McDonald, widow of the late John McDonald. The late Mrs. McDonald had been ill only a short time with pneumonia.

The deceased was 78 years of age, and was born in Montreal. She came here with her husband forty years ago. He predeceased her twenty-five years ago. Since the death of her son, the late Alfred McDonald, she had resided with Mrs. LaPlante. One sister, Mrs. Karah, of this city, and three sons and two daughters are left to mourn her loss. The sons are Donald A., of Louisville, Ky., Charles, of New York, and Donald, of Chicago. The daughters are Mrs. McDonald, of Medicine Hat, and Mrs. Stamlin, of Lindsay.

The funeral will take place on Friday morning at nine o'clock, from the residence of Mr. LaPlante, Crescent street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

WM. BINGHAM.

Many friends of William Bingham, brother of Dr. Bingham, medical health officer, Peterborough, will deeply regret to learn that he died suddenly on Saturday, Dec. 28. The deceased gentleman was in his 90th year, and throughout his long life had lived so as to earn the love and respect of those with whom he came in contact, and his career was marked by a hearty sympathy and generous support for all that contributed to the public good. Mr. Bingham was for over sixty years a ruling elder and Bible class teacher in the Presbyterian church and a leader in affairs in West Durham, being reeve of Darlington and member of the county council. In politics he was a prominent Liberal, and a staunch supporter of the temperance movement. Mr. Bingham is survived by one brother, Dr. James Bingham, Peterborough, three sons, Dr. James Bingham, 523 Dover Court Road, Toronto; Prof. Geo. A. Bingham, M.D., Toronto university, president of the medical association of Canada; Dr. J. R. Bingham, New York city; two daughters, Mrs. S. B. Ferguson, New York city, and Mrs. W. Lawrence Henry, Alexandra apartments, Winnipeg.

CHRONIC CATARRH NOSE AND THROAT

"At the Advice of Friends I Tried Pe-ru-na and the Results Have Been Highly Satisfactory." — So Writes Mr. Pilon.

MR. RAOUL PILON

MR. RAOUL PILON, 116 Rue Notre Dame, Lachine, P.Q., Can., writes:

"I write you a few words to express to you my satisfaction at being cured. I was afflicted with catarrh of the throat and nose and suffered much. I was greatly discouraged. I had a bad breath and bad taste in my mouth in the morning.

"I took treatment for some time without obtaining relief. At the advice of friends I tried Peruna and the results have been highly satisfactory. At the end of four months I was completely cured."

Neglected catarrh becomes chronic. Having developed into the chronic stage, a longer and more persistent treatment will be required to cure it than if the disease were treated at the onset.

However, Peruna will bring relief, whether the catarrh is acute or chronic. If you are wise you will keep Peruna on hand and take a few doses at the first appearance of a cold or cough, and thus save yourself both suffering and expense.

Patients have the privilege of writing to Dr. Hartman for free advice. A book on "Chronic Catarrh" will be sent upon request.

PASSED AWAY IN ALBERTA

Mr Jas Edgecumbe received a telegram last night conveying intelligence of the death at Nanton, Alta., of Mrs. Henry Dawson, whose husband is a son of Mr. Alex. Dawson, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Dawson went to the West about a year and a half ago, and the news of Mrs. Dawson's death will be received with deep regret. Her maiden name was Constance Muir and she was a native of Scotland. Her father is a lawyer and resides in Washington Territory. Besides her husband she is survived by one son, Muir Dawson, who is four years of age. Mr. Dawson will have the sympathy of many friends in his bereavement.

FORMER PETERBORO' LADY PASSED AWAY

The remains of Miss Frances Smith, a former Peterborough lady, who who passed away at Colorado Springs on Saturday, arrived in the city today at noon, and the funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery. Rev. Father O'Leary conducted the funeral service.

The late Miss Smith was born in Peterborough, and was the daughter of the late Andrew Smith. She left this city about 35 years ago, and went to Auburn, N.Y.. At the time of the assassination of Seward, Secretary of the United States in President Lincoln's government, the deceased was engaged as governess in his home. She was widely known here, and often visited in the city. One sister Mrs Margaret Hay, of Cleveland, is left to mourn her loss.

Mr. E. A. Akers, of Cleveland, a nephew of the deceased, accompanied the remains, and Senator McHugh, of Lindsay, was also in the city to attend the funeral.

Calgary council has called for the resignatio of City Engineer Speakman.

A Happy 1908

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro' our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Yours very respectfully,

J. W. BROWETT

Bowmanville Hotelman is in the Toils

Toronto, January 8.—Last night at a boarding house on Church street, Detectives Archibald and Sockett arrested Charles Lehmann, aged 45, of Bowmanville, on a charge of obtaining $5,000 on false pretences. Lehmann, who is a German, and kept the Bennett house at Bowmanville, has been missing from that town for a week. Before going to Bowmanville Lehmann was manager of the Richardson house, at the corner of King and Spadina, and the Elliott house, at the corner of Church and Shuter. Lehmann states that the money he has been arrested for obtaining fraudulently had nothing to do with the sale of the hotel, but money he had borrowed earlier in the year.

TRAINS SHOULD BE EXAMINED

The importance of examining trains at almost every opportunity en route is being emphasized by V. A. Hershaw, C. P. R. trainmaster at Havelock. The hot box and the breaking of journals, he declares, are responsible for many accidents. In a circular he states:

"This company pays higher wages and offers better protection to employees than any other road in Canada; why then should we not consider their interests as our own and protect them accordingly!"

Because considerable confusion has resulted from passengers getting on the wrong trains at the Union depot, Trainmaster S. Carmichael, of Toronto Junction, has cautioned the employees to pronounce all names distinctly.

ENJOYABLE DANCE

About fifty young people drove out to Chemong last night, and enjoyed a few hours' dancing at the Park Hotel. Excellent music was provided by Miss Roadhouse, and the pleasant pastime was enjoyed until a late hour. A sumptuous supper was partaken of, and altogether a very enjoyable time was spent. The party arrived home about three o'clock this morning.

University of Paris.

The doctor's degree in the University of Paris is so entitled as to designate the faculty under which the work was done, as those who do literary work would receive the degree doctor of letters, etc. To obtain the doctor's degree the candidate must possess the lower degree of the corresponding division of work, submit two theses on different questions, reply to questions or objections concerning them, pay a fee of 140 francs and present 100 printed copies of one of his theses to the university. The candidate for the degree doctor of letters must write one thesis in Latin, the other in French. If in the scientific department, the thesis must be on some original investigation; if in theology, the examinations are both oral and written.—School Bulletin.

An Estimate and a Hope.

"You've heard her, you say?" remarked Mr. Dubley. "Ah, she certainly has the gift of song."

"Well, I hope that's what it is," replied Miss Knox. "I should hate to think she paid anything for it."

Same Old Misery.

"S'pose dar wuz a turkey fer every man in de country?"

"Wouldn't make any difference, fer dey'd have wings enough to fly out er reach."

THE PRICE OF A DOG

A German newspaper recently published an account of a London dog show and mentioned the prices at which some of the prize specimens were held by their owners. "Lady Holland's little Japanese spaniel," said the correspondent could not be purchased for 200,000 marks, and no one could put a price on Queen Alexandra's prize greyhound. There are, in fact, hundreds of animals on view, any one of which is worth a fortune." A few days after the article was published a peasant went to the newspaper office with a large, shaggy mongrel, and asked to see the man who wrote about the dogs. "He is in England," the man was told. "Well," he said, "possibly you can tell me what this animal is worth. My wife wants me to keep him, but if dogs are so valuable I am willing to part with Hans." The publisher smiled and told the man that his dog was not of the valuable kind. "Not! Not valuable! Two years ago, when my wife and I were both in the fields, our hired woman left the children alone, and while she was gone the house took fire. The dog ran in and carried down the little one and chased the others out. He saved them all, and you say he's not valuable. What has the 200,000 mark dog done?" "Probably nothing," was the answer, "but he is perfectly bred and beautiful." "Now, I understand," said the peasant, "great family and fine clothes—just like our nobles. Come, Hans!"

The Non-Coms. Have Annual

Officers Elected Last Night—Annual Ball Being Arranged for

The annual meeting of the Non-Coms. of the 57th Regiment was held last evening in their rooms on Simcoe street. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was manifest. Sergt.-Major Brittain was in the chair and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. Pres.—Staff Sergt. W. Sharpe, re-elected.

Pres.—Sergt. Batten, re-elected.

Secretary-Treasurer — Col. Sergt. Roberts, re-elected.

Managing Committee — Staff-Sergt. Cotterell, Quartermaster-Sergt. Edwards and Sergt. Succee.

Auditors — Col. Sergt. Kingscote and Staff Sergt. Sharpe.

A committee consisting of Col. Sergt. H. Staunton and Sergts. Dummitt and Giles was appointed to make arrangements for the annual Non-Coms. ball which will be held in the near future.

It was decided to play a series of euchre matches with the Young Conservative Club and the Grafters' Club. Arrangements for these will be made at once.

The Non-Coms. are fortunate in having Sergt. Batten as president for another year. He is an excellent man for the position and a hard worker for the organization.

BANKS TIRED OF LONG ACCOUNTS

New York, Jan. 6.—Europe bought stocks in the market to-day, it was estimated, to the amount of 35,000 shares on balance; bought copper to such an extent that the price moved up to 14c a pound, made a heavy purchase of cotton and the cereals for export, and arranged to send over to this city $10,250,000 in addition to the previously announced engagements of $6,500,000 made on Saturday. The total of $16,750,000 gold engagements for two days was much greater than the banking houses had anticipated, and thus constituted an unexpectedly favorable feature of the day's business. The Duluth board of trade closed up short with the result of a break of 4 5-8c a bushel in wheat the market opened with, a bound. Mackay, Minneapolis. Prices dropped here 3c a bushel in sympathy and in Chicago there was a drop of 4c in the December option. Both in Chicago and this city there were rallies subsequently, but the Chicago market closed with the December option off 2 3-8c and May option off 2c from Saturday's close. Here December wheat closed at 1.10 as compared with 1.10 3-4 on Saturday, and May at 1.12 3-8 as compared with 1.13 3-4 on Saturday.

It was obvious to the New York grain houses that in the west banks were becoming tired of carrying long accounts in wheat and there was liquidation in the wheat market there of the same variety, though not yet as drastic as had taken place in the stock market here. These evidences of liquidation were welcomed as indicating a freer export movement of wheat and a continuation of the influx of gold to this city from abroad.

A SLIP OF THE PEN

Neither the rain, which fell steadily, or the rendering of a hymn adapted to the tune of a popular vaudeville melody, accompanied by a single drum and concertina from a religious sect which owing to the inclemency of the weather had taken shelter under the verandah of a hotel, had any effect upon him, as he passed up the main and only street of the small town of Lamas. Presently he turned off into a by lane and entered a small house.

The woman of the house arose and lit a small lamp for him, and a good soul as she was, and as all women are, stifled the words of sympathy that arose to her lips, for she well knew that because he only rented the room, his pride would not let him accept the meal that she was only to ready to offer. Pride; that is so becoming to the wealthy, but oh how foolish after all.

Wearily he sank into a chair, utterly dejected, and as his eyes rested upon a ring that encircled his finger, a wan smile crossed his face. Poor old dad, he muttered to himself. Little did he think I should sink to this, and as he drew the ring off, the words Faith and Hope were clearly visibly engraved upon it.

For a few moments he gazed upon the words. Then drawing paper and pen towards him he commenced to write. The hours passed, still he wrote on, till with a sigh that ended in a sob, the pen fell from his cramped fingers. Stiffly he arose and sought the bed to fall into a fitful slumber. From which he awoke at the call of the woman next morn.

Gathering up the result of his night's work he addressed it; then leaving the house sought out a store where the sign denoted, Goods bought and sold, and after a few words with the proprietor, handed him the ring for a small sum; then making his way to the post office he despatched the manuscript to its destination, and as he passed out he murmured to himself, Faith and Hope. And as a grim thought flashed through his mind he drew himself erect. Anyway the loan on the ring will last a week, so I will stick to the motto.

The days passed, endless days they seemed to him that waited. And there came no reply from the publishers. Finally, with a face set and stern, he paid the bill of his room with the last of the money. Remarking that he was going away, and to an anxious enquiry from the woman replied. As his finger tightened upon something bulky in his jacket pocket, that he was going to something that he hoped was for the better.

The following day a well known weekly had as one of its leading articles a dramatic story which aroused widespread interest among its readers entitled Faith and Hope, and on the first page were the following paragraphs:

Yesterday a few miles from the township of Lamas, a man, unknown, was found dead, holding a revolver from which one shot had been fired. The bullet had passed through his head. No money or means of identification were found upon the body of the suicide.

And the other was:

Will the brother of the story printed in this issue entitled Faith and Hope, call or send his name and address to the Publishers, as he failed to enclose them with the tale.

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy B. Ledue of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

FERROZONE

It makes the weak strong, the sick well, and assures lasting good health.

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Six Jurymen are Ready; Progress of the Thaw Trial

Half of Thaw's Judges Have Now Been Sworn.

Two Hundred Additional Talesmen Summoned — Defence Counsel Springs Surprise—Scores Point by Subpoenaing Prosecution's Expert Witnesses at First Trial—Plan of Campaign For Prisoner's Release.

New York, Jan. 9.—The work of securing a jury to try Harry K. Thaw a second time for the killing of Stanford White was half complete when court adjourned shortly before six o'clock last night. The original venire of 300 special service jurors had been exhausted at that hour, and the customary night sitting was abandoned. Two hundred additional talesmen have been ordered to report this morning, when the task of searching out satisfactory trial jurors will again be taken up.

The oath of service was administered yesterday to three men, making six in all, who have been finally accepted. Three provisional jurors were also in the box at the close of the day's sessions, but they are still subject to peremptory challenges. Another storm of those arbitrary removals struck the panel when all 12 seats had been filled at 4 o'clock and six chairs were left vacant when it subsided. The defence now has exercised 11 of its 30 challenges, and the prosecution eight.

Keeping Them Apart.

The plan of maintaining both permanent and temporary jurors in the trial panel until 12 men finally are selected for service is unique in the New York courts, and has imposed a double duty upon the guards, who are directed each night to keep the sworn jurors and the provisionals separate.

In the selection of the jury Martin W. Littleton, Thaw's senior counsel, is so conducting his examination of talesmen as to indelibly impress upon them the fact that if the defence introduces evidence tending to show that Thaw was insane at the time of the Madison square Roof Garden tragedy, the burden of proof falls upon the shoulders of the district attorney and he must prove beyond all reasonable doubt that the defendant was legally sane. The principle of law was not so clearly enunciated at the first trial.

Spring a Surprise.

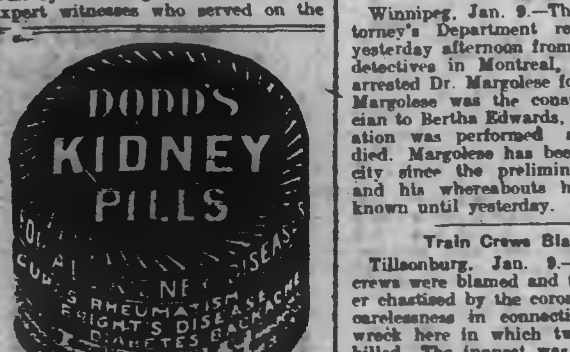
Thaw's attorney yesterday furnished the first big surprise of the second trial by admitting that several of the expert witnesses who served on the staff of the district attorney at the first trial, and who declared when Mr. Jerome made application for a lunacy commission, that in their opinion Thaw was so insane as not to know the nature of the proceedings against him and was entirely incapable of intelligently advising with his counsel, are now under subpoena by the defence.

They made affidavit that in their opinion Thaw at the time of the tragedy was suffering from an incurable form of insanity. These same doctors, however, had previously testified on the witness stand, in response to Mr. Jerome's famous hypothetical question, that they believed Thaw knew what he was about when he shot and killed Stanford White. This move by the defence is intended as a block to the prosecution in putting these same doctors on the witness stand, and taken by some as showing a determination that Thaw shall not be convicted even with the danger of a stay in an asylum for the criminal insane at Manhattan, as the alternative.

The alienists who were the mainstay of the prosecutor at the first trial were Drs. William Mabon, Charles MacDonald and Austin Flint. They were present at the former hearing from the very first day, and their absence this year has been commonly noted.

The defence in the present trial is insanity at the time White was killed. In making out this case it will require delicate handling to show Thaw so mentally deranged at that time as not to know the nature or quality of his act, and at the same time show that he is mentally sound.

If they are placed on the stand, Mr. Littleton may interrogate and draw from these men the opinion that Thaw was also insane at the time of the homicide, and then endeavor to limit all testimony as to the defendant's mental condition to the immediate period of the tragedy.



Informer In Custody.

Goodwood, Ont., Jan. 9.—Charles Hanson, an "informer" for the Provincial License Department, was committed for trial yesterday by Benjamin Barker, justice of the peace, on a charge of perjury in connection with the evidence given in a case against Donald Christie, a Saintfield hotelkeeper, for selling liquor without a license. The magistrate refused bail and Hanson was taken in custody to Whitby.

Doctor Arrested.

Winnipeg, Jan. 9.—The Crown Attorney's Department received word yesterday afternoon from the chief of detectives in Montreal, that he had arrested Dr. Margolese for them. Dr. Margolese was the consulting physician to Bertha Edwards, and an operation was performed and the girl died. Margolese has been out of the city since the preliminary hearing, and his whereabouts has not been known until yesterday.

Train Crews Blamed.

Tillsonburg, Jan. 9.—Both train crews were blamed and the despatcher chastised by the coroner's jury for carelessness in connection with the wreck here in which two men were killed. The inquest was held on the body of Engineer Harris.

TERRIFIED IN SUBWAY.

Electrician's Error Fatal to Himself and Alarming to Others.

New York, Jan. 9.—A short circuit of an electric current of 11,000 volts, and a fire so terrifying in its effects as to cause three hundred motormen and trainmen to desert a train of eight cars in panic, under the middle of the East River, and to flee through pitch darkness to the stations on either side of the river, occurred in the Battery Tuesday night.

The accident cost one life, George Keyburn, an electrician, manipulating the system of the switchboard at the Brooklyn end of the tunnel, in a moment of carelessness, grasped an exposed wire near a lever and was electrocuted.

This human connection worked as the agency of the short circuit and caused the accident to the eight car trains that was being run back and forth through the tunnel as a school for the trainmen.

Young Indian on Trial.

London, Jan. 9.—The jury on the Noah murder trial were locked up for the night at 11 o'clock, not having been able to reach an agreement at that hour.

Chief Justice Meredith charged strongly against Tommy Noah, the young Indian, who was charged with the murder of Absolam Fox on the Muncey Reserve.

Dolson, an Indian, told of the fight, He saw Noah strike Fox and later saw the knife blade in the victim's hand. The knife blade was indentified as Noah's.

Dies at His Desk.

Amherst, Mass., Jan. 9.—Augustus Armagnaie, Ph.D., head of the department of modern languages at the Massachusetts Agriculture College, died suddenly of apoplexy while sitting at his desk in a recitation room yesterday. He was 68 years old.

Killed Woman, Burned House.

Lawrenceville, Ga., Jan. 9.—Two negroes, John Hudson and Henry Campbell, are in jail here charged with having murdered Hudson's wife, and then setting the house on fire in an attempt to hide their crime.

C. N. R. Conductors Dismissed.

Winnipeg, Jan. 9.—Seventeen conductors of the Canadian Northern Railway, according to a report on the street yesterday, have recently been dismissed from the service of the company for various irregularities.

Regulars Not Coming.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—A newspaper report from Halifax says that a British regiment is to be placed in charge of the Halifax garrison. The Militia Department here says that there is no truth in this report.

$740,000 Missing.

Mexico City, Jan. 9.—Seven hundred and forty thousand dollars is missing from the Bank of Yucatan, according to reports received here from Merida. Twelve arrests have been made.

Was From Windsor, Ont.

Canton, Ohio, Jan. 9.—William Harris, a marblecutter of Windsor, Ont., was found dead in his room here yesterday. He was asphyxiated by fumes from a gas stove.

Four Thousand Laid Off.

New Orleans, Jan. 9.—Between 3,000 and 4,000 Illinois companies employes have dropped from the payroll on account of the financial situation.

CANADA'S GRAIN TRADE

Important Recommendations of Royal Commission.

Favor Grading System Against Government Operation of Storage Elevators — Would Prohibit Pooling Arrangements — Provisions For Cleaning and Inspecting—Samples of Binned Grain Should Be Kept.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—The report of the Grain Commission was tabled by Hon. Frank Oliver yesterday. The commission finds:

That the grading system is most suitable to our requirements, but, owing to the ever-increasing production of certain types of grain in the new provinces, some new grades are suggested.

That a system of public or Government weighing at country elevators would be impracticable.

That, to prevent substitution and mixture of grain, samples should be kept of all specially binned grain.

That the suggestion that the Government should build and operate interior storage elevators should not be acted upon.

That at all shipping points where over 50,000 bushels are shipped, railways should be compelled to appoint agents, when not otherwise provided.

That, to reduce loss from leakage in transit to ocean ports, it should be provided that no grain shall leave Manitoba inspection division without being officially weighed and cleaned.

That the proposal to establish a sample market at Winnipeg be not accepted, as it would create confusion.

That pooling agreements between elevator companies should be prohibited.

That there should be more complete supervision of cleaning operations at Fort William and Port Arthur, and larger cleaning machines should be installed.

That a weighmaster's department should be established in the east for grain being shipped outwards.

That a method should be adopted of identifying inspection certificates with parcels of grain for which they are issued.

That the rate of insurance be reduced to one-eighth of one cent.

That the Government should encourage the development of grain trade with the Orient.

TO SIFT JEWEL ROBBERY.

State Regalia Mystery to be Probed By Commission.

Dublin, Jan. 9.—The Irish administration has at last appointed a commission which is to sift the mystery of the disappearance last July of a portion of the state regalia, valued at $250,000, from Dublin Castle.

The authorities have been impelled to this step by reports that the jewels are known to have been deposited as security for a loan.

It is understood that King Edward has insisted that the matter be cleared up.

Poisoned By the Dead.

Brampton, Jan. 9.—As the result of blood poisoning, Alexander Nixon Broddy, a prominent citizen, died yesterday morning.

He was a son-in-law of James Fallis, who died a week ago last Saturday at the age of 77 years from erysipelas. When the undertakers took charge of the body, Mr. Broddy volunteered his assistance. As the corpse was being shaved he touched the face of the deceased and afterwards rubbed his own face with his hand. There was a pimple on Mr. Broddy's face and this become inoculated with the poison from the dead man.

Mrs. Broddy was not able to be with her husband for some days lest she, too, would be infected by the poison.

Not Insurmountable.

London, Jan. 9.—(C. A. P.)—"Our negotiations with the United States and Canadian Governments have been characterized by eminently cordial sentiments. There are no insurmountable difficulties before us and we have every reason to believe that we shall soon arrive at a satisfactory settlement." The foregoing was cabled to The Paris Matin from Tokio by Count Hayashi, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Five of Crew Drown.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 9.—A broken message received here yesterday from Cape Hatteras on the North Carolina coast reports the stranding and loss on the treacherous diamond shoals yesterday of an unknown schooner, out of whose crew of seven men, five perished and two were saved.

Broker Is Suicide.

New York, Jan. 9.—Charles W. Whitney, a member of the stock exchange firm of H. N. Whitney & Sons, committed suicide yesterday at his home in West 72nd street, by shooting. Last summer he suffered a sunstroke, and has been out of business for several months.

Germany's Enormous Deficit.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—In the course of the sitting yesterday of the Landtag, Baron Von Rheinbaben, Prussian Minister of State and Finance, went over the figures of the Prussian budget for 1908. The total is $840,500,000, and shows the enormous deficit of $110,500,000.

Vesuvius Is Troubled.

Naples, Jan. 9.—Following a number of heavy detonations yesterday a portion of the cone of Mount Vesuvius sank within the crater, causing great internal ebullitions. An enormous column of smoke rose from the crater and spread out for miles.

Storm at Digby, N. S.

Digby, N. S., Jan. 9.—Heavy damage was done by a storm here yesterday. Wharves and several houses on the waterfront were washed away.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Jan. 8.—(Special.)—Nine carloads of live stock of all kinds were brought to the East End Abattoir since yesterday at 6 p.m. Several other carloads which should have been here were delayed by the snowstorm. The butchers were present in large numbers, but were disappointed at the small supplies and the inferior quality of the cattle offered, there being no moderately good ones in sight, while some of them were only fit for canning purposes. Prices ranged at from 3c to 3¼c per lb. There were about 30 milch cows and springers on the market, but the buyers were slow in coming out and no sales were made up to near noon. Mr. Joseph Richard paid $8 for a good calf, and $62 for ten good lambs. Sheep sold at about 4c per lb.; good lots of fat hogs sold at $6.50 to $6.60 per 100 pounds.

Family Almost Asphyxiated.

Woodstock, Jan. 9.—A colored man named Marshall, his wife and three children, residing in the west end of the city, were within an ace of being asphyxiated last night by gas escaping from a defective coal stove. When they were discovered this morning by neighbors all were in an unconscious condition. A physician was called in and they were revived.

George Sing, a local Chinaman, who conducts a laundry business in the city, was arrested yesterday charged by another Chinaman with stealing a sum of money. Sing was intending to leave town. The other man, whose name is Ying, claimed that he owes him over $400. It is said that the money is owing Ying as a balance on a large gambling debt. For the past while it is said that the local colony of Chinamen have been at the game of fan-tan continually.

Accidentally Shot.

Windsor, Jan. 9.—Elwood Morphy, aged 19, was found on his bed in a pool of blood by his mother yesterday evening on her return from a message outside. In his temple was a wound and by his side was a revolver which had evidently been discharged. The circumstances favor the theory of accident, as on the table nearby were some tools for cleaning a revolver.

Montreal Musician Dead.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—The death is announced of Prof. William Bohrer, a prominent musician of this city, at the age of 70.

Some of the striking tenants in New York are threatening, if the rents are not lowered, to burn the houses.

SWEET REVENGE

By

Captain F. A. MITCHEL,

Author of "Chattanooga," "Chickamauga," Etc.

Copyright, 1897, by Harper & Brothers.

"Thank heaven, here is an avenue of escape!"

But my pledge.

It is questionable if those moral heroes who prefer death to dishonor would choose the former if the alternative were presented as it was to me. Death in the form it awaited me certainly looked very ugly. If I kept my word and remained till morning, my identity was sure to come out. If fortune enabled me to conceal it, if the captain permitted me to go my way, I was sure to fall into the hands of my enemies. By leaving in the night I could give both the slip and by morning be far away or so disguised that I should not be recognized if found. I might possibly reach the Union lines.

I had never before broken a pledge, but I had never before seen certain death staring me in the face. In the ordinary affairs of life, I reasoned, one should have a high standard, but in a matter of life or death— Besides, who ever heard of one carrying information in war stopping at a lie or the violation of a pledge?

Placing my foot on the sill, I was reaching for a branch of the tree without when I suddenly stepped back into the room, sat down in a chair and buried my face in my hands. A vision of Ethel Stanforth, sweet, gentle, innocent, stood before me. As a flash of lightning will clear a murky atmosphere, my human reasoning vanished before a divine intuition. I could not break my pledge.

Then I fell to thinking. How difficult it is, after all, to look into the future! Who knows but some new outlet may occur tomorrow? This captain is a singular man, and no one can tell what whim may seize him next. Today he ordered me out to be shot; tomorrow he may send me away from my enemies with an escort to protect me. Then there is little Jaqueline. She has slipped a noose about his neck that he will not easily shake off. She may find a hiding place for me or an avenue which will eventually lead to safety. I was so pleased with the probabilities I conjured up that I got up and walked back and forth, rubbing my hands with satisfaction.

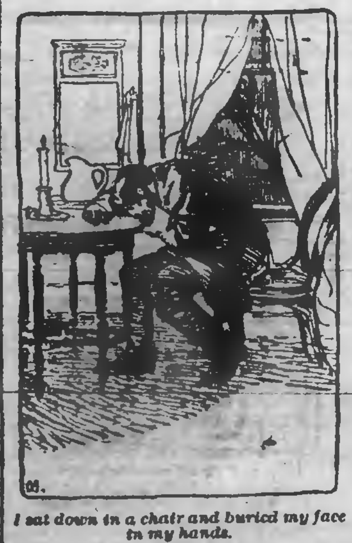
Fool, stupid human fool! The events fate had in store for me were nothing as my foresight had painted.

I heard the tramp of horses' hoofs coming through the gateway. Going to a front window and looking out, I saw two figures on horseback. It was too dark for me to distinguish them. Though one was very small, the other seemed to be a woman, for I could see her garments fluttering. They came cantering down the roadway to the gallery and must have dismounted, for soon I heard a knocking. Leaving the chamber, I went through the hall on tiptoe and stood at the head of the great staircase, listening. There were voices below, but I could not tell whose they were. I waited some time for more information, but those who were talking went into another part of the house, and I was obliged to return to my room unsatisfied. I sat down again and renewed my musings—musings that were not of the pleasantest.



I sat down in a chair and buried my face in my hands.

I had not sat long when two men passed under the window. They were talking in a low tone. The voice of one was that of a white man, the other that of a negro. The negro said something that was inaudible. Then the white man asked:

"Which wing?"

"Dar."

Is not that Jaycox's voice? It is. There is no mistaking that harsh growl. What can it mean? Ah, I see it all! He expects that I will elude this easy going captain, and he will spread a net for the bird before it flies. Fortunate! If I had descended by the tree, I should have dropped into his embrace.

My anxiety was now more intense than ever. The cords were surely drawing about me.

"Nonsense!" I said to myself. "I'm losing my head. True, I'm in a tight place, but tight places are interesting. Men who possess great presence of mind are best fitted to escape great dangers. When the cards run high, the coolest wins. I propose to defeat all these converging enemies by keeping my head. I shall go to bed and get a good sleep. Then on the morrow I shall be in shape for the fight."

My resolution, together with the fatigue of an eventful day, brought slumber sooner than might have been expected. But I soon awoke and, feeling alarmed, was wide awake. I sat up in bed. I could look out of the window into the tree which had invited me to descend by its branches. I thought I saw a dark object that did not belong there. The leaves were not far enough advanced to conceal nor young enough to fully reveal any object bidden there. The night was one of the darkest, yet there was a little light—starlight—and no moon.

"Imaginary terrors," I muttered. "Go to sleep."

I lay down, drew the sheet up, tucked it in at the back of my neck and obeyed the command I had given myself by passing back into slumber.

I dreamed that I was standing under a great glass receiver and a man was working a pump to exhaust the air. At every stroke I felt less able to breathe till at last I was suffocating. I awoke and was conscious of some one stuffing a cloth into my mouth. I tried to cry out, but could make no sound. Two men stood beside me, one gagging me, while the other began to tie my hands. This done, they carried me, impotently writhing, to the window.

"Bring them clothes, Pete," said one of the men. "He'll give us away without 'em."

It's Tom Jaycox! I'm lost!

The man called Pete snatched my clothes and threw them out on the ground below. Then the two began the work of getting me through the window. Jaycox, who had the strength of an ox, seized my wrists, while the man behind pushed. They got me out into the limbs of the tree, where, if I continued to struggle, I was in danger, bound hand and foot as I was, of pounding the earth below. I made a virtue of necessity and permitted them to lower me. Once on the ground they hustled me to a clump of trees back of the house, where I was unbound and, covered by the muzzles of two revolvers, forced to put on my clothes. Then they rebound my wrists and ran me behind the barn, where three horses stood ready saddled. Jaycox took me in his steel arms and tossed me on to one of them with as much ease as if I had been a bag of meal. The two men mounted the other horses, and we started off, circling around back of the negro huts and under trees to a side gate opening on the pike. Once away from the grounds, we set off at a gallop.

Kidnaped! Now I may save myself any further worry. The inevitable is before me. Before daylight I shall be a dead man.

CHAPTER VIII.

ON THE PLATEAU.

On, on we sped, under starlight, over stony pike, steel shod hoofs striking fire on flinty stones, snake fences writhing, trees dancing in a semicircle about those beyond. We dashed over wooden bridges; we splashed through shallow streams; we dipped into hollows and tilted over crests, while now and again some startled bird stretched its wings and went whirring into the forest.

On my right rode Tom Jaycox, holding my bridle rein, his ugly face turned always toward me. Every crime molded feature—his cold, steel eye, his knitted, overhanging brows—spoke one word, "Vengeance!" On the other side galloped a man, long, lean, hungry, grinding uneasily on a quid. I did not know his name, but memory brought me a picture of that same face lighted by shotguns flashing in the night.

Our breakneck speed lasted till we had put some miles between us and the plantation; then we slackened our pace and walked our panting horses till they had partly recovered their wind, then struck a trot. It was immaterial to me at what gait we moved. I thought only of my approaching end. Surely it could not be far distant. Why did it not come at once? A pistol ball, a club—anything is enough to take a life. Then I shuddered as the thought struck me that I was to be kept for a more lingering death.

We were passing between a range of hills on our left and the Cumberland plateau on our right when Jaycox drew rein, and we all came to a halt. There was a sound of horses' hoofs behind, coming at a brisk canter, but no sooner had we stopped than the sounds ceased. Both the men listened until all was silent, then Jaycox started on.

"All right, Pete," he said. "Whoever it is has either stopped or left the road."

"Some un goin home late, I reckon."

We proceeded on our way, but had gone scarcely a quarter of a mile when we again heard the hoof beats in our rear. Again we pulled up and listened.

"By gosh, Tom," said Pete, "thet beats me!"

"Shet up!"

Both listened, waiting to hear the sounds renewed, but as they were not we started on. For the second time the hoof beats recommenced and this time a little nearer.

"We must git outen this," said Jaycox. "Let's take ter the hills here instead o' furder on."

Turning to the right, we passed through timber, beginning a gradual ascent of the plateau. Jaycox rode ahead, holding my bridle rein, while Pete followed, revolver in hand.

Who were on the road I knew no more than my abductors, but as a drowning man will catch at a straw I cast about for some method of letting them know of our digression. Bending low in the saddle, I peered through the gloom, watching for something with which to produce sound, for my gag prevented my shouting, and a shout would have brought punishment. Coming upon a flat rock, by a pressure of the knees I guided my horse over it, but it was too firmly imbedded to be moved. Soon after I encountered another right on the edge of the trail. Digging my heels into my horse's flanks and forcing my body out of equilibrium, I forced him to prance. A vigorous pull on my bridle rein by Jaycox saved him from going over the incline, carrying me with him. But I had accomplished my purpose. I heard the stone go crashing down the mountain.

"You infernal dog," cried the man in the rear, "ef yer do thet ag'in I'll run a knife atwixt yer shoulders!"

"Ef he does it ag'in, yer needn't trouble yerself ter stick him. The fall 'ud finish him."

Higher, higher, we mounted, farther from the dark plain below, upon which here and there shone a lonely light; nearer to the patches of fleece in the heavens and the stars looking down from above. Then came a faint light in the sky and a gray tinge over the country below. Woods, streams, fields, houses, barns, grew out of the darkness. The light broadened; there were gilded clouds in the east; the sun cast its first beams over the heights and upon the landscape below. We had reached the upper level; we were on the plateau.

Espying a log house ahead, the men consulted and determined to try for some breakfast. They took the gag out of my mouth, and as soon as I was free to speak, anxious to be at once put beyond suffering and the terrible suspense of an impending murder, I cried:

"You dogs! You cowards! You're going to kill me! Why do you delay?"

They looked at each other knowingly and grinned—a horrible, soulless grin.

"Do ye reckon yer goin ter git ter heaven without payin fo' th' damage ye done?" snarled Jaycox, with an ugly light in his eye.

"Ah, that's your game!"

"We know you uns ter be as well fixed fo' property as any young man in Tennessee. An we're goin ter hev a slice too. But yer needn't reckon thet's goin ter save ye. Yer got ter shell out, an then"— His look told the rest.

"Give me one shot with my back against a tree, and I'll fight two such cowards as you."

"Shet up!" snapped Jaycox, showing his teeth within a foot of my face and with a glance like that of an angry bulldog. Then, riding up to the entrance of the hut, he shouted:

"Hello thar!"

An old woman came to the door with an iron spoon in her hand.

"Waal, what's wanted?"

"Snack."

"Hain't got nothin but pone."

"Got any coffee?"

"Coffee? D'y' reckon Abe Lincoln's goin ter let us hev coffee away up in these mountings when they hain't got none down in th' towns? I got a yarb 'll do purty waal, though."

My captors dismounted, breakfasted, then arranged for a short nap, one watching while the other slept. Jaycox first sprawled himself on the ground and was asleep in a twinkling, while his comrade sat staring at me with his gun ready cocked. I knew that if I made the slightest movement with a view to escape he would shoot me. Occasionally he looked impatiently at a handsome gold watch, doubtless taken in spoil, as if anxious for the expiration of his hour of duty. Toward the last he nodded. I was near some low bushes and began to roll toward them. He awoke with a start and quick as a flash brought his gun to his shoulder.

"Yo' hound!"

Jaycox opened his eyes and, seeing a murderous look in his companion's face and a gun right over his foot pointed at me, kicked the weapon upward, discharging it, thus doubtless for the time saving my life.

This finished the first watch, and Jaycox took his turn, admonishing me that if I tried the experiment again he would tie me up by the thumbs. I dreaded this torture and gave him no cause to enforce it. Besides, he kept awake during his entire watch.

The men having secured the needed rest, we broke our bivouac, Jaycox loosened the horses, and his companion kept me covered with his gun while I mounted. As I put my foot in the stirrup I happened to glance aside and saw two horsemen approaching. In a moment I recognized Buck Stanforth and Ginger. How they came to be there was a mystery. I only knew they were there and rejoiced. At seeing me Buck was about to give a shout when he bethought himself that such a proceeding might be fatal and regained his composure just as his presence was discovered. Ginger showed no signs of recognition whatever. I shot a quick glance at Jaycox to see if he recognized the negro. To my relief, he did not appear to know either Buck or Ginger.

"Say, yo' men," called Buck, "can we get somepin to eat hyar?"

"Ef thar's any vittels left," said Jaycox. "What yo' uns doin out this time o' day?"

"Oh," said Buck—I trembled lest his wits should desert him at a critical moment—"I'm takin this nigger to his new master. He's sold."

"Yer a peart un ter d'liver a nigger. Reckon he don't mind goin with yer."

Buck and Ginger dismounted as we departed. I was obliged to part with them without being able to utter a word or make a sign. Still, their presence gave me hope. Hope! What could a simple negro and a boy do to rescue me from two stalwart brutes who were watching me like cats?

There are now 300 men in Woiseley barracks, London.

LEMIEUX ON HIS MISSION.

Says His Business Was With Japan, Not With United States.

Winnipeg, Jan. 9.—Hon. Mr. Lemieux was questioned in regard to the mission which had taken him to the Orient.

"The Associated Press of America has stated," said Mr. Lemieux, "that my mission to the Orient was a failure. The reason they gave for the failure was that I had not called upon the American Minister in Tokio. But I had nothing whatever to do with the American Minister. My business was a serious one with the Japanese Government, and I was not responsible in any degree to the representative of a foreign power. I wish to be judged by my own Parliament, by the people and by the press of my own country, and not by the Associated Press of America."

"How about the talk of war between the United States and Japan?" he was asked.

"In Japan it is not taken seriously, especially since the last message of the President. Economically, they are in a very poor condition and the late war has drained their resources and they are all for peace. You hear no talk of war and no one even thinks of it.

"The question at the present time is that of immigration. It is a most important one and that is why the Canadian Government will be very careful. Fortunately, Count Hayashi is the brains of the Japanese Government to-day. He is the man who made the treaty with Great Britain before the late war and that is a sample of his ability. He is an eminently safe man and is to be trusted to settle this question of immigration satisfactorily. This question, however, is interesting the people of Japan very greatly. There are about fifty daily paper in Tokio and the people are kept thoroughly informed in regard to it.

"The Japanese are most progressive in every way. I do not judge merely by their army, which is probably the most efficient in the world to-day, nor their navy, which is second only to that of Great Britain; but I judge by their universities, their schools and by their public institutions and Government. As regards the actual result of my mission, I cannot speak at the present time."

RUSSIAN BANDIT ARRESTED.

Captured In New York Charged With Many Serious Crimes.

New York, Jan. 9.—After a ceaseless search of nearly two years, Jan Janoff Pouren, alleged to be a notorious Russian brigand, who is wanted in the Province of Livonia, Russia, for murder, arson and robberies without number, was caught here yesterday.

Pouren is a mild-looking man and submitted with out protest. He was employed as an engineer in one of the East River tunnels. He admitted his identity by indicating that the photograph of Pouren, in possession of the detectives, was a picture of himself.

The Russian is charged with numerous crimes in Riga, Livonia, where, with several fellow-countrymen, he terrorized the province and defied arrest. It was the custom of brigands to make demands upon citizens for large sums of money, and after the expiration of several days, if the money was not forthcoming, they would rob houses and set them afire. When the inmates resisted, the inmates were murdered, it is said.

Pouren and his associates are charged with being particularly active in 1906, having, it is charged, committed a number of murders and robberies.

Trial for Wife Murder.

Fredericton, Jan. 9.—The jury which will try Thomas David, a Syrian, charged with shooting his wife at McAdam station last July, was chosen yesterday.

The defence in the case is to be that David was temporarily insane when he did the shooting and his insanity was partially caused by the immoral life that his wife had been living.

Syrians all over the United States, who, with David, are natives of Eythyfoler, in Syria, have raised a fund of several thousand dollars to carry on his defence, and upwards of 20 witnesses from all parts of the United States, as far west as Michigan, will give evidence for the defence.

Crushed Beneath Cars.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—S. Cookson met a tragic death yesterday at the Point St. Charles station of the G. T. R. He lives in Longueuil and was on his way to his office from lunch. When the train got to the point he jumped off to take a street car to his office.

The train was moving, and he fell under a car and was crushed. He was still breathing when picked up, but died before the ambulance arrived.

Local Option Conviction.

Peterboro, Jan. 9.—Yesterday afternoon, before County P. M. Smidson, Fred Hollano of Lakefield was fined $50 and costs or three months in jail for selling liquor in Lakefield, which is within a local option district.

This is the first conviction from Lakefield since the bylaw passed.

Fell on Revolving Saw.

New Liskeard, Jan. 9.—Frank Lennox, about 46 years of age, was killed in Salmon's planing mill, on Whitewood avenue. He was engaged in sawing when his glove caught and he fell forward on the saw, ripping his body open.

Charged With Serious Offence.

Feversham, Jan. 9.—Constable Perigoe removed an elderly man to Owen Sound jail last week to await trial on a charge under the Charlton Act. The girl in the case belongs to a good family, and is only 15 years of age.

Robbers Wreck Safe.

Ottawa, Kas., Jan. 9.—Robbers yesterday wrecked the safe in the State bank of Quenemo, at Quenemo, Kansas, near here, and escaped with between $7,000 and $8,000.

MURDERER BOYD HANGED.

Neck Was Broken Though the Rope Stretched and Slipped.

Toronto, Jan. 9.—"Ready? Yes, sir," these words uttered in answer to the greeting of his executioner were the last words uttered by John Boyd, who paid with his life at the jail yesterday morning for shooting Ed. Wandle last spring. Boyd left his cell in the north east corridor of the jail at six minutes after eight o'clock, and five minutes later with a deafening clang of the falling trap, which drowned the closing words of the prayers of the attending clergyman Boyd was shot downward into eternity.

He never moved after the fall. The neck was broken, and after nine minutes the pulse at the wrist was gone and in five minutes more the last wavering beat of the heart was stifled.

Boyd were hanged in a room on the north side of the east wing of the building. He had not more than 100 feet to walk from his cell and was not exposed to the gaze of the idly curious as has been the case with executions held heretofore. The procession to the gallows was led by Sheriff Mowat and Governor Chambers. Following these were Rev. Frank Vipond and Rev. E. E. Thompson. Then came Boyd supported on either side by a jail guard, and followed by John R. Radcliffe.

As they came down the hall the clergymen repeated a psalm service, Boyd was apparently calm. His face was utterly devoid of expression, and he showed no sign of weakness, save for a slight unsteadiness in his gait.

Turning into the room in which the drop was arranged he was placed upon the trap doors. The hangman nervously adjusted the black cap over his head. He bound a strap securely about the knees and then, turning almost petulantly to the clergymen, he said, "Lord's prayer, please."

The clergymen began that simple petition and as they reached the words "Deliver us from evil," the bolt was shot with a loud clang and Boyd disappeared from view, dropping seven feet into a like room in the corridor below. The rope, a three-quarter-inch manilla cable, according to the hangman, had not been stretched previously. It slipped over the man's chin, but caught about the lower lip and the neck was broken.

Boyd, according to those who passed the last hours with him, was calm and resigned. He slept well and ate a good breakfast.

Coroner Elliott held an inquest at the jail.

The hanging was the most private yet performed in the city. Only about 15 persons were present.

Phenomenon Explained.

A comparatively young man whose mustache remained jet black while the hair on his head turned white explained the phenomenon by saying it was because his lips enjoyed all the good things of life and his head had to suffer all the troubles.

The Strange Part.

"Isn't it strange that so few men discover the secret of success in life?"

"Yes, but it's stranger still that the secret is still a secret. Surely some of the men who discovered it must have told it to their wives."

Bishop Scollard Visits the City

His Lordship Reports Prosperity in Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie

His Lordship Bishop Scollard of Sault Ste. Marie is in the city for a few days, having arrived here quite unexpectedly last evening. His Lordship will visit at his old home in Ennismore for a few days. His many friends are delighted to see him again and extend to him a cordial welcome. The diocese of Sault Ste. Marie is a large one and is progressing very favorably both along material and spiritual lines. His Lordship reports everything in fine and healthy condition. During the past year several new churches have been erected, and throughout the diocese the people are enjoying prosperity. The New Ontario towns which are included in Bishop Scollard's jurisdiction are making rapid progress in all lines and the people are industrious and energetic.

HIS LORDSHIP BISHOP SCOLLARD

His Lordship was present last evening at the T. A. S. concert and was warmly greeted by his many friends. He gave a short address which was listened to with great interest.

Fire Breaks Out in Large Orphanage at Montreal — Narrow Escapes

Special to the Review

Montreal, Jan. 9.—The 140 inmates of a Catholic orphanage, at the corner of St. Denis and Demontigny Sts., were hurried into the wintry air at 8 o'clock this morning, on account of fire breaking out in the roof of the chapel of the institution.

All were got out in safety without using the fire escape. Fireman Vean was suffocated by smoke during the progress of the fire, which was subdued after considerable damage by water had been done.

The Charge of Indecent Assault Was Not Proven

Fred Holland of Lakefield Acquitted—Magistrate Edmison Said He Could Not Make Conviction on Testimony Given—Ending of Which Case Has Aroused Much Interest in Lakefiel and Vicinity.

After hearing much evidence in the charge of indecent assault against Fred Holland, of Lakefield, the assault having been alleged to have taken place on Christmas day, His Worship P.M. Edmison dicided that the charge was not proven and Holland was honorably acquitted. The case occupied the attention of the Court for the greater part of yesterday, being adjourned from the morning until two o'clock in the afternoon, when the cross-examination of Mrs. Thomas Weston, the complainant, was resumed.

The witness said Holland had told her to mention nothing of anything that had passed between them, and threatened to shoot her if she did so. She told Mr. Gordon she had never been troubled by any men before.

"You lived at the rink for a while, didn't you?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"That's nothing to do with this case, said the witness.

Witness said she had lived there, and said that several men had called at the place. It was a case, however, of men calling at the place by mistake, as another woman was asked for. Mr. Cochrane said it was simply an instance of men calling at the wrong house. His Worship objected to Mr. Gordon conducting any cross-examination tending to prove that the witness was not perfectly respectable.

Witness said when she reached home from Holland's house she found her husband there. She placed the bottle of whiskey she had bought from Holland on the table. She was ill for some time on account of the nervous strain she had gone through.

Thomas Weston, husband of the last witness, said his wife had told him when she returned home, that she would never go to Holland's any more.

Continuing, witness said his wife had told him that Holland had offered her money for improper purposes and had followed her out into the yard. She left home at about 12, and didn't return until after 5 o'clock. He gave her $1.50 when she left home, a dollar bill and two fifty cent pieces. She returned with a bottle of whiskey and the 50 cents, saying she had paid for the whiskey. Witness produced in court the bottle which, he claimed, had held the liquor purchased from Holland.

"Did you know it was not unlawful to buy or sell liquor in Lakefield?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"No, not at the time," replied Weston.

Mr. Gordon—"Although your wife was away five hours, you didn't go after her?"

"No I thought she had gone to see some of her friends."

"Did she tell you anything about Holland threatening to use a gun?"

"Yes, she said, "he threatened to shoot her and me if, too, if we gave the thing away."

"What improper treatment did she say she was given by Holland."

"She said he offered her a dollar afterwards for improper behavior."

Witness was the last witness to testify for the prosecution.

THE DEFENCE.

Mrs. Holland, wife of the prisoner, was the first witness for the defence. Examined by Mr. Gordon, she said she was at home on Christmas day. said there was nothing of an improper character took place between Mrs. Weston and her husband. Mrs. Weston didn't faint away. She went upstairs, but simply accompanied Mrs. Holland. Holland was not in the house at the time.

"Mrs. Weston wanted to borrow $20," said Mrs. Holland, in reply to a query from Mr. Gordon.

"Why did she want the money?"

"Because she said her husband was sick and they were in poor circumstances. Witness said he asked her husband for money first, and then her. She did not get it.

Holland objected to a question Mr. Cochrane asked his wife, and arose out of his seat. He said Mr. Cochrane was going beyond his jurisdiction in asking the question, but resumed his seat upon the advice of his counsel and the Magistrate.

Mrs. Rogers, mother of Mrs. Holland, said she was at Holland's house on Christmas day, and stayed for part of the afternoon, staying in the kitchen. She left for home between 3 and 4 o'clock.

"What took place between Mr. Holland and Mrs. Weston when you were there?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"Nothing at all," replied the witness.

Had not heard Holland making any proposals to Mrs. Weston, and said she had not been taken upstairs.

Holland himself gave evidence. He said he went to work in the morning and returned to his home about a quarter to one for his dinner pail. Said he stayed with his game cocks for practically the whole of a couple of hours, being only a short time in the house, and then returned to the works. Said he never suggested anything improper to Mrs. Weston.

"Did you you work that afternoon?" asked Mr. Cochrane.

"No, said witness, "but I drew pay for it." He explained he was entitled to full pay on an understanding with the company.

Mr. Gordon submitted that the evidence was not sufficient to request a conviction against the accused.

MAGISTRATE'S REMARKS.

"It appears to me, on account of the serious nature of the charge that I should be cautious before giving judgment. Mrs. Weston went to this man's house for the purpose of obtaining liquor. It was a place where she had no right to go, although she may have been innocent of wrong-doing to a greater or less extent. She sat down and talked with this man's wife and others present and had two glasses of lager. There is no evidence of an indecent assault. I think, taking the whole evidence, I must give the defendant the benefit of the doubt and refuse to make a conviction."

Renzetti's Counsel Objects to Mr. Minicolo as Interpreter

On Account of Ill Feeling Between the Two Parties—Italians Again Remanded.

The three Italians, Nicolas Renzetti, Antonio and Nicolo Marone, who appeared in court yesterday morning charged with being disorderly on Charlotte-st. on Tuesday night, were again remanded this morning, until to-morrow. Mr. G. N. Gordon is defending Renzetti, who is also charged with assaulting P.C. Newhall and the two Marone brothers. Mr. F. D. Kerr is appearing for Antonio and Nicolo Marone, but was called out of the city to-day and asked that the case be enlarged until to-morrow.

Mr. Gordon this morning raised objection to Mr. Thomas Minicolo being retained as court interpreter. He said that there was considerable ill-feeling between Minicolo and Renzetti and he didn't think he should act. He accused him of giving the newspapers information regarding the fracas the other night. However, this statement is incorrect. His Worship thought that no better interpreter could be procured. If the defence wanted another one they would have to pay for him or take the one the Court provided.

Eastern Ontario Dairymen Are in Session at Picton

Speakers Preached the Gospel of Good Dairying—President Says Year in Export Business Was Disappointing.

Picton, Ont., Jan. 8. — The gospel of dairying and agriculture was ably preached before the assembled members of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, which began its 31st annual meeting here today. Fully fifteen hundred persons gathered in the First Methodist church this evening, when Hon. Sydney Fisher, the Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa; C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Toronto; Senator Derbyshire, Brockville; Dr. Currie, M.P.P., and Thomas McGillicuddy, Toronto, were the principal speakers. Much stress was laid upon the very marked advance in agriculture during the last five years, the need for still further advancement along scientific lines, and the need for practical education of the dairy farmer.

What Canada has accomplished in the dairy industry is largely due to the dairy associations, said Mr. Fisher. He referred to the fact that though the farmers generally in Canada this year had had a hard year, yet notwithstanding the agricultural situation in the Dominion they had come through well. Much of the success of farming in these latter days was attributed to the agricultural colleges. He urged that the youth of the country stay on the farms.

Mr. James referred to the fact that the great work educating the agriculturist had long been directed safely to the man until the idea of the woman's institutes was conceived. He thought there was more promise in this work than any other association for the farmer's interests.

Mr. John R. Dargavel, M.P.P., of Elgin, as president, made the opening speech of the convention. He said the dairy season of 1907, as far as the export movement was concerned, had been disappointing, the exports of both butter and cheese showing a marked falling off from those of last year, as well as being considerably short of the average of the past few seasons. The aggregate value of Canadian cheese and butter exports for 1907 would be in round numbers about $32,000,000 against $29,000,000 for 1906. The small make of cheese was due to the very late spring, and the poor pasturage during the season. Towards the close of the season the make was also reduced by the cold, wet weather, coupled with the shortage and high prices of food used at that time to keep up the flow of milk.

PRAISE FOR MR. MONTEITH

The Government had taken upon itself the entire cost of instruction, and inspection, and in so doing saved for the dairymen of Eastern Ontario about $15,000.

Were it not for the liberality of the Department of Agriculture for Ontario, presided over by Hon. Nelson Monteith, this educational work could not be carried on. They appreciated the aid given, and were pleased to say that he had looked well after the varied interests of the agriculturists. As a whole the dairy industry of Canada had not suffered at his hands.

Are Rehearsing Some New Music

Grand Opera House Orchestra to Present Some Classical Selections

The members of the Grand opera house orchestra met last night at the home of their leader, Mr. H. Nichols, and had a good rehearsal of several new pieces of music. The members feel that it is up to them to present to the patrons of the opera house good classical selections, as well as all the latest and popular music, and they have therefore secured some of the best standard overtures and selections ever published. Some of the numbers at which the orchestra had a good steady grind last night were the following:—"Semiramide," "Bohemian Girl," "Italiana in Algeria," "Lucretia Borgia," "Lenozze de Figaro," "Tancredi," "Tannhauser."

The orchestra find one difficulty in taking these classical selections, viz., the lack of a set of tympani. These play a very important part in all good music. To remedy this defect the members are starting a subscription amongst themselves and friends, and soon hope to realize their ambition of having a good set. If any lover of music would like to help them in this project their donations will be gratefully received and acknowledged by any of the orchestra.

The story that the garrison of Canadians at Halifax is to be changed for one from England has been denied today point blank.

Indian Schools Not Successful

Church of England May Almost Abandon This Department of Missionary Work

The report upon Northwest Indian work, recently submitted to the semi-annual session of the General Board of Missions of the Church of England in Canada, at Toronto, stated that the existing system had been a partial failure, and was becoming too onerous for the churches with their rapidly growing work while the Indian children are undoubted wards of the nation. The boarding and industrial school system was established, but the Indians on account of a large number of deaths, have been witholding thier children from the schools, because of the unsanitary conditions of the buildings. The Northwest clergymen combatted the reflection upon the school because of deaths, declaring that the proportion of outside deaths was greater. The Bishop of Algoma charged that the statistics furnished were widely misleading, but Hon. S. H. Blake proclaimed that reflecting judgment would no longer support the present inefficient supervision and overmanned costly staffs.

The statement showed that the educated male Indians last year earned in the Northwest $5,000,000 agriculturally. Seventy day schools, with 750 pupils cost $19,000 all paid by the federal government, while the industrial schools, with an attendance of 238, cost $42,422, of which $27,750 was paid by the government. Boarding schools, with 284 in attendance, cost $45,827, of which the government paid $18,634.

The grants to the various dioceses for the ensuing year are a considerable advance upon last year's, and the apportionments to raise the $120,000 was referred to a committee consisting of Archbishop Matheson, Bishop Williams and Hon. S. H. Blake for adjustment. The board resolved that it would not continue aid to industrial and boarding schools for Indians or take up any operations of that class relegated by the Church Missionary Society, of England. It would, however, continue the evangelistic work among the tribes, but considered that education was the duty of the government, especially as the Indians are wards of the nation. Other denominations had asked for sufficient funds to sustain the schools, of which they desire to continue control. A paper from Charles Jenkins, urging a settled policy upon foreign, Indian and white work was referred to a special committee.

LITTLE FOLKS HAD GOOD TIME

Primary Dept. of George St. Sunday School Had Entertainment

The members of the primary and cradle roll departments of George Street Methodist church, were entertained last evening by the teachers and officers of these departments. The little folk and their parents gathered in the Sunday School room at four o'clock, and the function lasted till a few minutes after six. An enjoyable programme was provided by the children, after which they sat down to a sumptuous table that had been prepared by the teachers.

Rev. Mr. Pearson and Mr. S. R. Armstrong, superintendent of the Sunday School, were among those present, and assisted in seeing that the little ones had a good time. Mrs. Lewis was in charge of the arrangements, and was assisted by Mrs. Knapman and Miss Lumsden.

The Charge of Indecent Assault Was Not Proven

Fred Holland of Lakefield Acquitted—Magistrate Edmison Said He Could Not Make Conviction on Testimony Given—Ending of Which Case Has Aroused Much Interest in Lakefiel and Vicinity.

After hearing much evidence in the charge of indecent assault against Fred Holland, of Lakefield, the assault having been alleged to have taken place on Christmas day, His Worship P.M. Edmison dicided that the charge was not proven and Holland was honorably acquitted. The case occupied the attention of the Court for the greater part of yesterday, being adjourned from the morning until two o'clock in the afternoon, when the cross-examination of Mrs. Thomas Weston, the complainant, was resumed.

The witness said Holland had told her to mention nothing of anything that had passed between them, and threatened to shoot her if she did so. She told Mr. Gordon she had never been troubled by any men before.

"You lived at the rink for a while, didn't you?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"That's nothing to do with this case," said the witness.

Witness said she had lived there, and said that several men had called at the place. It was a case, however, of men calling at the place by mistake, as another woman was asked for. Mr. Cochrane said it was simply an instance of men calling at the wrong house. His Worship objected to Mr. Gordon conducting any cross-examination tending to prove that the witness was not perfectly respectable.

Witness said when she reached home from Holland's house she found her husband there. She placed the bottle of whiskey she had bought from Holland on the table. She was ill for some time on account of the nervous strain she had gone through.

Thomas Weston, husband of the last witness, said his wife had told him when she returned home, that she would never go to Holland's any more.

Continuing, witness said his wife had told him that Holland had offered her money for improper purposes and had followed her out into the yard. She left home at about 12, and didn't return until after 5 o'clock. He gave her $1.50 when she left home, a dollar bill and two fifty cent pieces. She returned with a bottle of whiskey and the 50 cents, saying she had paid for the whiskey. Witness produced in court the bottle which, he claimed, had held the liquor purchased from Holland.

"Did you know it was not unlawful to buy or sell liquor in Lakefield?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"No, not at the time," replied Weston.

Mr. Gordon—"Although your wife was away five hours, you didn't go after her?"

"No I thought she had gone to see some of her friends."

"Did she tell you anything about Holland threatening to use a gun?"

"Yes, she said, "he threatened to shoot her and me if, too, if we gave the thing away."

"What improper treatment did she say she was given by Holland."

"She said he offered her a dollar afterwards for improper behavior."

Witness was the last witness to testify for the prosecution.

THE DEFENCE.

Mrs. Holland, wife of the prisoner, was the first witness for the defence. Examined by Mr. Gordon, she said she was at home on Christmas day. Said there was nothing of an improper character took place between Mrs. Weston and her husband. Mrs. Weston didn't faint away. She went upstairs, but simply accompanied Mrs. Holland. Holland was not in the house at the time.

"Mrs. Weston wanted to borrow $10," said Mrs. Holland, in reply to a query from Mr. Gordon.

"Why did she want the money?"

"Because she said her husband was sick and they were in poor circumstances. Witness said he asked her husband for money first, and then her. She did not get it.

Holland objected to a question Mr. Cochrane asked his wife, and arose out of his seat. He said Mr. Cochrane was going beyond his jurisdiction in asking the question, but resumed his seat upon the advice of his counsel and the Magistrate.

Mrs. Rogers, mother of Mrs. Holland, said she was at Holland's house on Christmas day, and stayed for part of the afternoon, staying in the kitchen. She left for home between 3 and 4 o'clock.

"What took place between Mr. Holland and Mrs. Weston when you were there?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"Nothing at all," replied the witness.

Had not heard Holland making any proposals to Mrs. Weston, and said she had not been taken upstairs.

Holland himself gave evidence. He said he went to work in the morning and returned to his home about a quarter to one for his dinner pail. Said he stayed with his game cocks for practically the whole of a couple of hours, being only a short time in the house, and then returned to the works. Said he never suggested anything improper to Mrs. Weston.

"Did you you work that afternoon?" asked Mr. Cochrane.

"No, said witness, "but I drew pay for it." He explained he was entitled to full pay on an understanding with the company.

Mr. Gordon submitted that the evidence was not sufficient to request a conviction against the accused.

MAGISTRATE'S REMARKS.

"It appears to me, on account of the serious nature of the charge that I should be cautious before giving judgment. Mrs. Weston went to this man's house for the purpose of obtaining liquor. It was a place where she had no right to go, although she may have been innocent of wrong-doing to a greater or less extent. She sat down and talked with this man's wife and others present and had two glasses of lager. There is no evidence of an indecent assault. I think, taking the whole evidence, I must give the defendant the benefit of the doubt and refuse to make a conviction."

Renzetti's Counsel Objects to Mr. Minicolo as Interpreter

On Account of Ill Feeling Between the Two Parties—Italians Again Remanded.

The three Italians, Nicolas Renzetti, Antonio and Nicolo Marone, who appeared in court yesterday morning charged with being disorderly on Charlotte-st. on Tuesday night, were again remanded this morning, until to-morrow. Mr. G. N. Gordon is defending Renzetti, who is also charged with assaulting P.C. Nowlnall and the two Marone brothers. Mr. F. D. Kerr is appearing for Antonio and Nicolo Marone, but was called out of the city to-day and asked that the case be enlarged until to-morrow.

Mr. Gordon this morning raised objection to Mr. Thomas Minicolo being retained as court interpreter. He said that there was considerable ill-feeling between Minicolo and Renzetti and he didn't think he should act. He accused him of giving the newspapers information regarding the fracas the other night. However, this statement is incorrect. His Worship thought that no better interpreter could be procured. If the defence wanted another one they would have to pay for him or take the one the Court provided.

S. H. Blake for adjustment. The board resolved that it would not continue aid to industrial and boarding schools for Indians or take up any operations of that class released by the Church Missionary Society, of England. It would, however, continue the evangelistic work among the tribes, but considered that education was the duty of the government, especially as the Indians are wards of the nation. Other denominations had asked for sufficient funds to sustain the schools, of which they desire to continue control. A paper from Charles Jenkins, urging a settled policy upon foreign, Indian and white work was referred to a special committee.

LITTLE FOLKS HAD GOOD TIME

Primary Dept. of George St. Sunday School Had Entertainment

The members of the primary and cradle roll departments of George Street Methodist church, were entertained last evening by the teachers and officers of those departments. The little folk and their parents gathered in the Sunday School room at four o'clock, and the function lasted till a few minutes after six. An enjoyable programme was provided by the children, after which they sat down to a sumptuous table that had been prepared by the teachers.

Rev. Mr. Pearson and Mr. S. R. Armstrong, superintendent of the Sunday School, were amongst those present, and assisted in seeing that the little ones had a good time. Mrs. Lewis was in charge of the arrangements, and was assisted by Mrs. Knapman and Miss [illegible].

INSPECTOR LAYS TWO CHARGES

Liquor Cases From Lakefield and Young's Point to Come up on Jan 14

License Inspector Stewart has laid two charges which will be heard in the county police court on Tuesday, January 14, before Magistrate Edmison. Joseph Curtain, of Lakefield is charged with taking a fifteen year boy, Samuel W. Trude by name to his room a week ago Sunday and supplying him with liquor. It is said that Curtain gave Trude two glasses of beer, which made the lad drunk. The boy stayed with Curtain over night.

Andrew Wilson, who is proprietor of the hotel formerly conducted by Fred Darcy at Young's Point, known as the Darcy House, is charged with selling liquor on December 26th. Young's Point being in Smith township, is under local option.

Williamson Was Again Remanded

His Wife is Still Confined to Nicholls Hospital—Other Cases in Court

James Williamson, who a week ago was remanded on a charge of assaulting his wife, appeared before the Magistrate this morning. It will be remembered that in a fracas at the gypsy house on Stewart street he threw a lighted lamp at his wife. She is at present confined to Nicholls Hospital, suffering from bruises she received. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for Williamson and stated that Mrs Williamson was not anxious to press the charge. His Worship stated that he would again remand him until his wife was able to appear. Bail was asked for and granted at $200.

TO BE DEPORTED.

Reuben Maye, who has been confined to the county gaol for the past two months on a charge of vagrancy, was in court today. He was remanded until such time as an officer shall arrive to take him to St. John's to be deported. He is an Englishman who has only been in the country a short while, but during that time he has failed to make good.

FINED TWO DOLLARS.

James Morton was fined two dollars for being drunk in a public place. He pleaded guilty and was given five days in which to pay his fine.

An Exhibition of Dutch Pictures

Will be Held in Old Bank of Montreal Building Early Next Month

In the old Bank of Montreal building in this city during the first week in February, there will be a splendid exhibition of Dutch pictures, which are now on view in the gallery of the Woman's Art Association, Toronto. The pictures will be taken from Toronto to Ottawa, and from the capital they will be brought to Peterborough.

From here they will be taken to Kingston, after which they will be returned to Europe.

The exhibit here will be under the auspices of the Peterborough branch of the Woman's Art Association.

Call Durham The Milch Cow

Durhamites Think That Northumberland is Getting the Best of Them

Durham is still the milch cow of these United Counties. Northumberland has 50 inmates in the House of Refuge while Durham has only 17, less than half, yet we pay half or more than half the cost of maintenance. See what the council did at December session—passed a by-law to raise $20,000 more for that public institution. Was it really necessary that a dying council in its last hours should pass a by-law to saddle the ratepayers with another $20,000! —Bowmanville Statesman.

Editor James certainly would not approve of repudiating an honest debt! The work was undertaken by a previous council, and last year's council honestly provided a way of paying off this indebtedness. The action was perfectly legal and the editor of the Statesman should be the last man in the counties to make a kick.—Hastings Star.

Mr. Joseph Hickey it New Chairman

Inaugural Meeting of Separate School Board

The inaugural meeting of the Separate School Board was held last evening, those present being Messrs. H. Carveth, J. R. Burns, J. Hickey, J. Primeau, Wm. Collins, J. Goselin, the recently elected members, and the members remaining in office, viz., John J. Lynch, T. J. Lane, Jas. Murty, M. L. Henry.

The chair was taken by the secretary, who stated that the members elected had filed the necessary declaration of office.

The following officers of the Board were then duly elected:

Chairman—Joseph Hickey. He succeeds Mr. Joseph Goselin.

Secretary-Treasurer — John Corkery.

Local Superintendent—Rev. W. J. McColl.

High School Trustee—L. M. Hayes.

Auditors—John J. Lynch, D. Holland.

COMMITTEES.

Finance — Messrs. Lynch, Goselin, Murty.

School Management—Messrs. Burns, Lane, Carveth.

Property — Messrs. Henry, Primeau, Collins.

Miss Coleman applied for the position of representative on the entrance examining board.

On motion of Mr. Lane, seconded by Mr. Henry, Miss Coleman was appointed to the position as requested.

The board then adjourned.

SOME BULLETINS OF INTEREST

Comets Which Have Been Photographed—Astronomical Notes

The following bulletins from the Harvard College Astronomical Observatory have been received by Rev. Dr. Marsh.

Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass., January 3rd, 1908.—Bulletin No. 320.—A cablegram has been received at this observatory from the astronomica centre at Kiel Station that Encke's comet was photographed by Prof. Max Wolffe on January 2nd; right ascension, 23 hours 3 minutes and 16 seconds; declination plus one degree 19 minutes. The comet is visible only with a large telescope.

Bulletin No. 321.—Harvard College Observatory, Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 4.—A cablegram has been received at this observatory from Rev. Joel H. Metcalfe, of Taunton, Mass., stating that comet 1907 A was photographed by him on January 3rd, 1908, at right ascension, 3 hours 14 minutes and 3 seconds; declination plus 45 degrees and 29 minutes. The magnitude of the comet is 14.5—too small to be seen with anything but the largest telescope.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough section of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, which was to have been held this evening, has been postponed until next week. Definite announcement of the date will be made in a day or two.

The members of the Peterborough Astronomical Society have been invited to an "at home" of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, to be held in Toronto on Tuesday next, the 14th inst. It is expected that a large number from the city will attend.

ZAM-BUK CURED A WHOLE FAMILY

Over and over again it has been demonstrated that Zam-Buk balm can cure scalp sores, eczema, scaley sores, ulcers, abscesses, etc., even when other remedies have signally failed. Mrs. G. M. Villiers, of 305 Stadacona Street, Hochelaga, Montreal, says: "My three young children contracted a kind of scalp disease and nothing I tried seemed able to heal the sores and cure the little ones of their trouble."

"I had used Zam-Buk myself for a bad finger which it healed very finely, so I thought I would give it a trial on the children's sores, and before long there was a marked improvement. I persevered with the treatment, until they were completely cured and their heads bore no trace whatever of the scalp disease which had defied so many preparations. As a family we have proved Zam-Buk a wonderful healer and would not be without it in the house."

ZAM-BUK CURES Eczema, Pimples, Running Sores, Spreading Scabs, Scalp Diseases, Poisoned Wounds, Festering Sores, Piles (Blind or Bleeding), Bad Legs, Diseased Ankles, Swollen Knees, Abscesses, Boils, Ulcers, Ringworm, Scurvy, Dandruff, Erysipelas, Sore Backs, Proud Flesh, Chapped Hands and all skin troubles.

Of all stores and druggists, 50c. a box, or post-paid on receipt of price from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 6 boxes $2.50.

The Elections Were Held in The Y.M.C.A. Mock Parliament

Opposition Won the Contest by Six Majority—Mr. W. Shiner is New Premier—Mr. N. A. Howard-Moore Will Lead Oposition

The regular meeting of the Y.M.C. A. Literary and Debating Club was held last night, being the first for 1908 session, and was well attended.

The principal event of the evening was the election of a leader for the mock parliament, which opens at the next meeting of the club.

The platforms of both the government and the opposition were both published in these columns a few days ago, and the readers will no doubt be familiar with them. The summary of same are as follows:

The government platform, Mr. N. A. Howard-Moore, leader.

1. To build a Georgian Bay canal and thus facilitate the carrying of millions of bushels of grain from the far west to the seaboard.
2. To assist the railways financially.
ing a higher tax on Orientals enter-
3. Restrict immigration by placing Canada.
4. To introduce a system of compulsory military training.
5. To oppose the nationalization of all public utilities, placing a protective tariff upon all manufactured goods and admitting free all raw material not obtainable in Canadd.

The Opposition.

1. The nationalization of all railways and canals, and thus abolishing the present system of competition.
Also to control all public utilities such as telephone, telegraph, etc.
3. Compulsory arbitration.
4. The removal of the present protective tariff, and placing a revenue tariff on goods.

Both sides presented their platforms in a very forcible manner, and were listened to with deep interest by all present.

Mr. Moore, as leader of the Government, made a very forcible and concise address, dealing in a very able manner with the Georgian Bay Canal question, and illustrating his points by a map of the route. He was ably supported by Messrs. Hamon and Armstrong, who also brought forward many strong points in favor of the Government.

The leader of the Opposition, Mr. Wilfred Shiner, was loudly applauded on rising to address the electors.

Mr. Shiner pointed out the policy of the Opposition very clearly, condemning the policy of the Government, and urging upon the electors the benefits that would be derived by the policy of the opposition. He was ably supported by Messrs. Lillie and McLaren, who also condemned the policy of the Government, and endeavored to tear the entire platform of the Government to pieces. The audience seemed to favor the Opposition views somewhat, and continued to applaud the Opposition speaker, and interrupt the Government speakers, and had to be called to order by the chair on several occasions.

After both sides had presented their views, the election took place, the voting being done by ballot.

The result was a victory for the Opposition, led by Mr. Shiner, by a majority of 6.

Mr. J. E. Hodgson, critic of the society, addressed the meeting regarding several important matters in connection with the coming debate.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet again on Jan. 22, when the parliament will go into session, and introduce a bill dealing with "Canada's Transportation Problem" and the other important issues, as stated in the platform.

The executive trust that there will be a large attendance.

Installation of New Officers

Bro. G. H. Wade of Campbellford Will be at Court Chemong To-night

The officers of Court Chemong, 530 I.O.F., will be installed at the regular meeting to be held tonight in the S.O.E. hall. Bro. A. Bradshaw, D.S. C.R., has been assigned work in Campbellford, Hastings, and several other towns for the winter months, and will doubtless meet with his usual amount of success.

Bro. G. H. Wade, M.D. High Chief Ranger of Eastern Ontario, Cobourg, Ont., is expected to be present tonight to install the officers, but anything prevent him from attending, another of the High Court officials will be sent to perform the ceremony.

All the officers and a full attendance of the members is expected to welcome the High Court officer.

MISSION WILL BEGIN SUNDAY

Rev. Andrew Allan Will be at St. Andrew's Church

The evangelistic services under the direction of Rev. Andrew Allan, the Scottish evangelist, will commence next Sunday, Jan. 12th, in St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, and continue for ten days.

Mr. Allan will preach at both services on Sunday and will address a mass meeting of parents and children on Sunday afternoon immediately at the close of Sunday school.

The meetings will be continued every day except Saturday. At three o'clock each day Mr. Allan will give an address on the "Work of the Holy Spirit." Each night the services will be evangelistic in character and will be preceded by a song service.

Canadians do Well In Los Angeles

Inspector Hughes returned to the city on Tuesday from a trip to California, where he addressed the State Teachers' Association at Santa Cruz and the Southern Teachers' Association of California at Los Angeles. The teachers of California are reported by the inspector as a very enthusiastic body. Nearly five thousand members attended the State Teachers' Association.

One of the most interesting men on the program was Luther Burbank, "The Plant Wizard." Mr. Hughes reports that many of the leading men in Los Angeles are Canadians. Mr. George I. Cochrane, son of the Rev. George Cochrane, formerly of Toronto, is president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, and is a member of the Board of directors of 56 leading financial institutions. Mr. Lettie, formerly of the staff of one of the Toronto dry goods stores, owns two large departmental stores in Los Angeles, and is one of the wealthiest men in the city. He is president of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. Wells, general manager of the Santa Fe Railroad, was a Guelph boy, and his brother is general manager of the Salt Lake Railroad. The general passenger agent of the Santa Fe is Mr. Byrne, formerly of Hamilton. The largest jewelry store in the West is owned by Montgomery brothers, who formerly lived in Woodstock.

A great many other successful Canadians reside in Los Angeles, among them being Mr. Bruce Williamson, formerly of Bowmanville; Mr. Howland, from Islington; Mr. Winstanley and Mr. W. E. Watson, of Toronto. There are so many Canadians in San Bernardino that they have a Canadian Club, which owns its own hall. The inspector found that the teachers of Los Angeles, who formerly taught in Toronto, were very successful, and were highly respected.—Toronto Star.

Dominion Legislators are Working Again at Ottawa

Fielding Refuses Committee to Consider French Treaty.

Mr. Monk Asks How It Will Increase Trade—Manitoba Boundaries, and Foreign Relations—Amend Copyright Act—Bill to Make Railways Liable For Fire From Engines—Tobacco Industry.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—Declaring that such a procedure would be contrary to precedent, Finance Minister Fielding refused to consent to the appointment of a select committee to take into consideration the commercial treaty with France.

F. D. Monk, whose motion it was sought to deprive the Government of whatever glory there may be in having negotiated a treaty independent of the Mother Country, by declaring that the procedure was no different from that followed in the past by Canadian Ministers, moved that a select committee of seven be named to take into consideration the proposed French commercial treaty with a view of ascertaining to what extent it will result in an increase of trade between the two countries.

Mr. Monk said all were pleased in the Province of Quebec when it was announced that a commercial treaty had been negotiated with France, but he objected to the absurd manifestation that was carried out on the return of the Ministers from France, putting the country to great expense before we know what had been done.

Mr Monk quoted the remarks of French statesmen that the arrangement was not at all the triumph that the Canadian Ministers had claimed, and he observed that the negotiation of the treaty was carried out on exactly the same lines as before.

"Was ever a treaty negotiated exclusively by Canadian Ministers?" Mr. Brodeur asked.

Mr. Monk replied that he saw no difference from the manner the treaty of 1893 was negotiated by Sir Charles Tupper.

The Finance Minister declined to discuss the merits of the treaty; every word that had been said in condemnation was not only not warranted, but out of place at the present time.

Hon. G. E. Foster said if the motion was against precedent some of the old precedents should be thoroughly examined. They should approach the consideration of the treaty with all the information they could get. The treaty was Greek to the common man, and required some education.

The motion was lost.

In the House yesterday afternoon R. L. Borden asked the First Minister if any steps had been taken by the Government to obtain the consent of the Legislature of Manitoba to the proposed extension of that province. Had the nature of the extension been communicated to the Legislature?

Sir Wilfrid rplied that the Government did not require to take any such steps. In introducing this legislation they were complying with the request of the Province of Manitoba and it would be for that province to say if it accepted the boundaries. Manitoba had made a request for a very large extension. If the Government agreed to the whole request the consent of Manitoba would doubtless be obtained, but the Province of Ontario had protested against the demand being granted, and it would be for the Government to say which demand would be acceded to.

Mr. Borden asks for information concerning negotiations between Great Britain and the United States in matters of controversy, such as the international boundary and the Behring Sea fisheries, and fisheries on the Atlantic. Sir Wilfrid said the negotiations had not taken formal shape, except in respect to the international waters.

Two new members were introduced yesterday, C. B. Major of Labelle and J. B. T. Caron of Ottawa city. Sir Wilfrid introduced both amid Government applause.

Hon. G. P. Graham said, in reply to Mr. Boyce, that 69 miles of the main line of the Algoma Central & Hudson Bay Railway had been completed, 20 miles of the branch lines and nine miles of side tracks, for which subsidies of $4,111 had been paid. On the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway 14 miles had been completed, the subsidy being $3,200 a mile.

In reply to Mr. Lake (Q'Appelle) the Finance Minister detailed steps taken by the Government to formulate shipment of feed wheat from the prairie provinces to eastern markets. The railways were communicated with by the Government, the result of which the C. P. R. gave the preference to feed wheat over all shipments. Mr. Chisholm (Antigonish) was informed by Hon. Mr. Brodeur that it was the intention of the Government to take steps to ascertain whether an all winter open route between P. E. I. and the mainland exists.

Mr. Kennedy (B. C.) moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Railway Act by making railway companies liable for damages from fire caused by locomotives. In the present act some of the objects which may be damaged are enumerated, and Mr. Kennedy wants to make it general.

Hon. G. P. Graham said the bill should go to the railway committee, and the words objected to by Mr. Kennedy were put in.

Claude Macdonell's bill to amend the Copyright Act by simplifying the forms was also given a second reading.

The encouragement of the tobacco industry and the respective merits of the Canadian weed and imported leaf formed the principle topic of discussion yesterday. Several of the French-Canadian members spoke in their own tongue, complaining that the regulations of the Department hampered the industry, and there was a consensus of opinion that the special stamp for Canadian leaf, generally considered the brand of inferiority, should not be employed.

Eighth Anniversary Was Celebrated by Local T. A. S.

Grand Concert in St. Peter's Hall Last Evening—Large Audience—Splendid Addresses by Their Lordship Bishops O'Connor and Scollard, and Others—Excellent Programme.

The eighth anniversary of the foundation of St. Peter's T. A. S. was marked last evening by one of the finest concerts that has ever been given in St. Peter's hall. The large auditorium was filled with an appreciative audience and the interesting and enjoyable event held last night will long be remembered by those fortunate enough to be present. The entertainment was graced by the presence of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor of the diocese of Peterborough, Bishop Scollard of Sault Ste. Marie, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Rev. Fathers McColl, Kelly, Galvin and O'Leary. Ald. Phelan occupied the chair in his usual happy manner.

The excellent programme to which the best local talent contributed was indeed a musical treat. It consisted chiefly of vocal numbers and certainly reflects great credit on the musical ability of Peterborough's artists. The opening selection was a chorus by the cathedral choir. It was given in a faultless manner and the different voices blended in perfect harmony. Miss Lavinia Hallihan, who is always a great favorite with Peterborough audiences, won fresh laurels for herself again last night. In her solo work in the trio with Messrs. Koen and Creedon she sang exceptionally well, as also later in the evening in her solo to which she was forced to respond with an encore. Mrs. Clapperton also was heard to excellent advantage in a well rendered vocal solo and was enthusiastically encored. The other members on the programme were greeted with applause, and in many instances encores were demanded.

Ald. Phelan, in his opening remarks referred to the great pleasure it gave him to be present and act as chairman. He was pleased to see such a large audience. He was sure everyone was delighted to have His Lordship Bishop O'Connor with them, also His Lordship Bishop Scollard of Sault Ste. Marie. The chairman paid a fitting tribute to Rev. Dr. O'Brien, the founder of the Total Abstinence Society. Much of the success that the organization had achieved was due to Dr. O'Brien. Little Miss Gorman then stepped forward and presented the honored founder with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

Bishop O'Connor was the next speaker. As he rose to address a few remarks he was given an ovation. He also referred in eulogistic terms to the untiring efforts of Dr. O'Brien. He highly appreciated the work he was doing in the parish. Since the incorporation of the society morality was at a higher standard. There was more sobriety and families which heretofore were in misery through the curse of liquor were now happy and contented. The temperance work was an immense one. His Lordship said that it was wonderful the influence the local organization had not only in this city but in many other towns and communities through the parish. He hoped and prayed that the work would continue to prosper as it had done in the past, and that Dr O'Brien would be spared for many more years to further the cause of temperance.

His Lordship Bishop Scollard assured his dear friends in addressing them of the great pleasure it was for him to be present. He was fortunate in having his visit to this city come on the same night as the T.A. S. concert. He was pleased to note the rapid advances the parish had made since the days when he lived here. Not only along the lines of morality and sobriety had the parish gone ahead, the speaker said, that he was forcibly struck by the beautiful singing of those taking part. He corroborated what the Bishop of Peterboro said, eulogizing Dr. O'Brien. He was in sympathy with the temperance cause, and thought every Christian should be. He noted with pleasure the beautiful school they had erected since his last visit. The pupils had now every facility for the proper training to fit them for the battles of life, and he hoped they would make good use of them.

Dr. O'Brien was loudly applauded as he rose to speak. He stated that he felt that he did not deserve all the flattering remarks made about him. The bishop and priests all had done much to make the T. A. S. what it now was. This year had been the most successful in the history of the society. It is the intention of the members to increase the membership to one thousand within the next two years. Dr. O'Brien stated that no demon was as potent as liquor and he prayed that everyone, no matter of what creed they were, would strive earnestly to drive it out.

Rev. Father McColl also added a few words along the same lines as the previous speakers. The entire programme was as follows:

Chorus—St. Peter's choir.
Vocal solo—Mr. H. Quinlan.
Selection—Mandolin Club.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Clapperton.
Vocal trio — Miss Hallihan and Messrs. Koen and Creedon.
Recitation—Miss Dunsher.
Vocal solo—Miss L. Hallihan.
Piano duet—Misses Gorman and Giroux.
Vocal solo—Mr. Mark Creedon.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Clapperton.
God save the King.

Then later on, there comes to him,
A very common question;
He wonders how it was that he Contracted indigestion.

MY POOR OLD GRANDFATHER

I have been to see my grandfather, he is just seventy-one,
And how he doth talk and talk about what he has done.
He is still strong and healthy, and his sight is very good,
And he says when he was young he six-foot stood;
And two sacks of grain he could carry under each arm,
And nothing pleased him better than working on the farm.
For every morning he did rise just at five o'clock,
Light the fire and put on the big potato pot.
Then went to feed his horses and do a few chores,
And never forget to close the barn doors.
He has got 200 acres of very good soil,
And he earned them he says with hard honest toil.
Nor did he ever grumble when he was a boy,
But picked stones always with pleasure and with joy;
And he would whistle and would sing and never look sour,
And milk always his twelve cows in an hour.
But he did not go to dances as we all do now,
But stayed at home and his farm he did plow.
And if any farmer wanted a man to do a day's work,
They always came for him, for they knew he did not shirk.
And he always got a good pay, yes as good as any,
But he was always careful how he spent the penny.
And when there were no binders in all the broad land,
And when each sheaf had to be bound by hand,
I will tell you, sonny, he would say, and I do not boast,
Never a man could beat him from here to the coast.
And he has got two mules, one blind, the other a half tail,
And he bought them thirty years ago at a sale.
And these two mules how they could run, nay fly,
No team could ever these two mules pass by,
Up hill, down hill, how these mules could spin,
With strong bits in mouth to hold them well within,
Yes, he would bet a quarter, or even go a dollar,
That no team all day could them two mules follow.
And, sonny, he says, I never yet did take a stump,
At two hops, two strides and a half stride and a jump.
And as for picking corn and pitching a load of hay,
I never saw the man that could beat me in my day.
And, oh, at 45, high low jack and the game,
The man who played with him would have to know the same.
For a week before Thanksgiving day, he said,
We play for turkey, and, my sonny, I was always ahead.
But I never heard my grandfather cuss or swear,
But I have heard him offer up a heartfelt prayer.
And as it is still stamped upon my mind,
I will just give it you here all in rhyme:
O Lord keep us and guide us all day by day,
And lead us, dear Lord, in the narrow way;
Yes, lead us, dear Lord, to Thy home above,
Where all is joy and peace and love,
And cover us with the shadow of Thy wings,
And forgive us, dear Lord, all our sins;
And when death is drawing nigh,
When we come, Lord, for to die,
Forgive us, Lord, the wrong we have ever done,
And settle us forever in Thy kingdom come.
These favors we ask in the name of Him who gave
His life's blood that we might all be saved;
But what beat me and what did beat us all,
He walked twenty miles to go and play ball.
But he would never wear either a collar or cuff,
He said they were only made just for fixing up.
And, sonny, he would say, I am a true Canadian bred,
And loves the man that works for his bread.
Yes, I am a straightforward, honest man,
And by all Canada I will forever stand.
Then he would crow as loud as he could cock-a-doodle-doo,
Three cheers for the red, white and blue.
God bless the Queen, and our King, her son,
Amen, Amen, and the Lord's will be done.

CHARLES BRANDON.

THEATRE MUST PAY DAMAGE

Toronto, Jan. 8.—A jury in the Assize Court yesterday awarded a young commercial traveller, Mr. Thos. E. Cuffe, $250 damages against the Shea's Theatre company and Jas. S. McLaughlin, a constable in their employ, for having improperly and forcibly ejected him from the theatre on 28th December, 1906, after a little altercation with McLaughlin who had kicked Cuffe's foot while passing along the aisle.

Cuffe sought to implicate Jeremiah Shea, the house manager, in the action, but the case against the latter was dismissed with costs. Chief Justice Mulock heard the case.

HEALEY FALLS POWER

Havelock, January 8.—Managing Director Culverwell of the Northumberland-Durham Power Co. states that in Havelock the supporters of the company were elected all round, and its opponents defeated. The local company and certain Peterborough city influence were directed against the Healey Falls supporters.

The Port Hope municipal street lighting by-law was carried, being supported by him. The promoters of the by-law advocated its passage for the purpose of bringing the local company to a contract at a fair rate and short term, so that the Healey Falls competition would be secured.

The Winnipeg City Council has decided to investigate the charges against the city police.

Louis Florence Lent a Horse To Man Who Traded it

Geo. Rogers, of Hastings, in Police Court To-day—Case Dismissed—Left to Civil Court to Decide.

George Rogers, of Hastings, was charged at the police court this morning, with having stolen a horse from Louis Florence in September last. Mr. S. T. Medd appeared for Florence and Mr. F. D. Kerr for Rogers, and pleaded not guilty. The case took up the whole of the morning, and after hearing the evidence His Worship dismissed it.

Mr. Louis Florence, the complainant, was the first witness. He said that Rogers told him that if he gave him a horse he could gather a lot of iron and junk down in Hastings. He was to feed the animal, and was to return it on the demand of the witness. Complainant asked several times for it, but was refused, the last time having been told that the horse was dead. Rogers traded the animal, and it died a short while after. Florence demanded the horse that the defendant received in trade, but was informed by Rogers that he didn't owe him anything.

The animal was valued at one hundred dollars. On Tuesday witness asked Rogers at the G.T.R. station for the horse. Rogers replied, "You settle up for the feed or I'll choke you." In answer to Mr. Kerr's question as to the witness' faith, he replied that he had the Jewish faith and took his oath from the Old Testament. He believed that if he did not tell the truth he would receive punishment from God.

Mr. George Doig was the next witness. He said that Rogers called at his place and got the horse, stating that he was going to take it down to Hastings and keep it for its feed. He also said that if he could sell the beast for eighty dollars he was to do so. Anything more he got he could keep.

Mr. G. Hatherly was called for the defence. He said that he lives in Hastings. Rogers brought the horse to him in September 17th last. He remained there for thirty days, and never did anything but eat. It was a crippled beast, and witness said that he wouldn't give ten dollars for it. It cost forty cents a day to keep it. Witness told Rogers to take it out of his stable. Rogers said that he was going to trade it, as he was afraid it would die on his hands.

Mr. W. B. Sherwin of Hastings, sworn, stated that he saw the animal in question, and wouldn't care to give any more than fifteen or twenty dollars for it. The animal had a lump on its back like a camel.

The defendant, Geo. Rogers, then went into the box. He said that he took the horse away from Peterborough on September 17th. Florence told witness that he didn't want his father to know that he bought the beast, and asked him to take it and trade it, sell it or dispose of it any way he liked. Defendant understood that the complainant was to pay for the feed. It cost Rogers $23 for its care and keep for thirty days. Witness then traded the horse and got a good deal in return, which he afterwards sold for thirty-two dollars. When Florence demanded his horse, he told him that it was dead. He then wanted the money he received for sale of animal he got in trade. He refused, on the grounds that he had fed the first animal and considered that there was nothing coming to Florence. A heated conversation followed, in which some uncomplimentary remarks were made on both sides. Defendant claims $66 for the keep of the animal.

Mr. Medd then put in another witness for the prosecution, Ed. Davy was present shortly after the bargain had been made between Florence and Rogers. Rogers told him that he was going to take the horse for its feed.

His Worship said that the evidence was so conflicting that he could not reasonably send a man to jail on it. The whole business was a mix-up, and he thought Rogers should have reported the trading of the horse. However, he would leave it for the civil court to decide. His Worship ordered that the costs, amounting to $7.72, be paid by the informant.

ALBERTA TEACHERS

Calgary, Jan. 8.—At the session of the teachers' convention Friday afternoon all the resolutions submitted in the morning were adopted with the exception of that relating to a pension system for aged and disabled teachers.

The adoption of the sixth resolution is an expression of dissatisfaction with an existing provincial association. This was formed in Edmonton in July by a few teachers who were up in Edmonton reading examination papers. They were principally high school men. The public school teachers of the province claim that they were in no way consulted about the formation of the association, not informed that any steps were to be taken to that end, and consequently that it in no way represents them. They have decided, consequently, to form their own provincial association. This other outfit, they say, will, of course, be forced out of business. The discussion on the resolution was animated.

"Education is a better safeguard of liberty than a standing army. If we retrench the wages of the schoolmaster, we must raise those of the recruiting sergeant."—Edward Everett.

A GIGANTIC BABY.

Centralia, Ill.—Mrs. Joe Robinson gave birth to a child weighing nineteen and a half pounds. Two years ago, she bore a baby which tipped the beam at eighteen pounds.

It is easy to see that Mrs. Robinson enjoys perfect health. Many women will envy her, because they go through life, wretched and dispirited on account of ill-health. Mrs. Mary Shoreham, of Toronto, suffered for years with diseased ovaries, constant pain in the back, headaches, indigestion and sallow, yellow skin. "Seven months ago a lady friend recommended Fruit-a-tives," writes Mrs. Shoreham, "and I decided to try this medicine, though I had little faith in it, because the doctors said an operation was necessary. After I had taken four boxes of Fruit-a-tives I was free of all pain, and was well again."

"Fruit-a-tives" are made of fruit juices and tonics and are the best medicine in the world for women. 50c.

ACTIVE MEN NEEDED

It is time that the City Council got rid of some of its deputy returning officers, who have officiated at election after election for a generation or more. The city requires young, active men for the work. The old timers have had their day. They are too slow now. It was nearly nine o'clock on Monday before the aldermanic returns were in from every poll and it was even later than this before all the figures in connection with the election for water commissioner were made known. The result of the vote on the by-laws was not definitely ascertained until next day, but promptitude in this was not so important perhaps. What the average citizen is complaining of and commenting upon is the sloth that characterized the returns for aldermen and water commissioner. The mayoralty figures were announced promptly enough—one hour after the polls closed; then several deputy returning officers seemed to have gone to sleep or relapsed into a state of indifference for it took nearly three hours before the numbers relating to aldermen came in from the last poll. Now, why should there be a detention of three hours. The people want to accurately ascertain the results and not hang around all night. Then, in some of the booths there were too many persons trying to keep tab on the count and the old adage to the effect that numerous cooks spoil the broth held true. The City Council might very well appoint some younger and more alert men to replace several of the older deputy returning officers. The latter have had their day and have done good work in their time, but their former activity and alacrity no longer are in evidence.

A WEEK OF PRAYER

It has been said so often that men are not as much interested in spiritual things as they were a generation ago, that multitudes believe it and perhaps there has been some truth in it. There are many who believe that the winter of man's indifference is turning to glorious summer. This belief is not without foundation. The past few years has seen a decided increase in the religious interest in many cities. Men, who have been indifferent to the church and to the highest interests of their being, are found not only in their pews, but in earnest consultation regarding the extension of Christ's kingdom on earth.

Peterborough has never been noted as a specially wicked city, but with other places, it has recently felt a rising of spiritual temperature.

The week of prayer, which is now in progress in our city, has been a decided revelation to many of the thinking men of Peterborough and those, who make no profession of special interest in religion, are asking each other what these things mean! Without being charged with preaching, we can say, that it is worthy of notice that on Monday night—the night of election—the auditorium of St. Andrew's church should be full of praying people and of the company a large proportion were the busy and successful business and professional men of our city. On Tuesday evening the number was greatly increased and Murray street Baptist church was filled, while a similar service was held in one of the churches in the south end of the city. Last night marked another advance when the meeting was held in the great auditorium of George street Methodist and there are yet two evenings before the mission is closed.

Another remarkable feature — and one that our grandfathers never witnessed—is the interdenominational character of the work. The first evening the service was conducted in a Presbyterian church by a Baptist minister, while a Methodist did the preaching. On Tuesday night an Anglican conducted the service in a Baptist church, while a Presbyterian minister preached the sermon, and last night the pastor of St. Paul's was the preacher in the Methodist church where the service was conducted by a Baptist.

These things cannot but help the tone of a growing city like Peterborough. Editor Stead when asked what he thought of the religious movement in Wales, replied, "It matters little what I think of it, but it does matter what it thinks of me." The Ministerial Association of Peterborough, have put us all under tribute to them by the interesting and profitable arrangement of the week.

PAY UP!

In St. John's church on Sunday evening last the Rector, Rev. Canon Davidson made an appeal to his congregation—as is his custom on the first Sunday in each New Year—to settle all their small bills and larger ones, too. He strongly advised his hearers to wipe out all obligations, and commence 1908 with a clean slate. The admonition is certainly opportune and appropos, and if lived up to would result in a more pleasant and satisfactory order of things all around. If merchants and others are kind enough to extend credit to you, do not abuse this privilege and keep the one who has obliged you, waiting month in and month out for his money. If the business man does not receive a settlement from his customers, he is not in a position to pay the wholesale house, and the wholesale house cannot square up with the bank. An irksome and undesirable state of affairs is thus created throughout the whole medium of trade and business relations, by certain people well able to discharge small debts, neglecting to do so. Do not procrastinate. Your bill may be small, but when several such amounts are owing the merchant, in the aggregate they total a large sum. It is well in these matters just to sit down and think.

Do unto others as you would be done by, and consider that, if you were a merchant would you not sincerely wish all people to settle up with you. Now, carry this thought into action and practice. Business would lose one half its terrors, disappointments and drawbacks if customers at the beginning of each year would make an honest, earnest effort to liquidate all indebtedness. If you cannot do so entirely, do so in part.

Canon Davidson's appeal is timely and much needed. It evidences an appreciation of business conditions too rarely referred to from the sacred desk, and reference to which will not be viewed by all good citizens other than in the light of excellent judgment and sound, practical, common sense.

CIVIC COMMITTEES

The city council last year adopted a wise course when it cut down the number of standing committees to six. Surely this number is large enough to transact efficiently and expeditiously all the business that may come before the civic legislators in Peterborough. The personnel of each committee was limited to four aldermen and the mayor, who is ex officio a member of each committee. In previous years there were eight or ten committees with a membership of seven or eight.

In 1907, as intimated, a change was made, and, by reason of a reduction in the number and membership the interests of the public did not suffer. any. No alderman should be expected to serve on more than two committees. If he attends to the sessions of these as well as the regular council meetings, he is doing about all that can be reasonably expected of him.

As a general rule, where there are only four or five members on a committee, better and more thorough work is done, and is more readily attended to. A small working committee is preferable in every case to a large, inactive body, and experience has demonstrated that three or four men will do more with less haggling and vexatious delay than seven or eight on a committee. The committees last year were the Board of Works, Finance, Fire, Water and Light, Manufacturing, Property, Legal and Reception. If it is necessary to go outside the province and jurisdiction of these, a special committee or two can be chosen. Fewer committees with small memberships are conducive to diligent, prompt and satisfactory results, and in striking the standing committees for the year the council of 1908 should take this into serious consideration.

PEN POINTS

Work on the city stone pile is refreshing. The men with the iron hammers seem happy and contented.

The second Thaw trial in New York promises to last much longer than the ordinary thaw in a Canadian winter.

Well! the hockey season has opened up and there will be excitement aplenty in Peterborough for some weeks.

Ward five Conservatives — Do not forget the meeting in the Young Conservative Club rooms this evening to select delegates for the forthcoming convention.

How rapid is the downfall of some men. Here is George Dixon, formerly the idolized featherweight champion pugilist of the world, who died this week penniless and friendless in the alcoholic ward of Bellevue Hospital, New York. The same old story—he could not let the grog alone.

What the world wants is more independent individual thought. Let business men quit the ruts and cut out thinking paths for themselves. An hour of careful thought and wise planning is worth a whole day of aimless plodding. "Ponder the paths of thy feet and let all thy ways be established."

Here's something worth knowing: A prominent physician says "The fact that colds are more common in winter than in summer is not due simply to the lower temperature. It is mainly because people spend less of their time in the open air. Dreading the chilly air, they remain indoors, the health is proportionately lower and they take cold easily." Moral: Get out and shovel your own snow when it falls.

A copy of the most interesting and comprehensive inaugural address, which the Review has seen, was sent to Mr. Robert Fair of this city, by Hon. Jacob W. Clute, Mayor of Schenectady, N.Y., The address is in booklet form, and deals with every department of civic administration. Copies were forwarded to other chief magistrates. The address cannot fail to advertise the live, bustling city of Schenectady.

Ald. James Davidson, of Ottawa, has had a unique municipal career. In Wellington ward which he represented for a decade he always headed the polls, and for ten continuous years he enjoyed the almost unheard of distinction of being chairman of the Board of Works. This is a record in itself. But this year the Capital is having a Board of Control and Ald. Davidson was one of the eight candidates, four of whom are to constitute the new board. He lead the poll. In his election address the following humorous appeal appeared and as a sly dig at a certain discontented element no doubt won him much support that he otherwise would not have got. "If you have approved of my course in council I shall be glad to receive your support, and if you have seen fit to disapprove of my course I shall be equally happy to have you vote for me."

A great convention of the grain growers in the Canadian West may shortly be called to consider the question of having the elevators taken over by the Dominion Government. A week or two ago the Executive of the Grain Growers' Association sounded the Manitoba Government on the subject of the province acquiring the elevators, but Premier Roblin pointed out that the Federal jurisdiction would remain no matter though the elevators passed into the ownership of the province. Unless the province had full power to manage the elevator system it could confer little benefit on the grain producers by obtaining possession of the elevators. It took but a brief conference with Mr. Roblin to satisfy the executive that the reform sought was beyond the competence of the province, and it has been decided to hold a convention to consider whether the Dominion Government should be asked to nationalize the elevators. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's latest deliverance on public ownership is not encouraging for the grain growers. —Mail and Empire.

Bogus Ballot in Local Option Vote

Has Caused Great Deal of Discussion in Campbellford

A Campbellford despatch says:—In the voting for the local option bylaw vote taken here Monday a bogus ballot was found in the ballot box oat No. 1 polling booth. As the bylaw was carried by a vote of 271 to 241, the opponents of the bylaw are talking of having the ballots recounted, and if not successful that way to have another vote taken on account of the bogus ballot found at No. 1 polling booth. The bogus ballot is supposed to have been clipped from the Herald newspaper, which printed a fac-simile of the ballot used.

The finding of the ballot has caused a great deal of discussion, and insinuations are being cast from both sides.

LABOR COUNCIL ELECT OFFICERS

Monthly Meeting Held Last Evening—Mr. J. Alexander Re-elected President

The regular monthly meeting of the Trades and Labor Council was held last evening in the labor hall. A large number were present and the president, Mr. John Alexander, was in the chair. The only business transacted was the election of officers which resulted as follows:

President—John Alexander, (re-elected.)
Vice-Pres.—John Londerville.
Rec. and Cor. Sec.—T. J. Begley.
Fin. Sec.—Chas. Westbrook.
Treasurer.—Henry Carveth.
Sergt-at-Arms.—S. Anglesey.
Trustees.—Messrs. E. R. Ward, A. Hope and S. Anglesey.
Executive Com.—Officers elected.

The appointing of the standing committees was left over until the next meeting.

Church Was Filled at The Meeting

Week of Prayer Meetings are Being Largely Attended—George St. Church Last Night

The attendance at the meetings held in connection with the week of prayer is breaking all records. The number at George street church last night was the largest yet, in fact the meeting was almost remarkable. The auditorium of this church was filled, while there were over a hundred in the gallery. Rev. A. H. Brace had charge of the meeting and Rev. Robt. Pogue of St. Paul's church gave the address. His subject was, "The Punishment of Sin," and his discourse made a deep impression. A good number of the clergymen of the city were among those present. The choir furnished music and a solo by Miss Reesor and by Mr. Sniver added greatly to the service. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. E. A. Pearson.

To-night meetings will be held at Mark Street Methodist and Knox Presbyterian churches, and they promise to be well attended.

New Chairman to Be Appointed

Considerable speculation is being indulged in as to who will be chairman of the Board of Education for 1908. The first meeting will be held to-night when the presiding member for the year will be selected. It is stated that Mr. John Crahe will likely be appointed chairman, although the honor may go somewhere else. Mr. Robert Fair was chairman last year.

The Union Will Hold Banquet

Bricklayers and Masons are Arranging for One

At the regular meeting of the Bricklayers' and Masons' International Union, Local No. 17, held Tuesday night, the following officers were elected:—

Pres.—A. H. Webb.
Vice-Pres.—Wm. Sharpe.
Rec.-Sec.—Wm. Stevens.
Fin.-Sec.—H. H. Hillier.
Tyler—Wm. Doucette.

The officers' reports for the year were read, showing that the union is in a very flourishing condition, both financially and numerically.

The following committee was appointed to make arrangements for the annual banquet, to be held in the near future:—Jas. Goodwin, F Dobson, George Hayward, A. H. Webb and H. Hillier.

DIVORCE AND DENTIST

The home and family was the subject of Dr. Ostrom's address in St. Andrew's church last evening. He scored the haste and rush of modern life, the home being too often a mere place of arrival and departure. Divorce was fortunately not so common in Canada as in the United States, where, if a woman had a tooth extracted her husband might sue for divorce on the ground that he was defrauded of the tooth she possessed at the time she married him. The third for grandeur was an enemy of the home. They are women who would marry a bank account with a man thrown in. But truth, purity and love are not for sale. Education without religion is an instrument of iniquity. Take an ignorant man who steals chickens, educate him and he will forge notes. Incidentally, Dr. Ostrom paid a great tribute to the public school, and denounced a condition of society that gave a man more to cut out a coat than to mould the character of the young. A very large congregation was present and listened with emotion to Mr. Hill's rendering of "Home, Sweet Home." There was a marked improvement in the choir singing. —Winnipeg Free Press.

Carnival at Keene On January 17th

The only masquerade carnival of the season will be held in the Keene skating rink on Friday, January 17th. The carnival will be under the direction of Mr. J. R. McIntyre and some excellent prizes are being offered for fancy and comic costumes. There will also be several races — one mile (open), a ball race and a foot race go-as-you-please — eight laps around the rink.

WEDDING BELLS

DAVIDSON—COOK

The Toronto Star contains the following report of the Davidson-Cooke nuptials, reference to which was made in last night's Review.

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place at 6 o'clock on Tuesday evening at Bloor Street Presbyterian church, when Miss Emma Eelyn (Minnie) Cooke, second daughter of and Mrs. Alanson C. Cooke, of Ryan, B.C., was married to Mr. James Roger Davidson, of Brandon, Man. formerly of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. G. Wallace, D.D., in the presence of the intimate friends of the contracting parties.

The bride, who looked charming in her travelling suit of brown broadcloth with hat to match, was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. J. Herbert Hall. Immediately after the ceremony the happy pair left for a short tour of the Western American cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson will reside permanently in Brandon.

TAYLOR—HANBIDGE

A very pretty wedding was solemnized last evening at 5.30 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. R. Hanbidge, Otonabee, when his youngest daughter, Miss Helen, was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert Taylor, of Otonabee. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. H. Coon, of Mark street Methodist church. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a beautiful gown of white organdie and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was assisted by her cousin, Miss Mary Deyell, who was also becomingly costumed in white organdie. Little Miss Bertha Sarginson, niece of the bride, made a very pretty little flower girl. The groom was supported by Mr. Wm. Hanbidge.

After the ceremony and congratulations had been bestowed upon the bride and groom, about forty guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding repast.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents, showing the high esteem in which she is held. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch and chain, and to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will reside in Otonabee.

TAYLOR—McCARTHY

The marriage took place at George street church last evening at five o'clock of Miss Ellen Harriet McCarthy, daughter of Mr. Chas. McCarthy, 140 1-2 Park street, to Mr. Albert Taylor, also of Peterborough, late of London, England. The bride is a former resident of Canterbury, Eng. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Pearson in the presence of the members of the bride's family and a few intimate friends. The bridal couple were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have only been residents of Peterborough for a few months, coming here from England. The groom is a member of the George street choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will reside at 140 1-2 Park street.

Engine Failed

The steam fire engine was taken out for a trial on New Year's day, and although the brigade did their part in first class shape, the engine failed to respond. After returning to the hall and the cylinders were opened it was found that a bolt had loosened and dropped into the cylinder and broken a small casting. This will be replaced at once and the engine given another trial. The break was not the fault of any person or the engine, but one of those that will occur in the best of machines.—Hastings Star.

District Surgeon For Grand Trunk

Dr. McClelland Has Received the Appointment

Dr. Mars McClelland, of this city, has been appointed district surgeon for the Grand Trunk Railway Company, in succession to the late Dr. Bradd. He received the official notification this week.

OLD COUNCIL ALL RETURNED

The reeve of Chandos, Wm. Hales, was returned with a majority of 59 over David Campbell, and the old council was returned with large majorities over the two new candidates, Lloyd Story and Frank Woodbeck.

The council for 1908 will be as follows, with number of votes for each:

REEVE

William Hales 128

COUNCILLORS

C. Janes 91
Andrew Wilson 81
Peter Gooley 87
Robert Tanner 79

This speaks well for the old council and reeve.

The Desire to Hoard Money

Is Cause of Present Stringency, Says Sir Wm. Van Horn

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 9. — The financial situations are much akin to the Christian Science doctrines, said Sir William C. Van Horne, chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian financier, at the Minneapolis club. "When the public thinks that there is no financial stringency then there ceases to be one. It is only when a man thinks there is no money about and hoards what he has that the absence of money becomes noticeable. There is just as much money now in existence as there was three months ago. None of it has been annihilated, but the people are holding it because of the temporary conditions in our commercial centres.

"The only cure for financial troubles is the restoration of confidence. Just as soon as the public mind becomes impressed with the idea that everything is sound, then will all the trace of the money scarcity vanish.

"Canada has felt the United States situation to a limited extent, but still the great northwest was never more prosperous than now. We have not been able to see any depreciation in the Canadian Pacific receipts due to the financial condition. I understand that your crops are good, the demand in every line of trade continues strong, and there is a shortage of nothing other than money. This can quickly be cured by the placing of all hoarded money in circulation."

Strathconas, and Lakefield Team Start Season Well

Opening Games in City League Marked by Strenuous Hockey—Big Crowd on Hand to See First Matches

The opening of the city hockey league last night was marked by two of the most strenuously contested games ever seen here. The Strathconas downed the High Lifes by 8 goals to 6 after getting away to a bad start, and the Lakefield seven took a fall out of the Bridgenorth team by 6 goals to nil. Over 600 people saw the games and went away satisfied that they had their money's worth.

The first match between the Strathconas and High Lifes was easily the better of the two, but the Bridgenorth-Lakefield contest was marked by some features that made it well worth watching. The players from the suburbs showed that they do not know what it means to quit and travelled at a terrific pace during the whole game.

The Strathconas had on several of the men who will figure on the intermediate team, but despite this fact the High Lifes gave them a close run and will give the city league champs a warm time before the season is over. The High Lifes started off at a gingery clip, and scored three goals before the Straths got working. Then [illegible]'s proteges took a brace and ran in three, making it three a piece at half time. In the second half the Strathcona team was changed around, Dunnigan going back to point and Weatherstone moving up to the wing position. The change proved beneficial and the boys in white and red had the big end of [illegible] the second half. The High Lifes [illegible] a strong aggregation, but the [illegible] told on them and they weakened [illegible] the finish. Thornton, Myers [illegible] Rose were the most conspicuous. [illegible] and Dobson did great work for [illegible], although the whole [illegible] played well in the second half. [illegible] saved the situation many [illegible] by brilliant stops in goal.

The teams lined up as follows:

Strathconas.		High Lifes.
[illegible]	Goal.	Thornton
Weatherstone	Point.	Myers
[illegible]	Cover-point.	Ferguson
[illegible]	Rover.	Quinn
[illegible]	Centre.	Rose
Dunnigan	Right Wing.	Pentland

[illegible] Lynch made a highly satisfactory referee. The penalties numbered [illegible] and were mostly for minor [illegible]. Dobson and Rose got into an altercation a few minutes before half time and both went off for that portion of the games.

LAKEFIELD WON.

With George Lynch refereeing, Lakefield and Bridgenorth took the ice about 9.30 and were at it hammer and tongs for an hour. The Lakefield team showed considerable superiority over the losers, although the latter fought gamely right through. Their efforts were futile on account of poor stick handling and experience. Quinn was the star of the Lakefield seven, while the two Sabatinos also loomed up largely. "Nan" Belleghem, in goal, was the star of the sawmill village team, making many brilliant stops.

The teams were:

Bridgenorth.		Lakefield.
	Goal.
E. Belleghem		C. Crawford
	Point.
Conway		M. Sabatino
	Cover-point.
Cullen		Murdoff
	Rover.
Mann		Quinn
	Centre.
Jopling		J. Sabatino
	Right Wing.
H. Belleghem		Moran
	Left Wing.
Stubbs		W. Crawford

Peterboro' and Lindsay Will Clash

Great Game of Hockey Promised for To-morrow Night—Visitors Will be Strong

The hockey fans of Peterborough are on edge with interest over the game to-morrow night at Brock street rink between the fast Lindsay team and the Peterborough Strathconas. This will be the opening of the O.H.A. intermediate series in Peterborough, and indications are that the rink will be packed to see the match. The victory of the Lindsay seven over the Cobourg team at Cobourg last night stamps the Mudville septette as one that will have to be reckoned with when championship honors are being handed out. They are big and fast and have had all kinds of experience. They are sending along their strongest team, and Peterborough will have to play every minute to win out. The locals are in shape to stand a terrific pace and should be able to pull out a victory. Rollie Glover will be at point and should bolster up the defence greatly. Desrocher will be in the net and there are six or seven fast men available from which to pick a forward line.

The game should be a hummer right through as the weather man and Jack Thimbeck promise a fine sheet of ice. Fred Waghorne will likely be referee, which is an assurance that clean hockey will be played.

The Lindsay team consists of practically all the famous Midgets and they are coming down confident of victory.

HOCKEY

PORT HOPE QUITS.

Port Hope has dropped out of the intermediate O. H. A. leaving Peterborough, Cobourg, and Whitby in the district.

NOTICE TO STRATHCONAS.

An important meeting of the Strathcona players will be held at the rink at 7.15 to-night and all are asked to be present.

MARKS IN BRANTFORD.

Brantford, Ont., Jan. 8.—Roy Brown arrived from Pittsburg to-day and brought Marks, the crack right wing of the Pittsburg Lyceums back with him. Marks, who is one of the best men in the business, will fill a like position with the Brantford pros. and will begin with the game with Toronto here on Friday night. He should greatly strengthen the team, which is now rounding into splendid shape.

PORTAGE 7, STRATHCONAS 5.

Portage la Prairie, Jan. 8.—In the Manitoba senior hockey league the Strathconas of Winnipeg, and Portage team played a game here to-night, which resulted 7 to 5 in favor of Portage. The game was clean and fast, but not up to the standard of Stanley Cup play.

LIFFITON WITH RENFREW.

Renfrew, Jan 8.—In the second game of the Upper Ottawa Valley Hockey League, played here last evening with Pembroke, Renfrew gained an easy victory over the visitors by a score of 8 goals to 1. Renfrew sprang a surprise by playing Liffiton, of Montreal, on the wings, having secured him for the remainder of the season.

STANLEY CUP GAME TO-NIGHT

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—The first match between the Ottawa Victorias and Montreal Wanderers for the Stanley Cup will be played at the Arena, Montreal, to-morrow evening. The Victorias refused to entertain the Wanderer proposition that the first game be played behind closed doors, and the Wanderers finally succeeded in making the necessary arrangements with the Arena company. The game consequently will be played as ordered by the trustees. The second game will be played at the Arena next Monday evening. The appointment of officials has been left with the Stanley Cup trustees.

MIDGETS ARE STRONG.

Cobourg, Jan. 8.—The Lindsay Midgets defeated the Cobourg intermediates in a rattling good game here tonight by the narrow margin of one goal, the score being 3 to 2. Bentley of the local team was forced to retire at half time owing to illness and Lindsay dropped a man to even up. Bill Hancock, of Toronto, gave satisfaction as referee. The teams were:

Lindsay—Goal, Newton; point, Koyl; cover, Sullivan; rover, F. Cody; centre, Lane; left, Riley; right, Ramsay.

MORE CERTIFICATES

The Peterborough Strathconas have secured intermediate O.H.A. certificates for the following additional men:—Charles Ray, H. W. Clarke, Amos McWilliams, Harry P. Morgan.

STRATHCONAS AT PRACTICE.

The Strathconas had a splendid practice last night before the city league games. The feature of the workout was the appearance of Glover and Moore, of last year's senior team. Both dug in in great style and showed that they are still the same as of yore. They will likely be on the team against Lindsay to-morrow night, Glover at point and Moore at cover. Peterborough will be represented by a fast septette and should be able to down the famous Midgets.

THE RING

BURNS—ROCHE FIGHT.

London, Jan. 8.—The articles for the Burns-Roche fight were signed today by Tommy Burns, who recently defeated "Gunner" Moir before the National Sporting Club. He is to fight Jem Roche, the Irish champion, 20 rounds, for $2,500 a side and a purse of $7,500 offered by a Dublin syndicate. The fight will take place in Dublin on March 17, unless Burns is defeated on February 10 by Jack Palmer, of Newcastle.

DETECTIVE IS IN CUSTODY FOR PERJURY

Goodwood, Ont., Jan. 8.—Charles Hanson, detective for the Provincial License Department, was committed for trial this morning by Benjamin Parker, Justice of the Peace, on a charge of perjury in connection with the evidence given in a case against Donald Christie, a Saintfield hotelkeeper, for selling liquor without a license. The magistrate refused bail and Hanson was taken in custody to Whitby.

The prosecution is in the hands of Mr. C. Russel Fitch, of Stouffville, Mr W. E. Raney, Toronto, will have charge of the defence.

Hanson has been in Peterborough several times, being one of the detectives instrumental in bringing a charge of the illegal sale of liquor against Lawless, of Lakefield.

Splendid Address Given Last Night

Mr. McCuish of Winnipeg Speaks to the Knights of Pythias

The regular meeting of Marathon Lodge, Knights of Pythias, was held last evening in their hall, Hunter street, when a large number of the members were present. Chief Commander C. M. Blewett was in the chair, and introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. R. G. McCuish, of Winnipeg. He gave an interesting address on the general conditions in the Canadian West. Mr. McCuish is a forcible speaker and kept his hearers in an interested mood throughout. At the next regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias the installation of officers will take place

Is Suing Town For Typhoid

Toronto, Jan. 9.—Motion was made by the town of Haileybury before Master-in-Chambers Cartwright for an order dismissing the action of J. Creighton to recover damages for typhoid fever, alleged to have been contracted owing to the town's bad water supply.

Mr. Creighton was three weeks in the hospital, and on his recovery took action against both Cobalt and Haileybury. On being forced to choose against which he should proceed, he chose Haileybury. Haileybury now contends that he is now sure where he contracted the fever, and unless he is sure he could not recover damages. Master in Chambers Cartwright refused to grant the order asked, but directed the plaintiff to expedite the trial.

A Happy 1908

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro' our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Yours very respectfully,
J. W. BROWETT

Slippery Floor Caused Accident

Mrs. Hayes, Sherbrooke St. Fractured Bone in Right Ankle

As a result of falling on the verandah yesterday, Mrs. E. A. Hayes, is laid up with a painful injury at her home at 168 Sherbrooke street. The floor of the verandah was rather slippery and as Mrs Hayes was coming into the house she fell and fractured a bone in her right ankle. A doctor was called and attended to the injury. Mrs. Hayes will be laid up for some time.

Entertainment At All Saints'

Sunday School Scholars Have Enjoyable Time

The annual entertainment of the Sunday School of All Saints' church was held last night. The attendance was the largest in years, the Sunday School room being crowded. The function was a success in every respect, and credit is due those in charge of the arrangements.

Between five and seven o'clock over 200 children partook of dainty refreshments, of which there were an abundance on hand.

A splendid programme was given, with Rev. Mr. Major acting as chairman. It was as follows:

"Maple Leaf Forever," by the whole school.

Song—Queenie Phillips.
Recitation—Gertrude Killingbeck.
Song—Iva Bouckill.

After the programme the special prizes were distributed by Mr. Major. A prize donated by Mrs. W. Van Every, for general proficiency, was given to Edith Le Bar. Rev. Mr. Major gave three prizes, and they were awarded as follows:

1st, gold cross—Irene Spiver.
2nd, gold cross—Howard Cranfield.
3rd, gold star—Gladys Russell.

These prizes were given for the best attendance at the Sunday church services.

A Christmas tree was one of the features of the evening. It was laden with gifts, each S. S. scholar receiving a bag of candy and an orange.

The national anthem brought the evening to a close.

This Horse Was A Foolish One

Ran Into Mudhole and There Met Death

Hastings, Jan. 8.—Mr. John Phillips, of Campbellford, was the loser of a valuable horse on Sunday night 29th ult., from a rather peculiar accident.

Mr. Phillips had just crossed the Hastings bridge to the Percy side on his way to Campbellford when the side of the cutter ran up on the snow piled there by the section men and upset. The horse bolted down the river road with the cutter, leaving Mr. Phillips on the roadside and in spite of diligent search and inquiry nothing was heard or seen of the horse for three days, when he was found dead in a mud hole just west of the cemetery. The horse had ran down the road until it came to the cemetery turn and had went straight west on the boundary line leaving the regular road. It evidently wandered around in this locality for some time until it reached the mudhole when it backed up until it turned over, and became entangled in the harness and cutter and died from exposure.

Was Convicted of Selling Liquor

Fred Holland of Lakefield Fined $50 and Costs in County Police Court

In the county police court yesterday Magistrate Edmison fined Fred. Holland, of Lakefield, $50 and costs or three months in gaol on the charge of selling liquor to Mrs. Weston. He sold her a bottle of whiskey for $1.

This is the second conviction in the village since local option has been in force, on the charge of selling liquor, the first conviction being some months ago.

BURLEIGH AND ANSTRUTHER

The latest and complete returns from Burleigh and Anstruther give Mr. Booth, last year's reeve, a majority of 54 over Matthews and 83 over Gallon, the third man. The results are:

How the Election Went in Dummer

Following is the official statement of the municipal elections in the township of Dummer for the year 1908:—

Reeve—Chris. J. Darling, elected by acclamation.

The names of candidates nominated for Councillors and the number of votes given for each are as follows:

John L. Kidd—No. 1, 44; No. 2, 70; No. 3, 79; No. 4, 23. Total—216.
Edward Martin—111, 29, 38, 36—214.
James Greystock—42, 23, 88, 45—198.
William Miles—41, 19, 41, 57—158.
Nathan Payne—19, 25, 65, 38—147
Frank Harding—13, 19, 58, 10—100.
J J Crowe—17, 15, 43,42—117.
Charles James—4, 8, 29, 15—56.

Messrs Kidd, Martyn, Greystock and Miles received the highest number of votes, and are therefore declared to be elected as councillors for the township of Dummer for the year 1908.

RICHARD DEAN,
Returning officer.

ODDFELLOWS RETURN HOME

Messrs. Col. J. C. Miller, R. J. Matchett, F. Wise, A. A. Fowler, Maitland and Breckenridge of the local Oddfellows' societies returned home this morning after having been away for the past two days installing the officers of Norwood and Marmora.

Mr. Matchett, D.D.G.M., of Peterborough district, was the installing officer. They report having a fine time and were given the most cordial reception at both places.

Dr. Chown, the Methodist Secretary of Moral Reform, has made the charge that immorality exists in the midway attractions of the different western fairs and offers to prove it.

BUSY DAYS FOR COUNTY MAGISTRATE

Many Cases on the County Police Court Blotter—Some Serious Ones Ahead

Judging from the number of cases coming before the county police magistrate, the people of the county have suddenly developed a streak of badness. Whether the men have become desperate on account of leap-year or are being influenced by the planets is not known, but at any rate they are landing in the toils in bunches.

Magistrate Edmison has had a case before him nearly every day for the past week, and there are a half dozen cases on the blotter that have to be dealt with. These include a charge of cruelty to animals, non-payment of wages, non-support of wife, and one of forgery. The list is a formidable one and will keep the magistrate busy getting them straightened out.

Closing Meeting Of Week of Prayer

The Services Last Night Were Well Attended

The closing meeting of the week of prayer will be held to-night in St. Paul's Church at 8 o'clock. It promises to be the largest meeting of the series.

The churches last evening in which the meetings were held were as usual well filled. Almost every available seat in Knox church was occupied. Rev. Mr. Coon of Mark Street Church presided. The message of this evening was delivered by Rev. Mr. Webb on "The Forgiveness of Sin," and his address proved very helpful andencouraging.

Mark Street Methodist Church was also well filled. Rev. Mr. Potter presided, and Rev. Mr. Pogue gave a strong address on the forgiveness of Sin." Rev. Canon Davidson and Rev. Dr. Langfeldt were also present. At Knox church Rev. Mr. Brisco and Rev. Mr. Manning were in attendance.

The closing meeting will take place this evening in St. Paul's church. The subject is "The Sinless Future." An offering will be asked for to defray expenses.

The meetings have been the most successful Peterborough has experienced, and to-night's meeting promises to surpass all others.

ADDRESS PARENTS AND CHILDREN

Rev. Andrew Allan, of Glasgow, Scotland, who begins a mission in St. Andrew's on Sunday morning, will address the parents and children on Sunday afternoon on "My Passport into Palestine and What it Meant to Me."

OBITUARY

MRS. HENRY GUERIN.

The death occurred yesterday afternoon at four o'clock of Mrs. He Guerin at her late residence, corner Lock and Braidwood streets. The deceased was only ill a few days, and her death came as a great shock to a wide circle of friends. She was 27 years of age and was born in this city, where she was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was a daughter of Mr. Jas. Gaddons, her maiden name being Amelia Gaddons. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and four small children. One sister, Mrs. Moury, Westcott street, and one brother, Mr. Jas. Gaddons, of Montreal, also survive her.

The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at nine o'clock from the family residence, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Girl Toilers

Gain Strength for Work

In office and factory, shop, store or kitchen girls are at work all over this land, and, alas! far beyond their strength. Young women who work are especially liable to female ills. Too often the girl is the bread winner of the family and she must toil unremittingly, no matter if her back does ache, her limbs and abdomen throb with dull pain and dragging sensations, and dizzy spells make her utterly unfit for work. These are the sure signs of female irregularities which kill beauty and youth.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

builds health and strength for all women who work and are weary. It creates the vitality that makes work easy. From the thousands of grateful letters written by working girls to Mrs. Pinkham we quote the following:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Overwork and long hours at the office, together with a neglected cold, brought on a female trouble until finally I was unable to go to work. I tried change of scene and climate, but found that I did not regain my health. I then thought of a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when her health was in the same condition that mine was, and straightway sent out for a bottle. I finished that and took two more before I really began to improve, but after that my recovery was very rapid, and when I had finished the sixth bottle I was well and able to go back to work again. I certainly think your medicine worthy of praise, and am indeed glad to indorse it.

MLLE. ALMA ROBITAILLE, 78 rue St. Francois, Quebec, Que.

Oh, if Canadian girls who work would only realize that they have but one life to live, and make the most of their precious health and strength!

Mrs. Pinkham extends to every working girl who is in ill health a cordial invitation to write her for advice. Such letters are always kept strictly confidential, and from her vast experience Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help you—and may save your life.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures Where Others Fail

Irrigation in Canada is Considered Most Important

Government Should Undertake Duty Says Hon. G. E. Foster.

Water Rights Should Not Be Permitted to Further Pass From the People — Timber Supply of Northwest—Discussion In House of Commons Yesterday—Surveys of Public Lands.

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—Hon. G. E. Foster declared yesterday that the time had come for the Government to undertake the irrigation of public lands of the Northwest, instead of granting water rights to private individuals, and he urged a strong policy of public ownership to preserve the timber and water supply of that vast domain.

The matter came up during the consideration of Hon. Frank Oliver's irrigation act amendment. M. S. McCarthy forced the Minister to admit that the Government had been for years making surveys for the purpose of ascertaining the sources of water supply. Mr. Oliver also informed the House that no policy had been decided upon with respect to carrying on irrigation works as a public enterprise.

On Tuesday next the House will resolve itself into committee of the whole to consider the French treaty. Mr. Foster desired that the figures should be reduced to English terms, but the Finance Minister said this would be a difficult proposition.

"That is the very reason why we should have it done," said Mr. Borden.

Mr. Fielding finally agreed to see what could be done, though the consideration of the treaty might be somewhat delayed.

Dr. Sproule said the House ought to have information showing what advantages might be expected from the proposed reduction.

Mr. Fielding replied that on some articles we get the best treatment accorded to any nation, and if that was of no advantage we could not help it.

Hon. G. P. Graham, replying to R. L. Borden, said the report of the Quebec Bridge Commission would be ready shortly.

To Mr. Bergeron, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he was not aware that there had been a new lease of the Beauharnois Canal.

Status of Sifton Abroad.

Hon. Mr. Foster called attention to a press despatch from London, giving a report of an address by Mr. Sifton on "The All-Red Line." Mr. Sifton had stated that Canada was ready to contribute one-half towards the establishment of a fast service on the Atlantic, and a considerable proportion of the cost of a fast Pacific service. Had Mr. Sifton authority to pledge Government support of the project.

Sir Wilfrid did not understand that Mr. Sifton had undertaken that the Government would aid the project, but he was aware there was a strong inclination on the part of the people to do whatever was necessary to carry the scheme to completion.

Mr. Monk asked if Mr. Sifton carried a letter from the Premier to the members of the British Government.

"Does he mean a letter of introduction?" asked the Premier.

"I do," said Mr. Monk.

"Then," said Sir Wilfrid, "I did give him a letter."

"Of character?" asked Mr. Bennett of Simcoe.

R. L. Borden desired to know if the Premier had any information concerning a renewal of the influx of Japanese into British Columbia. He had read of such in the newspapers.

Sir Wilfrid said the information was not correct. There was no influx at present, but he believed that such was possible.

Claude Macdonell (Toronto) asked if it was the intention of the Government to discontinue the subvention to the Canada-Australian steamship service.

Sir Wilfrid replied that on July 27, 1907, an order-in-council was passed, authorizing the Minister to enter into a contract. This had been prepared and sent to New Zealand, to be signed by the Union Steamship Co., that has a service between Vancouver and Australia.

The Irrigation Question.

Mr. Oliver's bill, respecting surveys of public lands, was read a third time, and his bill to amend the Irrigation Act was considered in committee of the whole. The amendment requires the consent of municipalities to the construction of irrigation works.

Mr. Bergeron of Beauharnois thought this would be the proper time for the Government to undertake irrigation works to increase the value of the lands, as in the United States.

The Minister of the Interior said the Government did not build all the Government buildings or all the railways. There was some room yet for the exertion of private enterprise and individual energy. That there was a great deal to do was not conclusive evidence that the Government ought to do it.

Mr. Bergeron said that if there was one kind of work that ought to be done by the Government it was this work of irrigation. The C. P. R. had found it added immensely to the value of its lands, and if it paid the C. P. R., why would it not pay the Government?

Mr. Oliver said that would be a matter for consideration. It would be safer to await results of private enterprises.

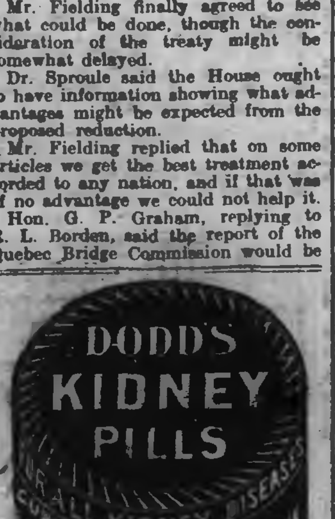
Mr. Borden remarked that in the United States the irrigation of public lands had been vastly successful, and was adding enormously to the income of the country by bringing into the market thousands of acres of land upon which crops are almost certain.

M. S. McCarthy (Calgary) tried to get the Minister to give the results of surveys to ascertain the quantity of water that could be made use of for irrigation purposes, and what the object of making those surveys was. Mr. Oliver promised to bring down a return. The Government, he said, had not undertaken irrigation works.

Country Waking Up.

Mr. Foster pointed out that while the Minister had been securing information he had been giving away water rights to private parties, and some day he would wake up to the fact that all these rights had been dissipated, the result of which would be, in the vent of irrigation being undertaken by the Government, a great expense in securing the reversion of these rights to the people. In times past great franchises had been readily disposed of to private individuals. All Governments were wise after the event. But there had been a great stirring up in this country in respect to preservation of our timber and water resources. This was the time for the Government to put itself on record. A great opportunity had arrived to formulate a policy which would make clear whether we were going to develop the Northwest water and timber areas as a Government enterprise or go on as at present by handing them over to be exploited by private enterprises. Many of the great water powers in this part of the country had been given away when they might have been conserved to the people. Mr. Foster said nothing was so important at the present time as the formulation of a policy in respect to the preservation of the water and timber supply of the Northwest.

The bill was left over for further consideration.



Fire at Port Credit.

Port Credit, Jan. 10.—Fire from some unknown cause completely destroyed the planing mills of William Seaife at an early hour yesterday morning. In the mill was a lot of valuable machinery, recently installed, and adjoining it considerable lumber, all of which was destroyed. The loss will be between $3,000 and $4,000, partially covered by insurance.

May Become Premier of Belgium.

Brussels, Jan. 10.—M. Schollaert, president of the Chamber of Deputies, has been appointed Minister of the Interior to succeed M. de Troos, who died Dec. 31.

It is possible that M. Schollaert later may be appointed Premier, which office M. de Troos also held.

ITALIANS LOSE HEAVILY

Terrible Battle in Somaliland With Abyssinians.

Outpost Station Besieged — Captured by Attacking Force After Desperate Struggle — Defenders Were Slain—Fight Was Unequal—2,000 to 125—Italian Squadron Despatched to Scene—Protest to King Menelik.

Rome, Jan. 10.—News has been received here of a terrible battle in Italian Somaliland, on the east coast of Africa, between the Italian forces there and the Abyssinians.

It is learned on good authority that Lugh, the furthermost Italian station in the interior, was besieged by the Abyssinians and destroyed after a desperate and unequal fight, and its defenders were killed.

It is believed here that the Italian Government is concealing a severe reverse in order to prepare the public for graver news.

The importance of the situation lies in the establishment of the fact as to whether or not the King of Abyssinia ordered the attack upon the Italian possessions.

Lugh was garrisoned by about 125 natives, under the command of Capt. Bongiovanni, and the attacking party consisted of about two thousand Abyssinians, according to reports received here.

The Italian Government has ordered the squadron now in the Red Sea to proceed to the coast of Somaliland in order to protect the towns along the coast, as the entire territory is garrisoned by no more than two thousand natives under the command of Italian officers.

At the same time the Government has telegraphed to the Italian legation at Addis Abeba, the capital of Abyssinia, instructing the Italian Minister to present a protest to King Menelik against the violation of the status quo.

FRAGMENTS OF BODIES FOUND.

River Bed Gives Up Evidence of a Quadruple Murder.

Florence, Colo., Jan. 10.—That Ercole Buffeti, Daminick Minichette, Joseph Minichette and Mrs. Frank Palmetto, who mysteriously disappeared in this city, were murdered, and their bodies then chopped to pieces is the opinion of the police, as human lungs, a thorax and a piece of tongue have been found in the Arkansas River.

It is believed that the other dismembered bodies are being scattered along the bed of the river by the swift current. Tony Boveri, who is in jail charged with the murder of the Minichette brothers, is said by the police to have confessed to killing a man in Italy before coming to America. In the house was found a bundle of letters addressed to Tony Noroni, and this is believed to be his real name.

Boveri was engaged in market gardening here in partnership with the Minichette brothers, and is accused by the police of having murdered them in order to obtain their money and other property. He had $350 when arrested.

DISORDERS IN CHINA.

Protestant Chapel and School Have Been Burned.

Shanghai, Jan. 10.—Rioters at Kiahsingfu, a town in the Province of Chekiang, have burned the Protestant chapel and school there. The official residence of the local magistrate also was destroyed. The foreigners at Kiahsingfu are safe. The disorders have been directed principally against the dynasty.

Rev. Dr. MacKay of the Presbyterian missions says that none of their workers are within 300 miles of the scene of trouble, and is also outside the zone of operations of the Church Inland Mission.

Refused to Commit Magistrate.

Toronto, Jan. 10.—Justice Mabee yesterday refused the application to commit Alpheus F. Wood, police magistrate of Madoc, for publishing a letter in The North Hastings Gazette commenting severely on the steps taken to endeavor to collect $10,000 damages from him for alleged false imprisonment of one Lowry, who was accused of having appropriated a horse and rig, the property of another man, and was sent down for four months, being afterwards, however, released owing to irregularity in the proceedings.

Jumped From College Dome.

Lawrence, Kas., Jan. 10.—Urbar Angney, aged 22 years, captain of last year's football team of the Kansas University, committed suicide here yesterday by jumping from the dome of Fraser Hall, at the university grounds. Angney left a note reading: Dear Jesus: My life passed. My pleasure is gone. No pleasure for me. You can know the reason. I was called for what I owe. Good-bye. May you all live happy.

Terrorists Arrested.

Lausanne, Switzerland, Jan. 10.—Eleven alleged Russian terrorists, including a young woman, were taken into custody here yesterday after an encounter with the police, in which they put up a desperate resistance. They are charged with threatening to assassinate a wealthy local Russian unless he contributed $100 to the revolutionary cause.

Six Hundred on Strike.

Montreal, Jan. 10.—A strike of 600 employes of the Thomas Davidson Manufacturing Co., tinware manufacturers, was inaugurated yesterday, on account of a reduction of 10 per cent. in wages.

Buried In Gravel Pit.

Fergus, Jan. 10.—Buried beneath several feet of gravel, Daniel McDermott was killed in the pit in which he was working in West Garafraxa, near here.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Buffalo and Chicago Markets Steady.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—London cables are firmer, at 10½c to 12c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—Receipts of live stock since Tuesday were large, 105 carloads, composed of 1414 cattle, 1442 hogs, 1571 sheep, 73 calves.

Exporters.

There were none quoted as such being sold, but we would say that choice well-finished exporters would be worth $5 per cwt., but export bulls are in demand at $3.50 to $4.40 per cwt.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots of butchers are worth as high as $5 per cwt., but out of the 1400 cattle on sale to-day not one was reported as bringing that price. All the dealers were a unit in regard to the general poor quality of cattle offered for butcher purposes, and all were agreed that prices were from 10c to 20c per cwt. higher in all classes than on Monday last, while many drovers stated that prices were easier. Prices ruled as follows: Good butchers, $4.40 to $4.80; medium, $4 to $4.25; good cows and light butchers, $3.50 to $3.85; fair quality cows, $3.12½ to $3.40; common cows, $2.25 to $2.70; canners, $1; butchers and export bulls, $3.50 to $4; bologna bulls, $2 to $2.25. These prices were given by George Rowntree, who bought 270 cattle for the Harris Abattoir Company.

Feeders and Stockers.

Messrs. H. & W. Murby report no feeders and no stockers being offered; the butcher trade being active has caused a scarcity of good feeders. The Messrs. Murby are open to buy some good quality feeders, having many orders to fill. Drovers having feeders to dispose of would do well to correspond with Harry Murby at the Western Cattle Market, Toronto.

Milkers and Springers.

Few good quality cows were on sale and prices were quoted accordingly, ranging all the way from $30 to $64 each.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves of good quality are scarce and in demand, with prices firmer at $3.50 to $6.50 per cwt., with an odd choice new milk-fed calf of extra quality at $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Good quality lambs and sheep are scarce and wanted. Export ewes, $4 per cwt.; culls and rams, $3 to $3.50; yearling ewes, for butcher purposes, $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt.; lambs firm at $5 to $6 per cwt.

Hogs.

Prices unchanged at $5.90 for selects, $5.65 for lights, but Mr. Harris stated that prospects were looking like easier quotations.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 9.—Cattle—Good demand and firm; prime steers, $5.40 to $5.75.

Veals—Receipts, 200 head; active and steady.

Hogs—Receipts, 6800 head; active and a shade higher; heavy mixed, Yorkers and pigs, $4.75 to $4.80.

Lambs — Receipts, 7000 head; active; sheep steady; lambs stronger; Canada lambs, $7 to $7.25.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Beeves — Receipts, 1567; no trading; feeling steady; exports to-day were 3000 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 475; no trading; feeling steady.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 3608; sheep in light supply and 25c higher; yearlings, firm; prime and choice lambs, full steady; others less active and generally a shade easier; sheep sold at $4.00 to $5.50 per 100 lbs; yearlings at $6.50; medium to choice lambs at $7.50 to $8.12½.

Hogs—Receipts, 5222; none on sale; feeling nominally firm.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Cattle—Receipts, estimated at about 3000; market steady to strong; steers, $3.90 to $6.25; cows, $2.75 to $4.60; heifers, $2.80 to $5.25; bulls, $2.85 to $4.25; calves, $3 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $2.40 to $4.40.

Hogs—Receipts, estimated at about 44,000; market steady to 5c higher; choice heavy shipping, $4.60 to $4.60; butchers', $4.50 to $4.60; light mixed, $4.20 to $4.35; choice light, $4.45 to $4.55; pigs, $4 to $4.55; bulk of sales, $4.40 to $4.55.

Sheep—Receipts, estimated at about 25,000; market strong to 10c higher; sheep, $4 to $5.75; lambs, $5.75 to $7.40; yearlings, $4 to $6.25.

Beats Phineas Fogg.

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—Hon. Mr. Lemieux has been making record time on his way back to Ottawa from Tokio. He reached the capital last night, after having been fifteen days on route.

The Winnipeg City Council has decided to investigate the charges against the city police.

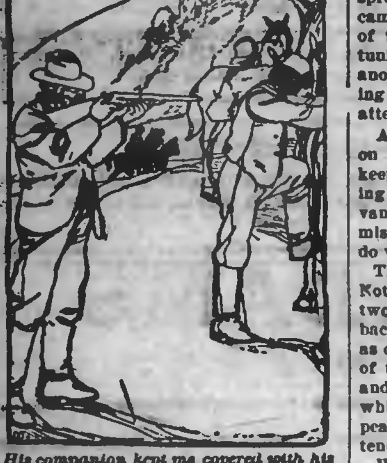
SWEET REVENGE

By
Captain F. A. MITCHEL,
Author of "Chattanooga," "Chickamauga," Etc.

Copyright, 1897, by Harper & Brothers.

All day we moved northward, the men riding close beside me, now and again turning their ugly faces toward me with a grin of satisfaction or a scowl when I did or said anything to displease them, often bending close to me, sickening me with their rank tobacco smelling breaths or the worse odor of their unwashed bodies. We met no one. The only comfort I derived was from the natural objects of the mountains. A red fox stole away under cover; a chipmunk, fearless and free, sat on a log, looking at us curiously as we passed; a budding wild rose brushed my boot; it was like the kiss of a loving companion; even the twittering birds seemed to be offering sympathy.

Toward evening, as the sun stood just above the horizon, a dull red ball, a shadow resting on the lower landscape, one of my captors gave a whoop. It was answered by a man ahead, and in a moment a dozen more started from about a campfire.



His companion kept me covered with his gun while I mounted.

"Got him?" yelled the foremost of the group.

"Yo' bet!"

With a cheer every man sprang for his gun.

"Hold on, thar!" roared Jaycox with his bull's voice. "Don't yer be fo'gettin we're goin ter be paid fo' our losses fust."

A man by no means as repulsive as the rest, slenderly built, with a weak mouth, long, black hair and a beard through which shone a tinge of color on his cheek, stepped to the front as with authority, and it was soon evident that he was in command. He inquired about certain of the gang who were lurking about Huntsville. Jaycox mentioned the name Ike, though I could not hear what he said, whereupon the captain turned and glanced at me. I inferred that Ike was the man who had tried to kill me and whom I had killed for his pains. Then the captain and Jaycox went into a thicket near by, evidently for consultation, and were followed by the others, while I remained behind, still sitting on my horse and watched by Pete, who stood on the ground, a great, gaunt figure, one hand holding the bridle rein of his horse as he nipped the grass, the other grasping a cocked revolver. He was looking at me from under his faded sombrero, his eyes peering into mine malignantly, his jaws grinding on his quid, the juice of which soiled the corners of his mouth. I could not endure to look at him and turned toward the landscape below. The sun had set. It was the beginning of night. Was it not the beginning for me of the eternal night?

CHAPTER IX.

FRIENDS.

It was plain to me that I was in the hands of that terrible wartime scourge of the south, the guerrilla. This band had been made up in east Tennessee and had moved out of their original stamping ground to get away from their old homes and find a better field for pillage. From the Cumberland plateau they could swoop down toward Nashville, Murfreesboro, McMinnville, Shelbyville, Fayette or Huntsville and, if chased, could easily take to the mountains, where it was difficult to follow them. On one of their forays Tom Jaycox and Pete Halliday had got wind of my whereabouts and, with several of the gang, including the man I had shot, had gone down to look after me. The country in and about Huntsville was too civilized for open assassination, and Jaycox, after the failure of the attempt on my life, had procured my arrest as a spy. Then followed the plan to kidnap me and force me into a payment of money before the final revenge.

We bivouacked where we had met the band on the plateau, under the trees that waved above us, their sprouting leaves lighted up by our campfire. I lay awake the greater part of the night, watching for an opportunity to escape, but one sentry after another was placed over me, and morning came without my having made the attempt.

At sunrise we moved northward, as on the day before, my captors still keeping a strict watch over me. During the day Jaycox pushed on in advance. Why I did not know, but surmised that his going had something to do with the plan to plunder me.

The mountains seemed deserted. Not a human being did we see save two women and a negro, all on horseback, traveling in the same direction as ourselves. I caught several glimpses of them, though always at a distance, and wondered how it was that "poor white trash," to which class they appeared to belong, could afford the attendance of a slave.

When we halted for the night, which we did about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the captain came up to me and told me they were going to take me to a point near my old home, Knoxville, where I would be required to sign a check for a large amount, all they could squeeze out of me, but if there were not sufficient funds to my credit in the bank I must execute papers that would enable him to convert property into money. If I would do as he wished, he would set me free. This I knew to be a lie. The gang would find a pretext to murder me whether I signed the document or not.

He left me sitting on the ground, leaning against a log, contemplating the horrors of my situation. If I did not pay my ransom, I should be murdered; if I paid it, I should be murdered. It was Hobson's choice. I made up my mind that I would attempt to escape, get shot and thus end a situation that was inflicting on me a mental torture far greater than any physical pain mortal ever endured.

Casting my eyes inadvertently toward the road, I saw two women passing northward and in another moment recognized them as those I had noticed on the march. To my surprise, one of them turned and rode toward us. The other hesitated, started on, turned and followed her companion. I noticed something familiar about their figures. The coarse texture of their jackets and gowns and their unbecoming sunbonnets were out of keeping with their graceful carriage. "If these women knew," I thought, "that they were entering a guerrilla camp, they would be stricken with terror." When they reached a point a dozen yards distant, they paused, the one in advance calling in a harsh voice:

"Can you uns tell us how fa' 'tis t' Tracy?"

Then beneath the homely check bonnet, through the olive darkening of her complexion under the cheap calico, I recognized Helen Stanforth. Her beautiful companion was none other than my fascinating little friend who had saved me from the impetuous wrath of Captain Beaumont—Jaqueline Rutland.

Had a pair of angels come down from heaven and lit on my shoulders I could not have been more astonished. I rubbed my eyes, thinking that my vision deceived me, but when I looked again there was Helen sitting on her horse, chatting with the guerrillas as if they were ordinary persons, making commonplace remarks in excellent dialect, with which a long residence near the mountains had made her familiar. Jaqueline remained a short distance behind her. For awhile I feared that Jaqueline would betray them both, for I could see that she was trembling. But presently all terror seemed to leave her. She rode up beside Helen and began to chaff the men, at once attracting the attention of the whole band.

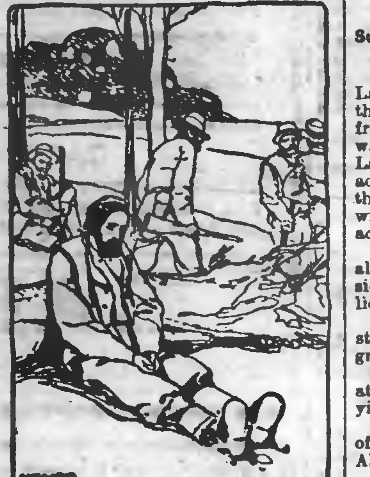
"You're a likely gal," said one of them. "Git down offen that critter and stay awhile."

"Couldn't think of it."

"Oh, yes, yo' kin." And he walked up and took hold of her bridle rein.

"Yo' Jim Canfield," cried the captain, "let that gyrl alone!"

The captain advanced and invited the two visitors to alight, promising that they should be respected. Jaqueline gave him a grateful look as he helped her off her horse with far more gallantry than might have been expected from the leader of this gang of ruffians. Indeed there was something in his bearing to make me suspect that this bandit captain—Ringold they called him, though I suspect the name was assumed—was an unworthy member of some good southern family who had disgraced himself with his peers and become a leader of those who were, like himself, devoid of principle, but in other ways his inferiors. Jaqueline must have divined as much, for no sooner was she on terra firma than she slipped her arm through his and clung to him confidingly. Pete Halliday, who seemed to be the next member of the band in importance after the captain, awkwardly attempted to gain some mark of her favor, but Jaqueline, with woman's quick intuition, knew that if any one was to be relied on it was Ringold and declined attention from any other.



Contemplating the horrors of my situation.

"Who ar' yo'? Whar did yo' come from? What yo' doin hyar?" she asked in her usual quick way. "Hain't yo' goin t' join our boys an fight fo' the bonny blue flag?"

The captain looked a bit uncomfortable, and as she had asked several questions to which a reply would be in order he replied to none.

"Can't yo' sing the 'Bonny Blue Flag' fo' 'em, Jack?" asked Helen. "Reckon yo'd like to hear her," she added to the group. "She's right smart at singin."

"Reckon," said Jack. "D'yo' want to hear 't?"

The men were too stupid or, rather, had not the politeness to say they did. They stood and gaped. Jack, who I could easily see under her enforced gayety was badly frightened, made a desperate effort and began to sing, but her voice was so thin and trembling that I thought every moment she would break down. However, when she came to the last stanza she had regained something of confidence and ended the song pretty well.

She had scarcely finished when we heard a picking of banjo strings. I looked up and saw a boy and a negro advancing toward us. I was not long in recognizing Buck and Ginger, the latter thrumming the instrument as he came on.

"What's a house fo' t' git supper?" called the boy.

WAS DAVID JUSTIFIED?

Jealousy Said to Be One Cause For Murder—Insanity Plea.

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 10.—The trial of David, the wife murderer, proceeded yesterday.

Mr. Hazen claimed that the defence would show under the criminal code that the offence charged could not be more than manslaughter. He told in detail of the relation of the Davids and how, on several occasions David had forgiven his wife, and taken her back after she had left him. He said they would also prove that Mrs. David had no intention of leaving Nicholas, and when she bought her ticket at Woodstock to go with her husband it was a return ticket to McAdam Junction. The defence would show that at McAdam Junction the woman had told David that Nicholas' shoe was worth David's whole body, and that she intended returning to Woodstock. This would lead any man of jealous disposition to act quickly. Mr. Hazen urged strongly that homicide under some circumstances was justifiable, and the facts in this case practically warrant it. The second ground of defence was that David was not responsible for his actions. A history of the David family showed that the prisoner's insanity was inherited. There were experts here to give testimonial that the prisoner was subjects to fits, and that he was not responsible.

Two witnesses were then called by the defence, Mrs. Anna Yardid, who testified as to getting money for Mrs. David's return ticket from Woodstock to McAdam Junction, thus showing that Mrs. David had no intention of going further than McAdam, and Mr. Irvine, the ticket agent, who testified to getting the money for the return ticket.

CORNWALL ASSIZES.

Drank Bad Whisky and Jury Said "Not Guilty."

Cornwall, Jan. 10.—At the Assizes here this week the grand jury brought in a true bill against John Elliot of Dundee, Que., who was accused of stealing a horse and buggy belonging to Peter Lacroix, lot 29, concession 5, of Lochiel, about a month ago.

The defence claimed that Elliot had imbibed some very bad whisky at Coteau on his way to Alexandria, and was therefore not responsible for his conduct. The jury thought likewise, and brought in a verdict of "not guilty."

John H. Cameron of Finch Township was acquitted of a charge of shooting with intent to cause bodily harm, but was found guilty to carrying a revolver.

To-day Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, inspector of prisoners and asylums, and Dr. Moore of the Brockville Asylum will examine Joseph Ashworth, who is charged with attempting to murder his wife, and will give evidence as to his sanity.

J. Gauthier has secured $150 damages from J. McLeod of Lancaster Township for false arrest. McLeod claimed that Gauthier was taking more wood than he was entitled to.

WHOLE CITY STRICKEN.

Sudden and Unexplained Epidemic at Lansing, Michigan.

Detroit, Jan. 10.—A special from Lansing, Mich., says: "Whether from the flight of bacilli over the city, from deleterious matter in the city water, or from some unknown cause, Lansing was seized by a strange malady sometime during Tuesday night, thousands being suddenly stricken with extreme naseau, accompanied by acute intestinal troubles.

From midnight until morning and all during the afternoon calls for physicians were incessant. Whole families were stricken.

Two boys were found lying on the street, too ill to make further progress.

The disease, which most physicians attribute to atmospherical conditions, yielded readily to treatment.

Fifteen city teachers and hundreds of pupils were absent from school. All the stores were short of help.

Arrests In Whitmore Case.

New York, Jan. 10.—Two important arrests were made Wednesday in the case of the murder of Mrs. Theodore S. Whitmore of Brooklyn in the Lampblack Swamp at Harrison, N. J.

Fred W. Elliott, the railroad man who visited Whitmore from Christmas Day until the following Saturday, was arrested in Boston.

Mrs. Cassie McKay, who may be of equal importance with George Dickenson in bringing the murderer of Mrs. Lena Whitmore to justice, was arrested by Detective Hymes of the central office. The woman has confessed that she was with Whitmore, the husband accused of the crime; George Dickenson and Fred W. Elliott the day after Christmas.

Traveler Found Dead.

Sarnia, Jan. 10.—C. F. Allison, traveling representative for the London Printing & Lithographing Co., who has been in town for the last couple of days on business for that firm, was found dead in his room at the Vendome Hotel here yesterday morning.

Mr. Allison was found kneeling on the floor of his room beside the bed in his nightdress, but life was extinct. Dr. Bently was called, but nothing could be done, although the body was still warm.

Aged Couple Perish.

Auburn, N. Y., Jan. 10.—Albert Moulton and his wife, both aged more than 75 years, were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their home in this village yesterday.

Their 18-year-old grandson ran out of the house, expecting that the aged couple were following him. He tried to go back to their aid, but smoke and flames barred the stairway.

Japan Is Peaceful.

Paris, Jan. 10.—The Gaulois publishes an interview yesterday morning with Baron Kurino, Japanese Ambassador to France, in which he says that he could state officially that Japan had no aggressive intentions towards the United States.

The mild weather on the prairie has enabled cattle to graze and the hay shortage may not affect stockmen.

FORTY PERSONS DROWNED.

Two Passenger Boats Founder Off the Coast of Morocco.

Paris, Jan. 10.—The storm on the English Channel, along the west coast of Europe and North African coast, is still raging, and many fishing boats already have been lost.

A despatch received here from Tangier says that two native passenger boats foundered off El-Araish, Morocco. Forty persons were drowned, including some Europeans.

Kiel, Jan. 10.—A violent northeast wind has driven the waters of the Baltic inshore, and the low lying districts of this city are flooded to the depth of six or seven feet. Many casualties to fishing and other small crafts are reported. A similar driving-in of the sea is occurring at all the coast towns. Guns have been fired all day from the Lubeck fortress to warn the villages that the sea is rising and likely to flood the country, and that they should move further inland.

The scheduled manoeuvres of a German fleet have been postponed on account of the weather.

IRISHMEN IN AUSTRALIA.

They Make the Country's Success, Says W. K. Redmond.

Rome, Jan. 10.—William K. Redmond, member of the British House of Commons from East Clare, and brother of John F. Redmond, delivered a lecture in this city yesterday on the progress of Australia. He described this country as being more wonderful than America, and said the fact that political liberties were greater and the rights of the people more advanced in Australia than in the United States, was due to the circumstance that Irishmen formed the nucleus of the Australian population.

ROW AT NOMINATION.

Assault Charge, Result of Very Keen Election Contest.

St. Catharines, Jan. 10.—The keen municipal contest in Niagara Township has resulted in a serious assault case. William Muir, resident of the township, has laid information against Emanuel Stewart, charging him with assault, occasioning actual bodily harm.

It is said that Stewart believed Muir had endeavored to disturb the nomination meeting a week ago, and as a consequence the offence was committed. Muir is in bad shape as a result. He claims he did nothing to break up the meeting. The charge will be heard by Charles Lowry, J. P., at St. David's this afternoon.

Never Heard of Thaw Case.

New York, Jan. 10.—One new sworn juror was added to the Harry K. Thaw trial panel yesterday, making seven in all selected from the 400 talesmen summoned since the beginning of the second hearing on Monday. Another panel of 100 will report this morning. Justice Dowling has announced that he will hold court on Saturday, if necessary, to complete the jury.

The sole survivor of the day, who took his place as trial juror No. 7, was William F. Doolittle, chief clerk in the auditing department of the New York Central Railroad. The rate of progress was not gratifying to prosecution and defence, and better things are hoped for to-day.

Patrick McCue, a hat manufacturer, furnished the only bit of color to the proceedings by declaring that he had never heard of the case. Consequently he had no disqualifying opinion and was placed on the temporary side of the trial panel, only to be excused permanently later on.

An Old Treaty Applies.

New York, Jan. 10.—England's commercial relations with the United States are still governed by the treaty of 1815, which ended the war of 1812, according to a decision handed down by the board of general appraisers here yesterday. Several importers of British whiskies protested against the tariff of $2.35 a gallon, when French liquors were admitted for $1.75. The board, however, held that Great Britain was barred by the treaty from "the most favored nation list," and sustained the collector's charges.

Ingersoll Moves For Local Option.

Ingersoll, Jan. 10.—Steps will be taken immediately to have the question of local option voted on at the elections next January. The local option situation was fully discussed by local temperance workers at a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting, with the result that campaign work will be commenced at once.

Sending Children to Canada.

London, Jan. 10.—Lambeth guardians have decided to emigrate 30 children to Canada, thinking it better to detach them entirely from their pauper surroundings.

GILLETTE APPEALS.

Defence Insists That It Was a Case of Suicide.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 10.—Chester Gillette's appeal from conviction of murder in the first degree and sentence to die in the electric chair, for the alleged wilful and premeditated killing of his sweetheart Grace, or "Billy" Brown of South Otselic, Chenango County, was argued yesterday afternoon before the Court of Appeals, which assigned the entire afternoon to the hearing of the case.

The defence claimed by the mouth of Gillette, and still claims that after a desperate canvassing of their plight the girl in despair suddenly arose exclaiming, "I will end it all," and before her companion could prevent it leaped into the water, overturning the boat as she jumped. Gillette claimed that he was unable to rescue her.

Fire In Orphanage.

Montreal, Jan. 10.—Fire in the Jardin de Lenfance yesterday morning caused $3,000 damage. There are 450 pupils in the orphanage, but they were in another part of the building. They had just left the chapel when the sanctuary lamp fell to the floor and set fire to the altar drapery.

Chief Justice Retires.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 10.—The retirement of Chief Justice Tuck opens the way for the introduction of the Judicature Act, which has been held in abeyance for the past two years. This will mean an increase of one in the bench, necessitating the appointment of two new men under the act. The Supreme Court judges will be divided into two groups of three each. Three will sit on banc for the hearing of appeals, while the other three will give their whole time to circuit duties.

Mr. Justice Barker will be elevated to the position of chief justice, and will be succeeded in equity by Hon. A. S. White of Sussex. There are several names mentioned for the vacancy. The choice will undoubtedly be between Hon. F. B. Carvell and Hon. H. A. McKeown.

Having been a judge of the Supreme Court for over twenty years, and being upwards of 75 years of age, Chief Justice Tuck retires on his salary of $5,000.

The action of the Dominion Government in appropriating money for the erection of post offices in Glencoe, Markham and Whitby is producing the effect that might have been anticipated. Other villages and towns are beginning to clamor for a share in the pap. The latest to be heard from is Uxbridge—population, 2,800, and post office revenue $2,980.—Weekly Sun.

THE LITTLE GIRL'S LONG COAT

The warm long coat is one of the indispensable garments in the little girl's wardrobe during autumn and winter, but to be quite acceptable to the wearer it must be in line with current modes—for even little girls nowadays are perfectly conversant with the trend of the fashion. The coat illustrated is one of the newest designs, and though its shaping is novel it presents no difficulties of construction which the home sewer cannot overcome. The coat is cut without underarm seams, the shaping being effected by means of an underarm piece, over which the side seams of front and back and the front extensions are lapped and stitched to position. A well-fitting shawl collar and a comfortable bishop sleeve complete this attractive garment, which may be modelled in broadcloth, cheviot or any of the modish coatings, 3¼ yards 44 inches wide being required for the 10 year size.

LOCAL MAN WHO SAW MRS. THAW

Was in New York Last Year at Time Famous Thaw Trial Was Going on

In view of the reopening of the Thaw trial at New York some interest is attached to the statements of John Williams, an employee of the Hotel National, who was in New York at the time of the trial last year. He confirms the newspaper reports of the big crowds who attended the trial and of the thousands who congregated simply to get a glance at the beautiful Evelyn. While he was not at the trial he saw Mrs. Thaw and others prominent in the case. She is very pretty and reports of her beauty were not exaggerated.

A Superior Production

The "Walls of Jericho" Which Appears at Grand To-morrow Afternoon and Night is Splendid Play

One of the present day dramatic triumphs is "The Walls of Jericho," with Henry Stanford and Laura Burt in the leading roles. The play is a masterpiece, by Alfred Sutro, the famous English playright, and last year was the phenomenally successful vehicle of James K. Hackett, one of the most celebrated of America's legitimate actors. "The Walls of Jericho," which appears at the Grand tomorrow afternoon and night, is given a superb setting, and Mr. Stanford and Miss Burt are supported by a magnificent cast. On account of the excellence of the production more than usual interest is attached to its local appearance.

Renzetti Heavily Fined For Assaulting P. C. Newhall

Also Found Guilty of Striking Nicolo Marone—Interesting Story Told of Fracas by P. C. Newhall—Renzetti Lays Informations Against the Marones.

There were numerous charges for His Worship Magistrate Dumble to deal with at the police court this morning in connection with the Italian mix-up on Charlotte street on Tuesday night. Nicholas Renzetti and Antonio and Nicolo Marone were the ones implicated. Mr. George N. Gordon defended Renzetti, and Mr. F D Kerr appeared for Marone brothers. Mr. Thos. Minicolo acted as court interpreter.

The first case taken up was that of disorderly conduct against Nicholas Renzetti. He pleaded not guilty.

P.C Newhall was the first witness called. Having been called by an Italian on Tuesday night, the officer went to 219 Charlotte street. There was yelling and two or three Italians ran from the door to the street in an excited manner. There was general disorder. A young woman stood in the open doorway. There was about six of the natives of Sunny Italy in the hall. Renzetti stood at the rear of the bunch and was very much confused. He rushed at Antonio Morone, and, grabbing him, said, "Take this man out of here." Morone drew back from his assailant, but was finally driven into a little bedroom, where a large number of men had retired. Witness endeavored to find out from Renzetti what had happened, but the confusion was so great that it was impossible to hear one's self. The defendant said Antonio Morone had insulted him. Officers Adams and Newhall took the two Morone brothers into custody, and when leaving with them, Renzetti made a rush and struck Antonio a blow between the eyes with his fist. Witness then took Renzetti, who kicked, scratched with his nails, and bit in an endeavor to get away. He struck P. C. Newhall a blow in the face. After Renzetti had been placed under arrest, he asked for Dr. Marshall. His hand was bleeding. He said that he had cut it on some glass. As the officer was talking to him, the excited man said to witness: "You fight me once, you fight me twice," and with these remarks he spit a mouth full of blood into witness' left eye.

A young man, who was present soon after the arrival of the police officers, was next called. He follows the occupation of a reporter on an evening contemporary, and with the usual incentive for news, was right on the job on Tuesday evening. He stated that a large crowd had gathered and there was considerable disorder. Through the window in the door he saw the Italians engaged in a heated conversation, and P.C. Adams had the two Morones, and P.C. Newhall took Renzetti into custody. P.C. Newhall hit Renzetti on the back with his baton in order to make him walk along, as he boldly resisted and tried hard to get away.

The defence did not put any evidence in on this charge, and the Magistrate took up the one against Renzetti for assaulting Nicolo Morone. He pleaded guilty, but to the charge of assaulting Antonio Morone he pleaded not guilty.

Antonio Morone was charged with causing a disturbance. He pleaded not guilty. The evidence of P. Newhall was taken as given in the previous case, and, it being all that was put in, His Worship dismissed the charge.

Renzetti also preferred charges against the Marones for assault.

On the charge of assaulting P.C. Newhall His worship found Renzetti guilty and imposed a fine of twenty dollars. For assaulting Nicolo Morone he was fined five dollars.

Renzetti has now laid informations against Antonio and Nicolo Morone for biting his hand, and they will appear next Wednesday.

VANCOUVER'S MAYOR IS FORMER LOCAL RESIDENT

Interesting Information Brought Out as Result of Some Correspondence Between Mayors of Peterborough and Vancouver—Mayor Bethune was Born Here in 1862.

Almost bordering on the romantic are the developments that have resulted from some correspondence between the mayors of the cities of Peterborough and Vancouver. It has turned out that the mayor of the city on the coast is a native of Peterborough, and belonged to a family that has left its impression upon this city.

A short time ago Mayor McWilliams wrote to the Mayor of Vancouver in connection with a Peterborough man who was supposed to be in that city. Some correspondence ensued and in a letter received at the City Hall to-day the mayor of Vancouver, whose name is Bethune, states that he was born in Peterborough in 1862, and that the family resided here for about ten years after that date. Mayor Bethune further states that he was talking to a gentleman from Peterborough a few days ago and was informed that there was a street in that city named Bethune street. He surmises that perhaps the street was named after his father, who was a prominent citizen during his residence here.

MAGISTRATE HELD COURT AT NORWOOD

Man Charged With Stealing Elects to be Tried by Jury—Fined for Using Bad Language

County Magistrate Edmison was at Norwood yesterday and disposed of two cases from that locality. A man named Cavanagh was charged with stealing a Persian lamb cap and a pair of trousers from Buck and Buck, merchants of Norwood.

After hearing some evidence His Worship committed Cavanagh for trial. He elected to be tried by jury and will come before the county judge at an early date.

Wm. Puffer had a charge against Wm. Sanders for using abusive and obscene language while the complainant was in the company of his three sisters. Both parties live in the country near Norwood, and one day a short time ago Puffer was in Norwood with his three sisters when he met Sanders on the street, and the latter proceeded to hand out some choice verbal bouquets. Sanders was found guilty and fined $10 and costs.

Junior Work is Making Progress

Extension to Salvation Army Quarters—Services on Sunday

Staff Captain Miller, of Toronto, architect of the Salvation Army, will be in the city on Saturday and Sunday and conduct special services. While here he will survey the interior of the barracks with a view to making certain extensions and alterations so that more room may be had for the junior work which is progressing rapidly.

Extra accommodation is urgently required. The anniversary of the young people of the army will be observed on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. Sergt.-Major Braund will have charge of the service.

Dr. Chown, the Methodist Secretary of Moral Reform, has made the charge that immorality exists in the midway attractions of the different western fairs and offers to prove it.

Former Local Merchant Has Passed Away

Lamented Death of Mr. J. T. W. Fairweather in Toronto—Funeral Here Tomorrow

The death occurred in Toronto yesterday afternoon of a former well-known Peterborough resident in the person of Mr. James W. T. Fairweather, of Toronto, who passed away at his home, 94 Glen Road. The late Mr. Fairweather had been in poor health for some time past. He was 42 years of age and was the eldest son of the late Mr. Wm. Fairweather, who for many years was one of Peterborough's most prominent fur and hat merchants. On the death of his father in 1884, the deceased took charge of the business, which he conducted for several years, disposing of it in 1895 to Mr. Thos. Barrie. He had since then conducted a business in Toronto. The late Mr. Fairweather was highly esteemed and was popular among a wide circle of friends, who will learn with deep regret of his demise. Besides his widow, his mother, one brother, Robert, and two sisters, Misses Bella and Fairweather, all of whom reside in Toronto, survive him.

Interment will take place in Peterborough, to-morrow, Saturday. The funeral will proceed from the C.P.R. station on the arrival of the 11.16 train and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery.

Speaking of his death the Mail and Empire says:

After a prolonged fight against an insidious disease, Mr. James William Thornburn Fairweather, head of the firm of J. W. T. Fairweather & Co., succumbed to a complication of ailments shortly after one o'clock yesterday afternoon, at his residence, 49 Glen Road, Rosedale. The public first learned of the sad event through the closing of the large store, and the announcement came as a shock to the great majority of people who had been unaware that he was in a serious condition. Mr. Fairweather had achieved a very wide reputation as one of the most enterprising and successful of the younger business men in Toronto, and in commercial circles the keenest regret was expressed at the cutting off in the very prime of life, of so promising a member of the community. For a dozen years he had been most prominent in the business life of the city, and, although but 42 years of age, he had built up its "The House of Quality" a remarkable evidence of his acumen and enterprise. With him had been associated for many years his brother, Mr Robert H. Fairweather, and so closely were the brothers identified that it was known to but few people that the elder had for the past fifteen months not been giving his entire time to the management of the business. His health began to fail about two years ago, and since that time he had travelled a great deal in search of a remedy, having spent the past summer in the Old Country. He failed to secure relief, however, and of late had been in the habit of spending only an hour or so daily at the store.

SKETCH OF HIS CAREER.

Mr. Fairweather was born in Toronto in 1866 and was the eldest son of the late Wm. F. Fairweather, who owned a large dry goods business in Peterborough. At the age of sixteen his father established him in a hat and fur business in Peterborough, for which the son showed a great aptitude, and which his attractive personality and executive ability soon rendered a great success. He was only 18 when his father died, but he had become known as one of the best furriers in the smaller centres of the province. When he came to Toronto, his brother Robert was left in charge of the Peterborough, but as the larger business developed, all outside interests were cut off, and the brothers devoted their entire attenion to the Toronto store. The firm soon became well known throughout the world, and its head was a familiar figure in the markets of London, Leipsic and Russia, and very well known in New York; He was married about eighteen months ago to Margaret, daughter of the late Mr. Andrew Carruthers, who survives him, together with his mother, brother and two sisters. He was a member of the National and Victoria Clubs, Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto Rowing Club, and the Lambton Golf Club, and also was a non-resident member of the New York Athletic Club. He was an adherent of the Presbyterian church. The funeral will be private and interment will take place in Peterborough on Saturday.

"He's no good at an argument, is he? Not at all convincing."

"Well, I should say not. Why, that man couldn't convince a woman that she was pretty."—Cleaveland Leader.

WEDDING BELLS

TERRILL—MITCHELL

On Monday evening, Dec. 30th, at 8 o'clock, St. John's Presbyterian church, says the Medicine Hat, Alberta, News, was crowded to the doors when the pastor, Rev. J. W. Morrow, united in holy wedlock Alfred Joseph Neville Terrill, city editor of the News, formerly of Peterborough, and Miss Mary McEwan Mitchell, daughter of the late Jas. Mitchell. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Wm. Mitchell, of the "LA" ranch, Willow Creek. She looked very dainty and pretty in her wedding dress of cream peau de soie silk with net yoke and garniture of point lace and French knots, with veil caught up with lillies of the valley and carrying a shower bouquet of the same fragrant flowers with chrysanthemums and ferns. The bridesmaids were Miss Jessie Mitchell sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Mitchell, cousin, in dresses of pale blue crepe de chene and white picture hats, carrying bouquets of light blue chrysanthemums. Miss Margaret Mitchell, sister of the bride, attired in a dress of white mulle, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion, wearing a picture hat and carrying a bouquet of chrysanthemums. The groom was assisted by James Mitchell, brother of the bride, and H. W. Ireland. The ushers were D. H. Gordon and F. S. Pingle. Miss Nesbitt presided at the church organ and played the wedding march as the bride came up the aisle of the church. Miss Gertrude White sang an appropriate solo. After the ceremony the wedding party were driven to the home of the bride's mother on River street south, where a dejuener was served. The tables were set in the form of a U, and were decorated with Ontario maple leaves. The only guests present were those assisting at the church and the members of both families. The happy couple left on the night train for the west amid showers of rice and good wishes, and are spending a week in the north. The bride's going away gown was fawn cloth trimmed with dark brown, and hat to match. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents attesting the general popularity in which the young couple are held in Medicine Hat. The groom's present to the bride was a fur-lined coat, with trimmings of mink, and to the bridesmaids and flower girl and groomsman pearl pins in the shape of stars. On their return from the north Mr. and Mrs. Terrill will take apartments in The News block for the winter. The News joins with many friends in extending sincere good wishes and congratulations.

VOTING IN ORILLIA.

Voting was brisk in the West Ward on Monday. One ballot was given out every twenty-seven and three-quarters seconds and every eighty-two and three-quarters seconds a voter polled his vote. But in the last two hours only forty-one votes were polled. So that for five hours a voter registered his vote every seventy-two seconds. The total number of names on the voters' list in the West Ward who could vote was four hundred and forty-three, of whom three hundred and forty-nine voted.—Orillia Packet.

SHANTY EMPLOYEE SERIOUSLY INJURED

Lindsay, Jan. 9.—Last evening, a young man named William Henderson, who has been at work at a lumber camp near Wilberforce, was brought to town in a badly injured state, and taken to Ross Hospital.

Henderson, who was in the employ of Mr. George Martin, of Fenelon Falls, was riding on a load of logs, being drawn to the dump, and was thrown off, owing to the sleigh runner striking a root. He fell immediately behind the horses, and before the driver could stop the team the runner struck him and pushed him along the frozen ground. His lower jaw was fractured in two places, and he sustained a number of cuts and contusions, but was lucky to have escaped with his life.

SERVING PAPERS IN COUNTY CASES

Mr. George Cochrane, high county constable, is serving papers in two cases to-day. One is the charge of cruelty to animals against William Crouter of North Monaghan, and the other is a case of non-payment of wages. In the latter a farm hand by the name of Hamilton charges his employer, William Stewart, with refusing to pay him a week's wages. The case comes up for trial on January 13th before County Police Magistrate Edmison.

HARRY ADAMS' REBATE SALE

In another column will be found an announcement of Harry Adams' great rebate sale. The advertisement is of particular interest to the ladies of the city. As a quick clearance of a number of lines is desired, before stock taking, Mr. Adams will begin his rebate sale on Saturday morning and continue for two weeks. Everybody knows that a rebate is a general discount or allowance off the purchases made during the sale. The goods are not marked up with an inflated price, and then marked down, but are sold at the regular selling prices, and the rebate or allowance, handed back to the customer in cash. On every dollar's worth of goods purchased, the customer receives back 20 cents in cash, so that with $10 worth of goods the customer gets back $2.00 in cash. See advertisement.

Band to-night at Street Railway Rink.

LOCAL MARKET DOING BIG BUSINESS

The local market is exceedingly busy these days and a great deal of hay, wood and other products of the farm are being brought to the city. There has been more hay sold at the market this week than for some time past and good prices are being realized. To-day it sold at $16 and $18 a ton. Morris and Brown also made a heavy shipment of cattle to Montreal this morning. Yesterday, Mr. Breckenbridge of Hale's Bridge, shipped two loads of hogs to Millbrook. Business at the market has picked up wonderfully during the past week and everything presents a busy aspect.

13 Men are on The Stone Pile

There are thirteen men at present working on the civic stone pile. The men seem glad to get the work, and while the wages they get are not largely remunerative, it is a welcome means of saving them from spending the winter without any prospects whatever of having anything to keep them.

New Curling Stones Have Arrived Her

A shipment of curling stones has arrived, and are now at Brightman's offices, Aylmer street, where they may be seen by intending purchasers.

ELECTED TO DIRECTORATE

Mr. W. G. Morrow Made a Director of the Imperial Life

At the annual meeting of the Imperial Life Assurance Co. in Toronto, Mr. W. G. Morrow, of Peterborough, was elected a director. The Imperial Life is an important company, and Mr. Morrow's election to its directorate is an evidence that he is looked upon with favor by financial men.

Local Option in Campbellford

What the Herald Has to Say on the Recent Vote

Notwithstanding the fine majority of 113 which was secured for local option at the polls in Campbellford last Monday, in the face of as fierce a struggle as was ever witnessed in the town, the temperance people assert and are free to admit that if there was another call to the polls on the same question, forty men and women as an additional force would rally to the call of their temperance friends and pile up a British fair play majority of 150.—Campbellford Herald.

High Life's Have New Sweaters

The High Lifes to-day secured their new sweaters from Messrs. Lang & Maher. The sweaters, which are very neat and attractive, have a white yoke blue body, with white cuff and skirt. H. L. is written in large letters across the breast. The sweaters will be worn for the first time in the High Life—Bridgenorth game on Wednesday night.

DIED

FAIRWEATHER.—At his residence, 94 Glen Road, Toronto, on Thursday afternoon, January 9th, James William Thorburn Fairweather.

The funeral will take place from the C.P.R. station, Peterborough, to-morrow (Saturday), on the arrival of the 11.16 a.m. train, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery.

Local option has carried in Hamilton township, Northumberland county, Ontario, by a vote of 2 to 1. Brighton also has carried the measure by a large majority.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
In your spare time at home, or
Take a Personal Course at School.

To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—

Is Favoritism Shown in School?

Havelock School Board Will Consider the Question

Havelock, Jan. 9.—The first meeting of the School Board, which will be held on Wednesday night, 15th inst., will likely be a very interesting one, as a number of much importance, regarding favoritism, being shown certain pupils or pupil in the continuation classes, will be brought before this board. Would it not be a good time, also, to decide to hold the board meetings in the council chamber?

Good Attendance at Mark Street

Impressive Service Held—Several Clergymen took Part

At the annual prayer service in Mark street Methodist church last night there was a good attendance. Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, presided. Rev. Canon Davidson opened the meeting with prayer.

Rev Robert Pogue, of St. Paul's church, addressed the meeting on the subject, "The Forgiveness of Sin." taking as his text part of the Lord's Prayer, "Forgive us our debts." "We all need forgiveness of sins, whether Christians or not," the speaker said. The fact that an account would have to be given on the day of judgment, of every idle word, unkind deed and wrong thought, was also strongly impressed on the audience

At the close of the address Miss Howson and Mr. J. Miller sang very feelingly, the duet, "Wonderful Love"

Rev. Dr Langfeldt closed a most profitable service with a short, earnest prayer.

The meeting tonight will be in St. Paul's church.

Splendid Flour of Central Mill

"Thistledown" and "Diamond Crown" are Most Popular Brands

At this season of the year, many housewives are economizing by baking their own bread and with so many brands of flour on the market, the question of which the best to use is an important one to consider. Brands that have stood the test of years and are manufactured locally should receive the preference, and in "Thistle Down" and "Diamond Crown," the two bread flours made by the Central Milling Company, they have all that is desired.

Hundreds of people in Peterborough and the surrounding district know of the high qualities of these flours and prefer them to all others. In another column will be found the advertisement of this company, to which we direct the attention of all careful housekeepers.

Annual Meeting Active Members

Of Y.M.C.A. Will be Held on Jan. 17th—Other Notes of Association

The annual meeting of the active members of the Y.M.C.A. will be held next Friday night, Jan. 17th. A large attendance is expected. Reports for the last seven months will be read, and several important questions brought up.

There was a good attendance at the Intermediate Bible Class supper and study last night from 6.30 to 7.30 p.m. Great interest is being taken by the intermediates in this class, under the successful leadership of Dr. J. R. Middleton.

The Social Committee met last night and received reports from the New Year's day reception and entertainment. After paying all expenses connected with the reception there is still a small balance in the hands of the committee. Plans were outlined for future work [illegible]

Estimates of Board of Education; Financial Statement of Last Year

$15,900.00 Will be Required for Collegiate Institute and $46,000.00 for Public School Purposes—Past Year Was One of the Most Expensive in History of the Board Owing to New Schools and Alterations.

According to the estimates, the Board of Education will require for 1908, $15,900 to carry on the work of the Collegiate, and $46,000 for public school purposes. In connection with the Collegiate Institute estimates, however, the city will only be asked to provide $12,500, as $3,400. is derived from fees from pupils and government grant. The estimates were presented by L. M. Hayes, chairman of the finance committee, at the meeting of the Board of Education last night. A statement of the receipts and expenditures for 1907 was also submitted. Following is a statement of the estimates:

WEDDING BELLS

STICKLE—BRISBIN

A wedding took place on Wednesday, Jan. 1st, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brisbin, near Roseneath, when their youngest daughter Carrie was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Stickle, son of Mr. George Stickle, Alnwick township. The happy couple left next day on their wedding trip, and will visit in Peterborough, Cobourg and Port Hope, after which they will make their home in Midland, where the best wishes of a host of friends will follow them.

Peterboro' Knights Were in Attendance

At Gathering of Representatives Held in Kingston

Kingston, Jan. 10.—During the past two days there have been between 300 and 400 of the Knights of Columbus in the city. They came from Cornwall, Prescott, Ogdensburg, Brockville, Gananoque, Smith's Falls, Kemptville, Deseronto, Napanee, Toronto, Belleville, Trenton, Peterborough, Lindsay and Bancroft.

The business meeting was held in the city hall. Prominent among the visitors were State Deputy Chisholm of Cornwall, District Deputy Fraser of Brockville, and Supreme Deputy Dunn of Ogdensburg. They were here on business connected with the Order. Last night the visitors were banqueted in the city hall by the local brethren.

Rather Hard Rap At Peterborough

The Rochester Union and Democrat says:—Peterborough, Ont., has decided to ask Andrew Carnagie for a public library; Peterborough may be poor, but we supposed it had more self-respect than that. Anyhow, we don't believe Andrew will care much about having a monument there.

I like to go to church.
Why?
Well, it's comforting to see a man keep a hundred women or so quiet for an hour.—Bohemian.

Mr. Fair Re-elected Chairman; Board of Education Meeting

Important Business Transacted at Inaugural Meeting Last Night.

THE COMMITTEES FOR THE YEAR

Board to Sell Property to City for Park—Many Accounts Passed.

The Board of Education for 1908 held its inaugural meeting last night. There was only one change in the personnel of the Board from last year, the late Wm. Pringle's place being taken by Mr. W. F. Nelson. Those present were Messrs. Fair, Dumble, Ackerman, Burnham, Robinson, Hayes, Nelson, Morrison and Hill. Mr. Crane was the only absentee.

The meeting was a most important one, the business including the selection of a chairman for 1908, the arranging of committees, etc.

Mr. Robert Fair was elected chairman for another year, the choice being a unanimous one. The motion re-electing Mr. Fair was carried with loud applause.

Mr. Fair thanked the members of the Board heartily for the honor they had done him in giving him a second year as chairman. He expressed his gratitude for the kind manner in which he had been treated by the members of the Board during the year that was gone and felt sure that the same pleasant relations would continue to exist.

Announcement was made that Mr. L. M. Hayes had been appointed a member of the Board for another year as the representative of the Separate School Board.

COMMITTEES STRUCK.

The committees for the year were struck as follows:

Property Committee.—Mr. Ackerman, chairman, Messrs. Dumble, Nelson, Morrison and Robinson.

Finance Committee.—Mr. Hayes, chairman, Messrs. Ackerman, Robinson and Crane.

Supervision Committee. — Messrs. Crane, chairman, Morrison, Burnham and Hill.

The Committee of Appointments, as in the past, will be composed of the whole Board. Mr. Hill was re-elected chairman.

ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Routine business was then proceeded with.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Ackerman, chairman of the Property committee, reported in reference to the sale of land at the King Edward school between Aylmer and George streets, that they have agreed with the committee of the city council to sell the same at the price or sum of $3000. We recommend that this sale be now confirmed by the Board and that the chairman of the Board and secretary be authorized to make the necessary conveyance to the city and to affix the seal of the Board thereto.

The report was adopted on motion.

NEW TEACHER SECURED.

Mr. W. H. Hill, chairman of the supervision committee, reported that Miss Ella Brown, of Millbrook, had been appointed to a position on the staff of the public schools at a salary of $400 per annum, duties to commence Jan. 6th, 1908.

The report was adopted.

TO SELL DEBENTURES.

On motion of Mr. Hayes and Mr. Ackerman, it was decided to ask the city to dispose of the debentures for $25,000 to build the addition to the Queen Alexandra school.

The city solicitor had requested that a resolution to the above effect be passed. The $25,000 is the sum originally set apart for the Queen Alexandra school improvements, but the debentures for same have not yet been sold.

COMMITTEES AMALGAMATED.

After a short discussion it was decided to amalgamate the King Edward school and Queen Alexandra school building committees, Mr. Dumble to be chairman of the joint committee. The late Mr. Pringle was chairman of the King Edward committee. Mr. Nelson will take his place on the joint committee. Mr. Dumble has been chairman of the Queen Alexandra committee. As the two schools are now practically complete it is felt that one committee can handle the work as the personnel of the two committees was much the same.

Adjournment then took place.

Senior Class Meets To-night

Should be Large Turnout at the Y. M. C. A.

The members of the senior "gym." class of the Y.M.C.A. are asked to turn out tonight for the regular workout. There were sixteen on the floor on Tuesday night, and a bigger squad is expected tonight. Those who were out on Tuesday night are talking yet about the fine time they had, and intend attending the classes regularly.

There was a big turnout of the intermediates last night.

There are now 300 men in Wolseley barracks, London.

Noted Salvationist Coming to City

Commissioner Coombes Will be Here on January 26th

Commissioner Coombes, of Toronto, head of the Salvation Army work in Canada, will pay a visit to the local corps on Sunday, January 26th. The Commissioner will conduct three services on that day at the Barracks at 11 o'clock in the morning and in the Grand Opera House at 3 and 7 o'clock in the afternoon and evening. The latter service will be illustrated by moving pictures, representing the journey of Christ from Bethlehem to Calvary. These pictures have never before been shown in Peterborough, and they will prove of decided interest. The local corps of the Army will extend to Commissioner Coombes a hearty welcome.

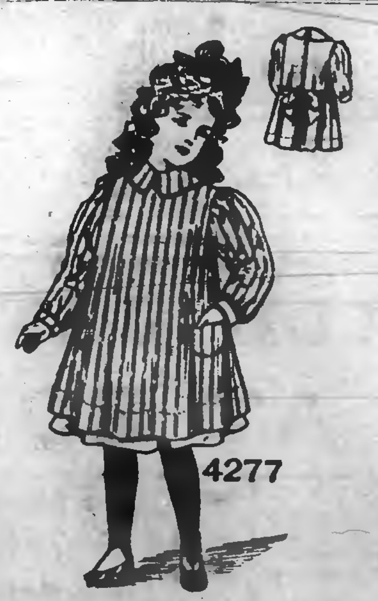
Home Circle's New Officers

Were Installed at Meeting Last Night—Many Were Present

The officers of the Peterborough Circle, No. 193, of the Canadian Order of Home Circles, were installed last night as follows;—

Leader—Bro. Dr. Morgan.
Vice Camp—Bro. Kemp.
Rec.-Sec.—Sister Kidney.
Fin.-Sec.—Sister Booth.
Treas.—Bro. Brittain.
Warden—Sister Wilson.
Marshall—Sister Pitman.
Chaplain—Bro. Snell.
Sentinel—Sister Bradshaw.
Guard—Bro. Hilson.

There were a large number present, and after several short speeches, cake and coffee were served and a social time spent.



A PRACTICAL LITTLE SACK APRON

"Pink and blue for every day
And snowy white for Sunday,
An apron keeps the whole dress clean
From Saturday till Monday."

With this and similar bits of wisdom are the small folks regaled to demonstrate the utility of that necessary but sometimes unwelcome garment, the apron. Often the little lady resents having a pretty frock entirely eclipsed by the all-embracing folds of a prosaic apron, but when she realises that it means more freedom in play and saves changing a frock, reason will usually prevail. Here is a practical little apron made in sack style, which will prove pretty enough to wear over any dress, and which may be made of lawn, cambric, percale or dotted Swiss, with or without a garniture of lace or embroidered edging. For the medium size $2\frac{3}{4}$ yards of 27 inch material are needed.

DRESS AND ADDRESS

Does dress make the man? Well, not exactly, but it helps, and it is not wise for a young man to be careless about his personal appearance. A man who garbs himself in good taste always shows some self respect. Attire should not be the main consideration of his being, but it is a matter which the youth can afford to give some attention to. Habits and neatness are generally indicative of thrift, and thrift is the hand maiden of prosperity. Young men should not be "loud" in their attire or affect every nicety of fashion, but they should be sensible and thoughtful about their apparel. "Success," in speaking of correct attire, says:

When our country was in the log cabin stage of its growth, correct dress was not held in high regard, and obviously so. The stout hearted pioneers were too busy hewing paths and blazing trails to cultivate life's finer side. Theirs was the rough work of field and camp, of hammer and saw. But times, men and manners have changed, and a new conception of dress has sprung up. Young men especially recognize the direct relation of correct dress to business and social preferment. The well dressed man carries his introduction with him—he is master of himself and of the situation. He commands the respect of others because he shows that he respects himself.

It is true that there are some men of wealth and position who slur their clothes, and even some also feign to scorn the niceties of dress. The habits of a careless youth have left their imprint on such men, and it is quite certain that their disdain of dress played no part in their success and detracts measurably from their enjoyment of it, for, after all, the ripest fruit of success is the esteem of one's fellows, and who can esteem the sloven? In talking to a man one's attention naturally roves to his clothes, his hair, his teeth and his finger nails. Dandruff on the shoulder, stains on the waistcoat and unshaven face, untidy hair, creases in the coat, a soiled collar, a mussed cravat, proclaim in trumpet tones that a man lacks the finest refinement, respect of self.

FARM HELP ONLY

In another column of to-day's Review appears an article in reference to good help for the farm. The Salvation Army is undertaking to bring out a desirable class of agricultural laborers, or those who, it is expected will locate on the soil. The first arrivals will reach Canada at the latter end of February, and all applications for suitable assistance should be made to Thomas Howell, secretary of immigration, for the Salvation Army, Toronto. The Army will give preference to selected people for the rural districts.

The Ontario Government will not undertake to supply farm hands in the future, and this will likely make the call on the Salvation Army all the greater. There is no use in bringing to Canada at the present time any persons other than those who are anxious and willing to settle on the farm. In the rural districts there is plenty of room and ample work for those desiring to follow agrarian pursuits, but in the cities the number of unemployed is great, and no tradesmen, mechanics or skilled help is required here at present. During the past few months new settlers have been arriving at a rate of 1,000 per day, and now they are going home in hundreds being unable to find work. They will not stay in the rural sections, but flock to the cities and there meet disappointment, and are often reduced to impecunious circumstances.

The Salvation Army should see that merely those who are willing to remain on the farm—who have a love for the soil—are brought to Canada. Only those who will take up agricultural work and stick to it are required at the present time, and to bring others to Canada just at this juncture is unfair and totally unnecessary.

PEN POINTS

Board of Education may prove to be a fighting body now since it has a Nelson in the ranks.

Ward Four Conservatives — your presence is required at the Young Conservative club rooms this evening.

The Dominion Parliament has resumed its sessions. That's nothing! Our city council commences work on Monday morning next.

Civility in this world costs nothing. Calling a man an idiot, a fool, a rogue, or a harem, scarem, etc., is not an impressive or convincing form of argument.

There is no truth in the report that some municipal candidates who are in the soup will take a course in cooking at the Y.W.C.A. school.

Monday was a bad day for newspaper men, who sought municipal honors. The following quartette went down in the fray: Ex-Ald. Uttley, of the Berlin News-Record; ex-Ald. Sutherland, of the St. Thomas Journal; ex-Reeve Jaffray, of the Galt Reporter, and ex-Ald. Dingman, of the Stratford Herald, all together—

In the selection of a chairman for the Board of Works — the most important committee of the city council—it is generally recognized that the honor should go to Ald. Phelan. He was chairman of the legal and reception committee last year, and in the recent election had the distinction of heading the poll, a matter to which considerable weight should be attached. Ald. Phelan's friends are urging his claims for the position of head of the Works Committee, and believe that he would fill the position with zeal, energy and efficiency.

Mr. Robert Fair, who has been chairman of the Board of Education for the past year, was re-elected to that position last evening. He is to be congratulated on his re-election. Mr. Fair has made an admirable presiding officer. His decisions have been just and impartial, and the proceedings of the Board have been dignified and business-like in character. The Board of Education deserves credit for the faithful, earnest attention it has given to the welfare of the schools, and the army of small ones attending, as well as to the erection of new schools and the rapid pushing forward of the new Collegiate Institute.

It is gratifying to learn that in the recent elections in Peterborough no thought of partyism entered into the fray. Ballots were cast with reference to the qualifications and individual merits of the candidates, irrespective of political, church or lodge connections. The municipal elections in Toronto and Ottawa also resulted in a demonstration of the ability of the great mass of voters to see the difference between municipal issues and the issues of what is known as party politics. Toronto elected a Liberal as Mayor and three Liberals and one Conservative controllers. Toronto is overwhelmingly Conservative when a party fight is on in Provincial or Dominion matters. Ottawa elected a Liberal as Mayor and four controllers, who in politics are to be classed as Conservatives.

Was Not All Sunshine on The Steamship Mount Royal

Passengers on Mount Royal Fought For Their Food.

Terrible Experiences on Crippled Liner—People Feared Starvation—Women Lay About on the Deck and Screamed Until They Fell Asleep—Stewards Had to Be Guarded For Fear of Rushes.

Queenstown, Ireland, Jan. 10.—Ladislaus Szechenyi, an Hungarian peasant, on his way to the United States for the second time, and understood to be one of the retainers of the count of that name soon to marry Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, was one of the passengers on the steamship Mount Royal, which put in here like a lame duck on Tuesday, a month out from Antwerp. Telling of the experience, he says:

"The big waves made the ship lean away over, and, oh, we were all so sick. Many of the passengers never saw the ocean before, and they were much frightened, but I tried to tell them that it was nothing, but I was much frightened myself. The women lay about on the floor of the ship, and sometimes when the boat seemed to be going right over one would scream, and they they would all start in and scream until they were tired and fell asleep.

"We thought when we sailed that we would all see Christmas in America, but it was on Christmas Eve—we make a lot of that night in the old country—that it was the worst, and even I, though I am a good sailor, and have been across the ocean twice before, thought we were lost.

"The sailors put us down below, where it was dark, and fastened all the doors, so we were more frightened than ever. Somehow we couldn't get our food very well for a long time, and when they would come in with the big wooden trays and the people would fight for bread and meat, though they thought they were going to be drowned.

"On Christmas Eve though, when it was at the worst, our priest, a very old man—Father Echegrau his name was—made them all stop and pray all together, and after that every day and every night we prayed and sang together. Once they wanted to recite the litany for the dying, but he would not let that.

"The sailors told us we were safe, but the fear was on them, too, and when we would begin to chant our songs they would run away fast."

A scarcity of food in the steerage is explained by the ravenous appetites of the passengers themselves, who seemed to fear that they were to be starved as a preliminary to being drowned. It was then found necessary to guard each steward entering their quarters with food to repel rushes upon him and see that the weaker ones got their share.

How the Faults of Railways Are Frequently Magnified

Certain Newspapers Ignore What is Creditable to the Roads and Thus Endeaver to Create a Prejudicial Public Opinion, Says Montreal Witness.

The railways are undergoing in somewhat aggravated form their annual condemnation because the temporary demand for cars is greater than their equipment enables them to meet. The situation is not new, nor is anything notably new being said about it. It extends to the United States, and to the best equipped roads there as well as to roads in Canada. It was only a few days ago that lines between New York and Buffalo had to announce they could make no more contracts for the carriage of grain over their tracks until those they were engaged on had been fulfilled. In both countries there is, however, a disposition to take hold of minor incidents to magnify them, to represent them as indicating the general situation, and to hold the railways up to condemnation as being inefficiently equipped, and inefficiently managed by men who have no regard either for those who stand to the roads in the relation of customers or for the general interest of the country. To answer such extreme talk it should only be necessary to point to the work the railways have done and are doing, to the immense traffic they carry at about the lowest rates prevailing in the world, and to their constant expenditures, not alone on new rolling stock, but on terminals, warehouses, and all that is requisite to the effective and cheap transport of passengers and freight. In the case of the two leading Canadian railways, the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific, there was an addition to the rolling stock, between July, 1906, and July 1907, of 6,880 freight cars. This represented an increase in car equipment much beyond the increase in mileage of the roads. Most of it was designed to meet the requirements of the increasing traffic that was expected. The records show the roads are carrying more traffic than they ever did before, although their profit is not proportionately increasing. If in spite of this expenditure and this increased business, there are at times and places delays in the supply of cars, it is for the well understood reason that it is not commercially practicable to keep a railway equipped with sufficient rolling stock to meet at once the maximum demand of the season of greatest traffic, particularly when as often happens, the movement of the freight offered is largely in one direction. This is recognized by all who give study to the question, and by railway commissioners, amongst others, when they are composed of men of practical knowledge, and with a sense of responsibility resting upon them. Railways may not be expected to perform either physical or commercial impossibilities. In this connection, also, it may be pointed out that while railways on this continent are being condemned for not providing greater means for doing their work, they are at the same time being hampered by legislation and legal orders sometimes to the extent of reducing their credit. No one can or should condemn the law that requires railways to treat all who come to them with business on the same footing as regards rates, promptness and efficiency of service, etc. When on the plea of serving the public, however, attempts are made to reduce their rates by law below a reasonably remunerative standard, harm is done, not only to those who have invested money in building railways, trusting in the public faith to be able to operate them under fair business conditions, but also to the communities which the railways serve. Railways can only raise money on their credit, and when their power of securing fair returns on their cost is taken away, either by unfair curtailment of their earning power or by undue taxation, their credit is also taken away, or reduced, and they are rendered unable to secure on reasonable terms, or to secure at all, the money required to make improvements. In Canada, there has been less of this dangerous legislation than in some parts of the United States. There are in Canada, however, those who assume to treat capital invested in railway property as the legitimate object of confiscatory measures, direct or indirect. They magnify whatever faults the railways have, and ignore what is creditable to them, and so work to create a misinformed and prejudicial public opinion which fair-minded men should combat.—Montreal Gazette.

Recommends This Home Mixture

Noted Authority Gives Simple Remedy for Kidney and Bladder Trouble

This is a message that will bring happiness again into many families and sunshine into the lives of hundreds of disheartened and discouraged men and women here. It requires just a little inconvenience, for it can't be bought already prepared. It is a simple home recipe, now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble which have made so many cripples and invalids and weaklings of some of our brightest and strongest people.

The druggists here have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Recent experiments, even in severe hospital cases, prove this simple mixture the remedy for Rheumatism, because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It compels these most vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste impurities and uric acid which are the cause of rheumatism. It cleanses the kidneys, strengthens them and removes quickly such symptoms as backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness, frequent urination, painful scalding and discolored urine. It acts as a powerful stimulant to the entire kidney and bladder structure, puts new life into them and invigorates the entire tract. It makes the kidneys clean the blood. The Dandelion will take care of liver trouble and constipation, and is fine for the stomach.

All the ingredients, states a well known local druggist, are of vegetable extraction, making it a safe and harmless prescription at any time.

Those who suffer and are accustomed to purchase a bottle of patent medicine should not let a little inconvenience interfere with making up prescription. Wherever this becomes generally known, states a large Eastern publication, it ruins the sale of the patent medicines and so called rheumatism and kidney cures, which is its best endorsement of virtue.

Was Presented With Gold Cross

At a meeting of the senior chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in St. John's church on Wednesday night Rev. Canon Davidson was presented with a handsome gold cross as a mark of appreciation of the interest he has always taken in the work of the organization.

Canadian Actress Centre of Romance

The worthy people who live and move and have their beans in Boston are just now experiencing a delightful thrill. They have discovered a romantic story, one of those cases in which truth is supposed to have fiction very badly beaten in interest, and they are enjoying it to the extent of many columns of newspaper space and much conversation. The story is a resurrection of the old mystery of Grace Stevenson, a pretty girl of twenty-five, who walked out of her home some ten years ago and never more was seen by any of her relatives, and whose fate is shrouded in complete mystery. The last known of her was that she boarded a Boston car and got off at the corner of Deacon street and Massachusetts avenue.

Now comes in the romance of it all. The mother of Grace Stevenson, with whom she was living at the time of her disappearance, and from whom her father, a wealthy real estate operator, was estranged, has made the startling discovery that her daughter went on the stage under an assumed name, that she achieved a great success there, and is even now playing in New York as co-star with a leading actor in a successful play. In short, Mrs. Stevenson has found her long lost daughter in the person of Miss Margaret Anglin, the gifted actress, who with Henry Miller, has done so much to make "The Great Divide" the success it has proved to be. Furthermore, the eager mother has gone to New York to meet Miss Anglin and put an end to the long and sorrowful separation which has kept apart mother and child.

The case is a pitiful one, and this happy solution of a sad problem is so good that it really should be true. Unfortunately, fate does not always work on these principles of poetic justice; and for Canadians, who have followed Miss Anglin's career with interest and are proud of her as the daughter of a prominent Canadian public man of other days, this claim of a distracted mother is as absurd as it is pitiful. Miss Anglin's parents are still remembered by hosts of people in Canada, her father having been Hon. T. W. Anglin, a former Speaker of the Canadian House of Commons, and her mother for many years one of the brightest ornaments of the society of the Canadian Capital. Miss Anglin was born in the Speaker's apartments in the Parliament buildings, where that official always resides during the sessions. Her early life was spent largely in Ottawa, where she frequently took part in the amateur theatricals which were a favorite form of amusement in the Government House circles of the time. Her mother was a gifted amateur actress and was really the central figure of these entertainments, so that Miss Anglin's ability is easily explained on principles of heredity.

ENGINE FAILED TO RESPOND

Hastings Fire Brigade Had Disappointment

The steam fire engine was taken out for a trial on New Year's day, and although the brigade did their part in first class shape, the engine failed to respond. After returning to the hall and the cylinders were opened it was found that a bolt had loosened and dropped into the cylinder and broken a small casting. This will be replaced at once and the engine given another trial. The break was not the fault of any person or the engine, but one of those that will occur in the best of machines.—Hastings Star.

Must Not Talk to Neighbors

Reporter Gets in Trouble for Talking to a Friend on the Street

The following letter is self-explanatory:

The Review Printing Company, Hunter street, city:

Dear Sir,—In your paper of today's issue, you state that I accused Mr. Thomas Minicolo at the police court this morning of giving information concerning the Renzetti cases to the newspapers, and you further stated that such was incorrect.

This statement, which I made in court, and which you said was incorrect, was absolutely correct, as your reporter in the presence of the police magistrate, the chief of police and myself, admitted that Mr. Thos. Minnicolo had discussed the cases with him yesterday.

It seems to me, that it would be no more than was due me, to correct this article.

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

ROBES STOLEN FROM SLEIGH

Bold Theft Committed on Park Street

Two robes were stolen from a sleigh belonging to Mr. William Croft, ginger beer manufacturer, in front of his house at 259 Park street yesterday afternoon. Mr. Croft left the sleigh standing in front of his residence, and when he went to look at it, about two o'clock, the robes were gone. The police have been notified, and are working on the case. They have been furnished with a description of the culprits by a neighbor of Mr. Croft.

Hundreds were turned away from the power meeting in London Saturday night.

Conservatives of Ward Four

Will Meet in the Club Rooms This Evening

The Conservatives of Ward Four, of which Mr. Wm. Hall is chairman, will meet in the Young Conservative club rooms this evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested, as this is the last of the ward meetings to select delegates for the forthcoming convention, which will be held on Wednesday, January 29.

The Conservatives of Ward Five met last night. Mr. Wm. Gibbs presided, and there were many stalwarts of the party, young and old, present. Delegates were chosen for the convention.

Donations are Acknowledged

The secretary of Court Chemong, Independent Order of Foresters, has received acknowledgments from the Muskoka Free Hospital, the national sanitarium, and the Sick Children's hospital, thanking the court for the annual donations. The action of Court Chemong in making an annual grant to these deserving institutions is most praiseworthy.

Keene Division Court Abolished

Its Jurisdiction Divided Between Norwood and Peterboro'

The County of Peterborough will have one less division court in future—that is, there will be four instead of five, the one at Keene being abolished. Very little business has been transacted at Keene.

At a meeting of the county judge, Sheriff Hall and Warden McNulty, on Thursday, it was decided to take part of the district of Keene and add it to Peterborough and attach the remainder to Norwood. This was done, and the fifth line of Otonabee will be the division. All division court business east of this line will be done at Norwood henceforth, and all west at Peterborough. The four division courts in the county now are located at Peterborough, Norwood, Lakefield and Apsley.

SPORTING NEWS

O. H. A. Intermediate Season Will Open Here To-night

Peterborough Strathconas to Play Their First Game in District—Strong Line-up to Meet Fast Lindsay Seven.

The intermediate O. H. A. season opens in Peterborough to-night when the Strathconas meet the fast Lindsay seven at Brock street rink. The game will start sharp at 8.15 o'clock, and W. S. Hancock, of Toronto, will handle the bell. Mr. Hancock has the reputation of being an efficient and impartial official, and his presence is an assurance that the teams will have to play hockey all the time.

The Lindsay team are coming down with a big bunch of supporters, and there will be sufficient of the old-time rivalry in evidence to make the contest interesting. The Strathconas are in fine shape for a hard, swift game, but they realize that they have a hard row to hoe to dispose of the celebrated Midgets, and are prepared to play the game of their lives. The wise ones are picking Lindsay to win the district, but they may have another think coming to them after to-night. Reserve seat tickets are on sale at the rink and are selling well. The attendance promises to be exceedingly large.

The ice is in splendid condition and the hockey should be fast as lightning. In all probability the teams will line up as follows:

Strathconas.		Lindsay.
	Goal.
Derocher		Newton
	Point.
Glover		Koyl
	Cover-point.
Moore		Sullivan
	Rover.
Dusty		F. Cody
	Centre.
Dobson		Lane
	Right Wing.
Parnell		Ramsay
	Left Wing.
Weatherstone		Riley

The Peterborough forward line may be changed around from the above, but the men playing will be the same. Stoddart may also be on the Lindsay line-up, in which case Riley will likely be dropped.

The Strathconas are certainly a representative team. Glover, Parnell and Moore were with the Peterborough seniors last year, Derocher played goal for the Auburns, Dusty played on the Charlotte street team, Dobson on the Orphans, and Weatherstone was a member of last year's city league champions.

Christian Science and Athletics

Let this spirit pervade and dominate the atmosphere of the athletic world—all minds co-operating to [illegible] and to indulge in contest solely for the pure delight of it—let this spirit prevail, and the present day evils of the sport—[illegible], hero worship, vain glory seeking, mad exultation, and vicious celebration that disfavor athletics with so many, will speedily [illegible] and an era of pure sport being [illegible] and an era of pure sport be [illegible] that will elevate athletics to the dignity of an art, worthy of the cultivation of all; make [illegible] contests a real delight to onlooker and performer in the act alike, [illegible] the present now and again [illegible] realm of "happy occurrence" [illegible] realm of "every time"; and [illegible] light a western standard of [illegible] in athletic achievement, [illegible] by the reputed feats [illegible] Age of Athletics. Then, indeed, will be realized a revival of the Olympics.

Yes, Christian Science does help the athlete to triumph, not over personal competitors—for no honest man wants to be victor over a better man — but over those intangible, subtle and deadly foes to success of the right sort in any endeavor; those stealthy, mental influences that creep upon one unawares to unnerve and unfit the finest mentality and physique, and to fore-ordain defeat. Yes, Christian Science does blaze the way to victory, not over brawn and grit, but over indifference, anxiety, fear, envy, self-consciousness, whimsical notions and fancied ills — those "yellow streaks," to borrow a homely phrase, that ever and alone mar an athlete's standard — bondage to "pet" theories of diet and training, and a multitude of wrong notions inculcated by heredity, education, and environment, none of which make a part of or should have any power over the real man.

As to the problems of training, the writer's understanding of Christian Science has not led him to abandon training or to be indifferent to practice, an idea as absurd as it is false. Nothing is ever accomplished without hard, faithful work and personal sacrifice, and the athlete who would perform well and grow in excellence must prove every step of the way by intelligent, conscientious effort, and the hoped-for goal is never attained until in thought and action entire harmony is realized. But, "as we sow, so also we reap," and just as one who in youth learns how to use the multiplication table is ever afterwards able to apply it with certainty as to results, so should one be able to duplicate in perfection and increasing facility, any talent once brought out—be it in the realm of athletics, art, science, or music. There is no Divine law that says not, and common sense says that there should be none.

Local Curlers Won and Lost

Were Given Good Time by Lindsay Club—An Enjoyable Trip

Six rinks of Peterborough curlers went to Lindsay yesterday and enjoyed the hospitality of the Lindsay club. The visit was an acceptance of the invitation extended by the Lindsay curlers to go to that town at any time and be the guests of the Lindsay club. The stones were provided by the Lindsay curlers who did everything in their power to give their guests a good time. Six rinks from Peterborough met six Lindsay rinks in the afternoon and a similar number played in the evening. The home players won out by about thirty shots in the afternoon, but the visitors did better at night and pulled out a victory by about twnety shots. The Peterborough curlers speak in high terms of the way they were used in Lindsay and intend going back again soon.

Among the local curlers who took the trip were Messrs. R. Hicks, C. B. Frost, H. J. Foote, J. Montgomery, W. E. Talbot, David Hall, W. S. Dood, T. Bullen-Yeats, Jas. Montgomery, R. Carton, A. Moore, A. H. Webb, A. S. F. Hall, M. C. Tooley, C. N. Brown, W. J. Thompson, R. J. Winch, M. McIntyre, R. M. Waddell and A. McIntosh.

Canoe Companies Meet at Hockey

Peterborough Company Defeat Team From the English Establishment

The hockey team from the Peterborough Canoe Company kicked in the slats of a hockey aggregation from the English Canoe Company establishment last night at the Brock street rink. The game was played between six and seven o'clock, and the Petes won by 3 goals to 2. Neither team showed Stanley Cup form, but they dug in like veterans and provided considerable amusement for quite a gathering of spectators. The winning team lined up as follows:—

GOOD RACES ARE LOOKED FOR

There is apparently going to be some interesting events in the two days' racing of the Peterborough Turf Club on January 21st and 22nd. The classes will apparently be all filled. Many fast Toronto steppers are booked to make an appearance. The track is in splendid conditon, and with anything like favorable weather will be conducive to very fast time.

SPECIAL TRAIN FROM LINDSAY

Hockey Team Bringing Big Bunch of Supporters for To-night's Game

Lindsay Post says: There will be a special train for Peterborough tomorrow night at 6.45, in order that Lindsayites may see the Lindsay-Peterboro intermediate hockey match. A special car will be reserved for ladies, and no rowdies will be allowed on the train. It will be the first opportunity Lindsay people have had this year of seeing their favorites play real hockey, and the game will be one of the most exciting of the series. The management absolutely guarantee the comfort and enjoyment of ladies attending the match.

HOCKEY

STODDARD MAY COME.

It is to be hoped that the members of the Intermediate hockey team will go to Peterborough to-morrow night and help win out for Lindsay. Stoddard was unable to go to Cobourg, but the boys hope to have him with them at Peterborough, and thus have the regular team on the ice. As a good many Lindsay people will attend the game, they will be disappointed if all are not in their places and a defeat made possible by the absence of one man.

EASY FOR WANDERERS.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—The first match for the Stanley Cup, which was played tonight at the Arena, resulted in favor of the Wanderers, the present holders of the cup, who defeated the Victorias of Ottawa by a score of 9 to 3.

The visitors were clearly outplayed by the locals. At the end of half time the score stood 5 to 2 in Wanderers' favor, and was increased to 9 to 3 at the end of the full time. A big crowd was present to witness the match, which began at 10 o'clock, and was not through until near midnight. The playing was fast, the ice being in very good condition. Roberts, of the Ottawa Victorias, in a collision with Art Ross, was knocked down and had his shoulder blade broken. The teams were:

Referee—Joe Powell. Judge of play Brown.

TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE.

At a meeting of those interested in hockey, held in the town hall on Friday evening last, definite action was taken to enter a team in the Trent Valley Hockey League for the season 1907-1908, says the Tweed News.

The following officers were elected for the local club: Pres., Dr. Robertson; hon. pres., W. A. Parker; manager, J. P. Martin; secretary-treasurer, L. Huyck.

Lee Huyck represented the local club, at Marmora, on Monday, 6th inst., where the schedule for district No. 2 was drawn up.

Following is the schedule:

Jan. 13—Marmora at Havelock.
Jan. 17—Tweed at Madoc.
Jan. 22—Madoc at Marmora.
Jan. 22—Havelock at Tweed.
Jan. 27—Madoc at Havelock.
Jan. 29—Tweed at Marmora.
Feb. 5—Havelock at Madoc.
Feb. 7—Marmora at Tweed.
Feb. 12—Marmora at Madoc.
Feb. 14—Tweed at Havelock.
Feb. 19—Havelock at Marmora.
Feb. 21—Madoc at Tweed.

The Tweed club will play its first game in Madoc on the 17th inst., and it is to be hoped the weather man will aid the rink management in getting the rink in shape for the boys to have a few good workouts before this game.

A Happy 1908

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Yours very respectfully,
J. W. BROWETT

CURLING

LINDSAY IS AHEAD.

Lindsay, Jan. 8.—The first game in the annual competition for the Sheppard-Needler Cup, was played in Lindsay and in Orillia yesterday, an equal number of rinks playing in each town. In Orillia the local curlers were up five shots all round, but in Lindsay the local men had a majority of twelve.

Band to-night at Street Railway Rink

DRIVER ANTS.

The Way These Ferocious Little Insects Defy the Freshets.

There are certain ants that show wonderful intelligence, and the "driver ants" not only build boats, but launch them too. Only these boats are formed of their own bodies.

They are called "drivers" because of their ferocity. Nothing can stand before the attacks of these little creatures. Large pythons have been killed by them in a single night, while chickens, lizards and other animals in western Africa flee from them in terror. To protect themselves from the heat they erect arches, under which numerous armies of them pass in safety.

Sometimes the arch is made of grass and earth and is gummed together by some secretion, and again it is formed by the bodies of the larger ants, which hold themselves together by their strong nippers while the workers pass under them.

At certain times of the year freshets overflow the country inhabited by the "drivers," and it is then that these ants go to sea. The rain comes suddenly, and the walls of their houses are broken in by the flood; but, instead of coming to the surface in scattered hundreds and being swept off to destruction, out of the ruins rises a black ball that rides safely on the water and drifts away.

At the first warning of danger the little creatures run together and form a solid body of ants, the weaker in the center. Often this ball is larger than a common cricket ball, and in this way they float about until they lodge against some tree, upon the branches of which they are soon safe and sound.

GOVERNMENT ANIMALS.

Branding Them Is Provided For by Army Regulations.

Whenever you see the letters "U. S." branded on the left fore shoulder of an animal, make up your mind at once that that beast is or was at one time the property of our rich old Uncle Sam.

Then again if you knew the key to the system of branding utilized by the quartermaster's department, United States army, you would in a moment be able to tell the organization of the army to which that animal was assigned immediately after purchase by the government.

Branding public animals is not a matter of choice, but is provided for by the army regulations, which direct that—

"Public animals shall upon the day received be branded with the letters 'U. S.' on the left fore shoulder. Horses assigned to organizations will also be branded on the hoof of one fore foot one and one-half inches below the coronet with the designation of the company. Branding irons of uniform size and design will be supplied by the quartermaster's department, letters 'U. S.' to be two inches in height, letters and numbers of hoof brands on the same line to be three-fourths of an inch high, the letter to precede the number and blocked so as to penetrate the hoof one-sixteenth of an inch. For example, the hoof brands on horses assigned to band, Ninth cavalry, would be CB9; to Troop A, Fifth cavalry, would be A5; to Company A, battalion of engineers, would be BEA."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Arrested on the Charge Of Forging a $50 Cheque

Frank Hamilton, who is charged with forging a cheque on the Cavendish Lumber Company, was arrested to-day by P.C. Newhall. He says his name is Francis Hamilton, but that he has a brother by the name of Frank. His statement, however, does not sound very likely. High County Constable Cochrane has been on the lookout for him since yesterday morning and instructed the city force to place him under arrest should they see him. He will be tried by County Police Magistrate Edmison. The amount of the cheque was $50.

HAS CHARGE OF WORK IN APSLEY

Mr. C. E. Wilkinson, who arrived from England last month, has taken charge of the Church of England work at Apsley during the absence of Rev. C. Lord, who is spending the winter in the old country. Mrs. Wilkinson and family have joined Mr. Wilkinson, who is now a lay reader but may be ordained in the course of a few months.

Christmas Tree Entertainment

The annual Christmas tree and entertainment for the children of St. Luke's Sunday school will be held in the schoolhouse to-night at 8 o'clock. There will also be the distribution of prizes won for diligence in lesson study and catechism, good conduct and faithful attendance. Mr. David Spence, chairman, will act as chairman, and an excellent programme will be run off. A silver collection will be taken to defray expenses.

FOUR DEGREES BELOW ZERO LAST NIGHT

The temperature took a sudden drop yesterday, and last night was one of the coldest for some time past. The government thermometer registered 4 degrees below zero. Today the temperature had considerably moderated.

An Exhibition of Dutch Pictures

Will be Held in Old Bank of Montreal Building Early Next Month

In the old Bank of Montreal building in this city during the first week in February, there will be a splendid exhibition of Dutch pictures which are now on view in the gallery of the Woman's Art Association, Toronto. The pictures will be taken from Toronto to Ottawa, and from the capital they will be brought to Peterborough.

From here they will be taken to Kingston, after which they will be returned to Europe.

The exhibit here will be under the auspices of the Peterborough branch of the Woman's Art Association.

Doubts Held as To His Sanity

At the county police court this morning before County Police Magistrate Edmison Alonzo Phillips, of Asphodel, was charged with non-support of his wife and two children. He has been in gaol for about ten days and the authorities are inclined to think that his mental condition is not as good as it might be. The charge is preferred by his wife, who says he deserted her and her two little girls and absolutely refused to contribute to their support in any way. The prisoner was remanded and a report on his mental condition will be furnished the magistrate by Gaol Surgeon Caldwell and Dr. Green.

A PROMINENT NEWSPAPER MAN HERE FOR VISIT

Mr. E. W. King Dodds, of the Canadian Sportsman, son of Mr. E. King Dodds, proprietor of the above journal, is at the National on a short visit to the city. Mr. Dodds anticipates a lively ice racing season this winter, and says he will take in the races at Ottawa and Montreal, and possibly at some other places on the Canadian circuit. It will be pleasant news for local horsemen and others to know that his father is enjoying good health and still takes an active interest in the affairs of the Canadian Sportsman.

BROKEN SLEEP MORNING TIREDNESS

Unable to sleep indicates starved nerves and weak blood. You'll never be well till the system is better nourished—that's sure.

What you need is a nutritive tonic like FERROZONE, which vitalizes and enriches the blood, fortifies the nerves, instills new energy into worn-out organs. At once you feel better. Your spirits improve; and day by day you gain in strength and power.

FERROZONE
ALWAYS CURES.

No remedy removes that gone, exhausted feeling like FERROZONE. In every case it completely cures the cause of sleeplessness and restores the sufferer to robust health in a short time.

Use FERROZONE and your sleep will be as restful and sound as an infant's. In the morning you'll feel capable and ready for the day's toil. Don't lose the sound, vigorous health FERROZONE is sure to bring you. Get FERROZONE to-day and beware of substitutes.

Ferrozone is sold only in 50c boxes, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston.

Lively Set-to in the House; Proceedings Were Spirited

Mr. Boyce Makes Personal Attack on Member For Halifax.

Twits Him With Reference to Election Petition—The Marine Department Again Severely Criticized — Brodeur's Bill In Eighteen Months Was $8,913 — Treatment of Cadet Lancaster Discussed.

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—The reluctance of Hon. L. P. Brodeur to acquaint the House with the details of his personal expenses for the past 18 months, the total being $8,913, gave the Opposition again an opportunity to assail the methods of the Department. On the House going into supply yesterday afternoon as to the expense of Commander Spain, Mr. Brodeur said the commander was allowed $6 a day for living expenses, and he was not in possession of railway passes, as was stated by an Opposition member.

Mr. Foster found, in the accounts amounts totaling $8,913 for the Minister and his secretary for traveling expenses during 18 months. What for?

Mr. Brodeur was reluctant to give the information desired and was submitted to a tantalizing gruelling by the ex-Minister. Finally Mr. Brodeur said he had refunded to the Treasury over $900 for the expenses of his wife and a young lady, who traveled with them, but the accountant had told him this was too much, and the check was to be adjusted.

This left over $8,000 charged to the country, and Mr. Foster again interrogated the Minister for more details. Some of the amount was for expenses of officers of the Department going to England on official business.

Mr. Brodeur warmly resented the allegations of the North Toronto representative, who promised to let in some light on the extravagance of the Minister if he had to stay 15 years on the job.

Mr. Bennett (Simcoe) asked how much the British Government contributed to the comfort of the Canadian party at the Imperial Conference. The answer was unsatisfactory. The Minister had paid some accounts presented by the Hotel Cecil. He did not say how much, and Mr. Foster accused him of withholding credit from the British Government for putting up generously for their entertainment.

George Taylor went into the details of fitting out the ice-breaker Montcalm. Dickies at $1 each, were bought for the 37 sailormen who operated the craft, and thousands of dollars were wastefully laid out for the comfort of the men. The reading of the accounts occupied most of the hour before dinner and afforded much amusement.

Treatment of a Cadet.

In the afternoon Col. Sam Hughes called attention to what appeared to be rather harsh treatment accorded Cadet Lancaster of the Royal Military College. The young man, who is a son of the member for Lincoln, was accused of taking a cigarette case from the room of a fellow cadet with the intention not to return it. He was taken before the commandant of the college, the evidence was given in camera and the boy sentenced to rustication. There had been charges previously against other cadets, such as taking cake from the rooms of others, and Lancaster's father had championed the cause of one of these boys. Col. Hughes condemned the action of the commandant in pursuing this course. His action was cowardly and it was unfortunate that not one of the boys was compelled to testify when the accused was not present.

The result of the trial was the conviction of the cadet, and he was placed in close confinement. The matter, however, being brought to the attention of the Minister of Militia, the evidence was reviewed and the verdict of the commandant set aside.

The commandant, who would thus heap odium on a cadet for committing a boyish prank, was unfit to remain in his position 24 hours. Col. Hughes said spirit should be installed into the boys that would prompt them to refuse to answer questions unless brought face to face with the accused.

"The subject," concluded the gallant colonel, copying a newspaper motto, "who is truly loyal will neither advise nor submit to arbitrary, cowardly or contemptible measures."

Minister of Militia Replies.

Sir Frederick Borden, while expressing the view that a question of this kind should not be brought up in this way, gave a detailed account of the circumstances. In justice to the commandant he did not believe he had been actuated by any low motives, and the methods employed were entirely usual. Other charges were made against other cadets, the sentence in each case being remitted by the commandant. In Lancaster's case the charge was that he had taken a cigarette case with intent to keep it, and the evidence was sent to the Department. The judgment of the Minister was that the commandant had proceeded regularly, but the Minister was unable to adopt the finding as the testimony had failed to establish that the young man's actions were inconsistent with the intention of availing himself temporarily of the cigarette case. It was also the opinion of the Minister that the act of young Lancaster was to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.

R. L. Borden believed there was not one iota of evidence to justify the sentence. The offence was a mere boyish prank and the decision of a most extraordinary nature, and indicated that the commandant was perfectly incapable of understanding the essentials of the case. To adopt a course of endeavoring to place the stigma of crime on a cadet was intolerable.

Armand Lavergne (Montmagny) believed the commandant of the college to be a man of honor. The cadets had only one choice, namely, to answer all questions put to them by their superior officers and the matter should not have been brought up in the house.

Hon. Col. Tisdale said if the commandant had power to conduct a trial in this way that power ought to be taken from him.

Col. Ward (Durham) agreed. He asked Sir Frederick Borden if the commandant had the same powers as the commander of a regiment, and being answered in the affirmative, Col. Ward read from the military rules to show that the commander of a regiment had no power to try a case of theft. In the case of young Lancaster, the cadet from whom the article was taken, would not lay a charge, and it was not till some months after, when suspicions were aroused in connection with another trivial offence, that the commandant made the charge himself, young Lancaster was refused counsel and the trial unfairly conducted. He believed there were good reasons for an enquiry as to the fitness of the commandant for the position.

Mr. Northrup (Hastings) said it was clear that if the young man had not a father to fight for him he would have been branded a criminal.

Review Evidence In Future.

Sir Fred. Borden said as a result of this investigation instructions had been given that in future evidence must be taken down and sent to the Minister to be reviewed.

E. Guss Porter said evidently the practice of the department had been violated. Evidence not taken under oath before the board of enquiry was sent to the Minister, while that given under oath was not forwarded again. This was the third petty charge levelled against Lancaster. This disclosed a motive. It appeared to Mr. Porter that the commandant had pursued the young man, and he thought he was unfit to occupy the position. The matter then dropped.

Attacked Marine Department.

At the evening session George Taylor led the attack on the Marine Department. In a general way he showed that there had been large increases in this branch of the Government and then he switched off to the days of long ago, when Hon. William Paterson roared denunciation of expenditures of the Conservative Government. This brought him to a reference to the noise that was made when certain C. P. R. officials presented Lady Macdonald with a diamond necklace, while nothing was said now by the same gentleman complaining of the present of an automobile by Lord Strathcona, who is interested largely in the Hill railways and the C.P.R., to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He gave Mr. Paterson credit for consistency in refusing to charge the country with cab hire for himself after condemning the Conservative Ministers for the same practice.

William Roche (Halifax) defended the Minister of Marine. The steamers employed in the lighthouse and coast service by the present Government were craft of modern construction and had been outfitted with due regard to their efficiency. Instead of condemning in a general way the alleged waste of money, Mr. Taylor should point to items that showed extravagance.

Man of Nautical Skill.

Mr. Boyce (Algoma) went after the previous speaker, who he described as a man who, by reason of his nautical skill in steering past all reefs and rocks of election courts could properly be regarded as an expert in seafaring matters. The member for Halifax had no right to sit in the House, he said.

Mr. Roche denied he was afraid of courts; he had been in them all his life, and he was prepared, if this argument were continued, to prove corrupt acts on the parts of his opponents. The discussion promised to open up the Halifax election case, and Hon. Charles Marcil, chairman, shut it off with a ruling that the debate was not relevant to the items before the committee.

Mr. Foster asked when the insurance bill would be taken up. The Finance Minister replied that it would be given its second reading pro forma, and would be sent to the banking and commerce committee if the Opposition were prepared to undertake that there would be no discussion. Mr. Foster, however in the absence of his leader could not promise.

Mr. Fielding said the budget debate would not take place till after the French treaty had been disposed of.

The House adjourned at 11.35.

Mr. Speaker informed the House of the election of P. D. McLean in Centre York. The new member has not yet arrived.

Minister In Trouble.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—Rev. Dr. James A. Kaye of Oak Park, Ill, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Wheaton, Ill., and engaged as writer on religious papers, is on trial in the Federal Court in this city on the charge of making counterfeit coins at his home in Lincoln, Ill., while pastor of the First Presbyterian Church there, with intent to pass them.

He claims he was experimenting in order to make medals for his Sunday school pupils. He was born in Woodstock, Ont., in 1845.

ASIATICS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Sentences of Deportation Must Be Revised—Flaw In Act.

Johannesburg, Jan. 11.—The trouble between the Government and the Asiatics in the Transvaal entered upon a new phase yesterday.

There has been discovered a flaw in the immigration act which renders illegal the sentences of deportation pronounced last month against several of the British-Indian leaders in the country, and the sentences will have to be revised.

The Government, however, is as determined as ever, and the immigration act will be so amended as to make possible more drastic treatment of those Asiatics who refuse to conform to the registration laws.

Seven Indian traders were sentenced to three months at hard labor at Pretoria yesterday for refusing to obey the law to leave the country on account of their failure to register.

Grain Men Not Satisfied.

Winnipeg, Jan. 11.—There is considerable dissatisfaction among local grain men over the finding of the Grain Commission, particularly the report against establishing of a sample market.

Local men all claim that the establishing of a sample market at Winnipeg, where the representatives of the mills would have to come on the floor and buy their wheat from sample, instead of on straight grade as at present, would make Winnipeg as big a milling centre as Minneapolis.

And not only that, the farmer would derive great benefits because he could sell his crop on its merits and get every cent of value out of it, whereas now he is cramped by the limitations of grade.

Found Body Frozen Stiff.

Ingersoll, Jan. 11.—While out collecting on behalf of a church fund, two residents of West Zorra Thursday afternoon found the dead body of John Kindness, a young man who resided alone near Bennington. It is believed that Kindness died suddenly on Tuesday night, as this was the last time he was seen alive.

The body, which was in a stall in the horse stable, was badly frozen, and keeping watch over it was his dog. No marks of violence could be found on the body. The young man was aged 27 years, and was a son of Alex. Kindness of Embro.

Would Divert Immigration.

London, Jan. 11.—Amongst the schemes suggested for booming the Australian Commonwealth is an agreement with a well-known novelist to "write up" the country with the object of diverting the stream of emigration from Canada thereto. Australians firmly believe they will soon enjoy as great popularity as Canada. The federal authorities are devising means of making the attractions of Australia better known in Great Britain.

Accidentally Shot.

Bethune, Sask., Jan. 11.—Austin Stanley, a 14-year-old boy, is lying with a bullet hole through his right lung as the result of a premature discharge of a 22-calibre rifle. He was drawing the gun from a manger in the stable when it was discharged. The bullet lodged in the lad's spine, and his chances for recovery are slight.

Mikado's Heir Ill.

London, Jan. 11.—According to the Stuttgart correspondent of The Daily Mail, Prof. Von Baelz has been summoned to Tokio to consult with other physicians concerning the health of the Japanese Crown Prince, who is suffering from lung disease. His condition has lately become more serious.

FOUR FIREMEN KILLED

Many Others Badly Hurt in Blaze at New York.

Hotel Converted Into Temporary Hospital—Skyscraper Entirely Burned —Walls Fell In—Thirty Men Were Caught — Brantford Opera House Also Destroyed — Stores In Basement Damaged by Water.

New York, Jan. 11.—Four firemen went to their deaths when they responded to a fire that burned the Parker building, a 12-storey business structure, occupying the building between East 18th street and 19th street, on Fourth avenue, last night.

Fought by half the firemen of the Manhattan and apparatus that blocked the street for blocks, the flames were with difficulty confined to the building in which they originated.

Floor after floor gave way and dropped to the basement and beneath these and crumbling walls no less than thirty firemen were caught. Four were killed outright and others seriously injured.

When the casualties began the Florence Hotel, which adjoins the burning building, on 18th street, was made a temporary hospital, where fire department physicians gave immediate aid to the injured.

The monetary loss was estimated last night as $1,500,000.

The fire was one of the most spectacular as well as disastrous in recent years. From start to finish its course was marked by heartrending scenes, sensational escapes and flashes of heroism.

Five Firemen Hurt.

Detroit, Jan. 11.—Five firemen were injured, none of them seriously, at a fire which caused about $100,000 damage yesterday in the Foster & Cheney Knitting Mills.

OPERA HOUSE BURNED.

Business Firms at Brantford Suffer Heavy Losses by Water.

Brantford, Jan. 11.—The Brantford opera house was gutted by fire at 5.30 yesterday morning. So badly damaged is the building that it will probably be abandoned. The adjacent buildings also suffered, though not to a serious extent. The cause is unknown.

Constable Boylan saw smoke issuing from the theatre, which is situated on Colborne street, in the heart of the business block between Market and Queen streets, and a general alarm was turned in and both local departments responded.

The theatre, which is on the second floor over a row of business houses, was soon a mass of flames, and it was only through desperate efforts of the department and thick fireproof walls that the conflagration was confined. The interior of the theatre, the stage and dressing rooms were completely gutted and roof destroyed.

Below the theatre, Wood's Fair, Jack Kelly's cigar store and pool room, Harry Soiel's barbershop were badly damaged by water. Grafton's clothing stock was also slightly damaged.

The total loss will be in the neighborhood of $15,000. The opera house was erected in 1881.

THREE HUNTERS MURDERED.

Another Terrible Outrage Perpetrated by Russian Bandits.

Odessa, Jan. 11.—Three wealthy proprietors, while returning home in a carriage after hunting near Tiraspol, yesterday, were murdered by armed robbers.

The victims had arrived at a lonely part of their homeward road which several shots rang out from a thicket. The two horses fell dead, and the coachman dropped from his box with a bullet through his arm.

Armed men sprang into the road, pulled open the doors of the vehicle and dragging out the three unhappy victims killed them on the spot.

After rifling the dead bodies the murderers fled.

Fined the Juror.

Cornwall, Jan. 11.—One of the jurors in a case being tried at the Assizes was a few minutes late returning from luncheon Thursday. He was dismissed by the judge, and as an example to others was fined the amount that would be coming to him as fees. This caused The Freeholder to point out that Judge Anglin was a whole day late in taking charge of the court business, leaving one hundred or so jurors, witnesses and litigants to cool their heels around town for 24 hours. The Freeholder says: "They had no chance to fine the judge, nor were any comments made as to the cause of the delay. This postponement of the opening of the court on the failure of the judge to arrive on time is a common occurrence in Cornwall."

Settler Murdered.

Whitemouth, Man., Jan. 11.—A Russian named Alex. Schmarts, who has resided here for several years, was murdered last night. All the circumstances point to robbery as the motive.

He was found lying in a little hollow between the roadway and the river bank, a little more than half a mile south of town. Apparently there was a shot wound in the head. His pockets were turned inside out and a new belt which he wore was loosened that he might be better searched for money.

Arm Drawn Into Rollers.

Woodstock, Jan. 11.—While at work at Whitelaw's Foundry, Nathaniel Abbott yesterday met with an accident whereby his left arm was amputated at the elbow. The unfortunate man was at work rolling boiler plate when his hand was drawn into the rollers.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

STRANGLED HIS WIFE.

Husband Annoyed Because She Kept on Talking.

London, Jan. 11.—"I wish to give myself up for murder. I killed my wife this morning about 2 o'clock."

Walking into the police station at Stonehouse, Devon, George R. Crook, a young laborer of 25, startled the officials on duty by making the above confession.

On going to the man's house, in High street, the police found the body of Mrs. Crook, who had apparently met her death by strangulation. She was 21 years of age.

After the tragedy, it is said, Crook locked the door of the room, and, proceeding to the house of his parents at Pennycross, wished them "Good-bye." Then he returned to his own house, and about 9.30 went to the station and gave himself up, handing the police the key of the room.

Crook showed complete unconcern about his terrible position. After surrendering he quietly picked up a paper in the charge room and began reading the day's news.

One of his friends to whom Crook said "good-bye" asked him what he meant, and in reply, it is said, Crook made the following statement:

"I have done it—I have killed Flo. I have been out to mother's; I have broken her poor heart. I never intended to do it. She (meaning his wife) kept on talking to me, and I told her to stop. I went out for half an hour. When I came back she started again. I said, 'Stop it,' and she laughed in my face. Then I did it."

DR. M'CONVILLE INSANE.

Assaulted Aged Woman and Afterwards Attempted Suicide.

Kingston, Jan. 11.—Dr. Andrew McConville, who was sentenced to 16 months in the Central for assaulting an aged woman, and who later attempted to hang himself in the county jail, was yesterday pronounced insane by Drs. Edwards and McCarthy, and upon their report will be removed to an insane asylum, likely to Hamilton.

Thomas Trotter, a farmer living near Joyceville, in the County of Frontenac, is to be tried by Magistrate Col. Hunter to-day for doing serious injury to his wife and Mrs. Blake, her mother. It seems that Trotter recently pounded his wife, and then chased her with an axe. The mother-in-law was seized, thrown on the stove, and when endeavoring to effect her escape had her arm jammed between the door and its case and seriously hurt. The two women are now undergoing treatment in the hospital here. The reason for the brutal treatment may be found in the fact that Mrs. Blake owns the farm on which her son-in-law, Trotter, lives, and, according to her intention, the property is to go at her death to her daughter, Mrs. Trotter. This disposition, however, does not suit her husband, who wants it given to him.

Scandal Ousts Admiral.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 11.—According to advices brought here by the Aki Maru, Admiral Baron Y. Ito, of the Supreme Naval Council, who commanded the Japanese navy in the war with China, has been dismissed from the service because of a scandal which involves him with the wife of a workman in the Yokosuka navy yards.

Admiral Ito was appointed Vice-Admiral and Commander-in-Chief of the united squadron in 1893. He commanded the squadron with signal success against the enemy's fleet in the Japan-China war, which broke up the following year. After the close of the war the Emperor rewarded him by creating him a peer with the rank of viscount. He was made admiral of the fleet on Dec. 31, 1906.

Empress Seriously Ill.

London, Jan. 11.—Reports of the seriousness of the condition of the Czarina have multiplied since the fact of her illness was cabled some days ago. The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail says the influenza from which she is suffering has been so protracted that she is now very weak. It is necessary to feed her hourly. Her illness was hastened by a course of vigorous massage, which was applied to combat obesity. It is rumored that her condition is complicated by pregnancy, although court circles deny this.

Too Ill to Attend Court.

New York, Jan. 11.—Robert C. Caldwell, who was arrested upon his arrival here from Europe several weeks ago, on a charge of perjury in connection with the famous Druce case in London, was too ill to appear before United States Commissioner Alexander for arraignment yesterday. Caldwell is at the home of his daughter on Staten Island. He is under $5,000 bonds to appear before the commissioner.

Polish Terrorists Busy.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Jan. 11.—The terrorists of this city, who have been quiet for some time past, have resumed operations. Yesterday morning they made an attack on the Post-Car Station at Sokolow, on the Vistula Railroad, threw a bomb at the car, killing two and wounding ten soldiers and railroad employes. After looting the safes, the terrorists made their escape with considerable money.

Drank Acid by Mistake.

London, Jan. 11.—Mr. Bert Hinchamp narrowly escaped death by drinking from a carbolic acid bottle, in mistake for a cough mixture yesterday. Although his throat was terribly burned, he was able to alarm the family, who summoned a physician. It was necessary to resort to drastic measures to save the young man's life.

Investigating Jewel Robbery.

Dublin, Jan. 11.—The vice-regal commission appointed recently to sift the disappearance from Dublin Castle last July of a part of the state regalia, valued at $250,000, held its initial session yesterday.

The Winnipeg City Council has decided to investigate the charges against the city police.

SWEET REVENGE

By
Captain F. A. MITCHEL,
Author of "Chattanooga," "Chickamauga," Etc.

Copyright, 1897, by Harper & Brothers.

"Dunno. Hunt yer own supper," replied one of the men.

"Hain't you uns got nothin thar t' spar'?"

"Reckon, but we hain't goin ter spar' 't."

Buck started toward the camp, and Ginger followed him.

"I'm a-takin this nigger t' Sparty. He's sold."

"Hain't yo' got that nigger offen yo' hands yit?" called Pete Halliday.

Buck looked at the speaker in assumed surprise. "Wal, now, you uns mus' be the men we [illegible] yistid'y. Hain't yo' got yo' man offen yo' hands yit?"

A grin passed over the faces of the men.

"Don't yo' mind 'bout that man," replied Pete Halliday, "er yo'll git inter trouble."

"Whar does the nigger b'long?" asked the captain.

"I'm takin him ter Sparty."

"Yo' don't keep him under close watch," said Pete.

"Oh, he hain't no runaway nigger. He's got me in charge's much's I got him. He's b'longed to the fambly since befo' I was borned."

By this time the travelers had reached the camp, Buck's intelligent face contrasting with the stupid look which the negro was assuming.

The man who cooked for the band was busying himself preparing supper. With one accord the two girls took hold to help him. He at once dropped his implements and gave way, while all stood gaping at the unusual sight of two women who, unasked, were cooking a meal for them. Helen occupied herself over the fire and managed an iron skillet, the only cooking utensil in camp, as dexterously as a chef. Jack took the tin dishes that composed the kit and "set the table," an act hitherto unknown at guerrilla meals. Then, when supper was ready, they insisted upon waiting on the men. No one objected to this save the captain, who by his protest a second time indicated that he had seen better days and knew something of deference to women.

The meal ended, the girls insisted on washing the dishes. When there was no more work to do, Jack sang out:

"Cl'ar the way, you uns, an I'll give yo' a dance!"

CHAPTER X.

A DANCE FOR A LIFE.

THE proposition was received with shouts of approval.

"Yo' don't mean yo' kin dance?"

"Reckon."

"Good gal! Cl'ar the way fo' a dance!"

"Yo' nigger, tune that banjo! 'T's lucky fo' yo' yo' got 't, strings an all, er we'd 'a' made strings outen yer hide."

The camp was on a circular piece of hard ground so cut off from the sun by surrounding trees and bushes that no grass grew. The few scattered sprouts were soon cleared away. Ginger sat down on the log which lay near by, twanged his banjo, tightening or loosening a string, and then gave a preliminary flourish.

Jaqueline took off her sunbonnet, threw it a few feet away and stepped on to the clearing. There were mingled fear and defiance in her face that set my heart to fluttering. Though I did not know she was carrying out a preconcerted plan, somehow it got into my head that she was about to dance for my liberty—in other words, for my life. The thought maddened me. An impulse seized me to throw off the mask and defy the whole band. Helen, seeing the desperate resolve expressed in my face, gave me a look, partly imploring, partly commanding, that recalled me to a sense of my helplessness.

Jaqueline began sailing about, keeping time to Ginger's music, moving hither and thither with uncertain steps, as a bird will flit back and forth before darting away in its flight, or as a musician will sweep his fingers over a harp before beginning his melody. Gradually the music grew quicker, and Jack, gathering confidence, forgot everything but the dance.

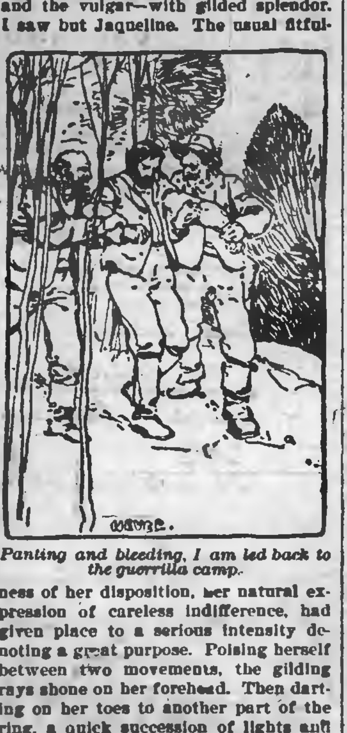
Since the entry of the two girls into the camp I had suffered one terror after another in quick succession, and now it struck me that in case Jack succeeded in fascinating this lawless group some of them, fired with a desire of possession, would break through all restraint. I had been wonderstruck that two defenseless girls should dare to come among them, and now I was stupefied that Jack should dance before them and that Helen should permit her to do so. But who shall measure the strength of woman's weakness? Mother Nature had taught Jack and Helen their power, and they went about their work with not a tithe of the fright that possessed me.

Meanwhile Jaqueline had drifted into the dance and was whirling, bending, floating, every muscle alive with its especial motion. At times she would lull, poise herself for a moment, then, like a fitful wind, start again with renewed fervor. At no time could there be discovered aught but delicate refinement in her movements, and now it was her purpose to attract without exciting her spectators. Stimulated by frequent bursts of applause and by the rapt attention of the men surrounding her, she found her main incentive in a far deeper, nobler motive, feeling, as she did, the critical situation, the dread responsibility, for a human life resting upon her.

What a singular scene! The ring of ugly faces momentarily softened by the sight of grace and beauty; the captain, his sharp face turning with the dancer and following her wherever she goes; Pete Halliday, standing with folded arms, lowering from under the broad brim of his sombrero, grinding his quid; Ginger's black face gleaming with pride at furnishing the music for his young mistress, inspiring her with his own inspired melody; little Buck, standing between two lank guerrillas in "butternut," staring at his cousin and forgetful of her danger in his interest in her work; Helen Stanforth, standing apart, her strong face wearing the expression of a general who watches a cavalry charge intended to turn a position on which hangs the fate of the day.

The guerrillas, not one of whom would hesitate to slit a throat at the slightest prospect of gain, were watching the little soubrette not only with admiration, but with respect. Once during her performance one of the men applauded with a ribald remark. He was standing by the captain, who stretched his arm, brought it down with a backward stroke and sent the man sprawling. Jaqueline saw the act and the approving looks of the outlaws, who were in no mood to have their sport interrupted. The color left her cheeks, but she kept right on, and the episode passed without further consequences.

At a moment when the attention of the men had become riveted upon the dancer Helen, who had been gradually working her way from the group toward me, came and sat down on the log behind Ginger, where she was partially screened by him. Watching her opportunity, she deftly took a revolver from her pocket and concealed it in the folds of her dress. With her eyes fixed upon the group about Jack, she waited for a burst of applause, and when it came, reaching back, she dropped the weapon behind the log at my feet; then, rising, rejoined the circle. I pushed the revolver under the log with the toe of my boot, then kicked dust and leaves over it. This accomplished, I breathed the most comfortable sigh of relief I have ever drawn in my life. The whole situation seemed changed by that little dust covered combination of bits of metal. Stooping, I slipped it into the leg of my boot and felt that half the battle was won.



Panting and bleeding, I am led back to the guerrilla camp.

At that moment the setting sun came out from behind a cloud and shot lances of light through the trees, covering the group—the beautiful and the ugly, the good and the bad, the refined and the vulgar—with gilded splendor. I saw but Jaqueline. The usual fitfulness of her disposition, her natural expression of careless indifference, had given place to a serious intensity denoting a great purpose. Poising herself between two movements, the gilding rays shone on her forehead. Then darting on her toes to another part of the ring, a quick succession of lights and shades passed over her brow, a glittering diadem of sun flashes. Truly God is a wonderful artist, since he can touch even a dance with celestial purity.

Helen Stanforth turned to me. Pulling her sunbonnet forward so as to conceal her face from the others, though they were too intent on Jaqueline to notice her, she moved her lips, and though no sound came I knew she intended the word:

"Go!"

Near me was a tree, not far from that another, underbrush, bushes—just the cover through which to make a retreat. I could easily get down behind the log, crawl into the thicket and away. Now for the first time the purpose of dear Jaqueline was fully apparent.

But how could I leave these friends who had risked so much, accomplished so much, for me? I stood still and shook my head.

Again Helen looked an order for me to go.

"Not without the others," I whispered.

Sitting down on the log so as to be nearer to me, she replied in a low voice:

"We will leave here when you are safely away. She will dance on to keep them from knowing you have gone. We have planned it so."

"They will know you connived at my escape and murder you."

"Why should they? Go at once, or I shall consider you an ingrate."

She looked so anxious, they had all made such a noble effort in my behalf, that I could not find it in my heart to disappoint them.

I slipped behind the tree, dropped to the ground and wriggled like a snake through the underbrush; then, rising, darted away.

A dozen yards—fifty—a hundred. The music of Ginger's banjo dies as suddenly as the clang of a bell on a passing engine. Will one minute or five pass before I am missed? A distant burst of applause—God bless the dear little dancer! Before me is an open space, then a dense clump of trees. If I can reach that thicket I can make a quick digression, and this may throw my pursuers off my track.

A confusion of yells, a bullet whistling by my ear. I reach the wood and push on through it, not daring to lose distance by digression with an enemy close behind me. My feet becoming entangled in a vine, I stumble and fall. A weight comes down on me, crushing the breath out of me. It is all over.

Panting, bleeding, white as a ghost, I am led back to the guerrilla camp.

"Shoot him!"

"Gimme a rope offen that pack mule!"

"Tie him on a critter an send him down the mounting!"

A babel of brutal suggestions came from the different members of the band, sounding to me, stunned as I was, like final random shots at the slaughter of a "forlorn hope." Amid the clamor I saw but one sight—Helen and Jack locked in each other's arms, paralyzed with terror.

"Stand back, men!" cried the captain, pushing his way toward me. "Have yo' forgot the money?"

"Stand back!" roared Halliday. "He belongs to me an Tom Jaycox! We tuk him!"

The captain's authority, thus supported, saved me from immediate death.

The men who were crowding around me gave way, a cord was brought, and my wrists and ankles were securely bound. No one seemed to suspect that Jack's dance had anything to do with my flight, except that I had taken advantage of the relaxed vigilance to make the attempt. Having tied me, they threw me to the ground, Halliday giving me a parting kick; a man was deputed to watch me, and the band, accustomed to such episodes, left me to turn again to what was far more interesting to them.

CHAPTER XI.

STEALING THE GUNS.

JAQUELINE once more became an object of undivided interest. The men crowded about her, staring at her, uttering exclamations of admiration, vainly seeking a way to do her honor. Presently they cut saplings, out of which they constructed a rude chair, decorating it with twigs, and one ill favored bandit, to whom nature had imparted a spark of art, gathered wild flowers with which to put on finishing touches. When the seat was completed, the men looked awkwardly at Jack, and the captain, presenting the tips of his fingers, led her to her improvised throne. Helen, who at the first sign that I was to be temporarily spared had recovered her equanimity and had infused some of her restored courage into Jack, saw at once the advantage of keeping up her cousin's popularity. Seizing some of the flowers, she wove them on a framework of green twigs into a circular garland and insisted on crowning the favorite, not queen of May, for May had not yet come, but queen of a month far more appropriate—April.

By this time night had come on, a roaring fire was lighted, and the guerrillas, forming a ring of which Jack was the gem, threw themselves on the ground and listened to her c[illegible]t, her songs, her stories, their fire lighted faces standing out of the gloom in grim contrast with her refined beauty. The captain, with his superior breeding, served as a link between her and his men, keeping them in check and stimulating their admiration by his own. If Jack flagged for a moment between her stories and her songs, Helen was quick to suggest new ones, and occasionally both were relieved by little Buck, who would throw in some quaint remark typical of that peculiar creature, the American boy.

So long as the songs and stories lasted there was nothing to precipitate trouble, but the entertainment could not go on all night, and I began to dread the moment when the girls should attempt to take their departure. Presently Helen in a firm voice said:

"Come, it's time for us to go."

Shouts of "No!" "A dance!" "A song!" greeted the proposition, and the guerrillas began to form in groups to resist an exit. Helen, selecting the noisiest knot of men, drew a revolver from her pocket and, cocking it, moved toward them with her eyes fixed upon them, calm and steady. Whether it was that they were cowed by the weapon or admired this evidence of woman's pluck, they opened a way. The captain, seizing the opportunity, quickly took Jack by the hand and led her after her cousin. Once beyond the ring, he assisted the girls to mount, then, mounting himself, the three rode away, followed by a cheer. As for me, I breathed one long sigh of relief.

"Well, Ginger," said Buck, "reckon ef we uns air goin to git to Sparty tomorrer we'll have to travel all night."

"Is the nigger takin yo' to Sparty or air yo' takin the nigger?" asked one of the men.

"Dat ain't gwine to mak' no differ'," said Ginger. "Mars Buck an I don' never had no trouble. Mars' Buck, he's my mars' till I gits to de new one."

Buck led his horse to the log and mounted, giving me a significant look, as much as to say, "I won't desert you," then rode away, followed by Ginger, with the remark:

"Goodby, yo' fellers. Much 'bliged fo' the good time."

The restraint of the girls' presence being no longer felt, the men's behavior changed in a twinkling. The captain's absence left Pete Halliday, the worst man in the gang, free to foment trouble, and he began to do so by sneering at his chief for being brought, as he expressed it, under petticoat government. There appeared to be two factions in the band—the one headed by Halliday or Jaycox and the other by Captain Ringold. Halliday set about instigating the guerrillas, or, rather, his adherents, to go after Helen and Jack and bring them back for another dance. To make matters worse, one of the men found some applejack, and it was not long before the gang were half drunk. Meanwhile the captain returned and received a hearty cursing from Halliday and his adherents. Several of them started to bring back the girls, but Ringold drew upon them and threatened to shoot them unless they returned. They staggered back, grumbling, and the captain adroitly proposed another pull at the applejack. This diverted them, and after finishing the liquor one after another sank into a drunken slumber.

It was midnight. Every member of the band was asleep save the man who was deputed to guard me. He was sitting on a piece of firewood, so placed that he could watch me across the flame. I lay on my back looking up at the stars and featherlike clouds that now and again floated across the great blue dome, the only motion apparent save the tree tops bending under an occasional breeze. The fire flickered, the guard nodded, and an owl in the distance gave an occasional hoot.

I heard something stir in the underbrush. Glancing aside, I saw a small light disk over a bush. It was the face of little Buck.

Now, in the name of all the gods, will those devoted friends never give over risking their lives in these useless attempts? What is to happen now? I scowled an order to the boy to go away, but he paid no attention to it. Something came sliding along the ground and lodged against me. The guard heard it, started, cast a quick glance at me, then about him, but, seeing nothing, relapsed into his former quietude. I felt for what had struck me and clasped a jackknife.

Meanwhile Buck disappeared, but, soon appearing again in his place, held up a carbine. He had doubtless stolen it from one of the men who slept on the edge of the circle about the fire. Again he disappeared, and I watched eagerly for his return. The guard was still awake, though nodding, but had he been more watchful he would not likely have discovered Buck, for the underbrush, both where the boy appeared to me and where it skirted the sleeping guerrillas, was so thick that in passing around the camp he was comparatively safe from observation. Besides for most of the distance Buck traversed in his gun foray the guard's back was toward him.

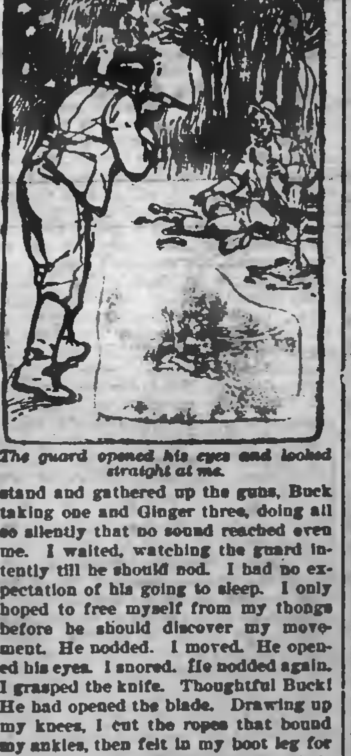
I watch the point where Buck's head appeared, expecting to see it again, but in its stead presently see two white points. Straining my eyes, I discern the whites of two eyes, then a black face.

It is Ginger. A white line appears directly below the eyes, and he is showing his teeth in a smile. He raises his arm, and, behold, another gun! Again a white line of teeth, and he puts the weapon down. Five, 10, 15 minutes elapse. Ginger holds his ground. Has he gone to sleep? No. Another five minutes, and he holds up another gun. Ah, I see. Little Buck, with catlike tread, is gathering in the arms. That's well. He is far better fitted for such delicate work than a stiff old negro.

The little pantomime begins to take shape in my mind and bring anticipations of more than a fight for my own life. If I can escape and Buck and Ginger secure sufficient arms, it may be possible for all our party to get together and make a defense. I must tell Ginger to get some ammunition. But with a guard looking straight at me it is no easy task to convey an order by signs, and that to a stupid negro. Catching sight of a small stone beside me, I put out my hand, yawning to conceal my intention, let it fall on the stone and soon had it between the knuckle of my thumb and the point of my forefinger, as a boy holds a marble. Watching till the guard's head is turned, looking meaningly at Ginger, I fire the stone a short distance, hoping he will understand the word "ammunition." His face is a blank; it is evident that he does not know what I mean, and there is no prospect of his getting it through his thick skull.

Ginger turned away, and I knew that he was speaking to his young master; then Buck's white face showed itself inquiringly behind the negro's black one. I looked meaningly at Buck and repeated the motion of firing. He caught my meaning and, taking up a gun, made a motion as if ramming a cartridge, looking at me inquiringly. I indicated that he was right. He went away and after a long absence came back and held up four cartridges, two in each hand. Then, putting down the boxes, he held up three fingers, and I knew that they had secured three guns. He next held up four fingers of the other hand, pointing to the sleeping guerrillas, and I knew he proposed to get one more gun.

Buck was a long while capturing the fourth gun. One of the men awoke, yawned, sat up and looked into the fire, yawned again, lay down and was soon snoring. Then the guard got up from where he was sitting. There was a slight sound in the bushes, and he listened attentively. Then he put some wood on the fire and sat down again. He had scarcely seated himself before Ginger held up the fourth gun.



The guard opened his eyes and looked straight at me.

I moved slightly, showing my friends by my manner that I was about to try to get away. They appeared to understand and gathered up the guns, Buck taking one and Ginger three, doing all so silently that no sound reached even me. I waited, watching the guard intently till he should nod. I had no expectation of his going to sleep. I only hoped to free myself from my thongs before he should discover my movement. He nodded. I moved. He opened his eyes. I snored. He nodded again. I grasped the knife. Thoughtful Buck! He had opened the blade. Drawing up my knees, I cut the ropes that bound my ankles, then felt in my boot leg for the revolver. I was about to cock it when I remembered that the guard would hear the click. I thought I would conceal the sound by a sneeze, but a sneeze might disturb some of the band. The owl, which had for some time been silent, hooted. It usually gave three hoots in succession. I counted—one, two and at the third cocked my revolver. Through my half closed lids I cast a glance at the guard. His eyes were shut. I looked significantly at Buck and Ginger to show them that I was ready, then motioned them to go. Waiting long enough for them to put a few hundred yards between them and the camp and noticing that the guard's eyes were still shut, I prepared to follow.

THE LITTLE GIRL'S LONG COAT

The warm long coat is one of the indispensable garments in the little girl's wardrobe during autumn and winter, but to be quite acceptable to the wearer it must be in line with current modes—for even little girls nowadays are perfectly conversant with the trend of the fashion. The coat illustrated is one of the newest designs, and though its shaping is novel it presents no difficulties of construction which the home sewer cannot overcome. The coat is cut without underarm seams, the shaping being effected by means of an underarm piece, over which the side seams of front and back and the front extensions are lapped and stitched to position. A well-fitting shawl collar and a comfortable bishop sleeve complete this attractive garment, which may be modelled in broadcloth, cheviot or any of the modish coatings, 3½ yards 44 inches wide being required for the 10 year size.

Enjoyable Time Spent by Large Number Last Evening

The children of St. John's Sunday school gathered last night in the Sunday school, under the chairmanship of Mr. A. E. Poe, Superintendent, for an enjoyable evening on the occasion of their annual entertainment.

A varied programme consisted of moving pictures, kindly loaned by Mr. W. Edwards of the Crystal; choruses by the children, and the Eastern scene from "Story of the Star," by Ada Graham, Grace Dobson, Arthur Horsfield and Cyril Devey was well performed. A sleighing song and chorus, "Hurrah for the Sleigh Bells," in costume, with bell accompaniment, was an effective number by the choir boys.

Messrs. Coleman were engaged to supply refreshments and cake, chocolate and ice cream wound up a pleasant evening.

The children dispersed shortly before 10 p.m., after singing, "God Save the King."

Former Peterboro' Resident Writes Interestingly About the Holy Land

Dr. A. F. Grant, Who is Now Engaged in Mission Work in Egypt, Sends Fascinating Account of Travels Through the Holy Land—Description of the Land of Christ's Earthly Labors.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Grant, 506 Bolivar street, have received an interesting letter from their son, Dr. A. F. Grant, who is on the staff of the Presbyterian American Mission hospital in Egypt. Dr. Grant is well known in Peterborough, having attended the Collegiate Institute here. He is being assisted in this work by his wife, who before her mariage, was Miss Hopkins of Des Moines, Iowa. The letter is as follows:—

To the friends at home,—

We thought it would interest our friends to have a short account of our wanderings through Syria and Palestine, as the associations of these lands are particularly interesting to most people.

On the twenty-ninth of June we left Assiut, being booked to sail from Alexandria on the twenty-ninth, per S.S. Menzeleh, of the Khedevial Line. We went on board the steamer about four o'clock p.m., and one hour later we were out of the harbor and on our way to Port Said. The steamers of the Mediterranean are noted for their lack of comforts and their excellent equipments for the production of seasickness, and this line is no exception to the rule. It has this one advantage, that its rates are lower than the other lines. Our party consisted of five women and two men. All were very merry when we started, but before the arrival of supper time, several of our crowd insisted that their state rooms were much more comfortable than the dining room, and judging from the arguments to which they were giving utterance, they surely knew. The sea was not very rough, but five of our party succumbed to it, and although all meals were paid for in advance, throughout the whole journey they protested that it was much more blessed to give than receive, and consequently the fishes fed. They all agreed that it was the last time that they would be caught on the sea except in case of absolute necessity, and even proposed that we return by way of the land. Next morning we arrived at Port Said and remained there all day, sailing about six p.m. During the day the members of our party who had desisted from eating supper and breakfast stretched their principles of fasting sufficiently enough to appear at dinner, but as we sailed before supper they again returned to their former seclusion. We had expected to land at Jaffa, but as there had been several cases of bubonic plague at Alexandria, we had to be quarentined, and there being no quarantine station at Jaffa, we had to go to Beirut where we were allowed to land on Wednesday, July the third, after lying in the harbor two full days. Our first day—July 4—in Syria, was spent in visiting the American College—Syrian Protestant College—which was the best way we could think of for celebrating the Fourth. This college is a wonderful institution to exist in an eastern country. It was built, equipped and run by American money, except for the small amount that is taken in by way of students fees. The attendance for the present year was between eight and nine hundred, coming from all over the eastern world, including Egypt, Turkey, Greece, Armenia, and Syria and Palestine. The college buildings are in a large tract of forty acres in a good part of the new city. It has a preparatory department and a full four year collegiate course leading to the degrees of B.A. and M.A. It also has departments of medicine and pharmacy leading to respective degrees in each department. It has an excellent observatory and also an extensive museum filled with specimens of geological and biological interest especially to the Eastern world. The college buildings and equipment would be a credit to many of the American colleges.

Beirut is quite a centre of education. There are a number of other educational institutions and the Presbyterian mission has its headquarters there. Outside of these there is very little of interest in Beirut.

On Monday, the eighth, we left for the mountains stopping first at Aley, which is only 13 miles from the sea coast, but in that distance rises to a height of 4,600 feet above sea level. The ascent is made by a rack and pinion system railway and it is very interesting to watch it creeping up the side of the mountain. It takes two and a half hours to go this thirteen miles.

We were invited to stop here for a few days to visit Dr. and Mrs. Robinson and Dr. and Mrs. Harvey, the parents of Mrs. Robinson and pioneer members of our mission in Egypt. They were spending part of their summer here.

One of the chief delights of this place is the sunset view of the sea. And it was our good fortune to be there on a night when nature put forth her utmost to delight the eyes of those who are her admirers. As we sat on the verandah, lost in admiration of the grand display of sunset hues, all the tints that could be desired to please the eye, from the palest pink and rose, to deepest violet and purple, the mists rising every moment, rolling and rollicking in most graceful billows, reflecting all the beautiful colors of the sky, our amazement and wonder grew, as the scene varied and heightened in grandeur. On and on the clouds came, rising up over the land until they came up to our very door, rising, falling, intermingling and then separating, and the glorious colors all the time falling upon them, far over the distant peaks and outlining the point of land that holds the city of Beirut, making it seem in the fading light like a little triangle, as if it were a tiny field jutting out into the sea.

And so it passed; the beautiful grandeur of the sunset and the mists, the stars came out one by one, and our souls magnified Him who prepared the sight for His children.

From there we went on higher up in the Lebanon Mountains, until we reached nearly 5,000 feet at a distance of nineteen miles from the coast. Here we left the railroad and drove along the mountain side, winding back and forth as we descended or ascended. The scenery along the mountain side and down in the valley below is most beautiful. Here upon the mountain side is seen Nature in its most rugged form. Huge rocks, which look ready to fall and inaccessible cliffs are everywhere in evidence, while away thousands of feet below can be seen the fruitful valley with its small river fringed on either side by trees and joined at intervals by small rivulets, which dash down from a spring in the rocks above. At two or three places on this way we saw old fashioned flour mills turned by water wheels, while here and there through the valley we could see the little villages in which the people who till the land dwell. Every available foot of land is cultivated. Up the mountain sides as far as there is any clay, terraces are made with stones, until the whole side of the mountain looks like a great stair case. On these terraces are planted fruit trees, grape vines, grain, and in fact, everything which may be grown on a farm.

After three hours' drive we reached the small town of Ain Zahalta. This is a typical mountain district, the occupation of the people being chiefly herding sheep, and goats. Mulberry trees grow wild, and are raised in great profusion. The first crop of leaves is used for growing the silk worms and the second crop is used to "stuff" the sheep with. This process is rather interesting and amusing. The sheep are held, and the large leaves are stuffed down their throats. It seems to agree with the sheep, for they grow well and become very fat.

Here we experienced our first mountain climbing, and enjoyed it very much, one trip especially, a visit to the cedars of Lebanon. It was to this vicinity that Solomon sent for cedars to use in building the temple. They only grow very high upon the mountain side. The journey up was made on donkeys and took us three hours, but we came straight down the side of the mountain, which was very steep, and in this way we were able to make the return trip in much less time than it took to go. The cedars are very large, some being probably 8 yards in diameter. The trunk does not rise very high, but the branches cover an immense space, probably many of them would measure from 25 to 30 feet. On leaving Ain Zahalta, Baalbek was next place of interest visited, the ruins of which date back to a very early period. The ruins are well preserved, but the history is not very well known. It was first erected for the worship of Baal. The Greeks who identified Baal with their Sun God, Helios, changed its name to Heliopolis. The Romans introduced in their turn the worship of Venus and others of their gods, and the remains of all these deities can still be seen. The masonry of these old temples, is very remarkable, as an example, on the west side of the outer wall are 3 stones of following dimensions: The first sixty-four feet long, thirteen feet high, and ten feet wide, the second sixty-three and a half feet long, thirteen feet high and ten feet wide, and the third sixty-two and a half by thirteen by ten. All these stones were cut out of one solid piece of rock. How they were placed in position on a wall twenty-three feet from the ground remains a mystery. In the quarry some two miles distant is another stone hewn out, but still attached to the parent rock, which is larger than any of the above, its dimensions being seventy feet by fourteen feet by thirteen feet, its estimated weight being at least one thousand tons. These ancient people were certainly great builders. Continuing our journey in the direction of Damascus we passed successively through mountain and valley, sometimes following a stream, sometimes winding our way along a hitch cut in the side of a rocky mountain, and nearly all the time in full sight of Mount Hermon, whose top is always more or less covered with snow. Mount Hermon is thought by most modern authorities to have been the "high mountain," where the transfiguration took place. In the afternoon we emerged from the mountains, and away down below we could see Damascus and the fertile valley around it.

It would be difficult to imagine a more beautiful sight. The country for miles around the city, is covered with trees and vines, and in the centre can be seen the city, with its hundreds of minerets and spires. In the country which can be seen from the top of the mountain back of the city it is said that there are between three and four hundred smaller towns. Damascus is reputed to be the oldest city in the world. Josephus dates its existence prior to the time of Abraham. It is said to have been near Damascus that Cain slew his brother. Damascus is one of the few places in the Holy Land whose ancient glory has not faded and whose Oriental customs and appearance are much what they were centuries ago. Caravans come and go as in olden times. The bazaars are true types of the ancient Oriental bazaars. The arrangement of them is not miscellaneous, but each kind of goods is grouped by itself,—e.g., the the silk bazaar, boot and shoe bazaar, silversmiths' bazaar, coppersmiths' bazaar, etc. The latter is worth special mention. In America not much is seen of the kind of copper work that is done here, but it is very common in the east. All kinds of ornaments are made of brass copper and silver, such as vases, jardinieras, cups, plates, with the most exquisite filigree work on them. The work is done mostly by children, and among the hundreds of employees of the one factory we visited 50 per cent of them, must have been under ten years of age, and many of them not more than five or six, while some are only four. These little "tads" sit on little stools and hammer away for ten hours a day, and receive for their work about fifteen cents a week.

One of the great sights of the city from an historical point of view is the great Mosque. First it was a heathen temple, then in the time of Constantine it was converted into a Christian church. Above the south door of the church written in Greek is the following: "Thy kingdom, Oh! Christ is a kingdom of all ages, and Thy dominion lasts throughout all generations." Three hundred years later it was divided equally between the Christians and Moslems, then it finally in seven hundred and five passed into the hands of the Moslems and has so remained ever since. Inside they claim to have the head of John the Baptist. The mosaic in the floor and walls is very beautiful, and the interior of the mosque, although now in its neglected condition has few equals in the Moslem world. The rivers which Naaman the leper preferred to the Jordan, still flows through its streets, and although small, are the pride of all Damascenes. The street called Straight is of course pointed out to all visitors. It is doubtless the one or in the position of the street so named in the Bible. Although it is not exactly straight, it is remarkably so for a street in an oriental town. It is now covered from end to end with an arched roof, and has small shops on either side. It is not at all beautiful, but all along it are portions of the old colonnades which once adorned it. It is a full mile in length. Damascus is divided into quarters according to its population, thus there is the Christian, Jewish and Moslem quarters, etc. Other Biblical places pointed out were the house of Ananias, the house of Naaman, and outside the city wall a short distance is the place where St. Paul was said to have seen the "light." All these are only traditional and not at all authentic. On Tuesday morning we left our hotel for the station which we reached after an hour's drive, it being quite a distance outside the city walls. This was our first introduction to a Turkish railroad. The train was scheduled to leave at 7.30 o'clock, but with the usual Oriental delay it was about one hour later when the train pulled out. It seemed that the conductor knew that certain persons were coming, for he was always watching the road in the direction of the city, and as carriage after carriage came into view kept waving to them to hurry. That may be their way of doing business for one cannot account for anything among the Turks. However, after a great deal of waiting and a great deal of noise and what would be called fighting in America, but what in this country is only friendly conversation, the train took its departure for the south. We passed for a time through the fertile district surrounding Damascus, and after an hour or two we entered the lava district of the land of Bashan. This part of it is covered with broken pieces of black lava which came from some of the extinct craters in the adjoining mountains. It is a most dreary and bleak looking country, with almost no signs of life, either vegetable or animal. In the springtime of the year and following the early rains it may be different. Further south the aspect of the country changes and there is evidence of cultivation and the villages become more frequent. About noon we came to a station named Dera which is about one half mile from the ancient Edrei. Here our train left the main line which runs from Damascus straight south and is finally destined to reach Mecca, so that the Moslem pilgrims will be able to go all the way by train from Beirut. From Dera the road winds back and forth through the mountains, going constantly down. In one place just across on the other side of a narrow gorge, but down much lower we saw another railway track, and fully half an hour later we came to it after having turned and twisted in every direction. We kept on in this way all the afternoon, reaching Es Semakh on the Sea of Galilee about five o'clock. The country through which we passed was called the Land of the Gadarenes. From Es Semakh we took a sail boat and spent three hours getting across the lake to Tiberius, which is only a few miles distant, but as there was scarcely any wind we made very poor progress. The Sea of Galilee is said to be seen to best advantage either at sunset or at sunrise. As we started across just before sunset we saw it at its best. It is not a very large body of water—six miles at its widest and thirteen miles from where it is entered at the north, by the river Jordan, until it becomes a river again at the south. It does not appear to be half of this size, but being surrounded on all sides by mountains, it looks but a small lake nestling among the hills. It is 680 feet below sea level, and is of course very warm and sticky in July, and swarms with millions of sand flies and mosquitoes. We reached Tiberius about nine o'clock, and after considerable waiting we were served with the most foul tasting stuff that was ever graced with the name of supper.

In the morning we went to Capernium, or rather to the place where Capernium was supposed to have been located, and as the remains of a ruined Synagogue of magnificent proportions has been found there, it marks it as having been a town of some significance, and it is thought to have been the Synagogue built by the Roman Centurion mentioned in Luke VII, 4 and 5. If this was Capernium it was also the home of Jesus after He had been driven out of His home in Nazareth, and it must have been in this Synagogue that He gave the discourse on the "Bread of Life" mentioned in John VI., 1-59. Of the city itself nothing, scarcely, remains, except some very meagre ruins. Chorazin, two and a half miles north of here, and Bethsaida, not far distant, are also not recognizable, so that the words of Christ in Matthew 11, 20-24 have been fulfilled to the letter. Passing to and from Capernium we could see Magdala, the home of Mary Magdaline—the land of Gennesaret—the mountain called the Mount of the Beautitudes where was preached the Sermon on the Mount, and somewhere near this mountain was the scene of the feeding of the five thousand. Round this little lake nestling in the valley formed by the surrounding mountains, probably to the Christian world have happened more incidents of religious interest than in any other place in the world, except it be in Jerusalem. Here it was that Christ spent the greter part of His ministry on earth. Cast out of Nazareth, Capernium became his home. Most of the Apostles were chosen from round about this sea. The miraculous draught of fishes was taken from the waters of this lake. It was the fierce waves of this lake that Jesus quelled and upon whose surface He walked. Here the herd of swine ran violently down the steep place and was swallowed by its blue waves. It was from the Capernium that our Lord sent Peter to secure the fish in whose mouth was found the coin which was given as tribute money. Here He appeared standing on the shore shortly after His resurrection, and asked of His disciples "Children have ye any meat?" The following extract from Ritter Erdkunde is very appropriate. "This is a hallowed lake in the glorious land of Promise, and divine performance—the peaceful scene of the opening career of the Redeemer, the cradle of His teaching, the country of His disciples, His chosen retreat when He hid Himself from His foes; His miracles and His sublime lessons have consecrated these solitudes. The charm of this landscape is felt still in our own day, and is reflected in the simple story of the Evangelists. We are carried back to the life of its shores by the parable of the net, by that of the lost sheep, by the image of the sheep fold, and the beautiful lesson of the lillies. These flowers, more glorious than Solomon's purple, still abound. From Tiberius to Nazareth we rode in an American carriage drawn by three horses. The first hour we drove up a very steep mountain, and from the top was the most beautiful view imaginable. We had probably reached an altitude of two thousand feet above the Sea of Galilee, and there below the little sea as deep a blue as the sky above, surrounded by those rugged mountains. One was at once reminded of that beautiful song, "Blue Galilee," for no sheet of water could be bluer. Beautiful as the scene is, it has another interest, for here from the top of this mountain can be seen so many places intimately connected with the life of Christ, and we are now upon the very ground where much of His earthly activity was spent.

MODERN MEDICINES

No sane mother would wish herself treated under the conditions of medicine or surgery of half a century ago. Why then should she give her little one the old-fashioned medicines of half a century ago, which more likely than not contain poisonous opiates that cannot cure the child but merely drugs into temporary insensibility. Baby's Own Tablets is a modern medicine prepared with all the care and skill of modern medical science. And the mother who gives this medicine to her child has the guarantee of a Government analyst that it does not contain one particle of opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. This medicine cures all the minor ailments of little ones and makes baby a healthy, laughing, happy child. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. [illegible]

W. A. A. Drawing Competition

To be Held Among Pupils of City Schools—Entries Must be in by Feb. 28th.

The Peterborough branch of the Women's Art Association are denoting a medal for a drawing competition among pupils 16 years and under in the Public schools and Collegiate Institute of the city. The drawings to be entered must be pencil ones, and must be drawn directly from the objects. The work of the competitors must be unaided. All entries must be in by February 28th, when the winners will be decided.

This action on the part of the association to encourage art among the pupils of the city schools is one worthy of the highest commendation.

The new Unitarian Church of the Messiah in Montreal, costing over a million, was opened Sunday.

An advertisement containing particulars of the sale will be found in another column.

THE ROYAL BANK

In another column of to-day's Review will be found the report of the annual meeting of the Royal Bank of Canada. The tale told by the figures is one of continued expansion, development and careful, progressive management.

The net profits during the year were 19 per cent. of the capital — a most gratifying showing. The increase of $3,000.000 in current loans demonstrates that the bank has not hoarded its funds. The deposits also show a good increase—$800,000 altogether. The profits on the whole are the largest in the history of the bank and its liquid assets are equal to 52 per cent. of its liability to the public—an exceptionally favorable showing. Among the bank's shareholders are Mr. Richard V. Winch, of Montreal, son of Mr. R. J. Winch, of this city.

The usual additon of $20,000 has been made to the officers' pension fund, and a balance of $156 909.76 has been carried forward to the credit of profit and loss.

The employees have shared in the bank's prosperity, a general bonus of 10 per cent. having been declared by the board.

The shareholders of the Royal Bank are to be congratulated on the statement.

The Peterborough branch of the Royal Bank, under the able management of Mr. Vincent Eastwood, and his courteous staff, has built up a large and substantial business and has every reason to be proud of the satisfactory record. The local agency is constantly increasing its clientele.

Annual Meeting Friday Night

Hibernians Held Open Meeting

Provincial President Foy in Attendance—Installation of Officers

An open meeting of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians was held last evening in St. Peter's T.A.S. rooms. There was a good attendance. President-elect N. J. Bibby, occupied the chair and there was a fine programme of speeches and songs. Among those who occupied seats on the platform were Provincial President C. J. Foy, of Perth, and Rev. M. O'Leary, chaplain of the local division.

The Misses Torpey, Messrs. Torpey and Mahoney contributed an instrumental quartette, "Irish airs," in good style, and had to respond to an encore. Mr. Harry Quinlan ably sang "The harp that once through Tara's walls" while Miss Laura Torpey rednered "Love me and the world is mine." Both were loudly applauded. Provincial President Foy then installed the newly elected officers, after which instructive and appreciative addresses on the work of the Hibernian Order were given by Provincial President C. J. Foy, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Rev. M. O'Leary, Mr. N. J. Bibby and Mr. C. B. Murty.

A hearty vote of thanks moved by Mr. M. O'Brien and James Drain was accorded Provincial President Foy, who suitably acknowledged the same.

Funeral of Late Mr. Fairweather

Many Citizens Pay Their Last Tribute of Respect to the Departed

The remains of the late Jas. W. T. Fairweather, who passed away at his home on Thursday, arrived in the city on the noon C. P. R. train The funeral from the depot to Little Lake Cemetery was largely attended, many of Peterborough's most prominent citizens turning out to pay their last token of respect to the memory of the deceased. About sixteen of the late Mr. Fairweather's personal friends in Toronto accompanied the remains. Mr. Robt. Fairweather, brother of the deceased, was the only relative present. The pall bearers were Messrs. R. Hand Thos. Fortye, G. W. Hatton, Alex. Elliott, R R[illegible] and J. R. Stratton.

The floral tributes were beautiful and numerous, Rev. Robt. A. Pogue of St. Paul's Church conducted the service at the grave.

LEARN DRESSMAKING

We teach you everything from the plainest shirt waist to the most elaborate toilet that can be found in the fashion books We show you not only the lining but all the outer goods in coats, skirts, waists, wrappers, sleeves, children's dresses, collars, etc. Why spend months at a dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes? And then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. You will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year, than you did the first day you went there. So, why spend your time there when we can teach you in less than two weeks? You can come and try for a few days and if the course is not what we have advertised it to be you have the privilege to stop. As there is no pay in advance you certainly do not lose anything by trying. If you do not wish to be a professional dressmaker the cost is so small that you can well afford to take it up if only for your own use. We have taught over 7,000 in this way within the past five years.

Charge for full course is only $10, to be paid when through, including one of the most perfect fitting charts in use which we give free. An evening class will also be taught for the benefit of those that can not come during the day. In this class we will teach shirt waists, sleeves and saques. Terms $4.00. Hours from 7:00 to 9:30. We will teach at Peterborough from January 30 to February 7. Hours for day class form 8:30 to 5:00. For full information we would be pleased to have all those interested call and have the system explained to them at the Oriental Hotel, on Wednesday, January 29, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Early History of Peterboro; When City Was "Scott's Plains"

Interesting Paper Read by Miss Donoghue Before St. Peter's Ladies Literay—The Visit of the Prince of Wales in 1860.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary of St. Peter's T.A.S. was held in the assembly hall on Thursday evening, when an appreciative audience assembled to enjoy the excellent programme presented. Miss Vivian Donoghue was the essayist of the evening, and delighted the audience by the reading of a most interesting paper on "Early Days in Peterborough." The essay was an event of great interest to the literary element of the society, while the musical part of the programme, which supplemented the reading of the essay, was more than ordinarily pleasing.

The essayist in a delightfully interesting manner, introduced her subject, by referring to the contentment and happiness which characterized the lives of Peterborough's pioneer settlers, as related by some sweet faced old grandmother or some grey-haired old grandfather.

The history of the early days of Peterborough, which, the writer stated, seemed like some wonderful fairy tale, was then verry ably dealt with. As page after page is scanned, one is amazed at the energy, patience and perseverance displayed by the early settlers. They are like fairy godmothers and godfathers, working as a magic spell on the wilderness and changing it into a town full of life and vigor.

Beginning with the year 1818, when a small band of immigrants, braving the perils of the bush, found their way into the township of Smith, by way of Rice Lake and the Otonabee River, the audience was carried in imagination, year by year, from Peterborough's earliest settlement down to the present time, when it has developed into one of the most enterprising cities of the Dominion. Many very interesting, as well as amusing incidents, in connection with the hardships and privations of its early settlers, were very vividly pictured. By their untiring efforts, fostered with the desire of making homes for themselves, these handy men built houses, and "Scott's Plains," as it was formerly called, soon assumed a gay and lively appearance.

Among the many distinguished personages, continued the writer, who visited Peterborough during its pioneer days, was Sir Peregrine Maitland, to whom an address, telling him of the many hardships and difficulties which were being endured, was presented. To this His Excellency made a gracious reply, and promised the people assistance, which he did not fail to render. From this time on the prosperity of the town and the success of the adjoining settlements were fully assured. Mills were erected, railroads were built, and in the year 1854 the first train arrived in the city.

A never to be forgotten event in the younger days of Peterborough was the visit of the Prince of Wales in 1860. Nothing was spared to make his visit a most impressive one. The city was gaily decorated, and the immense crowd which assembled to greet the Prince, gave him a right royal reception.

The Catholic element of Peterborough, during its early days, stated the writer, was under the guidance of Rev. Father Butler, who was obliged to face all kinds of obstacles in order to perform his arduous duties. He passed away in 1853, leaving behind him a name ever to be loved and cherished by the Catholic people. He was succeeded by Rev. Father [illegible]. In 1851 Peterborough's first separate school was organized.

[illegible] the essayist stated that Peterborough in the year 1861 was visited by three severe fires, which left the greater part of the town a scene of desolation. New and better buildings were soon erected and the town assumed a more up-to-date appearance. Year by year improvements were made. Owing to the excellent water power various manufacturing concerns were induced to locate, and educational institutions of the best rank were constructed, banks and places of business were opened up and what was once known as Scott's Plains soon developed into what bids fair to be one of the most enterprising cities in the Dominion.

The essay was not only of a very interesting nature, with a number of passages of remarkable beauty and strength, but possessed that essential to the success of an essay, the enchaining of the hearer's attention until the last idea was exhausted.

The musical part of the programme was rendered in a most pleasing manner, the rendering of the parts being especially good.

THE PROGRAMME.

The following was the musical programme introduced by Miss M. Coughlin who occupied the chair for the evening:—

Instrumental solo—Miss N. Fitzgerald.

Vocal solo—Mr. Jimmie O'Brien.

Recitation—Miss A. Devlin.

Vocal solo—Miss N. Fitzgerald.

Irish airs, piano—Mr. and Miss Torpey.

Violin and Mandolin—Mr. and Miss Mahoney.

Vocal solo—Miss O'Dette.

Vocal solo—Miss Torpey.

The accompanistes of the evening were Mrs. Scott, Misses. Picard and Fitzgerald.

The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the national anthem.

The next meeting of the society will be held on Friday evening, January 24th, when essays will be read by the Misses McGrath.

N. B.—In addition to the many excellent books which are to be found on St. Peter's T. A. S. library, nearly two hundred new ones, by the very best authors, have been placed there during the past week, thus affording the library society the pleasure of perusing the very latest works.

PINK PILLS WILL CURE RHEUMATISM

Every Form of the Disease Yields to This Blood Building Remedy

It is easy to make the statement that a medicine will cure rheumatism, but the rheumatic sufferer must have more than mere statements—he must have both reasons and proof. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all forms of rheumatism. Here is the reason: Rheumatism is a disease of the blood. Every dose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new rich, red blood — This new blood drives out the poisonous acid, loosens the aching joints, and rheumatism is banished. Thousands have testified to the truth of these statements, and here is further fresh proof. Mr. Escol Montigny, of St. Jerome, Que., says: "For many years I was a victim of rheumatism and was almost a cripple. My work made it necessary for me to be on my feet a good bit of the day, but my limbs became so swollen and the pain so agonizing that I was forced to stop work. I tried remedy after remedy but nothing gave me relief and I began to think I would never get better. At last I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In less than a month I noted a slight change in my condition. I continued the Pills for three months and at the end of this time the swelling had disappeared; every pain and ache had left me and I felt better in every way. I was completely cured and once more able to go about my work with ease. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are certainly worthy all the praise I can give them."

Thousands write giving just as strong proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—not only as a cure for rheumatism, but as a cure for all the ailments finding their root in bad blood, such as anaemia, heart palpitation, indigestion, kidney trouble, headache and backache, disordered nerves, etc. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HISTORY OF TAPESTRY.

The Art Was Known to the Ancient Greeks and Egyptians.

Flemish artists are believed to have been the first to make tapestry for use as a covering for walls. The art itself is certainly very ancient, many of the hangings used in Egypt and Greece being considered true tapestry. Its subsequent history is obscure, but it evidently maintained a lingering existence in the east until the Saracens revived it and brought it to Europe. Tapestry was used by the Saracens only as drapery or curtains for the courts of their houses. Embroidery appears to have served for this purpose in northern Europe until after the twelfth century, and much of the work of this period was really embroidery, such as the incorrectly named Bayeux tapestry. It was in the fourteenth century that tapestry began to be largely made in Flanders, where the weaving industry became very important. At that time twenty-seven streets were occupied by the weavers of Ghent. In 1382 there were 50,000 weavers in Louvain and more still at Ypres. Very few samples of fourteenth century tapestry remain, but those that have come down to the present day closely resemble contemporary wall painting. During the latter part of the fifteenth century the golden age of tapestry existed, especially in Bruges and Arras. The Flemish tapestries of that time are models of textile art. The color is rich, the decorative effect strong, the drawing and composition graceful, and the whole arrangement shows consummate skill in endeavoring to meet the exigencies of the loom and at the same time the aesthetic requirements of wall decoration.—Argonaut.

COOLNESS IN DANGER.

Experiences of an English Military Official in India.

When Lieutenant Henderson was captured by the natives of the Gold Coast hinterland they got into a wordy discussion as to how they would kill him. The victim listened awhile till he was weary of it. "Oh, well," he said, "I can't be bothered with your arguments! I'm very sleepy. Let me know when you have made up your minds." And off to sleep he went. The unexpected performance saved his life. His calm indifference persuaded Samory's men that they had to do with some one of immense importance. Unwilling to take on themselves the responsibility for his death, they sent him unharmed to Samory's court, in the Jimini country.

Once again Lieutenant Henderson saved himself by a like exhibition of courage. He found Samory on a throne, surrounded by 4,000 warriors, yet when motioned to do homage on his hands and knees he did nothing of the sort. He simply sat on the throne beside Samory, shaking that monarch warmly by the hand. Thanks to this, and to nothing else, he was accepted as the representative of a great sovereign instead of a captive doomed to death. He talked to Samory of the queen, and Samory talked to him. Thus a mission which might have ended, as so many African missions have ended, in a terrible silence and a suspicion of unspeakable horrors, did, in fact, end in a valuable basis of future relations between Great Britain and a Mohammedan power.—London Scraps.

The Shape of the Sky.

What is the apparent form of the vault of the sky? There is probably no one to whose eyes it seems a true hemisphere, with the zenith appearing as distant as the horizon. At sea or in a flat country the seeming greater distance of the horizon is best shown. Professor J. M. Pernter in discussing this subject reaches the conclusion that the form of the vault in vertical section is that of the segment of a circle the arc of which subtends at the center an angle of the order of forty degrees. If the reader will draw such a segment he may be surprised by the amount of flattening which is thus ascribed to the sky. From this optical illusion many curious effects arise, such as the seeming increased magnitude of the sun and moon when near the horizon and the apparently oval forms of halos and coronas seen at low altitudes.

A Financial Episode.

A Milwaukee business man stepped up to the teller's window in one of the city banks during a financial flurry, presented a check and asked for the money it represented.

"I cannot give you the cash," said the teller, "but I can pay you in clearing house certificates."

"I would much prefer the currency," answered the man.

"The certificates are just as good," said the teller.

"Well," returned the merchant, "if that is the case I suppose I can go home to my baby and give it some milk tickets and say, 'Here, little one, these are just as good as milk!'"

Trimmings.

The other day at a golf club in Scotland a minister of the kirk was reproved by an elder in his church for using high flown words respecting a bad stroke he had made, and the minister replied:

"Weel, Dauvid, I was nae sae mich swearing as merely embellishing my feelings."

Shaky Logic.

"You certainly told me to embrace my privileges."

"Well, but I didn't tell you to embrace my daughter."

"No. But to embrace your daughter is a privilege."—London Express.

Enlarged Queen Alexandra School Opens on Monday

Enlarged to a ten room structure, the Queen Alexandra (north ward) school will be opened on Monday. The seats have been placed in position in the six new rooms and everything is in readiness for the pupils to take possession. The work of enlarging the school has been in progress for the past six months and it has been completed in remarkably quick time and so vast has been the alteration that the school is hardly recognizable as the old four room building. It has been furnished and equipped in the most modern manner

REV. ANDREW ALLAN

The Noted Scotch Evangelist Who Will Open a Mission at St. Andrew's, Tomorrow

Oration of Marc Antony Over the Body of Caesar

Friends, Tories, citizens, lend me your ears;
I came not to bury Nesbitt, but to praise him.
The evil that men do lives from eighteen months to a hundred years after them:
The good are often interred in registry offices,
So hath it been with Nesbitt. The stripling Geary
Hath told you Nesbitt was ambitious:
If it were so it was a grievous fault
And grievously hath Nesbitt answered it.
Here, under leave of Miles Vokes and the rest—
For Miles Vokes is an honorable man
So are they all, all honorable men—
Come I to speak at Nesbitt's funeral.
He was my friend, faithful and just to me;
Switching what business he could my way;
But Whitney says he was ambitious.
And Whitney is an honorable man.
When that the poor hath cried, Nesbitt hath vowed,
That he would spend his salary on herrings,
Pigs' feet and beer, if they would make him Mayor,
He put away nine thousand to take five.
Did that look like ambition, or subtraction?
Ambition should be made of sterner stuff.
Yet Hanna says he was ambitious,
And Hanna is an honorable man.
But yesterday the word of Nesbitt might
Have stood against Queen's Park: now lies he there;
And none so poor to do him reverence
O masters! O fractious Ward Associations!
O Central Executive and the Albany Club.
Oh, foolish! If I were disposed to stir
Your hearts and minds to mutiny, and rage
At giving Toronto a Grit Board of Control,
I should do Geary wrong, and Miles Vokes wrong,
Who, you all know are honorable men.
I will not do them wrong; I rather choose
To wrong Nesbitt, to wrong myself, and you,
Than I will wrong such honorable men.
I have overshot myself to tell you of it.
I fear I wrong the honorable men.
Who have given Nesbitt the hook. I do fear it.
If you have tears, prepare to shed them now.
You all do know this plug hat; I remember
The first time ever Nesbitt put it on.
Twas on the Twelfth of July, for the parade.
The day he came over us with his Nervy Eye.
Look! In this place felt Bristol's little brick.
See what a hole the envious Noble made.
This horrid dint was made by Dr. Pyne.
And here's where J. J. Foy lambasted it.
This rent is where Oliver kicked the crown in.
This gash in the side is Reggy Geary's work,
Mark how its shining form collapsed,
As if the wind were knocked clean out of it.
At sight of Geary, in that murderous punch
For Reggie, as you know, was Nesbitt's white-haired boy.
It was the Doctor taught him how to swim.
His was the most unkindest knock of all,
For when the Doc saw Reggie heaving rocks,
Ingratitude, more strong than traitor's arms,
Quite vanquished him. Then burst his mighty heart;
Veiling his face with what was left of his hat,
Sinking his teeth in his fat black cigar,
He passed away, speaking from the Mail window,
O, what a fall was there, Conservatives!
Then I and you, and all of us fell down,
And Oliver and Spence and Ward got in,
And a Board, four-fifths Grit, will run the town.
Good friends, sweet friends, let me not stir you up,
To any sudden flood of mutiny.
They that have done this deed are honorable.
Whether twas "Rockfeller's boy" that did it,
Or some loose word from the Doc, I know not,
They will, no doubt, with reasons answer you.
Why Nesbitt got it where the chicken got the axe
I come not, friends, to steal away your hearts,
I am no orator, as Geary is.
But just Steve Burns, plain barrister-at-law,
That love my friend, and do some fagging for him.
For I have neither wit, nor words, nor worth,
Action or utterance, nor the power of speech
To stir men's blood: I only speak right on.
But just remember what I'm telling you,
And let the bunch of prudes up in the Park
Take notice—this Doctor isn't dead yet.
Not on your tin-type.

THE COMET'S TAIL.

A Plume of Fairy Lightness and Ever Changing Dimensions.

A comet is distinguished usually by a nucleus, by an envelope called the coma, which surrounds the nucleus, and, last, by its luminous tail streaming behind the nucleus for perhaps a hundred million miles and more as the comet swims toward the sun. Occupying a volume thousands of times greater than the sun, the question naturally arises, how can a body with so vast an appendage sweep through the solar system without deranging every planet? Fortunately for the preservation of the solar system, a comet, so far from being a compact mass, is often transparent. Stars have been distinctly seen without perceptible diminution of brightness not only through the tail, but even through the nucleus. In structure the tail is a gossamer of molecules so ghostly that in comparison the flimiest of bridal veils is coarsely dense and the thinnest haze that hovers on the horizon is an impenetrable blanket. Indeed, the earth's atmosphere on the clearest day is far denser. Hundreds of cubic miles of a comet's tail are probably outweighed by a jarful of air. A plume of such fairy lightness can hardly be supposed to remain permanent, and so it is not astonishing to find that during its swift journey around the sun a comet's outlines are incessantly changing. An interval of a few days or perhaps of a few hours may work wonders in its diaphanous texture. Its path is its only permanent characteristic, indeed the only charcteristic by which it can be surely identified if it ever returns.

From all the known facts astronomers have concluded that the nucleus of a comet is merely a mass of meteors easily dispersed into small groups or distributed gradually along the orbit until eventually the comet is completely disintegrated and extinguished. Astronomical history offers considerable evidence in support of this hypothesis. Biela's comet, discovered in 1826 and carefully observed on each return, split into two parts and reappeared as a curious double comet in 1846. When it revisited the earth in 1852 the two parts had drifted away from each other and were separated about 1,000,000 miles. Since then the comet has disappeared. Every six and a half years the earth crosses the track of that lost comet. Meteoric showers then rain upon us. In these meteors we see all that is now left of Biela's comet. Similarly, the great comet of 1882 literally lost its head by breaking into four portions, each of which will some day form a separate comet. Another link in this chain of testimony is presented by the chemical composition of meteorites which have found their way to the earth, a composition which agrees exactly with that of a comet.—Waldemar Kaempffert in Cosmopolitan.

Beauty and Health in Fruit Juices.

Apple juice acts directly on the liver, increasing the flow of bile, and this bile, entering the intestines, causes the bowels to move regularly.

Orange juice softens and beautifies the complexion, stimulates the action of the skin glands, and thus assists in purifying the blood.

Figs and prunes—free of seeds and skins—soothe the stomach and bowels and strengthen the digestion.

Fruit juice is about 90 per cent. water and 10 per cent. solid. The solids are made up of nine-tenths sweet, and one-tenth bitter, material. It is this small quantity of bitter material that acts medicinally.

"Fruit-a-tives" — those wonderful tablets that are curing so many people—are the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes, concentrated and intensified. An Ottawa physician discovered a process, by which an additional quantity of the bitter principle of the orange peel could be forced into the juices. This formed a new compound—many times more effective as a medicine than the fresh fruit juices—and without any of the indigestible pulp or fibre. In order to further improve it, tonics and antiseptics were added and the whole compound made into tablets. These are "Fruit-a-tives"—the certain cure for Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headaches, Backaches, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Skin Affections. 50c a box; 6 for $2.50. Rightmeyer is Acquitted

On Charge of Seduction—Case Came up Before Judge Weller

Clinton Rightmeyer appeared before His Honor Judge Weller this afternoon on a charge of seduction, and was acquitted. Evidence was given by Pearl Longdo, the girl whom Rightmeyer was alleged to have seduced, her mother, who was the complainant in the case, and others. It will be remembered that Rightmeyer was committed for trial by Magistrate Dumble some time ago. Mr. R. Ruddy, Millbrook, appeared for the accused, and Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, conducted the prosecution.

How to Secure Good Farm Help

The Salvation Army Scheme of Immigration Outlined

During the past four years, the Salvation Army has succeeded in bringing to Canada a good class of farm laborers and domestic servants.

Notwithstanding the protest made in some sections of the country, that there is a surplus of labor, the Army officials find there is still a great demand for agricultural laborers, and they have found it necessary to charter several Ocean Liners to supply the need. The call for farm laborers comes from all parts of the Dominion, and now that the Ontario Government has decided not to continue supplying farm help, and as it is likely that immigration to Canada will not commence until late in April, the demand for settlers coming out under the Army auspices will be very great. The first chartered ship will be the "Kensington," sailing from Liverpool, Feb. 20th, for British Columbia points, followed by the "Southwark," on March 5th, for Ontario points; the "Ionian," from Glasgow, and the "Kensington," from Liverpool, on March 26th.

Farmers who have not made application for help for the coming season are advised to write for Application forms and further particulars to Lieut.-Col. Howell, 20 Albert street, Toronto, Ont. The class of immigrants supplied by the Army has given good satisfaction throughout the country, and the experience they have had in past years in this direction, will evidently qualify them for selecting suitable farm help this season.

Thaw Jury is Now Complete; Trial to Proceed at Once

Prisoner and Wife Well Satisfied With the Panel.

Much Nicer Than Last Year, Says Evelyn — Jury Consists Mostly of Business Men—All Middle-Aged or Over — Prisoner's Mother Ill at Pittsburg — Trial Commences on Monday.

New York, Jan. 11.—The second jury to try Harry K. Thaw for the killing of Stanford White was completed late yesterday and on Monday morning the prosecution will present its direct case against the defendant.

Five jurors in all were accepted and sworn at the morning and afternoon sessions. As a whole, the jury is made up of a most intelligent body of business men, most of whom are at middle age or over. When the panel had finally been completed, after many vexatious delays, and after the exercise of 23 peremptory challenges by the defence and 20 by the people, Thaw announced that he was entirely satisfied and in fact well pleased with the 12 men chosen. Young Mrs. Thaw, who has watched the selection of the jurors with the keenest interest, also declared that she was well satisfied.

"They are much nicer than the men selected last year," she said as court adjourned, and Thaw said that he echoed his wife's sentiments. The prisoner and his wife had an earnest five minutes' talk after the last juror had been sworn, and while the attorneys were conferring as to the appointment of a commission which will be sent to Pittsburg to take the testimony of Mrs. William Thaw, the mother, who is still too ill to come on to New York.

Assistant District Attorney Francis P. Garvin will make the opening statement for the prosecution, as he did at the first trial. He will not consume more than ten minutes, and it is said the state's direct witnesses will not occupy more than two hours. The defence will open Monday afternoon, Martin W. Littleton, Thaw's chief counsel, making the opening statement.

Lack of Room in Collegiate Inconveniences the Work

Annual Report of Mr. H. B. Spotton, Provincial Inspector of High Schools, Has Been Received—Recommends That More Time be Given to English Composition.

Mr. H. B. Spotton, Inspector for High schools and Collegiate Institutes of Ontario, has forwarded an extract of his report to the Department of Education relative to his recent visit to the local school. Considering the crowded conditions of the local Collegiate, Mr. Spotton reports the work being carried on very satisfactory.

Following is the report now in the hands of the secretary of the Board.

GRADING OF ACCOMMODATION.

The different accommodations are graded I, II, etc., and will be understood in the following:—

Water closets II.
Water supply I.
School grounds III.
School building II.
Halls I.
Waiting rooms III.
Cap rooms I.
Teachers' private rooms, II.
Desks, II.
Blackboards, I.
Lighting II.
Heating I.
Ventilation, I.
Gymnasium.

No changes have been made in the accommodations since last inspection, except that two class rooms in the King Edward public school building have been rented for the use of the two commercial forms. On account of the distance between the two buildings this arrangement necessarily entails a good deal of inconvenience and injuriously affects the organization to some extent. The fine new institute building is making satisfactory progress and will no doubt be ready for occupation in September next.

In the meantime I have simply confirmed the grading as at last inspection.

Since last inspection additions of $15.00 for the library, $220 for typewriters and $75 for the museum have been made. A fine collection of stuffed birds had just been added to the equipment and will unquestionably be found of great service in connection with the work in Biology.

ORGANIZATION.

Ratio of pupils to teachers about 34.1.

Division of duties among the teachers is satisfactory.

Inspector Spotton suggested that an additional period per week be alloted to English composition throughout the school. The time for oral reading should also, owing to the large classes, be somewhat increased to meet the requirements of the regulations. In French he suggests an increase of time in Form II. The time proportioned to arithmetic, he says, is too large. There are difficulties in the way of the most effective organization he states, on account of the unsatisfactory accommodations and the consequent crowding of some of the classes.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Staff. Mr. Harvey holds an interim certificate, which requires to be extended.

Discipline—Very satisfactory.

Attendance—All properly admitted.

Text Books—All authorized.

Registers, daily—Satisfactory; general, not yet fully entered up, but will be by close of term.

English Literature Texts in lower school—Sufficient provision.

Sight translation in Latin, French, and German.—Sufficient provision.

School flag—In good condition.

Class room decorations.—None.

Fire drill—None as yet.

As this was his first visit of inspection he did not grade the teaching in detail. In general the work of the teachers he pronounced very satisfactory.

CHARACTER OF PUPILS WORK.

Inspector Spotton gives the following statement of the work of pupils whom he examined:—

READING.

Pupils last admitted, examined 63 good 7; fair 18; poor 8; bad 0.

Other pupils. Examined 28; good 5; fair 15; poor 8; bad 0.

Writing of last admitted pupils: A fair average. Writing is exceptionally well taught in this school.

Bookkeeping sets satisfactory so far as examined.

Work in Art. Very satisfactory in quality. Care must be taken that the course shall be covered.

Note Books in Science—The notes as far as they go, are satisfactory, but do not show that the entire ground has been covered either in the first or second year. He suggested the advantage of having some uniform style of note book.

Drill, calisthenics and gymnastics not inspected.

SPECIAL REPORT.

Candidates for admission to the Normal school will be admitted to the exams of 1908, if the principal feels justified in certifying to their proficiency in the subjects enumerated in reg. 6, circulation 19.

In the meantime all necessary care should be taken to meet the requirements of the regulations, so that the school may be in the "Approved list" next year.

The school is of course being conducted under great disadvantages. The accommodations are unsatisfactory and some of the classes are quite too large for effective teaching. Inspector Spotton expressed his pleasure with the intention of making a better distribution of the attendance and of adding to the staff when the new building is occupied.

He predicts an era of great prosperity for the school in its handsome new quarters.

Closing Meeting Week of Prayer

St. Paul's Church Was Well Filled Last Night

The closing meeting of the most successful and largely attended week of prayer ever observed in Peterborough was held in St. Paul's church last evening.

The auditorium was well filled and the service was deeply spiritual in character.

Rev. Canon Davidson presided. The choir led in the singing, and during the evening after a short address by Mr. Dumble, a collection was taken, the proceeds of which will be handed over to the Children's Aid Society. Miss Helen Davies contributed a solo in splendid voice.

Prayers were offered up for the success of missions, missionary workers and helpers, and for the spread of Christ's kingdom on earth, by Revs A. H. Brace, C. H. Coon, Robert Pogue J. R. Webb, J. G. Potter and H. J. Keith.

Rev H. M. Manning delivered an impressive address on "The Sinless Future." The meeting closed by all singing "Blessed be the Tie That Binds," prayer by Rev. Canon Davidson, and the benediction pronounced by Rev. J. R. Webb, president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association.

BAD WRECK DOWN SOUTH.

Five Killed and Two Injured In a Head-on Collision.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 11.—A special from Vinegar Bend, Ala, tells of a disastrous wreck on the Alabama & Mississippi Railroad yesterday, caused by a head-on collision between a passenger train and a logging train. Five persons were killed outright, and two were seriously injured.

The dead: W. B. Paine, merchant, Vinegar Bend; Charles C. Busbee, a section foreman; three negroes, names unknown.

The worst injured: Frank Marks, engineer of the passenger train, will die; Henry Hall, fireman of the passenger train, seriously injured.

Twelve miles west of Vinegar Bend the road turns sharply at a trestle over a ravine. Simultaneously with the collision the trestle gave way and both trains fell to the bottom of the ravine. On the logging train were a number of convicts.

Bullet In Barber's Shop.

Vienna, Jan. 11.—Vodenicaroff, an inhabitant of Decmen, in Hungary, yesterday revenged himself on a rival in love name Saroff in a manner which proved fatal to a number of other persons.

Fearing to attack Saroff openly, Vodenicaroff watched him enter a barber shop. He then fired at him through the window with an old blunderbuss pistol filled with pieces of lead.

The shower of bullets killed not only Saroff as he sat in the barber's chair, but also the barber who was shaving him, and wounded five other persons who were in the shop, some of them fatally.

Woman and Horse Over Cliff.

Lucknow, Jan. 11.—An amazing escape from death is reported from Binsur, in the Kumaon district of the Himalayas.

A woman from Ranikhet was riding along the Dhaulchina road when her horse shied at an unprotected part, and horse and rider fell sixty feet down a precipice to a ledge below. The horse rolled over and was dashed to pieces farther down.

The woman was afterwards found on the ledge, and was so little injured that she was able to walk home.

Buncoed Out of $320,000.

Paris, Jan. 11.—An engineer named Le Moyne has been arrested on the charge of obtaining, under false pretences, $320,000 from Sir Julius Wernher, a director of the De Beers Co., on a process for the manufacture of artificial diamonds which, the police assert, was nothing more than clever sleight of hand.

Government Monopoly of Wireless.

Berlin, Jan. 11.—The Government has sent a bill to the Reichstag, revising the telegraph laws. It provides for a Government monopoly in the erection of wireless stations.

Shipwrecked When a Boy.

London, Jan. 11.—Mr. John Christie, an ex-mayor of London, and the largest property-owner in the city, died yesterday morning in his 87th year.

When a child of 4 years he was wrecked in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and rescued by the late Sam Stewart of London, who swam ashore with him. Two sisters perished in the wreck.

Chicago's Unemployed.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—The Inter-Ocean yesterday says that a careful canvass of the labor situation in Chicago reveals the fact that there are in the city 138,050 idle working people. There are nominally 50,000 men out of work at this season.

Anti-Foreign Movement.

Pekin, Jan. 11.—Further reports of the rioting at Kiausingfu, a town in the Province of Chekiang, declare the movement there to be anti-foreign.

SPORTING NEWS

UP TO THE MANAGEMENT

[illegible] beaten by 6-4 on their own [illegible] not augur well for the [illegible] hockey team.

However, although the milk has been spilled it is not too late to mop it up. Playing as they did last night the locals can't expect to go very far in the district. Peterborough has material to place a much stronger team on the ice than the septette that met [illegible] Lindsay and the Strathcona management should get busy, and [illegible] up the outfit.

[illegible] the forward line needs some[illegible] who can shoot. Harry Morgan is the man wanted and he should be got out at once. That forward line wants some bolstering up and Morgan's presence would be a big improvement.

"Jakey" Moore is wanted on the defence. Glover was the only man who could stop the Lindsay forwards last night. One man can't do it all, however. Without Glover the score would have been 15 to 4, or worse, perhaps.

The Peterborough public will only support a winning team and the Strathcona management should lose no time in putting one on the ice. The material is in the city.

THINK IT OVER YOURSELF

The major portion—the ruling element—at a hockey match furnishes a good example of a bunch lacking in knowledge and a sense of fair play. [illegible] notice it? Every team seems to have a certain following that are blind to any merit in possession of the opposing team, individually and collectively.

They hiss when the referee stops the play, when the chances are bright for their favorites to score—stops it because an offside has occurred that [illegible] a man blind in both eyes couldn't [illegible]. They groan when one of their [illegible] is ruled off for a clear breach of the rules, and shout "rotten" and other vile things at the man with the bell.

There is no need for such conduct on the part of spectators. Everything that is good doesn't grow in Peterborough, or Lindsay, or Toronto, or any other place on the map. The referee knows his business a good deal better than a bunch of prejudiced supporters and he doesn't deserve hisses for trying to see fair play and a square shake for both teams.

Neither is there occasion for spectators going into ecstasy when an opposing player is sent to the fence. To score when the other side is a man short is not half as creditable as to do so when playing man for man. To be joyful because the other side is at a disadvantage does not show a very high ideal of good sportsmanship.

Hissing should be cut out at hockey matches. A "dirty" player is the only one deserving of hisses, but the referee can attend to him and the crowd can keep its breath for some more profitable occupation.

By all means support your own team, but don't think they are the only ones that even came down the pike.

Lindsay Midgets Defeat Straths in Opening O.H.A. Game by 6-4

First Contest in Which Locals Figure Results in Defeat for Them—At Half-time Tally Was 3-3—Lindsay Has Fast and Well Balanced Aggregation, Playing Good Combination Game.

The Lindsay Midgets can play hockey. They demonstrated that last night, when they defeated the Peterborough Strathconas in the opening game of the season by a score of 6—4. Just because the seven that [illegible] from the Strathconas comes from Mudville is no reason why their playing ability should not be recognized. The Midgets have a cracking good defence, and a forward line that is fast, both individually and in the matter of combination. The Lindsay men, from the point up, are for the most part, dangerous shots. Combining this with speed and good judgment, the wearers of the blue and white present a line-up that is at once formidable and dashing. They played a clean article of hockey last night and are a decided credit to the burg with the big main street. The Strathconas also played the game well and with a little more organization the work of the forward line should be able to give the Midgets a run for their money on their own ice. Individually they are strong and game, but their team work was not as good as that of their opponents. The locals showed plenty of speed, and at some stages of the game it looked as though they had a good chance to win.

THE GAME.

The game opened at 8.35 by Mayor Rush dropping the puck between Lane and Dobson. A few preliminary rushes followed, taking in the entire sheet of ice, during which several offsides occurred. Two hot shots were stopped by Newton in the Lindsay nets. Another face-off was necessary and Weatherstone got two minutes for tripping. Two more offsides at center and Lindsay got busy with a good combination and stormed Peterborough's goal. Parnell got away with a rush and shot from side but Newton was on the job and stopped the rubber. After a good combination play the Peterborough forwards lost the rubber and Lindsay walked it right back for a high shot. A mixup occurred to left of Lindsay goal and Cotey got away after the face-off but lost the rubber and Stoddard was offside. Dusty got two minutes for a hard check. Peterborough forwards got in Lindsay's territory, but the Midgets again retaliated, this time for the first score in twelve minutes.

Things got warmer and Cotey was sent to the boards for two minutes for mixing things. Koyle got away and passed to Lane who located the net for number two in 1 1-2 minutes.

Peterborough forwards began to take notice and rained in several shots but luck seemed not to favor them till Parnell tried from center and hit the right spot, after 1 1-2 minutes, making the score 2—1.

Koyle got away with an individual dash but was held up by Glover. Randle made a long shot, but Derocher was in the way. Koyle tried his luck for another and again Derocher was there with the goods. Parnell took a chance but was offside. Stoddard was the next to make a try and after a brilliant dash took his chance from center. On the rebound from goal, somebody got off side and the puck was placed in Glover's territory. Cotey broke loose and cleared well for a long dash, passed to Stoddard, who raised the tally to 3—1 in 12 minutes.

Dusty got one in half a minute by scoring on an individual rush.

Cotey and Dusty mixed it in the corner and both got give minutes on the boards.

Two more offsides and Weatherstone had trouble with his skates and had to retire Cotey going off to even up.

Lindsay got another start but but Glover busted their line, and Koyle was offside. Parnell cleared and passed to Dobson who returned the disc and a moment later Parnell made the score read 3—3. The first half was ended before anything further happened.

HALF TIME.

Glover started fast in the second half and displayed some of his old time form but could not score. Two minutes passed and Cotey located the net again, and the score read 4—3.

Parnell started well but got two minutes for tripping. Five offsides occurred in regular order. The game warmed up for a while and Peterborough forwards did some shooting, but could not score. Newton made a good stop from center and after a scrimmage in front of goal Randle moved off towards the Peterborough end. In the checking by the defence the puck was consigned to the balcony. Parnell was again penalized for five minutes. Newton made a good stop from Glover, and the puck traveled to Peterborough's ice again. Derocher made good when Stoddard swatted the disc in his direction. The puck got on forbidden ground twice and then Lindsay scored again on a combination play between Randle and Cotey in 11 minutes. Score 5—3.

Glover placed one in half a minute, making it 5—4, and the game got warm again.

Cotey found the net for Lindsay's last in three minutes. Several offsides made the spectators restless as there was only a few minutes to play. Dusty was sent home for mixing with his check and a little later the game ended with Lindsay the victors by a score of 6—4.

The line-up was as follows:

Lindsay.		Peterborough.
	Goal.
Newton		Derocher
	Point.
Koyle		Glover
	Cover.
Sullivan		Meagher
	Rover.
Cotey		Dusty
	Center.
Stoddard		Dobson
	R. Wing.
Lane		Parnell
	L. Wing.
Randle		Weatherstone.

Goal umpires—Rielly and Kendry.

Timekeepers—F. Taylor and C. Barber.

Referee—W. P. Irving, Toronto.

PUCKLETS.

One of the biggest cheers of the night greeted Mayor Rush when he faced the puck at the commencement of the game.

A big crowd of rooters accompanied Lindsay and made their presence known whenever the Scugog boys scored.

Manager "Goosie" Taylor acted as timekeeper and was tickled to death with the result.

HOCKEY

The barbers challenge the printers to a game of hockey, to be played on Mondayor Tuesday night.

ACCEPT CHALLENGE.

The G.T.R. depot office staff accepts the challenge of the C.P.R. to a game of hockey, at a date convenient to both teams.

An Interesting View on Athletics

The following letter from H. F. Porter, the high jumper, who joined the Irish-Canadian A.C. last week, in Toronto is self-explanatory;

The name of the writer has frequently been coupled with Christian Science in connection with athletics, and in a New York daily recently, what purported to be an interview with him was published, in which he ascribed his success to his belief. It was also stated that "He does no training for his special event, relying altogether on the tenets of his faith."

It will be needless to state to those who are familiar with the facts, or who comprehend the principles of Christian Science—that the statements accredited to the writer have no authority whatever, and are conceived evidently in a well-meaning spirit, they nevertheless show a misapprehension of the fundamental concepts of Christian Science.

In justice therefore, and to correct false impressions, he is constrained to offer a reply. In what follows he will endeavor to show the relation of Christian Science to athletic accomplishment, as it appears in the light of his experience.

It is true that an understanding of the principles of Christian Science does help in athletics—as it does in every problem of life. It helps because it reveals how to apply correct and exact thinking to every situation, and thus to realize, proportionately as one's thoughts are right, a speedy and harmonious solution.

A working knowledge of Christian Science, however, does not constitute a means for mere winning—for bare personal triumph. On the contrary, to attempt to use one's knowledge of this teaching to further selfish purposes—"to won by concentrating one's mind on winning"—is distinctly a misapprehension and contravension of its subfimest principle—the principle of personal sacrifice and unselfish endeavor. As a matter of fact, in an athletic performance, to hold the idea of winning over personal rivals, so-called, is the acme of selfishness and the antidote of true sportsman spirit, not to mention Christian Science. All will agree that the true spirit causes the performer to lose sight, as such, of competitors and prize alike, in the burning desire to do one's best and in the broad charity that wants all to do well—the very best—andthe best man to win. It is this attitude of mind that brings out so-called spontaneity, and all athletes will agree that their "off-hand performances, without malice aforethought" are ever their best. It is "when they didn't care," or "didn't expect to" that they surprise both themselves and the world. There must be a reason, and there is."

Remanded on Forgery Charge

Frank Hamilton Appeared Before Magistrate Edmison Yesterday

Frank Hamilton, who is charged with forging a cheque for $50 on the Cavendish Lumber Company, appeared before County Police Magistrate Edmison, in custody of County Constable Moore yesterday. Hamilton says he is not guilty of the charge, and claims that his arrest is due to a case of mistaken identity. He claims to have no knowledge whatever of the forged cheque. The Magistrate remanded him for a week.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The meeting for men and older boys will be addressed tomorrow at the Y.M.C.A. at 4 p.m., by the Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church. The Coleman brothers' quartette will sing.

The usual song service and talk around the fire in the parlor will be continued from 8.30 to 10 p.m.

A Happy 1908

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro' our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Yours very respectfully,
J. W. BROWETT

Bright Boy.

"What is the worst thing about riches?" asked the teacher of the juvenile class.

"Their scarcity," promptly answered the bright youth at the head.

Truth is as impossible to be soiled by any outward touch as the sunbeam.—Milton.

Snakes With Toothache.

The snake tore about its cage in a frenzy. It lashed the glass viciously with its tail.

"That's Joe's way o' swearin'," said the keeper. "He's got toothache."

"Toothache?"

"Sure. Snakes suffer turrible from toothache. They're so reckless, ye see, with their fangs. They jab 'em into anything—shoe leather, wood, iron bars. They take no care of their fangs at all. In fact, there had oughter be a snake dentist to give his mates lectures on fang hygiene. Monkeys suffer from consumption. Consumption, too, carries off lots of our deer and antelope. Camels in captivity are subject to the asthma, elephants to rheumatism, tigers to indigestion and eagles and vultures to melancholia."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"The Worst Snow Storm That We Have Had in Two Years" Says Nightwatchman Finnie

"This is the worst snow storm that we have had in two years."

That is the verdict of Nightwatchman Finnie, and he ought to pretty nearly know. Mr. Finnie says he has had a hard time making his way through the heavily drifted highways, and in the yards of the places of business he has had to go through to try the rear doors.

SNOW KING'S DAY.

Mr. Finnie, talking to a reporter, remarked that every storm this year that was of any size happened on Saturday or Sunday. This is peculiar, but if you put on your thinking cap, you will find it to be true. The nightwatchman stated he found it a very difficult task ploughing his way through many of the yards and and his cane sank right up to his hand in a large number of places so deep was the snow. He said if the storekeepers and business men would shovel a path to their back door when there was a particularly heavy fall of snow, it would help him a great deal when he was making his rounds.

About That Storm Yesterday; Fortunate it Was Sunday

Snow Ploughs, Street Car Sweepers and Locomotive Ploughs Kept Busy—Everything in Normal Condition Again To-day—Snow Fell to a Depth of 12 Inches on the Level.

The storm of this winter and in fact of two winters struck Peterborough early Sunday morning.

The snow fell continuously for hours, but fortunately the storm took place on Sunday. It had the drawback of keeping people away from church, to be true, and is in itself a regrettable feature, but on account of it being Sunday none of the street cars were run, the stores were not open, no persons went back and forth from work, the delivery rigs were not employed and the trains on the railway lines were few and far between.

The snow ploughs in the various parts of the city were out early, and though they were up against a difficult task, did highly creditable work.

The street railway sweeper and snow plough had a busy day of it, and were kept going from eight o'clock this morning and all through last night. The loud hum of the sweeper was heard all day and this morning at six o'clock the cars started out on an absolutely clean track. As there has been no snowfall to-day the street car service has been prompt. The track cleaners had a hard time making the way clear yesterday, however, as the tracks were badly blocked and seemed almost impassable in some places.

On the railways the ploughs were kept continuously engaged and the express trains were very little behind scheduled time on either the C.P.R. or G.T.R. Their running so close to scheduled time is due to the fact that ploughs had a chance to make the way clear. Yesterday morning the C.P.R. from the west was only ten minutes late in spite of the storm.

The Bell Telephone system in this district was not in any way affected by the storm, although the wind wrought havoc to the system in several places, wires being blown down and some lines being consequently put out of commission. In the Cobourg and Port Hope districts and up west through Toronto the effect of the high wind was particularly felt.

Snow fell to the depth of twelve inches on the level, but on account of the wind there was considerable drifting off the roads and sidewalks. The latter are in good shape for walking to-day, however, and the roads with a little more traffic will be in good shape for sleighing.

Alberta collects $121,810 in taxes on C. P. R. branch lines in that province.

A HEALTHY OLD AGE

OFTEN THE BEST PART OF LIFE

Help for Women Passing Through Change of Life.

Providence has allotted us each at least seventy years in which to fulfill our mission in life, and it is generally our own fault if we die prematurely.

Mrs. M. J. Dabbruzz

Nervous exhaustion invites disease. This statement is the positive truth.

When everything becomes a burden and you cannot walk a few blocks without excessive fatigue, and you break out into perspiration easily, and your face flushes, and you grow excited and shaky at the least provocation and you cannot bear to be crossed in anything, you are in danger; your nerves have given out; you need building up at once! To build up woman's nervous system and during the period of change of life we know of no better medicine than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here is an illustration. Mrs. Mary J. Dabbruz, of 150 Main Street, Winnipeg, Manitoba, writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a blessing to me through that delicate period known as the change of life. For six years it disturbed my entire system. I had hot flushes, was extremely nervous, became pale and debilitated, very irregular in the monthly flow, and the blood all seemed to be in my head. I had frequent palpitation and throbbing of the heart; in fact, my whole system seemed to be in disorder.

"I received no relief from the suffering incident to this period until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; but I date my relief from the time I took the first bottle. I gradually improved, nature took her course painlessly, and in due time I was a well woman."

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick and ailing women to write her for advice. Her great experience is at their service, free of cost.

TO SAFEGUARD PASSENGERS.

Railway Board Issues Several Drastic Orders.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—The board of railway commissioners for Canada has promulgated a series of orders for the safety of passengers traveling on railways within the board's jurisdiction.

It is provided that every passenger car must be equipped with a fire extinguisher at each end of the car. The extinguisher must be of the latest approved pattern and be inspected and recharged once every six months.

Another requirement is that wooden trestles must be inspected after the passing of every train, if possible. There shall be an inspector for every five miles of track, if such inspector is provided with a track bicycle; if not, there shall be an inspector for every two and a half miles. This inspection shall be done from May to September inclusive.

Also, it is provided that there shall be a barrel of water at each end of a trestle and the ground beneath shall be kept free from leaves.

Mixed Marriages Refused.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—No less than 15 applications to autherize mixed marriages have been refused by the Roman Catholic religious authorities in this diocese since the archbishop issued his letter on the subject a few weeks since. This information was obtained in a sermon which Canon Gauthier preached in the cathedral at high mass yesterday morning.

The preacher of the day announced that his grace had refused ecclesiastical sanction to 15 of these intended unions, 12 of which were from persons in the lower walks of life, and three had been from couples occupying high social positions in the community. He said reference was made to this particular phase of the question in order that the faithful might understand that no favor could be shown when the salvation of souls was at stake.

To Prison For Life.

Detroit, Jan. 13.—"I sentence you to Marquette Prison for the remainder of your life. How old are you, Lawrence?"

"Twenty-three, your honor."

With these words closed the trial of Thomas Lawrence, the negro whom a jury in Judge Phelan's court, after deliberating 10 hours, found guilty of holding up and brutally beating Emma Clark and her companion, Prudence Brown, and shooting at the man who came to their assistance, on the night of Dec. 31.

Missionaries Safe.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The State Department is informed in a despatch from Consul-General Denby at Shanghai, China, dated Saturday, that the American Presbyterian school property was destroyed as a result of tax riots in Northern Chikiang, but the missionaries are safe. He also states that protection is promised them by the Chinese authorities.

Panic in Public Hall and Large Number Meet Death

Sixteen Children Crushed to Death in Mad Rush.

Forty Others Severely Injured, Some Fatally—Terrible Scene at Entertainment In Barnsley, England—Staircase Piled Up With Dead Bodies—House Was Overcrowded—Awful Result of Struggle For Better Seats.

Barnsley, England, Jan. 13.—Sixteen children were trampled to death, and forty others, several of whom cannot live, were injured in a mad rush for better seats at an entertainment given in the public hall here Saturday afternoon.

There was a great crush to secure admittance to the entertainment, and when the show opened every seat was taken and the gallery was literally packed with children, who filled the aisles and were dangerously massed against the lower railing.

With a view to relieving this crowding in the gallery, the attendants decided to transfer some of the children to the body of the house, and one of the ushers called out: "Some of you children come downstairs."

Immediately the rush started, and within a few seconds hundreds of children were being trampled under foot. Even those who had seats in the gallery, doubtless being panic-stricken by the screams and struggles of the crowd fighting to reach the staircases, joined in the stampede.

The scene was a terrible one, the cries of the injured and the moans of the dying causing the greatest excitement among those gathered in the body of the hall.

Police and ushers rushed to the head of the staircase, which was literally strewn with dead and dying, and by the most desperate effort managed to drag scores of the struggling children to the corridors below. It was with the greatest difficulty that a panic among the children in the lower part of the house was averted, all of these eventually being taken to the streets in safety.

When the reserve police arrived they found the narrow stairway practically blocked with bodies, which were crushed in some cases almost beyond recognition. Scores of children were forced by the pressure from the crowd behind them to scramble over those that had fallen, whether living or dead, and many of the injured children were found later to be suffering from fractured bones and severe lacerations, caused by the indescribable manner in which they had been trampled upon.

Soon after the accident the approaches to the hall were crowded with sobbing women searching for their missing children.

Two Are Instantly Killed; Railway Wreck Near Chatham

An Express Train Dashes Into Wagon at Cedar Springs.

Samuel Crouch and Daughter Victims—Aged Farmer Also Receives Fatal Injuries—Both Horses Killed and Vehicle Demolished — Occupants Were Thrown Thirty Feet—Flag Station Obstructed View.

Chatham, Jan. 13.—A serious accident occurred at the Pere Marquette crossing at Cedar Springs Saturday night, about 6.45, when No. 4 express, bound from Walkerville to London, in charge of Engineer Bert Smith and Conductor Crouchman, smashed into a light democrat in which were seated Samuel Crouch, aged 62 years; his daughter, Jennie, aged 20 years, and David Toll, aged 72.

The party was returning home after attending the Chatham market. Mr. Crouch and his daughter were instantly killed. Mr. Toll was seriously injured, and, it is thought, will not recover. Both horses were killed and the democrat was completely demolished.

The engine struck between the horses and the democrat. The occupants of the rig were thrown about 30 feet, the girl being carried farther on down the track. Mr. Toll's injuries consist of a broken arm, hip broken at the socket, nose broken and several cuts on the face and body, besides severe internal injuries. He was immediately taken to Dr. Hank's office in Blenheim, but he has not regained consciousness since the accident. Crouch was a laborer and Toll one of the most prominent and wealthy farmers in this country. Dr. R. V. Bray of this city, the Pere Marquette surgeon attended Mr. Toll in Blenheim.

The Cedar Springs flag station is situated on the right of the road, and was between the unfortunate party and the on-coming train. It is thought that the party in the rig thought the train would stop at the station, so tried to cross the track. Either that or they were muffled up on account of the coldness of the night and did not hear the whistle or the bell. The track at this point is straight and unobstructed for two miles on either side of the crossing. Crown Attorney H. D. Smith has ordered an inquest, which will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, in Blenheim.

A CLEVER SWINDLER.

Secured Large Advance From De Beers' Diamond Magnate.

Paris, Jan. 12.—Considerable amusement is caused here by the revelations of the police proceedings against a well-known Parisian sleight-of-hand man and juggler who has recently been figuring as a chemist. He not only claimed that he had discovered a scientific method of making artificial diamonds, but he even succeeded in obtaining from Sir Julius Wernher of the De Beers Co., an advance of $320,000.

The swindler, whose name is Lemoine, simply placed real diamonds in his electric oven, and by sleight-of-hand manipulation produced them as the result of his alleged chemical methods. The swindle was detected, however, by one of the representatives of Sir Julius Wernher, who secretly placed a cut diamond in Lemoine's electric crucible, whereupon Lemoine handed over the cut diamond among the others that he claimed had been made in his oven.

Lemoine persisted in maintaining great secrecy in regard to his formula, which, he asserted, had been deposited under seal in the Bank of England, not to be opened until after his death. It was against this formula that Sir Julius Wernher advanced Lemoine $320,000. The money was regarded by the adroit "scientific" swindler as merely a "first instalment," to be followed by other and even larger payments.

HIDDEN IN IRELAND.

Police Believe Missing Jewels Still In the Country.

Dublin, Jan. 13.—The inquiry by a vice-regal commission into the disappearance last summer from Dublin Castle of the regalia of the Order of St. Patrick, valued at $250,000, was resumed here Saturday.

Neither Sir Arthur Edward Vicars, who was custodian of the missing jewels, nor his legal representatives were present.

The members of the commission are inclined to let the proceedings drop, and they so informed the Solicitor-General, declaring that in their opinion no useful purpose could be served by proceeding without the information that Sir Arthur could give. The Solicitor-General, however, declared that the Government wished the inquiry to continue, and said he was in a position to bring witnesses who could give important evidence. The commissioners agreed to this course.

Considerable public sympathy exists here for Sir Arthur Vicars in the position in which he has been placed by the restriction put upon the inquiry by the commission. It is freely asserted that this course has been taken in order to avoid even graver scandals. It is claimed that persons of high social position had free access to the office from which the jewels were taken, and that the police hold the opinion that the missing property was not removed from Ireland, but is hidden there.

BARK BURST AT SEA.

Cargo Swelled With Water — Crew Suffer Terrible Hardships.

Queenstown, Jan. 13.—The Campania reports the foundering in mid-Atlantic of the bark Germanic, Weymouth, N. S., to Fleetwood. Seven of the crew were rescued by the steamer Hotsamnewton, after suffering for eight days in an open boat. The captain was killed by a falling spar the moment the Germanic sank. The remaining seven of the crew, in a second boat, are believed lost. The foundering was due to the cargo of wood pulp becoming flooded during the heavy weather, swelling and bursting the decks. The survivors endured terrible hardships.

Publisher In Trouble.

Hamilton, Jan. 13.—The man arrested Thursday night on the charge of forgery, and who was nabbed in the act of trying to get a cheque bearing the signature of Dineen & Co., Toronto, drawn for $450, cashed at the Merchants Bank, has been identified as H. T. Wesson, publisher of The White Lyre, Toronto.

Amongst the cheques found on him was one drawn on the Carnegie Trust Company in favor of The White Lyre Company for $250. The National Bank had cashed it, and had sent a note of protest back with the cheque. It is said that The White Lyre staff are awaiting anxiously for arrears in pay.

Boston Newsboys on Strike.

Boston, Jan. 13.—Three officers were assaulted, stripped of their badges and hats, and one officer and a by-stander so badly injured that they had to be taken to the Emergency Hospital Saturday night in an attack made on the police by 200 newsboys in front of The Boston American newspaper offices.

The trouble was an incident in a strike of union newsboys, called last Tuesday against a local newspaper, which, it is claimed, has raised the price of the paper to the newsboys.

Brutal Murder.

Peabody, Mass., Jan. 13.—A most atrocious murder was revealed by the finding of the body of Ludwick Kubals, a well-to-do Russian Pole, in a field. Kubals had been killed apparently by a blow on the head. His body was mutilated in an indescribable manner. Robbery is thought to have been the motive for the crime. Three young Russian Poles were arrested on suspicion.

Two Presidents Agree.

Managua, Jan. 13.—The long-looked-for conferences between President Zelaya of Nicaragua and President Viciques of Costa Rica took place Saturday. It had to do with the question of the frontier and the commercial relations between the two countries, and before their departure an agreement was signed of fraternal friendship and commerce.

Smallpox In Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Jan. 13.—Three more smallpox cases were discovered in the city Saturday night, making a total of 123 cases in the present outbreak of the disease.

TWENTY YEARS FOR ASHWORTH.

Heavy Sentence For Murderous Attack on His Wife.

Cornwall, Jan. 13.—Joseph Ashworth, aged 60 years, was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary by Justice Anglin at the close of the Assizes here on Saturday. The crime of which Ashworth was found guilty was an attempt to murder his wife on Dec. 23, when he chased her from the house with a stove-shaker, knocked her down and when she had wrested the poker from him slashed her with his pocket-knife. Ashworth is a small man, and his wife struggled desperately to save her throat. In so doing her face was slashed, and her fingers so lacerated that one of them had to be amputated. The interference of two little children and the arrival of passers-by saved the woman's life.

Ashworth, going into the box on his own behalf, claimed to have no recollection of the assault after his wife had "sassed" him.

Dr. Bruce Smith of Toronto, inspector of prisons and asylums, who was called as an expert witness, said that he had examined Ashworth, and considered him sane and responsible for his actions. He was, however, one of the low type of emigrants, many of whom were finding their way into the prisons, and public charities of Canada. The jury was out only a short time, and returned a verdict of guilty.

When asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Ashworth mumbled a request for mercy in his old age. He seemed dazed by the heavy sentence, and after being removed to the cell he collapsed.

In the case of the King v. Rombrough, a verdict of not guilty was returned. This case, in conjunction with the King v. Eamer, was a very expensive bit of litigation growing out of the alleged theft of a couple of old horse blankets. Rombrough's blankets was stolen and he claimed to have recognized it in Eamer's stable. Afterwards the blanket claimed by Eamer was found under the floor in Rombrough's barn. Eamer was acquitted at the County Court, and as the placing the blanket in Rombrough's barn was a very open question, he was also acquitted. A very large number of witnesses were heard in both cases, and the total expense will be over $1,500.

ENGINE'S WILD RACE.

Tore Along at 90 Miles an Hour—Crashed Into Freight.

Punxsutawney, Pa., Jan. 13.—A runaway Buffalo & Susquehanna locomotive Saturday killed one man, seriously hurt another and wrecked itself and a freight train of 30 cars.

The exact cause of the engine's mad race is not known, but railroad men think the throttle spring was defective and a heavy pressure of steam caused it to slip several notches, letting in a full head of steam, causing the locomotive to break from its train, run 15 miles and dashed into an approaching freight train. The engine is said to have been traveling 90 miles an hour when two miles north of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Junction it crashed head-on into an approaching freight train.

Fireman Bert Griffith of the runaway locomotive fell from the tender and died soon afterwards.

The engineer and fireman of the freight train saw their danger and jumped in time to save their lives.

Vagrant Writes Check For Fine.

London, Jan. 13.—Kenneth McKenzie of New Brunswick, charged with vagrancy before Squire Chittrick, sprang a surprise on the assembled constables and officials in the County Court yesterday morning when he calmly drew out a check on his bank for $5, the amount of his fine and costs imposed.

Kenneth has been wandering about Westminster Township for some time, and on a complaint Constable Shaver went out and brought him in to the county jail. He appeared before Squire Chittick and was remanded.

McKenzie did not take very kindly to this detention, and even a long letter of recommendation as to his "sobriety, honesty and integrity" from a New Brunswick justice failed to move the obdurate court.

When Kenneth was arraigned Saturday he heard his sentence, and calmly asking for paper drew a check on the Postoffice Savings Bank for $5, payable to Arthur Corsant, county constable of Middlesex, in a hand that would do credit to a bank clerk.

The Standard Oil Fine.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Attorneys for the Standard Oil Co., Saturday filed a petition in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, asking that court to certify to the Supreme Court of the United States an allegation as to the validity of the Elkins Law, under which the old company was recently fined $29,240,000 for rebating.

It is contended by the company's attorneys that the Elkins Law will be repealed by the passage of the Hepburn bill in 1906.

Five Years For Burglar.

Winnipeg, Jan. 13.—Bert Martin, Robert Calder, Malcolm Raymond, Alfred Fortesque and Henry Boyd, the daring gang of burglars, whose frequent and skillful depredations have filled the citizens of Winnipeg with consternation and emptied their stores, were sentenced to five years each at the Manitoba penitentiary. They were all young Englishmen, the oldest only 20 years.

Killed In Montreal Fire.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—Napoleon Gagnon, fireman, was killed, and two other firemen, named Narbonne and Lamouche, were injured by a falling wall at a fire on Notre Dame street last night. Fire broke out in an old three-storey building, and while fighting the flames the wall fell out, with disasterous results. The loss by fire was trifling.

POLICE CHARGE CROWD

Monster Suffrage Demonstration In Streets of German Capital.

Forty Thousand Socialists Take Part—Women Were More Active Than Men—Grave Disorders Follow Refusal of Demands—Scores of Manifestants Were Knocked Down and Trampled Upon—Many Injured.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—The determination of the Socialists to secure direct universal suffrage, combined with their indignation against Chancellor von Buelow's curt declaration refusing their demands, gave rise yesterday to an unusual scene and a monster popular demonstration, accompanied by disorders in the streets of the capital, in which 40,000 organized Socialists participated, while 30,000 sympathizers from time to time actively joined in the manifestations.

One of the most remarkable features of yesterday's uprising was the number of women who engaged in the demonstrations, and they appeared even more earnest in their activities than the men. The authorities took the sternest measures to prevent disorders and the strictest precautions to protect the assembly and other public buildings and Prince von Buelow's residence against the outbreak of fury. Groups in the streets were dispersed in the most vigorous manner and collisions between processions and manifestants and the police resulted in the injury of a considerable number of the demonstrators, but so far as known no fatalities occurred in this city. The police refrained from making arrests except in cases of extreme violence.

Several serious clashes with the police occurred, the officers dispersing the crowds with drawn arms.

Scores of the manifestants were knocked down and trampled upon, and the great crowd at length was broken up into small groups, among whom there were many injured.

PARSON A COUNTERFEITER.

Pastor Sentenced to Penitentiary For Two Years.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—Guilty of having moulds in his possession for the manufacture of counterfeit dollars, half dollars, quarters and dimes, with the intent to use them unlawfully, was the verdict of a jury Saturday in the case of Rev. James A. Kaye of Oak Park, Ill, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Wheaton, Ill., and formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Lincoln, Ill., where the crime was committed.

Dr. Kaye was sentenced to two years in Chester Penitentiary. Pending an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Kaye is confined in the Sangamon County Jail Annex.

Kaye's defence was that he had the moulds to make medals for Sunday school pupils. It was brought out, however, that Kaye's son had attempted to pass some of the spurious coins.

WANT FAST CRUISER.

Halibut Fisheries of British Columbia Are In Danger.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 13.—In a report to the Ottawa Government, Capt. Newcombe of the fishery protection service, recommends that a cruiser like the Canada on the Atlantic coast, with a speed of 20 or 22 knots, and two small boats of 18 knots speed, be commissioned as soon as possible to protect the British Columbia fisheries.

He gives as a reason that the halibut grounds of British Columbia are being depleted by American fishing vessels, which, he says, took nearly 40,000,000 pounds of halibut last year from provincial waters.

Mulai Hafid Sultan.

Tangier, Jan. 13.—Further advices received here from Fez state that Mulai Hafid was proclaimed Sultan on condition that he abolish taxation, make an alliance with the Sultan of Turkey and suppress all relations with Europeans except those "prescribed by custom and rules."

Couriers have been despatched to Morocco City to summon Mulai Hafid to Fez. That city is reported to be in an uproar. The residents are armed and are fearful lest outbreaks of pillage or a massacre occur.

Will Commandant Resign?

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—It is understood that as a result of discussion in the House on Friday on the rustication of Cadet Lancaster, son of E. A. Lancaster, M. P. for Lincoln, a student at the Royal Military College at Kingston, the commandant, Lieut.-Col. E. Thornton Taylor, may be asked to resign. No further communication has been received from the commandant. The matter may be brought up again in the Commons when the estimates of the Militia Department are reached.

Black Eye for Brockville.

Brockville, Jan. 13.—Extensive reports appearing in some of the city dailies outlining the smallpox situation in Brockville has given the town such a black eye that a meeting of the board of health was called Saturday and a statement was issued in which it was truly shown that there are no more than fifteen cases at present, and these all of a mild character.

These are being properly looked after, and every precaution taken.

Actor Shot Policeman.

Omaha, Jan. 13.—Col. William Lightfoot Visscher of Chicago, poet and actor, last night shot and slightly injured Policeman H. Dillen. Visscher had been arrested for alleged disorderly conduct and Dillen was trying to put him into a patrol wagon.

SWEET REVENGE

By
Captain F. A. MITCHEL,
Author of "Chattanooga," "Chickamauga," Etc.

Copyright, 1907, by Harper & Brothers.

Rising slowly and silently, keeping my eyes fixed on the man by the fire, raising my revolver and taking as good an aim as possible with bound wrists, I stood on my feet. One step backward, then another, a third, a fourth, a fifth, a sixth. I had reached the bushes where Buck and Ginger had been concealed and was about to take one more step which would secure concealment when the guard opened his eyes and looked straight at me.

Surprise was the last emotion, my figure the last sight he ever saw. I shot him through the head and before the report had ceased to reverberate I was in the bushes.

CHAPTER XII.

A DAYLIGHT ATTACK.

DESPITE the thickness of the surrounding underbrush, I made quick progress. Jumping clean over bushes, darting around trees and under low limbs, after running some 200 yards from the guerrilla camp I came to a comparatively open space. Seeing a figure standing within it and surmising it to be one of my friends, I was about to call when a woman's voice cried "Halt!" I knew that I was covered by a weapon and stopped abort.

"Are you"—

"Yes, and you"—

"Helen. This way."

She darted away like a deer. I soon overtook her, and together we ran perhaps half a mile, when she began to climb an ascent leading to the base of an overhanging cliff. I saw through the gloom a large and a small figure climbing just ahead of us and knew they were Ginger and Buck. Helen led the way up to a recess in the cliff, and I saw at once a position that we could hold against a dozen men so long as we had food and ammunition.

"Hello!" It was Jack's cheery voice. "Goody! Ain't I glad to get out o' the wilderness!"

"I'm glad enough," I said as soon as I could get breath to speak, "but you women"—

There was no time for words. We set about rolling a big stone into a gap between two others, and as soon as it was in position had a continuous breastwork. The guerrillas were calling to each other in the woods below, but they did not seem to know where we were. I picked up one of the guns Ginger had thrown down, Buck had one in his hands, Ginger kept one, and Helen seized the remaining one.

"Where do I come in?" chirped Jack.

"Here." I handed her the revolver, in which there were five loaded chambers, and told her to hold on to it, as she would doubtless need it. We all took position behind our breastworks ready to repel an assault, at the same time seeing to the condition of our pieces. They were cavalry carbines, all loaded and capped ready for use.

"Where are your horses?" I asked.

"Picketed down there," Helen replied, pointing westward, "in a thicket not far from the road."

"Have you anything to eat?"

She glanced at a parcel on the ground. "I got that in a cabin. There's some corn pone and pork."

"Barely enough for one meal. Any water?"

"There's some water trickling between the rocks back there."

"That pone and pork means a chance, but it's a slim one."

Helen set her lips, Jack turned pale, Ginger showed no emotion whatever, while Buck remarked that he'd be "darned if he didn't plunk one of 'em, anyway." As for myself, I was aghast at the terrible fate that threatened those who had so nobly and so bravely risked all in my behalf.

"What brought you here?" I asked, impatiently, of Helen.

"When you were taken from our house I resolved to follow. Buck came in just as I started, and insisted on joining me. We traced you to Colonel Rutland's plantation"—

"I see. It was you I heard coming in after I went up stairs."

"Ginger took the horses to the stable and was returning to the house when he saw two men climb a tree near your window and enter your room. He watched from a distance and saw them bring you out, but he could not tell whether they were taking you away by force or assisting you to escape. Coming into the house, he told us what had happened.

"Jack started to awaken Captain Beaufort, but I stopped her. If you had been assisted to escape, this would be fatal. Besides, from what Jack had told me of the captain, I judged he would have his night's rest before starting in pursuit. I told Jack I would follow you myself, and she was wild to come with me. Ginger had seen you leave the plantation and knew the direction you had taken. We sent him and Buck ahead, and they soon came near enough to you to hear your horses' hoof beats, then waited for us to come up. Soon after we lost track of you, but, hearing something come crashing down the mountain"—

"A stone."

—"we followed the direction of the sound. In the early morning Buck and Ginger came upon you unexpectedly. As soon as you had gone they rejoined us, we shadowed you and yesterday afternoon laid a plan for your escape."

"A wild, impracticable scheme. One circumstance has led to another, each involving you more deeply. My God, what a load of obligation! We can't stay here. We'll starve. Buck, couldn't you slip out in the darkness and find help?"

"No, siree; I'm not goin out o' hyar. I'm goin t' stay an fight with the rest."

"But you may save all our lives."

"Why don't you go, Mr. Brandystone?"

"I? I must stay with your sister and cousin. Besides, I'm big and couldn't get through as easily as you."

"Well, I ain't a-goin to sneak away if I am little."

"Bucky," said Jack, "yo' needn't go. I'll go myself."

"Yo' don' do nuffin like dat, Missy Jack," cried Ginger. "Dem grillers shoot yo'! Wha' mars' say ef I go back an tell 'em de apple ob he eye go down 'mong grillers fo' to git shot? I gwine, mars'," he added to me.

But by this time there was more calling among the men below, a streak of light appeared in the east, and I did not dare let any one attempt to evade the enemy. Besides, I could now see by the lay of the land that it would be impossible.

Something must have given the guerrillas an inkling of our whereabouts, for as soon as it was light we could see them standing, looking up at our position. I told every one to lie low, hoping that some of the outlaws would climb up to investigate and we might pick them off. For more than an hour we remained concealed, only speaking in whispers; then we saw the knot of men below divide, three going to the west, three to the east, while three began to climb toward our fortress. One remained below, and as the light increased I saw it was the captain.

We four who were armed with carbines knelt behind the rocks, I to the extreme left, Helen next, then Buck behind the stone we had moved to fill the gap, with Ginger bringing up the right end of the line. I was an excellent shot—I had long been considered one of the best in Tennessee—and it turned out that Helen was not bad. Ginger was no shot at all. I selected the man in advance for my especial object, designated the second for Helen and gave Buck the third. They were to fire after me in the order named. Ginger was to fire at any who might be left standing. Jack had only a revolver, and I directed her to keep back. She was trembling, and in order to strengthen her by concentrating her mind on some duty I told her to be ready to hand us the ammunition after the first volley.

The guerrillas came on, every man holding a carbine. When they had covered a third of the distance, I saw that Buck was about to fire out of turn, and I was obliged to speak to him somewhat sharply. I think the advancing men heard me, for they stopped and consulted. The captain, standing below, called to them to go on, and, separating so as to leave a dozen yards between each man, skirmish fashion, they started again, watching eagerly for a sight of something to fire at. As they were all abreast, my order for firing would not serve. I gave another.

There was no response. All were too intent on the work before us to speak. I permitted the men to come within a hundred yards, when, taking deliberate aim with the rest, I shot my man through the heart. In another moment Helen's rifle cracked, and the center man dropped. Buck, who was excited, fired wild and missed altogether. Ginger lost his head completely and did not fire at all. As Ginger's courage deserted him Jack's came to her all of a sudden.

"Why don't yo' shoot, Ginger?" she cried, with flashing eyes. Snatching his gun and aiming it at the remaining man, who was rapidly getting down the declivity, she sent him the rest of the way with a limp. Two men were put out of the fight and the third disabled.

"By golly," cried Buck, "we licked 'em, didn't we?"

I thought it best not to discourage him by telling him that this was only a preliminary skirmish, but asked Jack for the ammunition, and we all reloaded.

The wounded man went back to the captain, who appeared greatly agitated over the result. He was evidently surprised at the reception of his searching party. The men who had gone to the flanks, hearing the firing, rejoined their leader, and two men who had been in the rear came forward.

Heaven preserve us! The captain has started up the slope at the head of a storming party of eight men.

I was appalled. We had but four guns and after firing a volley must reload before firing another. We could not expect to disable more than four men at the first fire; then the remaining four would be upon us before we could reload. In quick tones I gave the order:

"All load. I'll fire."

With that I let drive and dropped a man. Then, throwing down my gun, I took Helen's and dropped another. Buck handed me his, and I dropped a third.

"By jiminy!" cried Buck, exposing his head to see better. "Ain't yo' a bully shot?" Ping! went a bullet within an inch of his ear, and he ducked.

"Keep down!" I cried as the lead rattled against the rocks in front of us, and fired the fourth gun, again hitting my man, though I only "winged" him. Indeed, I believe he dropped to evade the fire. By this time the first gun had been reloaded, and I took aim at the captain. I was sure I hit him, but he came on. Taking the next gun now ready, I fired at him again, but just as I did so one of the men stepped in front of him and received the shot. This finished the assault. The men broke and fled and before I could get another shot were far back toward the position from which they had started.

CHAPTER XIII.

BELEAGUERED.

STRANGE that men will never learn the terrible advantage of a force posted on an impregnable position, protected by breastworks and able to pour shot down a steep hill at an enemy. Two men, two girls and a boy had defeated the guerrillas and sent them back to their camp. I did not fear another attack. What I dreaded was starvation. Indeed, I could see plainly that our enemies were preparing to carry out the starvation plan. Several of them went in different directions, doubtless for food. One of them passed quite within range.

"I'm goin to plunk that one," said Buck.

I caught his arm, and gave him a reproof which for a while at least caused him to remember that I was in command.

"I wish they'd attack us again," said the irrepressible boy. "I could 'a' hit that doggone 'butternut' if somep'n hadn't joggled my arm."

There had been nothing to joggle the boy's arm, but I thought it best to let him keep up his pride—it would make him more serviceable—so I said nothing.

"I aimed right at the middle of his breast," continued Buck, "but just then he jumped over a stone, an I missed him."

"I thought some one joggled your arm?"

"Some one did. Ginger, yo' consarned old nigger, what d' yo' go joggle me fo' just as I was goin to plunk him?"

"I didn't joggle yo', Mars' Buck."

"Was it you, Hel'a?"

"No."

"Somebody did, or I'd 'a' hit him, sho!"

If ever a party needed breakfast, it was ours. Helen unrolled the little parcel of provisions. I directed her to serve a half ration, or, rather, half of what there was and save the rest. She did so, handing me my portion, which I declined, but she argued that it was important for all that I should keep up my strength and finally prevailed on me to eat my share. Jaqueline and Buck ate theirs ravenously. Each of us went to where the water was dripping from the cleft and caught the drops in our mouths. Buck, when he had finished his breakfast, like Oliver Twist, asked for more. It made my heart ache to refuse him, but there was no alternative.

One danger was dwarfed by the greater perils that surrounded us, yet it was no less important. My wound was liable to put me hors de combat at any moment. Fortunately until my dash from the guerrilla camp I had not been subject to any physical strain, and by that time it had healed sufficiently to prevent its opening. At any rate, it gave me no trouble. The first thing Helen asked after a lull in the fighting was about this wound. She insisted on dressing it for me, and I permitted her to do so. She wound around it a fresh bandage torn from my shirt sleeve and was pinning it when, looking up at me, she said:

"You're not the first one of our men I've assisted with bandages."

Her remark cut me like a knife. It was plain that she was making this effort, incurring this danger, believing me to be a Confederate.

"I can't understand all these troubles that surround you," she went on. "Why not explain?"

"You know I'm charged with being in league with the Yankees."

"Yes, but your accusers are robbers and murderers. If I thought that"—She broke off with a frown and turned away.

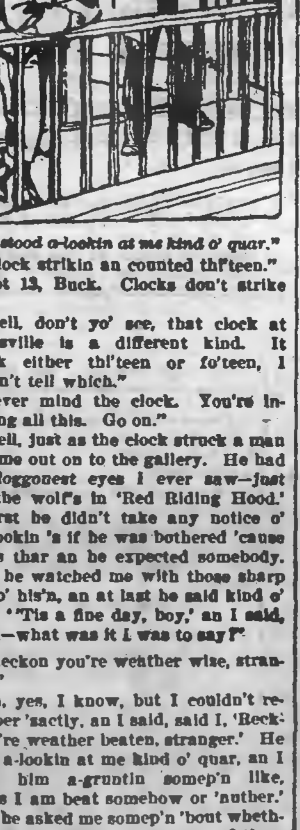
"The guerrillas built a fire and, after cooking and eating breakfast, loitered about, some chatting, some playing cards, while others devoted themselves to their wounded companions, making them as comfortable as possible on beds of boughs covered with blankets. I took advantage of their inaction to learn how Buck had succeeded in delivering his message to the scout he was to meet at Huntsville. As I could not question him before the others without giving up my secret, I drew him into the cleft behind us.

"Buck, did you find the man I sent you to meet at Huntsville?"

"Reckon I did."

"Tell me about it."

"All right. As soon as I got into town I went right to the squar an stopped in front o' the hotel. I hitched my pony to a post an went inside. A man in the office said, 'Sonny, what d' yo' want?' an I said, 'I'm goin up on the gallery,' an he said, 'What fo'?' an I said, 'Fo' to see the town.' Then I went up stairs an waited till I heard the clock strikin an counted thi'teen."



"He stood a-lookin at me kind o' quar."

"Not 13, Buck. Clocks don't strike 13."

"Well, don't yo' see, that clock at Huntsville is a different kind. It struck either thi'teen or fo'teen, I couldn't tell which."

"Never mind the clock. You're inventing all this. Go on."

"Well, just as the clock struck a man he came out on to the gallery. He had the doggonest eyes I ever saw—just like the wolf's in 'Red Riding Hood.' At first he didn't take any notice o' me, lookin 's if he was bothered 'cause I was thar an he expected somebody. Then he watched me with those sharp eyes o' his'n, an at last he said kind o' gruff, ''Tis a fine day, boy,' an I said, said I—what was it I was to say?"

"'Reckon you're weather wise, stranger.'"

"Oh, yes, I know, but I couldn't remember 'sactly, an I said, said I, 'Reckon yo're weather beaten, stranger.' He stood a-lookin at me kind o' quar, an I heard him a-gruntin somep'n like, 'Guess I am beat somehow or 'nother.' Then he asked me somep'n 'bout whether it was a-rainin at the time of the—what was that one?"

"'The massacre.'"

"Oh, yes; I know. An I said—what was it I said?"

"'Black as night.'"

"That's it; only I fo'got an said, 'Black as a doggone nigger,' an he said, 'What's the'"—

"'Word.'"

"'What's the word?' an I took the spitball out o' my mouth an handed it to him. He took it an read it mighty quick. Then he looked at me an said, 'I'll be goldarned if that ain't the littlest messenger to carry such a big message I ever saw in my life! Like attackin a fortyfication with a how'tzer.'"

"What did he do then?"

"I don' want t' tell that."

"Why not?"

"Well, he must 'a' thought I was a baby."

"Come, out with it."

"He took me up an give me a kiss, rubbin my face with that hairy beard o' his'n."

"Then what?"

"He went down stairs in a hurry, an I didn't see him any mo'."

"Good for you! Have you kept it all a secret?"

"Haven't said a word to any one."

"That's right. You've done me a great favor, and one good turn deserves another. I'm going to tell you how to cure yourself of that habit of using useless adjectives. If you ever get out of this, get a notebook and pencil, and every time you use one of them note it down. This will show you how often you offend, and at last you will break yourself of a very bad habit."

"I'll do that, by golly!"

At noon we were again tantalized at seeing the guerrillas eating their dinner.

"I wonder what they got," said Buck. "I reckon it's nothin but fat pork, anyway. Who wants to eat fat pork?"

"I wish I could get my clutches on the captain," said Jack. "I'd make him give me some."

"De Lord 'll feed his chil'n," remarked Ginger. "Didn' he send de ravens to Elijah?"

"Not in these mountains," put in Buck. "Ravens couldn't find anything up here to feed anybody with."

"Reckon dat mus' 'a' been in a land flowin wid milk an honey," supplemented Ginger.

"Yo' ole fool," retorted Buck. "How could a raven carry milk?"

"Don't be so smart, Buck," said Jack. "A raven could take the handle of a tin bucket in its mouth and fly with it, couldn't he?"

Then Jack and Buck fell to vying with each other which could invent the most remarkable fabrications about the wherewithal to satisfy their hunger.

"I see a darky coming," said Jack, "with a white apron and cap and a tray on his head covered with good things to eat."

"That's nothin," said Buck. "I see a roasted goose waddlin up the hill with the stuffin tumblin out of a hole in his breast."

"You little fibber, you don't see any such thing. I'll tell you what I see. I see a big table down there among the guerrillas covered with smoking beef and chicken and lamb with mint sauce running all over it and peas and asparagus. Come, let's go and get some."

She was so earnest about it that I feared she would. Indeed she started, but Helen caught and drew her back. Throwing herself into Helen's arms, she covered her face with her hands.

CHAPTER XIV.

A BONFIRE DEFENSE.

MORNING, noon, afternoon, passed with no change in the situation. All my command slept during the day, and even I got two or three hours of tired nature's sweet restorer, though I would not close my eyes till Helen had promised not to take hers off the guerrillas till I awoke. During the afternoon all began to suffer from hunger, but I would not allow the scanty bit of food remaining to be eaten. Buck got over the noon meal bravely, but when supper time came he clamored for something to eat.

"Now, see hyar, Mr. Brandystone," he argued, "you just give me my shar', an I won't want any mo' when the rest of yo' have yo's."

"You must wait, Buck. We shall have to fast long enough anyway. The longer between meals the longer we can hold out."

"All right," he said bravely. "I can hold out as long as any of yo'."

As evening came on a horrible thought loomed up suddenly. If the night should be dark, there was nothing to prevent the guerrillas stealing up on us unawares and capturing our stronghold.

"I must find a way out of this," I muttered and began an examination of the face of the rock in our rear. The cleft where water dripped slanted upward, a narrow opening little wider than a man's body. I crawled into the crevice and by using hands and feet mounted to the summit. I stood enchanted by the splendid view. Northward and eastward the Cumberland mountains reared their heads, a succession of wooded crests; westward the fair plain of middle Tennessee; southward Confederate territory cut off from us by war and setting aflame the imagination as to what was taking place in the newborn nation. An undulating horizon divided the black earth from the scarlet sky left by the setting sun.

Scrambling over the uneven ground, climbing rocks, fighting my way through thickets, I explored every promise of outlet. There was not a possible descent. I returned to the mouth of the crevice, intending to rejoin my companions. I heard some one clambering up and, looking down, saw Helen Stanforth. Giving her my hand, I helped her to level ground.

"You and I," I said, "should not be absent from the front at the same time."

"Tell me," she said, fixing her eyes on me intently, "what I want to know. I have led Jaqueline, Buck and Ginger into this trap in an attempt to save you. The least I can expect is your confidence. Who are you?"

A STORY OF THE SEA.

The Man Who Braved the Storm and the Sailor He Rescued.

Off the coast of Ireland there was a terrible storm, and a crowd gathered on the shore to see a storm tossed vessel not far away being pounded on the rocks.

Sturdy men launched a boat and pulled away at the oars to rescue the imperiled ones.

As the boat came back the watchers on the shore cried, "Did you get them?" and they answered, "All but one. We had to leave him or risk the lives of all." And when they were landed a stalwart fellow stepped from the group and said, "Who will join me in the rescue of the remaining one?"

Then an aged woman cried out: "Oh, my son, don't go; don't go! You are all I have left. Your father was drowned at sea, and your brother William sailed away, and we never heard from him, and now if you are lost I will be left in sorrow alone."

But the man replied: "I must go, mother. Duty calls me." Then he and other brave hearts launched the boat and pulled for the wreck.

Anxiously the mother waited in tears and prayers. At last they saw the lifeboat coming nearer and nearer, and when it was in hailing distance they called, "Have you got your man?"

And the answer rang out clear above the storm, "Yes, and tell mother it's brother William!"

Nests of the Golden Eagle.

Every pair of eagles whose habits I have had an opportunity of watching over a period of a few years would seem to have invariably at least two alternative sites for their nests. Some have three, and I know of one with four sites. In fact, I only know of one pair out of many which habitually resort to but one place and only one. The reason for this is, however, apparent, for owing to its situation it has never been disturbed. The nest is in a small cavern on the face of an absolute wall of limestone rock some 800 feet high, at about 400 feet from the summit. Above the cliff is a talus of loose stone at an angle of forty-five degrees or so, above which again rise other precipices. To reach the nearest point above this nest would be a long day's work.—London Saturday Review.

OBITUARY

MR. JAMES CLAGUE.

Many who are in the habit of visiting Stony Lake in the summer season, as well as his acquaintances throughout the township, will learn with regret of the death of Mr. James Clague, which occurred a few days ago. Deceased resided at Mount Royal, near the residence of Mr. A. L. Dunford. He was a very remarkable man, and an artist of some ability, and his paintings were admired by many visitors to his home. Some 15 years ago he lost his sight, but after a while his vision was restored to him, and for the last 12 years he could read the smallest print. He also lost his hearing for a time, and, strange to say, this returned to him, and so perfectly that he could almost hear a whisper. In his younger days he was a sailor on an English merchant ship, and being thrown into all kinds of company, acquired a liking for drink. His wife finally got him persuaded to give up the sea life and come to Canada. They lived at Bowmanville for some time before coming to Dummer some forty years ago. She was a very fine lady, and through her influence the whole course of his life was changed. He had no children, but Mrs. A. L. Dunford is an adopted daughter. He was a staunch Liberal in politics, and a member of the Church of England.

MISS ANNIE DILLON.

The death occurred this morning, at St. Joseph's hospital, after a brief illness, of Miss Annie Dillon. The late Miss Dillon had only been ill a few days, having been removed to the hospital on Friday last. She was 58 years of age, and was born in Otonabee, being the daughter of the late Patrick Dillon. For several years she resided in Kansas City, but five years ago returned to Peterborough. She was widely known and highly esteemed by all who knew her.

One brother, Mr. Pat Dillon, of Kansas City, survives her.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, from the residence of deceased's cousin, Mr. John McDonald, 381 Queen street, to St. Peter's cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

INFANT EXPIRES.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs Sydney Crouter, 260 London street, will sympathise with them in the loss they have sustained by the death of their infant daughter, Geraldine Madeline, which occurred last evening. The child was one month old. The funeral took place this afternoon to Little Lake cemetery.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

There was a good attendance at the meeting for men and older boys at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon, considering the weather. Mr. Harding, the president, read the 91st Psalm and gave some very helpful thoughts from it. The Coleman Bros. rendered a quartette unaccompanied.

The song service at night was well attended and much enjoyed.

Tonight at 7.30, the Board of Trustees, composed of Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, R. J. Kidd, G. M. Roger, J. J. Howden, and Dr. W. D. Scott, meet to discuss some important business.

The Boys' Committee will also meet at the same time. This committee is composed of Messrs. George A. Hamlin, G. L. Galley, R. E. Lord, Dr. J. B. Middleton, V. Eastwood, Rev. E. A. Pearson, Rev. C. H. Coon, C. Peary, B. A. Little and C. E. Sisson.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL IS CREDIT TO THE CITY

Is Now a Ten Room Building Equipped in the Most Modern Manner — Improvements Completed in Remarkably Quick Time.

Enlarged to a ten room structure, the Queen Alexandra (north ward) school was opened this morning. The seats had been placed in position in the six new rooms and everything was in readiness for the pupils to take possession. The work of enlarging this school has been in progress for the past six months and it has been completed in remarkably quick time and so vast has been the alteration that the school is hardly recognizable as the old four room building. It has been furnished and equipped in the most modern manner and it has been done in remarkably quick time. So vast has been the alteration that the school is hardly recognizable as the old four-room building. It has been finished and equipped in the most modern manner, and teachers and pupils will find it everything that they could desire.

MR. D. W. DUMBLE

The enlargement of the school was made necessary by the location of the Normal School in Peterborough. One of the provisions was that a large public school should be located near the Normal, in order that the Normal students should have an opportunity to get practical work in teaching. The enlargement did not have to be completed until September next, and it speaks well for those in charge that everything is in readiness already.

The estimate of the cost of the improvements was $25,000, and it is likely that the work will be completed well within that figure. This is very gratifying in these days when contractors usually wind up several thousand dollars outside the estimate when a big job is concerned.

Great credit is due Mr. D. W. Dumble, who was chairman of the committee in charge of the work. It was carried on under his supervision, and those who have visited the school state that it has been well done. Mr. Dumble has devoted a great deal of time to the operations, and, along with the other members of the comittee, is deserving of every credit.

Baptie Bros., of Lakefield, had the contract for the works and have finished everything in tip-top shape.

The old part now consists of four rooms, two downstairs and two upstairs, the two upstairs being set apart for commercial classes until midsummer. The new part consists of six rooms, three downstairs and three above, the two rooms in the north being set aside for kindergarten purposes. These two rooms are as yet unfinished, and will not be opened until summer.

All rooms open into the corridors upstairs and downstairs. There are separate stairways for the boys and girls. The rooms are commodious and bright. Light is admitted in abundance by the large windows, as this is one of the important factors in a school room. In the older part of the building the rooms have been completely renovated, the walls being newly kalsomined and the woodwork painted. Each room will seat about forty-five pupils, which is at present above the average number of pupils in each class. The blackboards are on two sides of the rooms, and in the old part are on the plaster, which has been painted, but in the new part they are slate. In each room are found the provision for cloaks. Here they are kept warm and are convenient for the pupils. There are also several small compartments set aside for the use of teachers, and also a private office for the principal, which is also divided for the boys and girls and has plenty of light. The floors are of cement, and the lavatories are constructed in the most modern manner.

PAT. McAULLIFFE HAS BEEN RELEASED FROM PENITENTIARY

Was in City on Saturday Evening, Returning From Kingston to His Home in Emily—Only Served 22 Months of a Three Year Term—Was Sentenced on Charge of Manslaughter.

Patrick McAulliffe, of Emily, was released from Kingston Penitentiary on Saturday morning last, having served twenty-two months out of a three year term for the manslaughter of Frederick Hudson, of this city. McAulliffe was sentenced at the Spring Assizes of 1906, and from the first day he went to the prison until his dismissal, his conduct was so good and he gave the officials such little trouble that he was allowed his freedom. During the months that he spent at Kingston he won the esteem of his guards and was given liberties that other prisoners were denied. On Saturday morning about 10 o'clock on returning to the Penitentiary after being in the city on an errand, he was told that he might go home. Mr. McAulliffe, needless to say was greatly pleased and heartily thanked the officials. He at once made preparations for home and arrived here on the 5.45 G.T.R. train. He was greeted by a large number of acquaintances, who were agreeably surprised to see him a free man again. He also met his sister, who had been in the city for the day, and drove out to his home in Emily. He is the son of Mr. Peter McAulliffe, of that township.

It will be remembered that McAulliffe was found guilty of striking Fred Hudson in the Royal Hotel. Hudson died a few days later as a result of the blow he received in a fight with McAulliffe.

New City Council Wasted no Time at Inaugural Meeting

Mayor Rush Does Not Intend to Allow Superfluous Talking—Chairmen of the Committees are Appointed—The Mayor's Inaugural Address.

THE CHAIRMANSHIPS

Board of Works—Ald. Phelan.

Fire, Water and Light—Ald. Johnston.

Manufacturers — Ald. Neill.

Finance (Printing and Licenses)—Ald. Morrow.

Property (Market Building and Health)—Ald. Bradburn.

Legal (Reception, Legislation, and Joint with County) — Ald Elliott.

To live in deeds, not in words, is apparently going to be the motto of the city council for 1908. The first meeting was held this morning, and no time was wasted. Superfluous talking was not in evidence, and a half hour session was sufficient for the morning's business.

Mayor Rush's inaugural address was brief, and no policy for the year was outlined, except that the interests of the city would be carefully looked after. After the mayor's address, the council went into committee of the whole to appoint the chairmen of the committees. The result is given above. No change was made in the number of committees, but it was decided to increase the membership of the Board of Works from six to seven, it being felt that the committee was too small last year for the amount of work.

The chairmen of the committees were appointed a committee to strike the standing committees for the year. They will present their report when the council meets tonight at eight o'clock.

After the members of the council had taken the oath of office, they took their seats in the council chamber and when the mayor had taken the chair, City Clerk Armstrong read the names of the newly elected city council as follows: Ald. Phelan, Gillespie, Morrow, Neill, Buller, Elliott, Bradburn, MacIntyre, Morgan, Turner, Johnston and Tovey.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS

The minutes of the last council meeting were taken as read. Mayor Rush then presented his inaugural address, which was as follows:

Gentlemen,—I understand that it has been usual, of late years, for the newly-elected mayor to address the members of the new council, and to outline, as far as is judicious, the business programme for the year, and to offer suggestions as to the policy that should be pursued on important matters.

I presume, however, that this is more or less a matter of discretion, than a fast iron rule. At least, it is my intention to offer only a few brief remarks that can hardly be called an address.

I wish to express the personal gratification I feel in the fact that I will have the assistance of so intelligent and representative Board of Aldermen as I see before me. I realize that I have been singularly fortunate in this respect and I have been congratulating myself on the pleasure which it will afford me to have such good support in the discharge of the duties of my office and in meeting the responsibilities thereof.

You will necessarily do many new and important things to further the march of improvement in our city, and to complete work already inaugurated. Whatever may be demanded of you, I am confident the interests of this city at this important stage of its development will commend itself to you as worthy of your best efforts.

I commend all the city's interests to you in the hope that you may be successful in meeting every problem which may justly claim your attention as the guardians of the city's welfare for the next twelve months, and as affecting the prosperity of Peterborough for many years beyond your actual term of office.

I may say in conclusion that the pressure of my friends has induced me to accept this important office, and I wish it to be understood that it is not my present intention to seek a second term.

The mayor then announced that the appointing of the chairman of the committees was next in order. In this connection he stated that Ald. Tovey would not be a candidate for the chairmanship of the Finance Committee for 1908. He spoke highly of his work as chairman during the past year.

Ald. Tovey stated that he only took the chairmanship on condition that he would be relieved of it at the end of a year. His position at the C.G.E. made it difficult for him to look after the work as he would desire.

On motion of Ald. Phelan and Johnston, it was decided to go into committee of the whole to appoint the chairmen of the committees.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

In committee of the whole it was decided to elect the chairman by ballot. No names were proposed, the ballots being passed around and the mayor and aldermen writing on them their choice for the respective committees.

The first ballot taken was for the chairmanship of the Board of Works. Ald. Phelan received ten votes and Ald. Elliott three.

"You have a big contract ahead of you," remarked the mayor to the chairman-elect when the result had been announced.

Ald. Johnston was elected chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, the vote being, Ald. Johnston 10, Ald. Morgan 3.

MAYOR RUSH

Was Presided at the Inaugural Meeting of the City Council To-day

Ald. Neill got the chairmanship of the Manufacturers' Committee by an unanimous vote, his name being written on the thirteen slips.

The chairmanship of the Finance Committee went to Ald. Morrow, who had eleven votes to Ald. Bradburn's two.

For the chairmanship of the Property Committee Ald. Bradburn had eleven votes and Ald. MacIntyre 3. Ald. MacIntyre was chairman last year.

Ald. Elliott was the unanimous choice for the Legal Committee, thirteen votes being recorded in his favor.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the chairmen of the different committees be a committee to strike the standing committees for the year, and that the membership of the Board of Works be increased from six to seven.

This was carried unanimously and adjournment took place.

The six chairmen then held a meeting to draft the committees for the year.

Rev. Allan is a Prominent Scotch Divine

Rev. Andrew Allan, who is conducting mission services at St. Andrew's until January 22nd, is on a world's tour in connection with evangelistic work. Mr. Allan endeavors to make the services as attractive and helpful as possible. He is a pleasing speaker and is thoroughly conversant with the topics he speaks on. His church in Glasgow, Scotland, is the Free Church, with a congregation of 1,200. Tonight at 8 o'clock he will speak on the gold fields of South Africa. His topics for the different nights through the week will be announced at regular intervals.

MINES WILL RE-OPEN IN THE SPRING

Blairton Again Likely to be a Thriving Centre of Industry—The Latest Report

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Jan. 13.—It is very likely that the Blairton iron mines once so well known in this part of the country, will reopen once more in the spring of 1908. The latest report from Blairton is very favorable as the rock in some places was too hard for the short drill in operation, until winter set in and the drilling was not as progressive as it might have been.

Benefit For Children's Aid

Will be Given First Wednesday in Each Month—Mr. Edwards' Generosity Appreciated

Mr. Edwards, manager of the Crystal, has decided to give the Children's Aid Society the proceeds of the entertainment at the Crystal for the first Wednesday of each month. A good sum was realized at the last performances given in the society's behalf and it is hoped the public will extend even a more generous patronage than they did on that occasion. The cause is a worthy one and deserves the widest possible encouragement and support.

The officials of the Children's Aid Society are deeply grateful to Mr. Edwards for his generosity and look to the citizens to do their share in the matter of providing funds for the benefit of the unfortunate children who come under their charge.

TOP OF FINGER WAS AMPUTATED

Accident to Employee of the Auburn Woolen Mills

Miss Daisy O'Heron, daughter of Mr. M. O'Heron, and an employee of the Auburn Woollen Mills, Auburn, met with a painful accident on Saturday, when she had the tip of the index finger of the right hand amputated by some of the machinery at the mills. A physician was called, and the wound dressed.

VIVID MEMORY OF FORMER STORM

"You see that pile of snow across there (nearly as high as a man's head) remarked Mr. Robert Fair to a Review reporter this morning. "Well, a few years ago I saw a storm so severe that the snow on George street was on the level about up to a man's shoulders. It was the heaviest fall I have ever seen—much deeper than that of yesterday."

PLEASANT TIME AT MR. BURNHAM'S

On Friday night about a dozen of young ladies of the city drove down to Mr. Zack Burnham's, Otonabee, where they were entertained at tea and spent the evening in a social manner. They left the city at five o'clock in the evening, returning shortly after 10 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Burnham were a delighted host and hostess, and a thoroughly enjoyable time was spent.

EVERYTHING O. K. IN BRANTFORD

Mr. W. H. Lytle, superintendent of outside construction work for the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, was in the city from Brantford over Sunday, and spent the day the guest of his parents. Mr. Lytle had nothing new to divulge in connection with the construction work of the company, but states the work is making good headway in Brantford.

GOOD PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

Mr. Sullivan of Canadian Machine Phone Was in City From Lindsay

Mr. Sullivan, deputy superintendent of outside construction for the Canadian Machine Telephone Company in Lindsay, was in the city Friday on a business visit to the local office. Mr. Sullivan says good progress is being made in connection with the work and states that the people of Lindsay are very much pleased with the idea of having the system established in that town.

MISS WALLIS MAY SUE FOR BIG DAMAGES

Because Her Statue of Mercury Was Given Coat of Paint.

Toronto, Jan. 13. — Curator David Boyle, of the Ontario Museum, may have to defend a thousand dollar action, and all because he had Miss K. K. Wallis' statue, "Mercury charmed with his own invention, the lyre," renovated with a delicate coat of creamy paint. While no writ has been served, he has been told in an informal way that the sculptor intends to issue one.

Miss Wallis, of Paris, sent the study to the Ontario museum for exhibition. According to Mr. Boyle it had a soiled appearance, and bore evidences of some pigment. As housecleaning was in progress, Mr. Boyle had Mercury and some others touched up a bit as the best means of cleaning them.

"Of course," says Mr. Boyle, "nobody would think of painting marble, and Mercury is not of marble."

Miss Wallis states that Mercury had never been painted or colored before coming here, that the alleged coloring was natural and not artificial. Mr. Boyle, on the contrary, argues that it was a paint or pigment.

MR. MATTHEWS WAS RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN

Of the Water Commissioners for the Present Year

The water commissioners held their inaugural meeting Saturday afternoon when those present were Messrs. T. F. Matthews, W. H. Hill, W. H. Moore and City Clerk Armstrong.

Mr. Matthews was unanimously re-elected chairman for the present year. Some preliminary business was cleared up and everything is in good shape for a successful year.

Lawyers Were the Only Ones Not "Stung" on This Deal

"Large oaks from little acorns grow," and good sized lawsuits spring from trivial causes. Because Edward Sanderson, of Smith township, and J. A. Storey, of the firm of Storey & Leary, had a disagreement over two dollars in a deal, the former entered action against Mr. Storey in the Division Court. The case came up before His Honor Judge Weller at the last sitting, but was not settled until this morning. At the Court House this morning His Honor gave judgment in favor of the defendant. Mr. W. H. Moore appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. D. W. Dumble for the defendant. The action arose over the sale of a manure spreader by Storey to Sanderson, and two dollars difference regarding payment of same.

TO BRING BURKE TO COUNTY GAOL

High County Constable Cochrane leaves tomorrow for Toronto to bring to the county gaol Charles E. Burke, who is being detained there until Mr. Cochrane goes for him. He was placed under arrest a week ago, and Mr. Cochrane wired the authorities in Toronto to hold him until tomorrow, when he would go after him. Burke is charged with stealing $25 at the point of a revolver, from Miss Purser, of the Burleigh post office. The offence was committed some time ago and caused quite a stir at the time.

SNOW STORM WAS GREAT BLESSING

Many of the Unemployed Given Work Shovelling Snow.

While the heavy snowstorm of yesterday proved to be a great inconvenience to many, and impeded traffic to a large extent, it was, on the other hand, a blessing to a large number who have for weeks been walking the streets unemployed. This morning Street Commissioner Mr. Harry Evans took on several new men, and they have been kept busy shovelling snow in different parts of the city, all day. They are being paid at the rate of $1.50 per day. While the employment will not be permanent, it will no doubt be of great assistance to many families that were otherwise in need.

CHANGE HAMMER FOR THE SHOVEL

On account of the heavy fall of snow work has been suspended to-day on the city stone pile. The stones are covered with snow and most of the hammer swingers are engaged to-day in shovelling snow.

Lakefield News: The congregations of St. Paul's church, Lakefield, and St. Mary's church, Young's Point, gave their pastor, Rev. Father Phelan, a very generous Christmas donation, amounting to $261.75. Miss Maude Clifford, of Peterborough, was visiting friends in the village this week. Mrs. Wm. Edwards and Master Percy are spending a few days visiting friends in Peterborough. Miss Marguerite Webster left on Monday to resume her studies at Harding Hall, London, Ont. Miss Myra White and Mr. Joseph White, of Peterborough, were the guests of Mrs. Wm. Bell, at Selwyn last week.

Norwood Register: Master Willie Howland, of Peterborough, is spending the holidays with his aunts, Mrs. Thomas Buck and Mrs. Will Parker, of South Dummer. Mr. Gordon Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, spent New Year's at the home of Mr. Charles McCarthy. The Venerable Archdeacon Warren, of Toronto, will be present and deliver sermons at the morning and evening services in the Church of England on Sunday next. Albert Deason, third son of the Rev. James Deason, of this place, met with an accident Tuesday afternoon while sleigh riding, receiving a nasty gash in one of his legs. Miss Vivian Donoghue, of Peterborough, was a guest at the home of Mr. Chas. McCarthy on Sunday last.

The Rev. John Pringle, of Dawson is being sued for libel. In denouncing the immorality of the town, he evidently has been too personal, too specific. At the same time if he has a good case, his friends should see that he is not made to sacrifice his little pecuniary means in the performance of this plain duty to the public. The man who does not flinch at doing his duty should be supported, and made to feel that his move is appreciated. As a rule he is left to sacrifice himself in every way, and finally give up in disgust. That is one reason why the progress of morality lags so slow.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

The public are cordially invited to attend the demonstration of Armour's Extract of Beef and other products which will be given at Richard Hall & Sons Store all this week. No Goods sold, Demonstration only.

HANSON GOT BAIL

Whitby, Jan. 9. — Charles Hanson, detective for the Provincial License Department, who was committed for trial yesterday at Goodwood by Benjamin Parker, J.P., on a charge of perjury in connection with evidence given by him in a case against Donald Christie, a Stouffville hotelkeeper, was brought here in custody and taken before Judge McCrimmon. He elected to be tried by this judge, and was allowed out on his own recognizance of $400 and one surety of $100. The trial will probably take place in about two weeks.

LEARN DRESSMAKING

We teach you everything from the plainest shirt waist to the most elaborate toilet that can be found in the fashion books. We show you not only the lining but all the outer goods in coats, skirts, waists, wrappers, sleeves, children's dresses, collars, etc. Why spend months at a dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes? And then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. You will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year, than you did the first day you went there. So, why spend your time there when we can teach you in less than two weeks? You can come, and try for a few days and if the course is not what we have advertised it to be you have the privilege to stop. As there is no pay in advance you certainly do not lose anything by trying. If you do not wish to be a professional dressmaker the cost is so small that you can well afford to take it up if only for your own use. We have taught over 7,000 in this way within the past five years.

Charge for full course is only $10, to be paid when through, including one of the most perfect fitting charts in use which we give free. An evening class will also be taught for the benefit of those that can not come during the day. In this class we will teach shirt waists, sleeves and saques. Terms $4.00. Hours from 7:00 to 9:30. We will teach at Peterborough from January 30 to February 7. Hours for day class form 8:30 to 5:00. For full information we would be pleased to have all those interested call and have the system explained to them at the Oriental Hotel, on Wednesday, January 29, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

MAN IN DISTRESS.

Without money, friends or home, or any place where he could sleep or stay, a young Englishman arrived in town on Friday. He had lodged the night before in the C.P.R. station, and without any breakfast trudged along to Havelock in search of work, which is not very plentiful here just now. He has been in the country over a year and was enticed to immigrate here with the idea that money could be got for merely the asking, but he has long ago changed his mind, as he slept in some barn or outhouse all night or walked the streets without a bit to eat.

Some of the kind-hearted citizens of the town took pity on the poor fellow, who is just twenty years old, and it is likely that he will be all right until he gets work. May be these kind providers have a picture in their mind of their own sons in a strange land without friends or money. The young lad blames no one for his present condition, but the immigration agents who told him to go to the free country where everyone was well-to-do and where money could be picked up without working for it.

A number of the C. P. R. employes here attended the funeral of Mr. Peter Steel, of Toronto Junction, who was killed at Carleton Place on Tuesday by slipping beneath the wheels of a train.

[illegible] had an aversion to going around to the stage door, as she feared to meet the actors. This did not explain how she was going to endure this company, however, in case she was given an opportunity to make Ellen Terry look like a selling plater. As the person she saw concerning the chances and means of her making a debut in the world of mimicry was not particularly anxious on this point, no explanation was forthcoming. Owing to the poor theatrical season the manager up to the present time has seen his way clear to pay the salary.

The play [illegible] too well conceived and [illegible] to be merely a half and half [illegible]. It was seen at the Grand [illegible] Saturday night by an audience that [illegible] decided it was dis[illegible] a success from all stand[illegible] of presentation. [illegible] Stanford who played the [illegible] Jack Frobisher, the whole[illegible] and open-hearted son of the [illegible] gold fields, was surpris[illegible] in his portrayal of the [illegible]. Not that Mr. Stanford [illegible] been recognized as an [illegible] ability, but was he [illegible] good but because he had [illegible] that gave him greater scope [illegible] probably any in which [illegible] appeared. He was excel[illegible] Manners in "Dorothy [illegible] Hall," but the [illegible] drama and its various [illegible] are by no means to be [illegible] the Walls of Jericho. His gentlemanly presence and appealing voice and delivery won him almost unlimited applause. Miss Laura Burt, as Mrs. Frobisher, did superb work and shared the honors with Mr. Stanford. Jas. McKean, enacted the role of Hankey Bannister, a somewhat unpolished but wealthy and good as gold miner, in a refreshingly originaly and droll way.

The part of the Marquis of Stevenson, as an irascible, unreasonable and altogether ridiculous old nobleman, was very cleveraly interpreted by Mr. Henry Mills. The remainder of the company lent able support and the scenic embellishments were elaborate and yet in the best of taste.

During the evening there were several curtain calls to which Mr. Stanford and Miss Burt bowed their grateful acknowledgements. The former made a short speech expressing his thanks and telling of the pleasure it gave him to appear before such an appreciative audience.

Will Address an Epworth League

Mr. Geo. Thomas to Speak at George St. This Evening

The meeting of the George Street Epworth League will be of a specially interesting nature to-night. It will be a missionary evening, and the feature will be an address by Mr. George Thomas, proprietor of the Dominion Chinese cafe. Mr. Thomas will speak on conditions in China with special reference to missionary work there.

The Women's Missionary Society will hold an open meeting to-morrow afternoon.

The Girls' Guild will meet to-morrow night at eight o'clock. A good programme is being arranged.

The Class Ladies' Association of the city will also meet on Thursday night at eight o'clock.

There will be a missionary prayer meeting on Wednesday evening.

EARLY HISTORY OF PETERBORO'

To the Editor of The Review:

Sir,—I was much interested in reading Miss Donoghue's excellent paper on the early history of Peterborough before St. Peter's Literary Society, as reported in the Review. Such a theme will always read like romance. In speaking of "Priest Butler," as he was familiarly known in those days, she states that he left behind him a name ever to be loved by the Catholic people, and she might have added, with truth, by the Protestant people as well, for they loved him none the less, owing to his charity and broad-mindedness. If all Catholics were like him we would soon forget that there was a dividing line.

She also said that owing to the excellent water power more manufacturing concerns were induced to locate here. She might have also added that owing to the penny wise and pound foolish policy of the owners of such water power, many other of such concerns built their factories elsewhere, besides others already established here were forced to leave under the ever increasing rentals. Had the Government retained all water powers for the good of the people or vested them in the municipalities instead of creating monopolies by private ownership, Peterborough would have been as far advanced twenty-five years ago as it is to-day, and would now be a city of 50,000 inhabitants. Peterborough's opportunity was before electricity became a motive power, when she had practically a monopoly of the water powers in this part of the province. But, alas, for the stupidity of our government.

Yours,

PROTESTANT.

Good Attendance at the Market

Large Quantities of Beef and Pork Offered for Sale

The usual Saturday market was well attended. Large quantities of beef and small lots of pork were on hand on the outside market. The prices also held high, beef selling at 5 and 6; pork, 10 and 11; eggs selling at 35 cents dozen; butter sold for 32 cents and 30 cents per lb. Turkeys ranged in price from $1.25 to $2.00; geese, sold at $1.00 to $1.50; chickens brought 60 cents to 75 cents per pair.

REINDEER BROKE THROUGH ICE

Dr. Grenfell Lost Several Animals of Herd for Labrador

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 12.—The herd of reindeer imported from Norway by Dr. Wilfrid Grenfell, the celebrated missionary, were landed at Cremaille harbor, Labrador, under difficulties. The deer were placed on board the steamer Anita at St. John's, but on account of numerous ice floes the boat was unable to get near the shore.

The animals were lowered from the steamer to a body of ice. When the dock hands started to drive the deer to land it was found that the ice was very thin, and, in spite of the efforts of the men, several animals broke through and perished. The bull of the herd was driven ashore safely.

A short time later a storm arose and the Anita was forced on a reef. Her bottom was badly damaged and her sides were crushed by a huge ice floe which carried against the vessel. The boat remained afloat, however, and was able to reach St. John's. She arrived yesterday leaking badly.

CHANGE IN COMMAND OF THE GUARDS

Major Street to Succeed Lieut.-Col. Bate

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—Lt.-Col. Bate will leave shortly for a trip to the South, and in all probability will not again command the Governor-General's Foot Guards. He has practically decided to retire from the command of the famous old regiment, and will be succeeded by Major D. R. Street, who is the senior major of the regiment.

WEDDING BELLS

McCONNELL—BUCK

Norwood, Jan. 9.—Amid a festive throng of the friends and relatives of the contracting parties on New Year's eve at the residence of the bride's father, the wedding of Miss Annie McConnell and Mr. Samuel H. Buck was solemnized by the Rev. W. H. Adams. At the appointed hour the groom took his place under an arch of evergreens hung with wedding bells, which had been erected in an angle of the parlor; and immediately afterwards the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Robert McConnell, entered to the strains of the wedding march. She was becomingly gowned in point d'esprit net over white silk with wreath and veil, and carried a beautiful shower bouquet. Her only attendant was her flower girl, little Miss Mary Scott, who looked pretty in her dress of white Persian. After the ceremony and the customary congratulations, the party repaired to the dining room, where three large tables were laid. The room was elaborately decorated, and the long colored streamers which radiated from the huge wedding bell in the centre of the ceiling to the cornice around the room, produced a very pretty effect. Subsequently the happy pair were escorted to the station, where they left for western points on their honeymoon trip. The bride's going-away dress was brown venetian trimmed with silk, lace and velvet ribbon. The presents, which included gifts of silver, china and linen, were very numerous, and amongst them were many pieces of handsome parlor furniture. The gift of the groom to the bride was a fine set of sable furs.

SHOT FIRED IN COURT.

Judge and Spectators Take Refuge in Flight.

Waukegan, Ill., Jan. 13.—Mrs. Maude Crews, aged 35, fired two shots at Arthur Nichols in a crowded courtroom on Saturday, wounding Nichols seriously and causing the judge and the spectators to take refuge in flight. Mrs. Crews was arrested. The shooting followed Nichols' discharge by Police Judge Weiss, after Nichols had been arraigned on complaint of Mrs. Crews, who alleged that Nichols had tried to run her down with his horse, and had struck at her with a whip last night. Nichols asserted that the woman's act was the result of "an insane infatuation" for him. Mrs. Crews is the mother of eight children.

Collapsed at Curling Rink.

Morrisburg, Jan. 13.—Hugh Montgomery, merchant tailor, died suddenly here Saturday night. He retired from active business six years ago and took up his residence in Toronto last year. He returned to Morrisburg during the holidays, visiting friends and relatives. He went to the curling rink, and while not taking any active part in the game, he did deliver two stones. Shortly after he suddenly collapsed and fell on the ice. He was removed to the waiting-room, medical aid was summoned, but he never regained consciousness, death resulting from heart failure.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 13.—Late Saturday night the jury in the case of Thomas David, accused of the murder of his wife last summer, after they had quarreled at McAdam Junction, brought in a verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the lowest form, with a strong recommendation to mercy. He will be sentenced to-day. The prisoner showed no concern. It was proved during the trial that David was subject to fits of insanity and that he and his wife had lived an unhappy life.

Reopening Plant.

Belleville, Jan. 13.—For some time past the horseshoe department in connection with the local rolling mills has only been in partial operation, but to-day the full force of the department will be taken on again and the horseshoe plant operated to its full capacity. It is believed that before long the entire plant of the rolling mills will be again in operation, as scrap iron is arriving in large quantities.

Burns Prove Fatal.

Wiliamsford, Jan. 13.—Miss H. Pinkham, a young woman residing south of Darnock, is dead, at her parent's home. About two months ago while employed as a domestic by H. G. Tucker, Owen Sound, she was badly burned while starting a fire in the furnace. She was brought home here and after two months of suffering died.

Vesuvius Still Busy.

Naples, Jan. 13.—Mount Vesuvius continues to throw out ashes and incandescent matter from its chief centre, the cone of which formed by the last eruption collapsed recently, the earth's tremblings being felt for long distances.

Fire in Russell House.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—Slight damage was done by fire in the linen room of the Russell House yesterday afternoon. While running an extension ladder up to a window Fireman George Parker was struck on the back with the crank of the winch, and two of his ribs were broken.

Admiralty Says No.

London, Jan. 13.—The Admiralty have once more vetoed the scheme for the development of Plymouth as a commercial port.

Vancouver labor men censure Police Magistrate Williams for alleged pro-Japanese decisions since September last.

Newcastle Island, B. C., stone was built into the San Francisco mint, and stood the test of earthquake and fire.

Italians Fought Gallantly.

Rome, Jan. 13.—Advices received here from Italian Somaliland yesterday give brief details of the attack of the Abyssinians on Lugh. Capt. Bongiovanni, the commander of the native garrison at Lugh, who fought gallantly against the Abyssinians, was killed in the final encounter. Another Italian officer withdrew from the town with a number of native soldiers, but it is not known what their destination was. Only 15 native soldiers entered Lugh, it is stated, after the Abyssinians withdrew to the north.

A SMART SEMI-FITTING COAT

A stylish loose coat in cheviot, finished in approved tailored fashion, is here pictured. It will undoubtedly please the woman who has a weakness for smart effects, and as its modelling is very simple there are no unusual difficulties to confront the home dressmaker who may wish to attempt it. The slight, but perfect shaping in the back is effected by means of centre-back and side seams, the double-breasted front, hanging quite straight and loose. Side pockets and a small breast pocket produce a jaunty effect, which is heightened by the mannish sleeve. The coat is appropriate for modelling in any of the fashionable cloths or suitings, 2½ yards 54 inches wide being necessary for the medium size.

6996—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

DID THE RIGHT THING

It never does any man harm when he is in the wrong or discovers that he has acted too hastily and reached an erroneous conclusion, to apologize. It is a manly, brave and straightforward thing to do. The one who makes the apology feels better and so does the one to whom it is made.

An incident occurred recently in the School Board proceedings which is worth more than a passing reference. Sometime ago there was a meeting called of the Queen Alexandra school committee, of which Mr. D. W. Dumble is chairman. Mr. W. A. Robinson, who is a member of the committee, did not receive a notice of the meeting and thought that he had been ignored. He brought the matter up in the Board and stated, with some feeling, that he was not to be overlooked because he happened to belong to a different class than the other members of the Board. Mr. Robinson evidently referred to the fact that he was a laboring man, while the other trustees were either professional or business men. It was explained at the time that a notice had been forwarded to him and that he was under an incorrect impression.

At the first meeting of the new board on Thursday night last Mr. Robinson made the amende honorable for his previous insinuations and ill-timed remarks. In a quiet, gentlemanly way he stated there had been a misunderstanding on his part and he was anxious to rectify matters. He offered a sincere apology for his previous utterances, which Mr. Dumble, chairman of the committee, accepted, and said that Mr. Robinson had always been treated with the same consideration and courtesy as the other members.

The foregoing incident may seem to some only a trivial matter, but to others it has a deeper significance and meaning. It was a courteous, manly, courageous and honorable action on the part of Mr. Robinson to apologize and his apology does him infinite credit. The Board manifested its approval of his course by applause and any little misunderstanding or feeling that may have existed, has been obliterated. The whole thing may appear only a trivial matter, but such affairs, if allowed to pass, engender petty jealousies which may lead to serious breaches or open ruptions. So long as such a desire exists on the part of the trustees to have unity, concord and rapport among the members the best possible work in the interest of the schools and the city will be done, and most satisfactory results achieved.

JAPANESE IMMIGRATION

Canada's envoy to Japan, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, has returned home to the Capital from Tokio, and announces that he is perfectly satisfied that his mission to the Orient on behalf of the Canadian Government has been a success. This mission of the Postmaster General was, as is well known, to induce the Japanese Government to restrict the immigration of the yellow man to Canada. The details of the negotiations have not yet been made known, although in the American press and in certain Canadian papers, despatches have appeared to the effect that Mr. Lemieux's errand was a complete failure. The reason given was that he had failed to take the American ambassador into his confidence. Mr. Lemieux retorts that, in this regard, he does not think that the Canadian Parliament or the Canadian people will blame him.

It is not fair to write down the Postmaster General's mission as a fiasco until it is definitely learned whether or not it has or will bear fruit. This is not a party or political question. It is a question of national significance, and fraught with tremendous import to the Dominion, especially the western provinces. All true Canadians—those who take a broad, generous view of the matter—hope, irrespective of party considerations or affiliations, that the trouble with respect to the rapid influx of Japs to these shores, has been satisfactorily adjusted, and that an amicable understanding has been reached: that there will, as far as the Dominion is concerned, be no occasion to repudiate the favorable treaty made between Great Britain and Japan.

Canadians—one and all—believe that though the yellow influx [illegible] menace to the future of this country, its people and its development, and trust that the Canadian envoy has been successful in his mission, and that Japan has been impressed with the expediency and the wisdom of directing immigration to Asiatic countries rather than to this land, which is pre-eminently the white man's home and possession.

PEN POINTS

This former mayor says he is still feeling a little bit Rushed.

The new council today made its bow, and a very graceful one it was.

There are now almost as many snow banks in the city as chartered banks.

There will be no late sessions at this year's council meetings, as the aldermen will finish up business with a Rush.

The great event on Monday is the start in another year's race by the aldermen.

It is all right to play the part of detective, but one should not run in case of danger. After all, preservation is the first law of nature.

The week of prayer has closed. The meetings were in many respects the most impressive and widely attended of any ever held in Peterborough.

Peterborough was defeated in the hockey contest on Friday night, and now the flood gates of joy have been unloosed in Lindsay.

The big snow storm was a fine excuse for staying home from church on Sunday, but whoever saw a man fail to bother with business because of a big fall of the beautiful?

The Whitney Government is keeping up its habit of having big current surpluses. There isn't anything to them either in the shape of a bigger extra expenditure on a capital account. The latter is a Fielding specialty.

A tailor and a barber had a row in Toronto, and the latter attempted to deliberately kill his opponent by firing two shots at him. They were not fatal. Another instance of where the would-be victim of the barber had a close shave.

Of all the sickening, syruppy, sentimental slush that emanates from New York during the Thaw trial, there is no limit. Here is another sample of it. Counsel for Harry K. Thaw have denied absolutely a story which has been printed to the effect that Thaw and his wife had a quarrel at luncheon hour today. The declare the story is absolutely without any foundation.

MUST DRESS WARMLY

Advice of Noted Authority, Also Simple Home Prescription.

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an old eminent authority who says that Rheumatism and Kidney trouble weather is here, and also tells what to do in case of an attack.

Get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Just try this simple home-made mixture at the first sign of Rheumatism, or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney regulator, and almost certain remedy for all forms of Rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Any one can easily prepare this at home and at small cost.

He Would Not Leave Village

Without Obtaining the Consent of Lakefield Council

Dear Sir, — Among the Lakefield which appear in this week's "Peterboro Weekly Examiner," is one which reads: "Messrs. R. Q. Dench and Bernard Dench spent a few days in Toronto last week." Will you kindly allow me a short space in your valuable paper to correct this statement which I am sure must have proved particularly interesting to the Lakefield community. My son Bernard passed through Toronto during Xmas week on his way to Ingersoll, but Mr. R. Q. Dench after his long residence in Lakefield would scarcely think of leaving home even for a few days without first obtaining the unanimous consent of the village council.

Yours courteously,
R. Q. DENCH.

Celebrated Scotch Preacher at St. Andrew's Yesterday

Rev. Andrew Allan of Glasgow a Learned and Interesting Preacher—Spoke at Both Services and in the Afternoon—Here for the Purpose of Conducting Mission.

The congregation of St. Andrew's yesterday had the first opportunity of listening to discourses by Rev. Andrew Allan, of Glasgow, Scotland, who is here to conduct a series of mission services at St. Andrew's, and who preached at both morning and evening services and in the school house in the afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Allan is a fluent and impressive speaker and impresses his listeners as a man of intense earnestness and wide knowledge. The message he has to deliver is told in no uncertain or ambiguous way. He is evidently a great student of the Bible, and this, combined with his convictions and his lucid manner of exposition, make him a pleasing and instructive speaker. There is nothing stereotyped about Rev. Allan's addresses; on the contrary, they are original and clearly expressed.

At the morning service he spoke on the secret of the heroic Christian life, taking as his text, "The people that do know their God shall be strong and do exploits." In the evening his text was from Romans 8-21, "Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God." In this discourse he dwelt upon the glorious privilege of our birthright.

ABOUT THE HOLY LAND.

Rev. Andrew Allan is one who talks not only from what he has read or studied, but to a great extent from actual experience. In his address on the Holy Land in the school house, in the afternoon, he gave in a most entertaining manner an account of his visit to that place of wondrous interest to all Christians on account of its connection with the life of our Saviour. He vividly described the sunrise on the desert, telling of the effect it had of changing the sombre landscape to a scene of supreme beauty, and spoke of Jesus as the sunrise to lighten the life of mankind. His text was from Luke 1-18. "The dayspring from on high hath visited us."

The speaker told of his journey from Jerusalem to the River Jordan and return, which entailed travelling across the desert to the Red Sea by night. The party, of which he was a member, left on their expedition across the sandy waste about 2.30 in the morning, in order to avoid the scorching heat experienced by a trip during the day. When the mantle of night is thrown over the desert the scene presented is one that is long to be remembered. The effect is most weird, and when the sun arises in all its glory, the transformation is wonderful. There is no twilight there, and the magnificence of the sunrise is unheralded by anything, except the morning star. The preacher compared the sunrise with the light that Christ gives to believers.

THE PASSPORT IN THE EAST.

To travel at all extensively in the East one must have a passport. This parchment, which bears among other things a perfect description of the one to whom its privileges are accorded, is a sort of accessory through ticket, and is a protection to the traveller from the fanatical Mohammedans, as well as being an assurance that its holder will be permitted by vigilant officials to go on his way. In Palestine, Mr. Allan stated, he was given by reason of the passport the protection of a Turkish soldier, a concession granted to passport possessors in that Oriental land.

THE CHRISTIAN'S PASSPORT

But there is another passport which is indispensable to the safe journeying of the pilgrim in this life. What is that passport? It is the one that gives us the right of entrance to the Heavenly Home, and is the friendship of Jesus. This passport will give us protection from all the dangers of this world, and assure a safe journey to our destination.

While in the Holy Land the speaker saw many places of religious interest and comprehensively described them and told of their historical connection. Chief among what he saw, was the manger in which Jesus was born. The sight of the birthplace of One who had lived and died upon this earth impressed upon him the humanity and nearness of Christ, and he stated the memory of his seeing the manger will always be with him.

In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Allan explained that the purpose of the mission services he is holding in Peterborough was not only to get men and women to know Christ, but also to have the children know the love and friendship of Jesus.

Stirring Sermon by Scotch Divine

Rev. Andrew Allan Delivered Impressive Discourses at St. Andrew's

In St. Andrew's church last evening the noted Scotch evangelist, Rev. Andrew Allan began his ten days mission.

In the evening he delivered a stirring and impressive discourse, which was followed with close attention.

Mr. Allan read for his lesson, the 8th chap., Romans, and he chose for a text the 21st verse of this same chapter. His discourse was along the same line of thought as his morning subject.

The whole Epistle to the Romans gives an outline of the Divine birthright of Christ Jesus, and how it effects mankind by giving the conditions, characters and methods of manifestation. What is the purpose of the epistle? It is to introduce to human hearts, of all classes of mankind, the glorious liberty of the sons and daughters of God. This is the one great purpose of the epistle. The Milan cathedral is a very interesting place to visit. The gorgeous cathedral has windows which contain very fine pictures, each illustrating a chapter of the Epistle to the Romans. The purposes of the epistle were the condemnation of the soul in Christ Jesus, the justification, the consecration, the sanctification.

REV. ANDREW ALLAN

The Noted Scottish Evangelist Who Began a Ten Days Mission in St. Andrew's Church Yesterday

The condition under which these roses are filled is 1st verse, chap. 8. There is, therefore, now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. Our consciences are all condemned by a blood red line, which encloses some of us or separates us from our friends. Just as it separated the Israelites in the land of Goshen, on the morning of the Passover, from which the feast of the Passover originated. Thus everyone is cleansed through the condemnation of his own conscience.

The second condition is that Christ be in you. Look to Jesus upon the cross, to come into your heart, to save you, to inspire you, to uplift you. The Holy Ghost comes into our spirit as we seek to know Him.

The third condition is found in verse 14. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the Sons of God. The speaker related the following story to illustrate this thought. An American who was in England, was attending a prayer-meeting, and there he heard a rich, baritone voice singing, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." It seemed to impress him, for he had heard that same voice somewhere else, and he desired to know. After the meeting he spoke to the singer, and he found out that it was during the American war. This singer was on sentry duty, and feeling ill at ease, he began to sing, and on coming to the lines,

"Cover my defenceless head,
With the shadow of Thy wing,"

he felt a relief come to his soul. The other man said that he was on the opposing force, and at that moment was in ambush. His soldiers had their rifles levelled at him, but he when he heard the song he gave the order to retire. There was a guiding hand over this young man, and the same hand will lead every one present. These are the children of God. The master touch of the Holy Spirit comes into the souls of as many as come under His guidance. John Wesley showed remarkable peace during a time of shipwreck, when all other passengers were in the wildest confusion. This great evangelist was trusting in the guiding hand of the Holy Ghost. There is no condemnation to those who are in the guidance of Christ Jesus.

Sunday School St. Luke's Church

Annual Entertainment Held—Presentations to Superintendent Spence and Mr. Turner, jr.

St. Luke's Sunday school was crowded to the doors Friday night on the occasion of the annual Christmas tree and presentation of prizes. On the platform were two large Christmas trees laden with presents for the children. The chair was taken by Mr. David Spence, St. Luke's indefatigable Sunday school superintendent. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises, conducted by the rector, after which Mr. Spence and Dr. Langfeldt said words of welcome to the large audience. The following programme was then presented:

Christmas carol, by Sunday school.
Piano solo, Miss Clara Adams.
Songs, Kindergarten class.
Piano solo, Miss Thelma Bailey.
Recitation, Miss Florence Brooks.
Recitation, Miss Susie Ball.
Recitation, Bertram Lipsett.
Vocal duet, Miss Georgie and Prudence Long.
Recitation, Miss Violet Hutchinson.
Song, Miss Florence Adams.
Recitation, Thomas Jennings.
Recitation, Miss Alma Curtis.
Piano solo, Miss Katie Leary.
Recitation, Miss Ada Norris.
Recitation, Miss Eunice Curtis.
Piano solo, Miss Marjory Kennedy
Recitation, Miss Isabel Parker.
Reading, Miss Katie Leary.
Recitation, Miss Laura Parker.
Recitation, Miss Margaret Turner.

Before distributing the prizes Rev. Dr. Langfeldt made some statements regarding the work of the Sunday school, and paid glowing tribute to the good work of the superintendent, Mr. David Spence, who was assisted by a faithful band of teachers. He also expressed his gratitude to the great assistance he received from his faithful lay readers, Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., and Mr. Arthur Kingdon, who gave their services most gladly and without any remuneration whatever. In awarding the prizes a very high standard had been set, so that even the third prize demanded a high efficiency in the scholar. The rewards were given for diligent study of catechism and Bible lessons, exemplary conduct and regular attendance; 364 marks were the highest possible marks which were obtained by Misses Addie Mitchell, Ruby Quartermaine, Violet Whittaker and Gladys Whittaker, who received first prize. The other successful scholars were:

First prize — Edward Hearwell, Hugh Stewart, Orlando Waterman, Eva Crane, Greta Pakenham, Lizzie Maniece, Eunice Curtis, Amy Pakenham, Irene Whittaker.

Second prize — Clara Adams, Elsie Dawson, Morton Adams, Hazel Crane, Gladstone Pakenham, Hazel Hartley, Harold Bell.

Third prize — Ella Curtis, Albert Whittaker, Arthur Pakenham, Lillie Scott, Electa Strong, Maud Stewart, Fanny Long, Retta Gaskins, Alma Curtis, Bertha Bell, Kingsley Waterman, Wilfred Adams, Ada Norris, Georgie Long, Mildred Curtis, Prudence Long, Oswald Curtis, Willie Thompson, Robert Thompson, Bertram Lipsett, Lionel Lipsett, Wilhelmina Gaskins, Fred Long.

After this the presents were taken from the trees and each scholar received one gift.

A presentation was made to Mr. David Spence by the rector, officers and teachers of the Sunday school. It consisted of a leather travelling bag and a Waterman fountain pen. Alderman Turner was remembered by his Bible class with a fine steel engraving, framed. The teachers were also remembered by their classes. Mr. Fred. Norris was presented with an umbrella. The happy evening was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem and three cheers for Mr. Spence.

Boys' Guild to Meet at 7.15

On Friday night the Boys' Guild of St. Andrew's will meet at 7.15 in the school house. Rev. Andrew Allan, who is conducting mission services at St. Andrew's all this week, has a special message to deliver to the boys, who are requested to bring their young friends with them. Rev. Mr. Allan is a very interesting and instructive speaker, and his address should be of special interest.

AN ADDITION MAY BE ERECTED

To the Salvation Army Barracks—More Room is Necessary

Staff-Capt. Miller, of Toronto, took part in the services at the Army Barracks yesterday. The meetings were very successful in view of the stormy weather. Five converts were reported at the evening meeting.

On Thursday night, Jan. 16, a special meeting, "The Young People's Annual," with a programme, will be given; 106 prizes will be distributed to the children for attendance during the year.

Staff-Captain Miller, in conjunction with the local members, will decide about changes at the barracks. It is thought an addition will be built to the present building, as the junior work has made such progress more room is absolutely necessary.

Ladies to Hold Open Meeting

Interesting Programme Arranged for Gathering at George St. Church

The Women's Mission Society of the George Street Methodist Church will hold an open meeting to-morrow afternoon, opening at three o'clock. Mrs. (Rev.) Keith will give an address on "India," and the meeting promises to be of a most interesting nature. Refreshments will be served and a silver collection will be taken up in aid of the Rest Fund for wornout missionaries. There promises to be a large attendance. The meeting will be held in the Sunday school room.

Invitation Cards for AT Homes, Receptions and Evening Parties, partly printed for 1c each. Envelopes to match 10c package. On sale at the Review Office

HELD REVIEW OF THE LESSONS

The Salvation Army Sunday school was held yesterday, at which there was a review of the lessons for the past three months. Each lesson was illustrated by objects, making the lessons most interesting.

Whitcroft was again in evidence and passed the puck to Campbell who scored. A hot shot on the North Battleford goal was stopped by Bissett. Whitcroft took the puck out of the scrimmage and scored again. Whitcroft scored again just before half time, and the score stood 7 to 1 in favor of Edmonton.

SECOND HALF.

The puck was placed for the second half at 9.23. Campbell rushed a shot on the North Battleford goal but missed. Tobin secured and by good combination passed to Hewer. Tobin scored in 1-4 min. Whitcroft and Campbell rushed the North Battleford goal, but Whitcroft missed a fast play. Haddock took the puck out of the scrimmage and passed to Hewer who shot and missed. Campbell again shot and missed. Haddock broke his skate. Play was resumed at 9.28. Hewer made a brilliant rush from centre and scored in 1-4 minute. Crowley was put on the fence for two minutes for tripping. The game got warmed with mixed plays. Hewer again scored for N. Battleford. Haddock passed to Tobin from the face off. Tobin shot and missed and Hewer scored from the scrimmage in 1-2 minute. Whitcroft rushed, shot and missed. There was a rough mix up and in the centre of the scrimmage Whitcroft scored in five minutes. There was an off-side for Battleford. Wilson rushed the length of the ice and passed to Hewer who missed. Tobin took the puck and shot and missed. Wilson shot on goal and missed and Tobin shot and missed. When time was called the score stood 8 to 5 in favor of Edmonton.

Havelock and Marmora open the season on Monday Jan. 13, at Havelock. Mr. Thos. Buller, of Marmora, will act as referee. It is likely to be a very interesting match as Marmora and Havelock were about equal last year. Both teams will have on a strong line up and big things are expected.

Havelock will likely ring in some exhibition games with other towns, so as to keep well practiced.

ROWING

A GOOD PICTURE.

Mr. R. M. Roy has in his possession a photograph of the late Ed. Hanlan, taken many years ago at Lake Couchiching, when there was a race between Wallace Ross and Jacob G. Gaudaur, the former champion of the world. Mr. Roy saw the race and Mr. Ed Hanlan was referee. He was seen holding the stop watch on the contestants, and smiling at the crowd. Mr. Roy, who took the snap shot of Hanlan, prizes it very highly.

HOCKEY

The Strathconas will practice to-night. As the team needs to be in the best of shape for the game to-morrow night with Cobourg a full turnout is looked for.

MILLER DOING WELL.

Brantford's great work was done in the second half. Miller, Taylor and Ward especially distinguished themselves in this half, and Taylor without doubt showed himself to be the best skater on the ice. Miller has improved 100 per cent. since the Guelph game.—Brantford Expositor.

TOO LATE NOW TO ENTER.

Belleville Intelligencer: An effort is being made to enter an intermediate team in the O.H.A., but fears are felt that it is too late. A good team, we are told, can be secured if the O.H.A. authorities will allow our team to enter.

A CHALLENGE.

The Cressman counter hoppers' hockey team hereby challenge the employees of the J. C. Turnbull staff to a game of hockey, to be played, as soon as arrangements can be made.

CURLING

GETTING RINK READY.

The Peterborough Curling Club are preparing the bottom of the old rink for their curling matches. There was about ten inches of snow on the ice after last night's storm, but Mr. McIntosh and staff are clearing away the beautiful to-day.

THIS IS A CHALLENGE

The secretary of the Pill Pounders' hockey team has handed in the following dope to the print editor of the Review.

The Pill Pounders hereby challenge any of the following teams to play hockey Wednesday night, Jan. 15th, from 10 to 11 p.m.: Cressman's Counter Jumpers, the Grafters, or Rough Riders, or Knockers.

First come, first served. Don't all speak at once.

PORT HOPE WINS FROM COBOURG

Cobourg, Jan. 12—(Special) — Cobourg juniors were beaten by the Port Hope juniors here Saturday night in an O.H.A. game by 5 to 1. The locals tried rough tactics in the first half but Referee Livingstone imposed many penalties, with the result that the game was fast, and clean in the second half. Once the referee was compelled to put four Cobourg men on the fence at one time. The half time score was 2 to 1 in favor of the visitors.

THE FUR SEAL.

A Sea Animal With Heart, Liver and Kidneys Like a Sheep.

The fur seal is a land animal of perverted tastes, who, living at sea, has had his paws changed into flippers very like the long black kid gloves of a woman. His heart, liver and kidneys are exactly the same as those of a sheep and just as good to eat, but his flesh, although just like fat mutton to look at, is rank and distasteful from his habit of eating fish. The whole package is put up in a parcel of thick white fat to keep the body warm, while from the skin grows a heavy crop of beautiful brown fur, protected with large flat oil bearing hairs, making a glossy surface which slides through the water without friction.

Perfectly fearless, overflowing with fun, a perfect little athlete, marvelously strong, the fur seal is the most delightful of all wild creatures. But, although they live at sea, the seals, being heavily clothed in fat, skin and hair, find the temperate latitudes much too warm for comfort during the summer months. Since they cannot shed their garments like ourselves, they migrate to a subarctic climate, gathering in immense multitudes where there are fisheries to support them. Their ration is fifty pounds of cod every day, which for a creature the size of a sheep is considerable.—Exchange.

Advanced Arithmetic.

Kenneth is the name of a good natured Washington lad who is as studious as any of his companions, but he is young yet and has not advanced very far in the grades of the public schools. The other evening he was visiting a boy friend who has laid his plans for serving in Uncle Sam's army in the future and contemplates graduating from West Point some day. The two were talking about mathematics when a young lady sought to test Kenneth's knowledge of 'rithmetic.

"If lemons are 23 cents a dozen," she asked him, "how much are cast iron lamp posts apiece?"

With a perfectly serious expression on his face Kenneth replied:

"I don't know, miss. I haven't got that far in 'rithmetic yet."

Pack of Edmonton fur dealers offer $15 to $16 for Polar bear skins according to the value of the hides.

HOW ARABS FIGHT.

Their Aim Is to Wound an Enemy, Not to Kill Him.

"A striking point in the Arab's character," writes a traveler of what he saw in Mesopotamia, "is his intense dislike of bloodshed and savagery. The tribes of the Jazirah are continually at war, and, as I have had plenty of evidence to the contrary, I think it would be absurd to accuse them of cowardice, but no one who has seen them or talked to them can fail to be struck with their extraordinary lack of vindictiveness and their wonderfully merciful way of fighting. An Arab never fights to kill. His objects are to capture, to incapacitate or to frighten into submission. He will, it is true, do a great amount of material damage—burn villages and ruin crops—but he will never take life unnecessarily or refuse quarter and never, as far as I know, beat or ill use a prisoner. On the other hand, a desert Arab will rob and tyrannize over his weaker neighbors in a peculiarly ruthless way and always do his best to make agriculture impossible.

"Their method of fighting is almost entirely confined to the use of the lance, which is carried javelinwise, the lance itself being a light bamboo some eighteen or twenty feet in length, with a long knifelike head. A band of horsemen from 200 to 300 in number comes swooping down on the herds of the enemy, some driving off succor while others carry away the booty. The defense of the herds against these attacks is similar, a swift pursuit and an endeavor to draw off the marauders being the usual method. Generally the advantage lies with the attacking force, as the defenders usually look to recouping themselves by a similar attack rather than to recapturing the lost herds immediately. The reason is that the marauding party if hard pressed might hustle the captured animals unduly and made them almost worthless.

"The rules of war in the Jazirah are as strictly and decently observed among Arabs as by the white and red knights in 'Alice In Wonderland.' To kill an enemy in battle is discreditable and savage. To wound slightly is what is aimed at, and to wound a man slightly with a bamboo lance twenty feet long is no small feat of skill. To surrender is not discreditable. Flight is as justifiable as attack. To carry on warfare at night would be scandalous and shameful or, if we choose to take a cynical view, productive of inconvenient reprisals. Camps, as far as I could ascertain, are practically out of bounds for a similar reason. Warfare in the Jazirah is an elaborate form of sport.

"I have yet to hear a Bedouin speak ill of his enemy, even though he may have had the worst of it himself. Indeed, as far as I could see, there was as little personal animus between hereditary foes as exists between two elevens of cricketers. Of course, at times regrettable things are done, but the occasions are very rare indeed. The only really discreditable aspect of the intertribal warfare is the ruthless way in which the Bedouins of the shepherd tribes plunder the poor agricultural dependents of their antagonists, who, having neither arms nor horses, are incapable of defiance."

City and Country Folk.

The rapid rate of life, the number of decisions in an hour, the many things to keep account of in a busy city man's or woman's life, seem monstrous to a country brother. He doesn't see how we live at all. A day in New York or Chicago fills him with terror. The danger and noise make it appear like a permanent earthquake. But settle him there and in a year or two he will have caught the pulse beat. He will vibrate to the city's rhythms, and if he only succeeds in his avocation, whatever that may be, he will find a joy in all the hurry and the tension, he will keep the pace as well as any of us and get as much out of himself in any week as he ever did in ten weeks in the country.

The stimuli of those who successfully respond and undergo the transformation here are duty, the example of others and crowd pressure and contagion. The transformation, moreover, is a chronic one. The new level of energy becomes permanent. The duties of new offices of trust are constantly producing this effect on the human beings appointed to them. The physiologists call a stimulus dynamogenic when it increases the muscular contractions of men to whom it is applied, but appeals can be dynamogenic morally as well as muscularly.

Interlaken, near Vernon, displayed ripe fruit on its wild strawberry vine a week before Christmas.

A Happy 1908

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro' our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Yours very respectfully,

Big Net Profits of Royal Bank for Year 1908

Earned 19 per cent on the Capital Against 17.11 per cent a Year Ago

The annual statement of the Royal Bank of Canada, published today, is one more evidence of the sound and judicious management of our Canadian banks during a most trying period.

The Royal has maintained its exceptionally strong position and at the same time afforded legitimate credits to its customers, as shown by an increase of nearly $3,000,000 in commercial loans.

Deposits have increased over $300,000 during the year, and now exceed $33,000,000. Liquid assets, consisting of cash, bonds and balances due by banks, are equal to 52 per cent on liability to the public, an exceptional showing.

PROFITS WERE BIG.

Net profits for the year were the best in the history of the bank, $792,034.39—19 per cent of the capital—and have enabled the management to make a most substantial reduction of $250,000 in the bank premises account.

The usual addition of $20,000 has been made to the officers' pension fund and a balance of $156,909.76 has been carried forward to the credit of profit and loss.

The employees have shared in the bank's prosperity, a general bonus of 10 per cent. having been declared by the board.

The shareholders of the Royal Bank are to be congratulated on the statement.

The increase in net profits for the year was nearly 2 per cent.

THE SHAREHOLDERS.

G. T. R. Double Header Trains Were Blocked by Snow Storm

Two Long Freights Stuck Fast Yesterday Afternoon and Evening—Unable to Proceed Until Assistance Arrived.

Double header freight trains on the G.T.R. had considerable difficulty in making any headway yesterday afternoon. About three o'clock a double header, with a long train of box cars was going north on the Midland division. The caboose had just passed Stewart street, when the train got stuck, and could not proceed. After strenuous efforts made by the engines to get free from the immeasurable amount of snow that was clogging the wheels, the distress whistle was blown, and another engine arrived from the depot. With the combined efforts of the auxiliary working at the rear and the other two engines, the train was released, and able to proceed after having been stuck fast for over an hour.

A similar affair occurred last evening, about a quarter to eight, when another G.T.R. double header freight train became securely fastened in the snow pile, above Park street. It also was unable to free itself, and it was not until assistance came from the depot that it was able to go ahead.

Big Blaze in Toronto Does Damage Amounting $200,000

(Special to The Review)

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 13—Fire in the storage of M. Rawlinson, Ltd., on St. Joseph street, this morning, caused about $200,000 damages. There were two warehouses, one a new one and the other erected in 1903. The fire started in the basement of the old warehouse, supposedly from an electric motor, and ran up the elevator shaft, spreading rapidly.

The building, which is valued at $60,000, was damaged to the extent of about $15,000, covered by $7,000 insurance.

There were between twelve and fifteen hundred separate lots of furniture in the warehouse, and each private party storing furniture is responsible for the insurance upon it.

Esteemed Lady Passed Away On Sunday

The news of the death of Mrs. R. J. Kidd, who passed away at her late residence, 380 Hunter street, on Sunday morning at seven o'clock, was received throughout the city with the profoundest regret. While she had been in poor health since last November, she had only been seriously ill two weeks. Her death came as a great shock to a wide circle of friends, and has cast a gloom over the circle in which she moved. The late Mrs. Kidd was forty-two years of age, and was born in Millbrook. Her maiden name was Charlotte Coe, she being the daughter of the late Thos. Coe and Mrs. Coe of Goderich. She was married to her now surviving husband twenty years ago, and they had resided in this city ever since. The deceased was a lady of sterling qualities, and her amiable and pleasant disposition won for her a large number of friends. She was actively engaged in church work, having been a member of the Charlotte St. Methodist church. She was prominently identified in the Sunday school where she served faithfully as a teacher for many years. She was also a great worker in the Ladies' Aid, having filled several important offices in that society. In her last hours upon earth she bore her severe illness with Christian fortitude, and patience.

Besides her husband, her mother and four sisters are left to mourn her loss. The sisters are Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs. Black of Toronto, Mrs. Dr. Emmerson of Goderich, and Miss Coe of this city.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon, the service at the house commencing at 1.30, and the funeral will leave at two o'clock and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery.

What About the Snow at Corners

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Should the street railway Co. be allowed to block the street corners? I know they were very busy cleaning off the tracks yesterday, but still it seems a hardship that the piles of snow thrown off by the sweeper should be allowed to block the street corners, making it almost impossible for horses to wade their way through at the turns. Either the Street Railway Company or the city should see to it that the snow is removed.

Yours truly,
RATEPAYER.

Paymaster Here From Kingston

TWO EAST CITY YOUTHS ARRESTED

Frank and Charley Healey, East City, to-day gave themselves up to High County Constable Cochrane and County Constable A. Moore. They are wanted in connection with the charge of forgery upon which Frank Hamilton was arrested by High County Constable Cochrane a few days ago. It is alleged that Hamilton raised a cheque of $1.40 in his favor to $51.40. The three came up on Friday at ten o'clock at Magistrate Adamson's county court.

The Healey brothers were admitted to bail on $500 bail each, one having to furnish personal surety of $250. The Healeys surrendered themselves voluntarily and claim to be in no way connected with the offence.

Many Visitors at Meeting Of Local Camp of Woodmen

The officers of the Woodmen of the World for 1908 were duly installed last night, under very auspicious conditions.

The following officers were installed.

P.C.C.—R. N. Jones
C. C.—W. Aitcheson.
A. Lieut.—A. W. Saif
Banker—James Coyle.
Clerk—A. A. Haskill
Rec. Clerk—Geo. Armstrong.
Escort—A. E. Bartley.
Watchman—F. Copperthwaite
Sentry—Wm. Taylor.
Manager—Wm. Gibbs, R. Waram, M. F. Lake.

The Peterborough Camp last night entertained visitors from Campbellford, Millbrook, Port Hope and Brantford camps, the Brantford camp being the largest in Canada. The Peterborough members were highly elated over their Brantford visitors, and showed them every kindness during their stay here, and the members of the different camps spent one of the best times of their lives with the Peterborough Woodmen. The Head Camp was represented by Head Advisor D. Cinnamon, of Lindsay and Head Manager L. H. Taylor, of Brantford. Sovereign Clerk Pierce, of Brantford, was also present. Instructive addresses were delivered by these gentlemen. The rooms were rooms were well filled, and several initiations took place in the local camp. Aldermen Johnston and Turner were also present. Refreshments were served in a very efficient manner by the lady's circle.

The local camp is in a flourishing condition, and the members were greatly pleased with last night's proceedings.

The Royal Arch Degree Conferred

There was a large muster of Orangemen at the L.O.L.; Nassau last night, conferring the Royal Arch degree. An important contingent left Peterborough at 7.45. The district meeting will be held in the same hall, and also at Lakefield tonight.

Business of importance is slated, and a good turnout at both places is expected.

Threatened to Cut Out Man's Heart

Nicholas Renzetti was charged at the police court today with threatening to take the life of Nicholas Minocolo, by saying that he would cut his heart out. Minocolo asked that he be bound over to keep the peace. Mr. Gordon appeared for Renzetti, and pleaded not guilty.

The evidence of Nicholas and Thos. Minocolo and P. C. Newhall was taken, all proving that the threat complained of was made in the police station on the night of January 7th. His Worship bound him over in two sureties of two hundred dollars each to keep the peace with all His Majesty's subjects, and particularly Nicholas Minocolo. The sureties were procured.

SPORTING NEWS

Mr. David Hartley Receives Invitation to Kansas City

Six Day Walking Contest to be Held There by the Missouri Athletic Club Beginning Feb. 24th—Weston, the Greatest Pedestrian, to Enter Competition.

That Peterborough's pedestrian is widely and favorably known not only in Canada but throughout the United States, is evidenced by the fact that he yesterday received a letter from the Missouri Athletic Club of Kansas City, inviting him down there to enter a six day walking match. That Mr. Hartley should be asked to participate in a walk with such well-known and famous walkers as Weston, of Chicago, and Henderson, of New York, who have won laurels in pedestrianism, is an honor to Peterborough, and the city should feel proud of its champion walker.

Mr. Hartley, in speaking to the Review last evening, stated that he would like very much to go to Kansas City, but was afraid that he could not afford it. He estimated that the expense would be in the neighborhood of seventy-five dollars. Mr. Hartley would no doubt make a fine showing in the contest, and would bring distinction to his native city.

The letter he received is as follows:

Kansas City, Jan. 9, '08

Mr. David Hartley, Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—Commencing Feb. 24th, this club will start a six day 12 hour a day heel and toe walking match. 60 per cent. of the gross gate receipts will be divided among the first seven men, 35 per cent. to 1st man, 20 per cent to 2nd, 15 per cent to 3rd, 10 per cent to 4th and 5th, and 5 per cent to 6th and 7th. Would like to see you enter.

Respectfully yours,
W. D. SCOVILLE,
9 West 12th St.

The Missouri Athletic Club have a handsome building, with a seating capacity of 15,000. The arena is 110 x185 feet.

FOR "THE MANAGEMENT"

The Examiner, which is looked upon as the official organ of the Peterborough Strathcona Intermediate O. H.A hockey team, devotes nearly three-quarters of a column in an endeavor to refute a short paragraph in Saturday's Review, entitled "Up to the Management." If the Examiner believes in the principle "that every knock a boost," people will wonder why the Strathcona management should be so greatly concerned about what has been said.

The Review does not want to "knock" the Strathcona hockey team. It wants to see a good hockey team in Peterborough, and will do everything in its power to assist in securing public support for deserving organizations.

The Review does not want to discourage any young players, nor is it not knocking the team that played on Friday night for the way they performed. They did the best they could under the circumstances. But the public wants some backing for the assertion that the management had on the best team they could get for the game in question. A few facts may be interesting. Peterborough has had ice fit for hockey longer than almost any other town or city in the province. For this credit should be given the rink management, and Mr. Jack Thornbeck, and not the Strathcona management. The Strathconas have been practicing for over three weeks, and yet the Strathcona management that was working so hard to place a first-class team on the ice never even gave their team an exhibition game. The public of Peterborough were anxious to see a hockey match, as was evidenced by the big attendance at the opening city league games. There are over a hundred teams within a ninety mile radius of Peterborough, and yet the Strathcona management claim that they could not arrange a game. They were afraid that they would lose money if they brought an outside team here, despite the precedent that exhibition games were played in Peterborough in other years before the league season opened, and as far as can be learned the Peterborough Hockey Club never went completely broke, but, of course, there may be "inside information." Could not the same have been done this year? Surely it would have been possible to get a team here that would give the Strathconas a run for their money at any rate. The management tried to get Queen's, and the Toronto St. Georges, which looks as if they wanted to put their proteges up against pretty big game.

The Examiner speaks of "inside information." There appears to be considerable "inside information" about certain local athletic bodies, and the Review is happy to say that, thanks to the volubility of one member of the Strathcona management, it is in possession of some of it, and will be glad to give it publicity if the aforementioned individual so desires.

The Review has nothing but the highest respect for some members of the Strathcona management, but, along with the public, it wishes to protest against such a reckless expenditure of heated atmosphere as has and is being indulged in by one or more individuals that are supposed to be connected with the Strathconas and working in the "inside information" department.

The Review has no desire to carry the controversy further. It intends supporting the Strathcona hockey team and to urge the public of Peterborough to do so. However, this paper is under no obligation to the Strathcona Club, and does not intend to "crawl." The Strathcona management has for some reason or other given the team a shaking up for the Cobourg game, and, win or lose, it is hoped they will receive generous support from the public for their next home game.

Jiddy Miller Had Chance to Play Game in Pittsburg

Mr. Finch Miller has received a letter from "Jiddy" Miller, his son, who is playing with the Brantford pro team, in which the latter states he has had a tempting offer to play in Pittsburg. He has turned down the offer however, as the manager of the team he is at present playing with has made better inducements to him to stay. "Jiddy" says he is used like a prince in the Telephone City and thinks highly of the treatment he has received during his residence there.

TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE OPENED

Marmora Defeated Havelock, 3-0, on Havelock Ice

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Jan. 13.—The first match of the Trent Valley Hockey League was played here tonight, and as a result, the first game has been set down to Marmora by a score of 3—0.

The Marmora bunch are fast men, and well practiced, while the Havelock men, although fair all round, did not work well together. They were very much handicapped by the absence of two of their best players, Ferguson and Rathwell.

Mr Butler, of Marmora, refereed the game very satisfactorily. The following men represented Havelock:—

Goal—Morris.
Point—Neir.
Cover Point—Foster.
Rover—Stibbs.
Centre—Mathieson.
Right Wing—Rose.
Left Wing—Shaw.

Havelock have some good men that they will call on later.

Barbers Had No Chance at all

Printers Got Away From the Barbers in an Easy Contest

When it comes to dealing with the printers the barbers couldn't even trim their beards. Ernie Mitchell was the only one of the razorites who managed to find the nets in a game between the two last night, and thus saved the chairmen from an ignominious whitewash. The printers enjoyed the workout, and as they refrained from hurting any of the barbers there is no hard feelings over the match. A feature of the game was a spectacular net to net rumble by Josh Craig, who played good for the typestickers. He was also called upon to stop a difficult shot during the night. There were many other features of the contest not worthy of mention. Mr. W. J. Metheral, secretary of the Strathconas, appeared in the role of referee. At half time 7-0 indicated the sacrifice.

The teams:

Printers.		Barbers.
	Goal.
Craig		Lewis

Burridge		Wright

Robertson		Hayes
	Rover.
Nolan		Campbell

New Scheme of Advertising

Havelock, June 14.—Mr. B. C. Hubbell, of Marmora, has quite a curious method of advertising his business. The editor of the Marmora paper has in his safe an envelope containing the number of one week day in January which no one knows. At the end of the month the envelope will be opened, and whoever purchased goods at Mr. Hubbell's store on that date will have refunded in cash the full value of their purchase. This is a good advertising scheme, when it is co-operated with by the newspapers.

A local merchant saw a man taking a parcel from the station from a firm in Toronto. He inquired the name of the article and the price. The merchant then said, "Why, I could give you the same thing cheaper." The man was taken back at this calling down for not dealing in his home town, but answered, "How am I to know when you don't advertise it?"

Shoulder Blade Was Fractured

Peter Baptie of Lakefield Ran Violently into a Post

On Monday afternoon Master Peter Baptie, son of Mr. George a Baptie, met with a serious accident. The young lad was coasting down a hill on Reid street, when the sleigh struck another sleigh, and ran into a post, throwing him violently against it. Peter was taken to his home, and a doctor summoned, who, on examination found that his right shoulder blade had been fractured. As a result of the accident the little fellow will be confined to the house for some time.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE BELLE OF RICHMOND."

Before a large audience the Stoddard Stock Company gave the initial performance of a week's engagement at the Grand last night, presenting "The Belle of Richmond." The performance was up to the average of that given by repertoire companies and many parts of the play were greeted with much applause. The leading roles, that of Nellie Mason, "the Belle," and Gen. Gordon were acceptably portrayed by Miss Leah Stoddard and Mr. W. L. Stewart. There are eleven other members of the cast who lend their support to the leading couple. The story of the play is told in four acts, and appropriate scenic properties are employed.

Some interesting features are introduced in the specialties between the acts that are of a very entertaining character. The specialty list is a big one, and introduces the following; John and Alice McDowell in a comedy musical turn; the Armitage Sisters, dancers; W. L. Phillips, comedy monologist: Eddie Paull, who gives an interesting act, and Peyhol-da, in novel electrical dances.

It Was Nothing But a Blowout

Torpedo That Exploded Under Street Car Was False Alarm

The other night, about seven o'clock, an explosion was heard on George street, between Charlotte and Simcoe street, that made a noise like a climax in "The Way of the West." This report was followed by a strong odor of powder, and the people on the street within hearing distance were somewhat startled, fearing that some gun play had taken place. However, it was simply a case of a northbound car running over a torpedo placed on the track by some joker. The bang caused quite a sensation at the time.

LITTLE GIRL'S FACE COVERED WITH ECZEMA

CURED BY ZAM-BUK

That terrible skin disease, Eczema, is no respecter of persons. It attacks the new born baby as readily as the aged, but in Zam-Buk we have Nature's Remedy for combatting and overcoming this tormenting and aggressive disease. The following cases, testifying to the marvellous cures brought about by Zam-Buk is convincing argument that in Zam-Buk we have the very best skin cure offered to this or any other country;

Mrs. A. E. Grass, St. Catharines, says: "One box of Zam-Buk healed my LITTLE GIRL'S FACE of Eczema. We use it for Cuts and Sores also."

Mrs. G. A. Kerr, Denbeigh, Ont., says: "My Baby's Legs were so bad with Eczema that I could not keep stockings on her. A box of Zam-Buk cured her after the Doctor had failed."

Dame J. R. Smith, Hawkesbury, Ont., writes: "After three applications I was better of Eczema, and before I had used half a box I was cured."

Zam-Buk cures Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Ulcers, Ringworm, Itch, Barber's Rash, Blood Poison, Bad Leg, Salt Rheum, Abrasions, Abscesses and all skin injuries and diseases. Of all stores and druggists at 50 cents or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 6 boxes for $2.50.

Misuse of Telephones

A Fort William exchange refers to the misuse of the telephone in the following language: We want to get at the general public for their conduct in the use of the telephone which is at times unbearable. Mr. Dyke some time ago called attention to the abuse of the telephone by those in no way contributing to the cost of its maintenance. People who come into stores and want to use the telephone should be provided with a telephone button to show that they, somewhere in the town, put up their share of the cost of a telephone. If they can show no telephone button or other badge they should not be allowed to use the telephone unless they pay for the privilege. But strangers and sojourners are not the chief offenders by any means. The creatures of fashion, children and servant girls, are a nuisance to the business men who pays for nearly all the telephones.

If a fashionable function has just occurred or a bit of scandal has been unearthed, or a meeting of some society has eventuated where a ripple has passed over the usual placid surface of the meeting, the telephone is practically tied up the next morning till ten o'clock—and the same thing occurs again before ten, and also in the evening before the usual meetings are convened. The morning after a ball a business man can't call up his own house because his house telephone and somebody's else are discussing the events of the previous evening as regards the dresses worn, the eatables, the pert Mrs. So-and-So or the young gent who retired to the Leland between dances for a swig.

Children have caught the infection, and use the telephone to success. Maggie wants to know if Arabella has started for school yet; or Patricia wants to tell Jennie how "fierce" some young simpleton boy behaved at the party the night before.

The servant girls also have a world of their own, and want to pull it to pieces for their own delectation. Their loves and hates and rivalries have all to be discussed twice a day at least, and the relative merits of Albert and Sidney, or Minnie and Alice, have to be carefully dispensed—of course at length.

If a dozen married women, a like number of children, and half a dozen lady helpers are so engaged, at least 70 telephones are "busy" at a time when seriously disposed people really require to use them.

One good remedy for this nuisance is to insist on the two minute limit, and compel people to wash their dirty linen somewhere else than in the telephone central. Anyone can strike off in a two-minute business conversation. Let the operators be instructed to cut off the user at the end of two minutes and the telephone service will be vastly improved.

Otonabee Farmers Hear Several Fine Addresses

Large Attendance at Meetings at Stewart Settlement in Otonabee—Modern Methods in Agriculture are Advocated—Dairying an Important Industry.

Supplementary meetings of the Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough were held yesterday afternoon and evening at the Union Hall at Stewart's, Otonabee. There were good attendances at both, but the interest far surpassed the numerical showing of the gatherings. The subjects dealt with pertained to the best interests of the farmers and they manifested a keen appreciation of the lectures by questions regarding matters which most concerned them. Mr. Wm. Collins, secretary and Mr. J N Telford, president, were present in official capacity. The speakers were Mr J N Paget, of Cannboro, and Mr. G G Cornell, of Scarboro. During the evening meeting vocal solos sung by Messrs. Bert Deyell and C. Hanbridge.

President Telford, who acted as chairman, welcomed the men who were present, referring to the heavy roads which no doubt kept many away. He also complimented the farmers of the neighbourhood on the splendid hall which they had erected and equipped. He called upon Mr. Cornell to give an address on a subject which he might choose for himself.

Mr. Cornell said he would not give a lecture but would deal with the silo giving his experience as interestingly as possible. He said there was a certain prejudice against the silo which has prevented it from being acclaimed a general success. In his own district near Toronto the farmers consider it one of the greatest of cheap winter food producers there is. Last season was a very bad one for feed and as a result the Canadian dairy exports fell six millions of dollars. Mr. Cornell considered that next year would see many silos built on account of the lesson taught by last season.

Farmers in the past have not realized the cheapness of ensilage and the cost of the silo keep others from building them. A prejudice has arisen towards the silo some believing that the ensilage is detrimental to the cattle, rotting their teeth, tainting the milk, etc., but all these notions have been exploded and the value of ensilage has been proven everywhere. The silo is most valuable to cheese factories in the spring before the grass has grown when the farmers can feed it to their cattle.

A little discussion followed as to the best methods of manuring, and general interest was taken in this subject, many of the farmers exchanging opinions with Mr. Cornell.

Proceeding with the preparation of the corn for silage Mr. Cornell said the first consideration must be the seed. The hard corn that gives a rattley sound when shaken is a good quality.

The method of sowing corn used by Mr. Cornell is the drill sowing two rows at a time. The rows are three feet apart and the seed planted to a medium depth. Before using the drill in the field it should be run over hard ground to find out how it drops the corn and thus provide against planting the seed too thickly. The time for planting is when the ground is warm, and in proper condition, and it was better to wait until the best condtons were secured, rather than to sow it earlier so as to get a good start. The seed in the case frequently rots. The Compton's Early, and the Leaming grades are the two most in use, but the latter seems to give the better satisfaction. The well-matured corn is the most preferred for feeding purposes.

SILAGE FOR HOGS.

One farmer said that a neighbour of his had run out of mangolds and he then turned to the silo and fed the ensilage. The result was that the hogs did splendidly. Mr. Cornell then dealt with the cultivation of the corn. He said that there is a special corn cultivator in use, which can also be turned into the mangolds, beets, etc., for cultivation. The machines cost about $12; that is the kind that cultivates two rows at a time. The last cultivation should not be deep as the roots of the corn grew shallow. Cultivate until further work with the machine would injure the corn.

Mr. Cornell said that the corn should not be too green when cut. He said that he would rather risk a little frost than to cut it too early. The frost does not do the damage that people at one time thought it did. It should be cut when it is well matured, and before it becomes brittle. The speaker advised the purchase of a shredder with a cutting box. The ordinary blower, a farmer said, does the work of shredding well in his district.

Mr. Cornell said the harvesting machine did the work of cutting down the standing corn the best. A machine costs about $135, and could be purchased by a syndicate of four or five farmers. The general opinion was that corn is the cheapest material for ensilage.

The corn in the silo should be well tramped around the outside, as it settles of itself fairly well in the centre. In answer to a question, Mr. Cornell said that he would rather do without roots than corn.

The cement silo is coming into general use. Care must be taken with the inside finish as this work should be done with fine cement in order to keep out the air. There is not much difference between the wooden and cement silos as far as the freezing of the ensilage is concerned.

Mr. Pagett said that cement was the more permanent, and in this district should be cheaply built. It was said that a somewhat unusual occurrence was that of rats gnawing their way into the silo, spoiling it considerably. Mr. Cornell thought that this defect could be easily remedied. He said he had never used clover in the silo, but he had heard of the practice. Mr. Cornell has been feeding cut straw, ensilage roots and meal to his cattle, not giving them any hay on account of its high price. The milk tainted by ensilage, Mr. Cornell said, was due to the fact that the ensilage was put down while milking was carried on. He does not put anything on top of the silage, merely tramping it every day for a little while.

VALUE OF ALFALFA

Mr. Paget agreed to speak on the value of alfalfa. He said it would not grow on flat land, where the water would collect around the roots. It should be grown on rolling ground. In his own county, Mr. Paget said that alfalfa is grown on white clay in luxuriant crops, and this clay is not usually good ground. But this clay is in ridges, and thus is most adapted for alfalfa.

It has been proven that alfalfa clover is the best for producing milk. It requires more bushels to the acre. Mr. Paget had seen peas used as a first crop, with about six bushels to the acre. However, he has found that by merely turning the stock on the land until about the middle of June, when the alfalfa seed should be sown. It is usually cut three times during a year. Mr. Paget said that alfalfa grows well on gravelly, rolling fields, and he has seen it even in sand. It will grow on any of our soils if the surface is properly prepared. He advised the farmers not to cut alfalfa too late in the autumn, as it might easily be wintered. It draws its moisture from a great depth, and a dry season has but little effect on it. Last season proved this wherever alfalfa was grown. It is cut when green, after the dew has been dried off it. It is raked up in the afternoon, and the next day put in the barn. The chief care is to see that there is no foreign moisture on the alfalfa, such as dew or rain. It is easily cured in the mow, and every animal on the farm will relish it and thrive on it during the winter.

Mr. Paget advised the farmers to experiment with it on their farms owing to its great value. The sowing of red clover and alfalfa has proved a failure. Mr. Paget laid emphasis on not pasturing the alfalfa, as the crop suffers in many respects, and it is of more value later on when the winter is in progress. He advised the feeding of it to horses, just the same as to cattle. Alfalfa clover seed can be bought for about the same price as red clover. While in Peterborough it may be a little dearer, in the other cities it can be secured at about $10 per ton.

PRODUCTION OF MILK.

Mr. Cornell congratulated the Otonabee farmers on the very evident appearances of intelligence and prosperity, as seen by driving through this district.

He stated in reference to the subject of the production of milk for city trade that the City of Peterborough should demand large quantities of milk. This fact for breakfast foods, the increased use of milk as a food, and the ordinary demands for milk should mean that the farmers are called upon for larger supplies of it. In the production of milk for this city, Mr. Cornell said that there was no line of the dairy business which required so much care and attention as it did to attain the highest standard. All through the country the milk used at present is being tested according to the recent movement started by the Government for the protection of the consumers. The farmers who send milk to the city will soon have to have their cattle examined to guarantee the purity of the milk and especially to prevent against tuberculosis, of which milk has been found in places to contain the bacteria.

Under the new conditions, it costs more to the farmer than under the old easy going methods, therefore the farmer should demand better prices. The first thing to be considered is the cow. The farmer should see that his cows are of the best quality, and particularly should be a good dairy cow. Mr. Cornell mentioned the points to judge a cow by, viz., prominent eye, large milk veins, breadth in the region of the heart and lungs, etc. In some districts, the farmers milk cows only during six months of the year. In this district, however, the cows are milked throughout the winter. Thus the cows are trained to this habit, as in other places they are given the custom of resting six months.

Mr. Cornell dealt with the new cattle foods, such as oil cakes, Shumaker feed, linseed meal and many other kinds. This feed is shipped to all parts of the world. Originally whiskey is extracted from the food and it is sold as a by-product by the many distilleries. A good winter food Mr. Cornell said, is ensilage, which may also be used in the summer. It is used along with roots, such as sugar beets, mangols, and turnips, although the latter should not be used at all.

Cows should be fed regularly, and should receive their allowance of salt, with the usual amount of grain and oil cake. In the production of milk for the city cleanliness of utensils is an absolute necessity. The cow should be milked with dry hands. Dust in the stables should also be guarded against, and care should be taken in providing against bad odors.

The milk should be cooled down to 60 degrees, and the thermometer is being used more every day.

DEMAND FOR GOOD MILK

The people of the city want pure milk. In the larger cities the farmers bottle their milk on the farm after it has cooled to 50 degrees, the herds have been inspected and other tests are made before it reaches the consumer. For this milk the farmer receives from 12 to 15 cents per quart, and the people pay that price because of the assurance of its purity.

In conclusion, Mr. Cornell answered general questions which were asked him. He said it was healthier for the cow to be allowed out in the air for a part of the day.

Mr. Pagett's subject for the evening session was the "Relations That Should Exist Between Producer, Proprietor and Maker." In prefacing his remarks, Mr. Pagett said that it was a pity that so many of the young men and women who are born on the farms are devoting their lives in other directions. They leave the farm, and no class can take their place when the parents retire. He urged the formation of farmers' clubs throughout the county, thus helping themselves and creating an interest in farm life and ideal conditions and surroundings on the farm.

Referring to his subject Mr. Pagett said that from the report of the exports to Britain in 1905, the dairy exports exceeded all the other exports combined. The dairy business, he said, is worth one hundred million dollars to this country.

It was introduced successfully co-operatively. Before that time the dairy products were not fit to eat. Since that time a vast change has been made through co-operation, and and now Canada hold the dairy trade with Great Britain. Less butter has been sent across the sea in less quantities during the past year, but the Northwest has opened up an extensive market for butter. At the present time there is a danger of losing our market for cheese in Great Britain. Better methods must be used and more attention given to the manufacture. By carelessness the United States lost the British and Scotch cheese trade. However, this was not disastrous to them, as they had a vast population to cater to. However, Canada has not this home market and and therefore the reason for great care.

Mr. Paget gave as his reason that a danger existed that letters had been received from England saying that the cheese was the best ever received. Other letters and certain shipments were of very inferior quality. Hence the necessity of making all the cheese of the best quality.

THE REMEDY.

The first thing to do is to begin at the foundation, in this case, the raw material. Every farmer owes a responsibility. In some factories milk is being received from which good cheese is impossible. The two great factors to be observed and practiced are cleanliness and coolness. Carefulness must be exercised in every step of the handling of milk. If during the day the cows wade through a slough their udders should be washed before milking, in fact in any case this should be done. The hands should be clean and dry and only tin utensils should be used. Milk should be strained immediately after it is drawn from the cow for many reasons which Mr. Paget detailed. As soon as it is strained cooling should begin at once. Mr. Pagett strongly urged the use of the thermometers in cooling the milk for cheese-making to 60 degrees. This is low enough for preserving the milk.

It should never be sent to the factory in a rusty can. If the producers observe the conditions mentioned they need have no fear that their milk will be tainted, nor that it will be refused at the factory. By reference to conditions that Mr. Paget had seen he showed that there should not be too many factories in a section, as they have many baneful results, and in the case where there are only a proper number of factories each equipped in the best manner, with practical makers and honest patrons, the best quality of cheese is secured. In the other case poor cheese of second grade has been found in every case.

A COMPETITOR.

Mr. Pagett said that New Zealand was coming out as the closest competitor to Canada. Hence should the Canadian people look to their factories to the methods employed there, the conditions on the farms and in the entire handling of the milk. The good cheesemakers should be encouraged by better wages. They are leaving the business at present owing to the poor pay they receive. To control the British cheese market the farmers must make a little sacrifice, pay a little more for manufacturing the milk into cheese. Either must this be done or there is a great danger of losing all the profit of the dairy business by another country stepping in with a better article.

THE CHEESEMAKER.

Mr. Pagett then dealt with the conditions existing at the factory and clearly pointed out the duties of the patrons and the maker in this regard.

Mr. W. Mann, of Smith, was called upon by the president for a few words, and urged the people to take up the raising of sheep. He dealt with the subject rather fully, and concluded by thanking the audience for their kindness in asking him to address them.

Mr. Collins moved, seconded by Mr. Mann, that a vote of thanks be tendered the people of the community for their hospitality and the kindness shown during the afternoon and evening. Mr. Pagett and Mr. Cornell supplemented the vote by appropriate speeches.

Mr. Hambidge moved, seconded by Mr. Stewart, a vote of thanks to the speakers of the day.

The Peterborough Light & Power Co. wishes to remind its customers that Wednesday, January 15th, is the last day discount will be allowed on December accounts. The office will be open during the evenings of the 14th and 15th, from 8 p.m. until 11p.m.

Mrs. Britton Will Give an Address

The members of the W.C.T.U. and the other ladies interested in the work are invited to meet Mrs. Britton, the provincial W. C. T. U. treasurer, on Wednesday from 4 to 5.30 at the Y. W. C. A. building, Simcoe St. Mrs. Britton will give an informal talk about the work, after which light refreshments will be served.

Happenings in Mount Pleasant

Large Consignment of Apples Shipped to the Coast—Other Notes

Mount Pleasant, Jan. 12. — At the residence of Mr. William Shield, Miss Myrtle Shield was united recently in the holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. Porter Gray. The groom is an old Mount Pleasant boy, having worked in our cheese factory during his apprenticeship, and the bride was one of our popular young ladies, whose absence we regret. The happy young couple left for their home at Linden Valley accompanied by the best wishes of their many friends.

Our sister towns, Omemee and Millbrook, have followed our lead. They passed local option on the 6th inst.

Our reeve and deputy were returned by acclamation, as the electors seemed content to have them finish the particular piece of work they had the courage to begin, viz., the draining of the Long Swamp. None of last year's council men were re-elected, only one of them offering. William Shield, George Berry and Mr. Thorne were the successful candidates. Mr. Berry has had previous experience as a councilman.

Egglestone Bros. are busy hauling cordwood to Peterborough since the road on the 13th concession through the swamp has become safe to drive on.

The council have put in two culverts on the 13th concession line, so that the water which gathered or may gather on the north side of the embankment will be carried into the drain on the south side.

Mr. John Handley has moved into the house until lately occupied by Mr. H. Finlay.

Coasting and skating has been holding the boards for pastime performances.

Miss Jessie Lowes, of Toronto, holidayed with her parents during Christmastide.

Our cheese factory will be in operation the coming season. The annual meeting of the directors has been held.

Sunday's snow storm somewhat disturbed the transit of our cable cars, but the sweepers operated and the service improved.

Mr. Charlie Lough is in the west with another consignment of apples. We understand he had a pleasant and rapid passage, having been but a week en route.

As we have been unable to secure car connection with Peterborough, it is hoped that after the canal is completed there may be instituted a line of gondolas.

Stories of prowess are now in order—the boys are chopping cordwood.

To users of Canned Goods—The new season stock of Sailor Boy Tomatoes, Corn, Peas salmon, are now in store wit the retailers. To insure yourself that you receive the highest grade of Canned Goods insist on getting the Sailor Boy Brand. Some others are cheaper, but none so good. The Sailor Boy is best always.

INLAND REVENUE OFFICER

Mr. H. M. Wood received the official notification on Monday of his appointment to the position of Inland Revenue officer at Port Hope, and left at once to take over the office. As we stated before, we congratulate him on his appointment, feeling sure that all things pertaining to the office will be done efficiently and courteously. We hope he may still be able to remain a citizen of Millbrook.—Millbrook Reporter.

WEDDING BELLS

FREDERICKS—HILLMAN

A very pretty wedding took place at the manse of the Lakefield Presbyterian church, on Wednesday evening, when Miss Annie Hillman became the wife of Mr. Albert T. Fredericks. The bride wore a becoming gown of blue panama cloth, with trimmings of braid, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Edna E. Crowe, was attired similarly to the bride, and also carried white carnations. The groom was assisted by Mr. W. Clare Bravender. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Sutherland Burns. The young couple will reside in Lakefield, where they both have many friends, as was evidenced by the numerous pretty and useful gifts received by the bride, not the least appreciated by her being a china tea set from the teachers and officers of the Presbyterian Sabbath school and the members of the Home Mission Society, of which she is a valued member. Mr. and Mrs. Fredericks have the good wishes of hosts of friends to speed them to a happy married life.

PARK STREET CHURCH

The Ladies' Mission Circle of Park Street Baptist Church will meet this evening at eight o'clock. Miss Mann will preside.

On Wednesday a public service will be held conducted by the pastor.

The men of Park Street Church will rally for the Laymen's Banquet which will be held on Thursday night in Murray Street Baptist Church.

Mayor Rush Entertained the Council

Enjoyable Time Spent at Long Bro. and Hooper's Last Night

After the meeting last night, the members of the city council, along with the clerk and press representatives, were entertained to a supper by Mayor Rush at Long Bros. and Hooper's. A most enjoyable time was spent, an excellent repast being served. When it had been attended to, there was a short toast list which produced a number of happy speeches.

"The King and Governor General" was honored in the usual way, and then Ald. Phelan proposed the toast to "The Mayor," and Mr. Rush made an appropriate response. Ald. Tovey proposed the "Chairmen of the Committees," and it brought forth responses from the six chairmen, Ald. Morrow, Johnson, Elliott, Neill, Phelan and Bradburn.

"The new members," was proposed by Ald. Morrow and responded to by the new men at the council board.

This gathering was a jolly one and the Mayor was heartily thanked for his kindness.

New Men on Team to Play at Cobourg

Ray, McWilliams and Barber Picked on by Management—Jakey Moore at Cover Point

The Peterborough Strathconas left for Cobourg on the 11.45 Grand Trunk train to-day, and to-night meet the Cobourg intermediates on Cobourg ice. The players had a rattling work out last night between seven and eight o'clock, and the result was that the team picked for to-night's game differs considerably from that which met Lindsay on Friday night. The Strathcona management last night gave out the following line-up:

Goal—Derocher.
Point—Ba[illegible]
Cover-point—[illegible]
Rover—Dobson.
Centre—Ray.
Right wing—McWilliams.
Left wing—Dusty.

Weatherstone was taken along as spare and Secretary Craig and Manager Metheral also accompanied the team.

PETERBOROUGH TEAM BEATEN

Lakefield too Strong on Their Own Ice

A picked team of local junior players went to Lakefield last night and were defeated by the Lakefield city league septette by nine goals to three. The home team had much the better of the play, and were right in the swim on their own rink. Clarence Wilson was referee and gave satisfaction. Only one penalty was handed out.

This Peterborough team was as follows;

Goal—McFadden.
Point—Moore.
Cover point—McMillan.
Rover—Hillier.
Centre—King.
Right wing—Kendry.
Left wing—Curtin.

Lindsay Trims Whitby Seven

In an intermediate O.H.A. game at Whitby last night, Lindsay defeated Whitby by 9—3. At half time the score was 2—1, but the Scugog boys ran away from their opponents in the second half.

SELLING WITHOUT LICENSE

At the county police court this morning Mr. Thomas E. Darcy, proprietor of the Midland House, Lakefield, appeared before Magistrate Edmison on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams acted for Darcy, while the interests of the prosecution were looked after by Mr. H. Moore. The whole morning was spent in hearing the evidence of three witnesses.

The information was laid by License Inspector Jos. Stewart. The case is being continued this afternoon.

WAS AT TRIAL OF HAYWOOD

Mr. George E. Travers Heard Orchard Give Evidence in Celebrated Case

Mr. George E. Travers, of Boise City, Idaho, was in the city this morning on his way to Montreal, where he is paying a business visit. Mr. Travers, who has considerable mining interests in Colorado, and was seen at the Hotel National this morning by a representative of the Review. He has travelled extensively in America and Europe, and speaks very interestingly of the West. He was present at the famous trial of Haywood, of the Western Federation of Miners, when the latter was arraigned on the charge of murdering the late Governor Frank Steunenberg. He says the late larger proportion of the Idaho populace sympathized with Haywood, and were jubilant when he was acquitted.

He heard the evidence of the degenerate Orchard, and says he was the "coolest scoundrel that ever sprung a bluff."

After transacting his business at Montreal, Mr. Travers will go to New York, where he will stay about a month. His main object in going to the American metropolis is to pay a visit to the principal plays housed in that city.

The Peterborough Light & Power Co. wishes to remind its customers that Wednesday, January 15th, is the last day discount will be allowed on December accounts. The office will be open during the evenings of the 14th and 15th, from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m.

Six Months in County Gaol for Vagrancy

Well Known "Vag." Criticizes the Magistrate for His Judgement

John Powers, whose appearances in police court are legion, was before His Worship this morning on a charge of vagrancy. He had also been partaking freely of the cup that cheers and was rather pugnacious today.

"This is our old friend back again," said His Worship.

"Never mind your old friend, he is alright," reiterated John.

"Give me two days, My Lord, I ask you as a favor," pleaded Powers.

"I'll give you two days and six months besides," said His Worship.

At this the prisoner's ire was aroused, and as he was being taken from the room he made threats to have revenge on the magistrate, and with clenched fist moved towards His Worship. P. C. Newhall then took the frenzied man into custody, and after a little struggle he was confined to his cell, where he persisted in avowing vengeance on the magistrate.

Band at Brock St. Rink tonight. Peterborough-Cobourg game at Cobourg will be bulletined promptly.

Ex-Chief of Police of St. Catharines

Passed Away This Morning—Chief Roszel Received Notice of His Death

Chief Roszel received a telegram this morning from St. Catharines, giving the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. John G. Cummings, ex-chief of police of that city. The late Mr. Cummings passed away this morning, and the funeral will take place on Thursday at 2.30 o'clock.

Chief Roszel served several years under the late Chief Cummings prior to his coming to Peterborough. He learned with deep regret of his death. Mr. Cummings was a man of sterling qualities, and will be a great loss to the city in which he had so long resided.

Miss Olive Cummings, a daughter of the deceased, has several times visited here with Mr. and Mrs. Roszel. Her many friends in this city will sympathise with her in her sad bereavement.

"Children of the Sun" Subject of an Address

Given in the Conservatory Hall Last Evening by Rev. Geo. Smith of Toronto

Only a fair sized audience attended the lecture last evening in the Conservatory of Music Hall by Rev. Geo. Smith, of Toronto, who for fifteen years was a missionary in South America laboring among the Inca Indians. The address was illustrated by about one hundred limelight views. Mr. D. W. Dumble occupied the chair, and after an exceedingly well rendered piano solo by Miss Wilson, introduced the speaker, who told an interesting yet pathetic tale of the Inca Indians—the children of the Sun who live in South America.

At the conclusion of the address an offering was taken up, and the meeting was closed with the benediction.

A monster public demonstration was held in Berlin on Saturday, in which 40,000 Socialists and 30,000 sympathizers took part.

Are Delighted With Appointments of Queen Alexandra Building

Yesterday afternoon the members of the Board of Education assembled, and went in a body to the new Queen Alexandra school, on a tour of inspection. Mr. Dumble, chairman of the Board, explained to the teachers and children, the purpose of the visit, and their interest in the work and in the fine appearance of the rooms. They visited the following rooms;—Part I—Miss Morrow, teacher, in new part. Part II—Miss E. M. Morrow, teacher, in new part. Junior II—Miss Morley, teacher, in old part. Senior II—Miss Perrin, teacher, in new part. Junior IV.—Mr. Kerr, teacher, in new part. Senior III—Mr. Walkey, teacher in old part. The members also visited the commercial rooms which are in the school at present occupying two rooms in the old part. The trustees, some of whom had not seen the school up to this time, expressed their opinion that it was one of the most up-to-date school buildings in the province.

A GOOD RECORD

The report of the seventy-sixth annual meeting of the Bank of Nova Scotia appears in another column of today's Review.

The figures therein are interesting, as they reveal a tale of continued expansion and development as well as evidence of progressive and conservative management.

The net profits are very satisfactory, standing at $681,709.50, which is equal to 22.72 per cent. of the bank's capital. Out of the profits the bank has generously contributed $10,000 for the Jamaica Relief Fund, and set aside $20,000 for the officers' pension fund. The bank has written off $125,000 in the valuation of bank premises, and transferred to the reserve fund $150,000. The balance carried forward is $71,164.20. The reserve fund with the $150,000 transferred is now $5,400,000, which is equal to 180 per cent. of the paid up capital of the institution. In 1906 the profits were $653,516.59; this year they are $681,709.56. The bank believes in having an independent audit and a certificate of chartered accountants, who are from Edinburgh, Scotland, is attached to the annual statement.

The Bank of Nova Scotia has every reason to feel proud of its splendid record during the past year.

The local branch, situated at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, which was opened up nearly three years ago, has, under the able and energetic direction of Manager J. H. Ferguson and his courteous staff of assistants, built up a large and growing business. They have every reason to feel gratified at the year's result in the Peterborough agency, as well as having in a measure contributed to the satisfactory and encouraging showing of the whole institution in the operations of the past year.

The Peterborough Light & Power Co. wishes to remind its customers that Wednesday, January 15th, is the last day discount will be allowed on December accounts. The office will be open during the evenings of the 14th and 15th, from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m.

Rev. Mr. Allan to Speak at the "Y"

The Rev. Andrew Allan, who is conducting a ten-day mission at St. Andrew's church, will speak at the Y.M.C.A. on next Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. to men and older boys. Special music will be rendered, and a large attendance is expected.

On Friday evening of this week, at 7.30, Mr. E. Elcome will address the boys. This will be the first meeting of the boys, and as the speaker is very popular, choosing his subjects from the birds, animals or anything in natural history, the fellows promise to turn out in large numbers.

Cured Senator Costigan

"FRUIT-A-TIVES"—is the finest medicine ever produced")

OTTAWA, ONT., Jan. 8th, 1906.

I have been a dreadful sufferer from chronic constipation for over thirty years and I have been treated by many physicians and I have taken many kinds of proprietary medicines without any benefit whatever. I took a pill for a long time which was prescribed by the late Dr. C. R. Church, of Ottawa. Also for many months I took a pill prescribed by Dr. A. F. Rogers, of Ottawa. Nothing seemed to do me good. Finally I was advised by Dr. Rogers to try "Fruit-a-tives" and after taking them for a few months I feel I am completely well from this horrible complaint. I have had no trouble with this complaint now for a long time, and I can certainly state that "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine I ever took that did me any positive good for constipation. I can conscientiously recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to the public as, in my opinion, it is the finest medicine ever produced.

(Signed)

JOHN COSTIGAN.

The thousands who know the Honorable Senator from New Brunswick, know that nothing short of a complete and wonderful cure could induce him to write such a testimonial as the above letter.

"Fruit-a-tives" was the only remedy that gave Hon. John Costigan any permanent relief.

"Fruit-a-tives" accomplished in three months, what the leading physicians failed to do in thirty years.

"Fruit-a-tives"

or "Fruit Liver Tablets"

"Fruit-a-tives," is the only real cure for Constipation—because it is the only remedy that invigorates the liver—strengthens the bowel muscles—regulates the kidneys—and improves the skin action.

"Fruit-a-tives" is a wonderful combination of fruit juices and tonics in tablet form—pleasant to take and absolutely certain to produce an easy and natural movement.

50c a box—6 for $2.50. At dealers or sent on receipt of price. 145

Committees for the Year; City Council is at Work

Considerable Business Done in Short Time Last Night

STREET LIGHTING TO BE CONSIDERED

Engineer to Report on Smith Street Bridge—Work for the Committees.

The new City Council held their first business session last night and surprised everybody, including themselves, by getting through a few minutes after nine o'clock. And considerable business was transacted too. Several matters were brought up that will provide work for the committees, and nearly all of them will have to meet within the next few days. Judging from the start off Mayor Rush is going to be a good man at the helm, having announced the policy that talking for talk's sake will not be permitted.

Those present were Mayor Rush, Ald. Morrow, Phelan, Neill, MacIntyre, Turner, Gillespie, Bradburn, Buller, Morgan, Elliott, Tovey and Johnston.

The council spent a few minutes in committee of the whole before going into regular session, dealing with the report of the committee appointed to strike the standing committees. Afterwards the report was presented by Ald. Morrow and adopted on motion. It was as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your committee of the whole council beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the standing committees for the year 1908 be composed as follows:

Board of Works — Ald. Phelan, chairman; Ald. Bradburn, Buller, Tovey, McIntyre, Elliott and Morgan.

Fire, Water and Light—Ald. Johnston, chairman; Ald. Buller, McIntyre and Turner.

Manufacturers (railways and franchises) — Ald. Neill, chairman; Ald. Morrow, Gillespie and Tovey.

Finance (printing and licenses)—Ald. Morrow, chairman; Ald. Phelan, Neill and Bradburn.

Property (market, building and health) — Ald. Bradburn, chairman; Ald. Johnston, Gillespie and Morgan.

Legal (reception, legislation and joint with county) — Ald. Elliott, chairman; Ald. McIntyre, Turner and Phelan.

2. That four members constitute a quorum for the Board of Works.

3. That the usual grant of $500 be made to the mayor, to be paid quarterly, at the beginning of each quarter.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The reading of communications was first taken up. The list was larger than usual, the more important ones being as follows:

Mr. F. W. Miller, charity relief officer, wrote, asking for an increase of salary, giving as a reason for increased remuneration the increasing work in connection with his position. The request was referred to the Finance Committee.

From W. J. Green, tax collector, enclosing statement of roll ending December 31st, 1907, as follows:

Total amount on roll	$136,873.28
By total amt. deposited ...	126,058.28
Balance...	$ 10,814.98
Less discount 1st payment ..	$ 2,052.20
Total...	$ 8,762.78
Adding interest from Aug. 1st to Nov. 15... ...	96.66
	$ 8,859.44
Less remitted by Court of Revision...	2,000.00
	$ 6,859.44
Interest 5 per cent. from November 15th	393.65
	$ 7,253.09

Taxes taken in and deposited during December, $1,013.51.

The statement was referred to the Finance Committee.

From J. Ross Robertson, chairman of the Sick Children's Hospital Trust, asking for assistance for that institution. Referred to Finance Committee.

From K. W. MacKay, secretary Ontario Municipal Association, enclosing a resolution to the effect that the Municipal Act be amended so as to exempt municipal corporations from civil liability for non-repair of highways. Legal Committee.

From W. D. Lighthall, honorable secretary of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, enclosing a copy of Dr. Barr's bill re crossing railways by municipal works. Finance Committee.

From City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall, to the effect that it is his opinion that the by-law recommended by the Board of Works to the effect that the engineer be instructed to enforce a fine of $10 on any person opening a street without permission would not be valid.—Board of Works.

From T. R. Kennedy, complaining that the agreement between the city and himself in regard to the opening of Aylmer street had not been carried out in the matter of leaving his house in good condition. Board of Works.

From A. B. Greer, London, Ont., enclosing an account in regard to the Dan Spence ambulance. Finance Committee.

From Wm. Langford, chairman of the Court of Revision, recommending as follows:

That the City Council take action to carry out its agreement with Henry Best in regard to extending George street and the amount of his agreement.

That $2 paid by Wm. Irwin, $1 paid by Mr. M. Breeze and $1 paid by Geo. Watkin for dog taxes be refunded.

From Robt. Neill resigning from the Board of Health on account of being elected a member of the City Council.

Resignation was accepted.

From W. G. Morrow, secretary of the Board of Education, requesting the Council to dispose of the debentures for the $25,000 required for the Queen Alexandra school enlargements.

Finance committee.

From W. G. Morrow containing a statement of the estimates of the Board of Education for 1908.

Finance Committee.

MANUFACTURER'S COMMITTEE.

The Manufacturers' committee apparently intends hustling during the year. Last night the following resolution was passed:

Moved by Ald. Neill, seconded by Ald. McIntyre,—That the Manufacturers' committee be authorized to send deputations to other places when they deem it advisable in order to further negotiations in regard to prospective industries, and that the city treasurer be authorized to pay their expenses on the certificates of the chairman of that committee.—Carried.

TO SECURE POWER.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Buller,—That Ald. Bradburn, Morrow and Neill be a committee to procure power for new industries and other purposes.—Carried.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the city treasurer be instructed to pay the Board of Education the demand for January, as contained in their request.—Carquest..—Carried.

Ald. Johnston drew the attention of the council to the necessity of iron tracks being put in at the fire hall in order that the fire fighting apparatus could be got in and out of the hall with greater facility.

Ald Morgan said the tracks were an immediate necessity.

The matter was discussed for a few minutes and it was moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the tracks be secured immediately.

On motion it was also decided that the foreman at the fire hall should make application to the Fire, Water and Light Committee for any equipment or improvements he may consider advisable, and that the committee give such requests careful consideration.

The decision on the matter of securing the tracks led to a little tiff between Ald. Johnston and Ald. Morgan in which the former stated that he expected to be the victim of many assaults during the year.

The Mayor assured him that such was not the case.

ASSESSORS.

Ald Neill brought up the matter of appointing assessors for the year.

"Better not have any at all," suggested an alderman, and a laugh went around.

It was decided to advertise for assessors, the council to pick two men from the applications received, if there are satisfactory men want the position.

Ald Neill moved, seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that the city advertise for assessors applications to be received up to January 25th.—Carried.

STREET LIGHTING.

Ald Johnston brought up the question of street lighting. The system was not satisfactory at the present time and the matter should be taken up with the Peterborough Light & Power Co., whose contract did not expire for another six years. Ald. Johnston referred to the Company's offer to change the system to the enclosed arc lamps. He thought it would be an improvement.

Ald. Morgan said the city was paying the Light & Power Company for light and value should be secured for the money.

Ald. Neill said that much better service would be had from the street lights if they were placed out near the centre of the streets, instead of in among the trees.

Ald. Johnston said he had spoken to the council about that matter several times.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Neill, that Mr. Larmouth be asked to come before the council next Monday night and explain what this company is prepared to do in regards to improving the lighting system.—Carried.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE

Ald. Turner drew attention to the fact that the Smith street bridge was getting in bad repair again. He would like to have a report from the city engineer on the matter.

On motion it was decided to have a report at the next meeting.

Annual Meeting Peterboro' Fair

Will be Held To-morrow Afternoon—Farmers' Institute Meeting

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Industrial Fair will be held in the city council chamber tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of the officers and members of the society, as the meeting is a most important one. Reports of the last exhibition will be submitted and officers elected for the year.

At two o'clock the Farmers' Institute will hold a meeting in the city council chamber. One of the subjects to be dealt with is the production of milk for city trade. This should prove especially interesting to the people of the city, and there should be a large number in attendance.

OBITUARY

JOHN H. McQUEEN.

An Owen Sound despatch says; After an illness of about two weeks, Jno. H. McQueen, superintendent of C.P.R. elevators, died at his residence here last night. Deceased had been in charge of the C.P.R. elevators at Owen Sound since their establishment over twenty years ago. He leaves a widow, three daughters and three sons, all residing there. Mr. McQueen was well known in Peterborough where he had many friends, having visited here frequently, being with his daughter, Miss S. M. McQueen.

Meeting of the Charity Board

There will be a meeting of the Charity Board in the City Clerk's office to-night at 7.45. The session promises to be a busy ones as much important business is on the books.

YOUNG PEOPLE HELD SOCIAL

The Young People's Guild of Knox Church held a social evening in the church last night. The following programme was given:

Piano solo—Miss Chiles.
Solo—Mr. Davenport.
Solo—Miss Robinson.

A guessing game was played, and the honors were carried off by Miss Clifford, after which light refreshments were served.

Band at Brock St. Rink to-night. Peterborough-Cobourg game at Cobourg will be bulletined promptly.

He Received a Nasty Cut While Skating

While skating at Jackson Park rink last evening Mr. James Conlin, who resides at 45 Bolivar street, was the victim of a painful accident. He in company with a friend was skating around, Mr. Conlin going backwards, when suddenly they tripped and fell to the ice. In falling Mr. Conlin struck the heel of his friend's skate. The sharp point pierced his hip, leaving a nasty wound. The young man was removed to his home and Dr. Neal was summoned. Mr. Conlin was afterwards removed to St. Joseph's Hospital in the Dan Spence ambulance, where Drs. Neal and McCulloch attended his injuries.

Will do City's Banking for Present Year

Bank of Toronto and City Came to an Agreement

The Bank of Toronto will do the city's banking for 1908. An agreement has been reached between the bank and the city as to rates of interest, etc., as outlined in the following resolution passed at last night's meeting of the City Council:

Moved by Ald. Morrow and seconded by Ald. Phelan, Whereas a joint committee representing this City Council, the City Trust Commissioners, the Water Commissioners, and the Board of Education last year asked for tenders from the several banks for terms upon which they would carry the bank accounts of the several civic bodies, and give them the accommodation required, and after much correspondence and several meetings approved of an offer from the Bank of Toronto to allow interest on credit balances at the rate of three and three-quarters per cent., and to charge interest on the overdraft up to the amount of the credit balances at the rate of 4 3-4 per cent. and on the amount in excess of the credit balances at the rate of six per cent;

Resolved, that this arrangement be confirmed by this council and that the city treasurer be instructed to receive and pay the interest at the rates mentioned.—Carried.

POLICE CHIEF ARRESTED.

Accused of Being In Possession of Stolen Goods.

Little Current, Manitoulin, Jan. 14.—The arrest of Chief of Police McEachern on a charge of theft has caused a big sensation here.

On Dec. 1, there was a big fire, several buildings being destroyed. Many articles were stolen from the burned buildings, the local police force was apparently unable to get a line on the thieves, and the Attorney-General's Department detailed Provincial Detective Miller to investigate.

Posing as an insurance agent, the detective visited the chief's house, and wound up by arresting the police chief on a charge of theft, and also apprehended Alex. McEachern, the chief's brother. These two appeared before the police magistrate and were committed for trial.

The provincial officers also suspected that Albert Bateman, also of Little Current, was mixed up in the case. He searched the place, but could find no stolen property until he got an axe, with which he chopped up the kitchen floor, underneath which he found several bags of stolen hardware. Bateman was arrested, found guilty on three charges, and was sentenced to 18 months in Central Prison.

Two wagon loads of articles were found in the chief's house, which, it is alleged, were stolen.

Scott Fined $50.

Woodstock, Jan. 14.—The last of the Scott cruelty case was heard yesterday when P. M. Ball fined Arthur Scott $50 and costs or six months in jail. Scott was first arrested and tried on the charge of cruelty to his six-year-old son, who is now in the general hospital suffering from frozen feet. On this charge the magistrate dismissed him, but he was again arrested on the charge of omitting to supply the necessaries of life to the little fellow. Scott has been out on bail for the past week and was given an opportunity of bringing the case before the high court. In preference, however, he decided to come before the magistrate, who had dealt leniently with him before. Scott paid his fine.

Hundreds Wounded.

Berlin, Jan. 14.—The city ambulance stations treated over 100 people pounded in Sunday's riots. Several hundred others proceeded to their homes to dress their own injuries.

The police had a most difficult task in overcoming the tactics of the infuriated women among the demonstrators, who clung to the bridles of the policemen's horses as efforts to stop the charges. The entire garrison of the capital was confined to barracks under arms.

In the provinces, the demonstrations Sunday, all in favor of the suffrage, were most enthusiastic. In Essen 10,000 people paraded the streets singing "La Marseillaise."

Five Years For Killing Wife.

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 14.—Thomas David, the Syrian pedlar, convicted of manslaughter in slaying his wife, was yesterday sentenced by Judge McLeod to five years in Dorchester Penitentiary.

The prisoner requested that he might be permitted to see his two children occasionally during his incarceration, and the judge assured him that the matter could be arranged.

Emmerson Case Dismissed.

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 14.—In Circuit Court here yesterday, James H. Crockett appeared with J. Douglas Hazen, K. C., and Mayor McLeod and counsel, prepared to go on with the case of King on information of H. R. Emmerson v. James H. Crockett. As nobody was present to represent the crown or Emmerson, his honor then dismissed the case.

Dutch Troops in Fight.

The Hague, Jan. 14.—Despatches received here state that the Dutch troops, after a severe fight on the Island of Flores, Malay Archipelago, have captured the rebel stronghold. One hundred and thirty natives are reported to have been killed, and most of the chiefs surrendered. The Dutch losses are insignificant.

Is Replete With Bright Features

Local Citizens Contribute Timely Articles to Dry Goods Revi ew

This special spring number of the Dry Goods Review, issued by the MacLean Publishing Company, of Toronto, is to hand.

It is one of the most complete, attractive and educative numbers ever published, containing no less than 86 pages, with a beautifully illuminated cover. It is replete with illustrations and timely hints in all departments, and contains instructive articles on a variety of topics from outside contributors — men who are eminently practical, and give the result of their experience and insight along certain well established lines.

The spring number of the Dry Goods Review is of particular local interest, no less than three Peterborough gentlemen having bright, readable articles in it; Mr. F. H. Dobbin, of the Review, writes on "The Ad. Man and the Printer," and tells how the advent has brought about changed conditions in the newspaper offices, how to carry out the ad man's plans costs considerable, etc.

From the pen of Mr. J. C. Edwards, advertising manager for A. W. Cressman, is an article on the "Relation of the Ad. Man to the Printer." Mr. H. C. MacDonald, window dresser and sign card writer for Richard Hall & Son has a timely contribution on "The Art of Card Sign Painting." Accompanying this sketch is a cut of Mr. MacDonald. Many other special features adorn the pages of the Dry Goods Review, the editor of which is Mr. M. J. Hutchinson, formerly of Peterborough. Both publishers and editors are to be congratulated on this superb spring issue.

The Peterborough Light & Power Co. wishes to remind its customers that Wednesday, January 15th, is the last day discount will be allowed on December accounts. The office will be opened during the evenings of the 14th and 15th from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m

A memorial meeting in memory of the late Lord Kelvin was held in New York yesterday.

The Daily Review

TUESDAY, JAN. 14, 1908.

STRINGENCY IS PASSING

It would seem, according to reports received from far and near, that the temporary period of stringency through which we have been passing is nearing an end. The demoralization that appeared for a time in manufacturing and other circles is vanishing, and almost daily the newspapers contain paragraphs to the effect that certain industries, which have been closed down for some time, are resuming operations. The signs are encouraging. The people are not talking of hard times and the scarcity of money as they were a few weeks ago. A feeling of confidence and trust prevails, and the prospects are that the same buoyancy and hopefulness will again prevail, as have characterized business generally during the past few years. There is every reason to be cheerful and take courage. The recent flurry will prevent over speculation and kill all wild cat schemes of finance. More conservatism will be practised, more economy exercised.

Hard times and good times are relative terms. What are hard times for some are good times for another, although the one class affected in one way is very much larger than the other, thus giving rise to the general use of the term.

In times of prosperity, the farmer, the merchant, the laborer, the mechanic and others make more money, but not the man on salary, the bookkeeper, the clerk the civil servant, etc. In the days when money was scarce, he accepted a position at a low salary, but as times got better he did not get the same increase or the same rate of increase, as the laborer, or the mechanic, he has no profit, like the merchant, or the farmer or the manufacturer. Last of all he gets his increase, and it usually comes at the end with a rush, the last to get the benefit usually being those in the civil service. The employer is usually slow, very slow, at raising salaries. The public is very much slower, but the increase comes eventually.

Times change. Money gets tight. The manufacturer turns off hundreds of men, but keeps his accountant at the same salary. The farmer cannot get the price for his product. Work is scarce, laborers' wages are cut down. The manufacturer, the merchant, the farmer are all satisfied with smaller profits and the prices of commodities come down so as to secure sale. Living becomes cheaper. But salaries almost invariably remain unchanged for a long time. The public, more particularly, is as slow to cut down salaries as it was to raise them. These then are good times for the man on salary. He gets a good times salary and can live on hard times prices. He gets his food, clothing, rent and labor cheaper than he could when times were generally good. A period of financial depression works no hardship on the salaried portion of the population as long as the salaries are continued at the standard to which they were raised during the more prosperous times.

THE MORAL EFFECT

The theatre is frequently condemned by the clergy and the church. It is pointed out that its influence is not uplifting and its effects baneful. There are, of course, good and bad plays, and the broad statement that the theatre is a messenger and purveyor of evil is too sweeping. It all depends upon the class of play presented.

A strange thing is that all the audience—both those who are moral and those who are not so, particular about observing all the commands in the decalogue—will vigorously and enthusiastically applaud every noble sentiment, every heroic feat, every act of generosity, the defence of the weak and the helpless, the injured and the downtrodden. Vice, chicanery deception and licentiousness are hissed and derided. Only the good, the elevating and the true receive acclaim or endorsation. Whoever heard of an audience applauding a villain, meanness, tyranny, oppression or wrong. If there is good in the theatre, any useful, moral or elevating lesson, it is found in the very fact that the good is applauded, the honorable recognized, the chivalrous upheld, and the self-sacrificing spirit commended. It is well that it is so, that so far as the examples of purity, innocence, truth, honor and charity are concerned, they are endorsed, while all that tends to degrade or debase in the drama is merely tolerated, serving only a means to an end, a background to bring out more vividly and clearly those characteristics and qualities, those virtues and adornments of head and heart and hand, which make life worth living, inspire us with hope and bid us all take fresh courage and inspiration.

A BUSINESS BOARD

The re-election of Mr. T. F. Matthews as chairman of the Board of Water Commissioners is a matter of congratulation, and evidences the confidence that the other commissioners have in him and in his ability to efficiently discharge the duties of the position. Since the purchase of the system by the city from the old Waterworks Company six years ago, the commissioners, Messrs. Matthews, Hill and Moore, have managed the affairs of this great civic utility in a manner that leaves little or no room for criticism. Each commissioner, at the end of his three year term, who has sought a renewal of public trust, has either been returned by acclamation or by a large majority, showing that the citizens generally have confidence in their work. Any measure that has been submitted to the people has also been endorsed by most gratifying majorities. An instance of this was seen in the recent election, when the by-law to tax all property fronted by water mains at 4 1-2 cents per lineal foot—less the discount—was carried by 717 majority. This will result in all the properties inside the corporation contributing its fair and just proportion to the maintenance and operation of the works and also in each consumer paying less in rates as the discount will be increased shortly from 25 per cent. to 33 1-3 per cent.

OFF TO A GOOD START

The new Mayor and City Council yesterday got off to a good start, and did considerable business in short order.

It is evident that the motto of the council is to be work, and not words. The chief magistrate made it clear that he intended to have all useless and meaningless discussion eliminated, and that personalities and petty jealousies, if ventilated at all, would have to be done outside the council chamber. The Mayor recognises that the civic representatives are there to do business, and business must be done in as expeditious and thorough a manner as possible, without hagging, senseless delay or talk that is not pertinent to the issue in hand.

The council for 1908, to use a colloquial expression, has its work cut out for it. If the proceedings of the first two sittings can be accepted as a criterion, the problems that come up will be attended to and disposed of in a prompt, thoughtful manner.

The new Mayor has had a long and successful business experience, and he intends to enforce it in the conduct and management of civic affairs—earnestness, discretion, progressiveness.

New chairmen have been chosen and good care seems to have been exercised in their selection.

With the mayor and council working in unity and harmony and co-operating to advance the usefulness and best interests of the city, splendid results should be accomplished and the administration of municipal affairs marked by tolerance and public spirit, a sincere desire for the advancement of the city and an effort to set a useful, helpful example to all.

By "a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether," the incoming mayor and council should have a record of work and results achieved at the end of 1908 of which they and the citizens can justly feel proud.

PRESS CLIPPING HUMOR

Prof. Edmund Burke of the College of the City of New York received a letter from a press-clipping agency. The letter informed the professor that his patronage was desired, and that as a sample of the work he would find enclosed a clipping from a speech by President Roosevelt, in which he had quoted the professor's words. Professor Burke read the clipping nearly through before he realized that the President was quoting from Edmund Burke's speech on "Conciliation With the American Colonies" delivered about 100 years before Prof. Burke was born. Sent out by the Dominion Press-Clipping Agency, Toronto, Canada.

Awful Disaster in Opera House; List of Dead Now Numbers 150

Gas Tank Exploded During Amateur Performance and Building Was Soon a Blazing Furnace—Whole Families Wiped Out—Awful Scene of Horror and Suffering.

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.,

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 14—When daylight dawned today the full extent of last night's horror, when Rhoades Opera House was burned, was apparent. The list of dead is placed at 150 and the injured at 75. How many were killed may never be known, for among the victims of this awful disaster were a number of visitors and strangers.

It is estimated that there were 400 persons in the play house when the explosion of the gas tank, which was being used in connection with moving pictures occurred.

An amateur performance for the benefit of St. John Lutheran Sunday School was being produced. When the explosion occurred someone yelled "Fire," and in a remarkably short time the centre of the opera house was a blazing furnace. The rapidity with which the flames spread was caused by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp, used at the footlights by some of the persons on the stage, who endeavored to allay the fright of the audience. When the explosion occurred there were at least 30 boys and girls on the stage, while many more were behind the scenes.

The fire was not brought under control until early this morning, after assistance had arrived from Reading and Pottsdown.

Physicians and nurses from Reading aided materially in alleviating the sufferings of the injured. The monetary loss will amount to about $75,000.

Whole families were wiped out.

MR. GEORGE THOMAS GIVES SPLENDID ADDRESS TO LEAGUE

Spoke for an Hour and a Half Before Epworth League of George Street Methodist Church—Intelligent Chinaman Talks Along Original Lines—Many Interesting Facts and Expression of Opinion on Different Matters.

Probably the first Chinaman that ever addressed a Peterborough audience did so last night, when Mr. Geo. Thomas delivered an hour and a half's discourse to the members of the Epworth League at the George street Methodist church. Mr. Thomas received the closest attention of a large audience. His address was more than ordinarily interesting. Mr. Thomas' language was well chosen, and his manner of delivery was easy and natural. He made a great impression with his listeners, who applauded him heartily at the conclusion of his discourse.

The speaker covered much ground and gave a general talk on various matters. Among other matters he discussed was the poll tax on Chinamen coming into this country. From his point of view it apppeared unreasonable that the Chinese should be forced to pay a high tax to enter Canada when there were no measures of reciprocation taken by the Chinese Government.

He stated that a great awakening was taking place in China, and many of the hurtful habits that had so long kept the vast Oriental Empire in the background among nations were being given up or suppressed. The habit of using opium has been one of the greatest curses of China, and those who use it are greater slaves to it than even the habitual users of intoxicating liquors in countries where they are taken. A man under the influence of opium or suffering from the effects of the habit, is not responsive to the call of duty, and becomes degenerate and without ambition.

Mr. Thomas in referring to the Japanese-Chinese war, said that the Japs won, not because they were a superior race, but because they had been more patriotic and awake to their responsibilities as a nation. China, however, was shaking off the mantle of sluggishness that had been over her for years, and is making good progress towards becoming one of the recognized powers of the earth.

The speaker was strong in his denunciation of the barroom. He said men came into his restaurant under the influence of liquor, and very often didn't want to pay, and showed a tendency to fight and generally made their presence obnoxious. They came along late at night, and were not in any way considerate in their conduct. Mr. Thomas also spoke of the enlightening work of the Empire Reform Association, of the loneliness of the life of a Chinaman of this country, the weird Chinese method of conducting funerals, and many other points of interest and instruction.

Mr. Mallory rendered a much appreciated solo during the evening, and Miss Gladys Pentland was heard to splendid advantage in a pleasing recitation.

At the conclusion of the address Rev. Mr. Pearson, the pastor, moved a hearty vote of thanks, which was seconded by Mr. Jas. Lang, and enthusiastically carried.

His Excellency Cannot Visit Peterborough on Dominion Day

Sends This Message to City Council—His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario May Come, However.

His Excellency the Governor-General cannot accept the invitation extended by the City Council to visit Peterborough on Dominion Day next on the occasions of the Sons of England demonstration. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario will likely be here, however, although his plans for next summer are not yet complete.

At the meeting of the City Council last night the following letters were read:

His Worship the Mayor of Peterborough:

Sir,—I am desired by the Governor-General to thank you very cordially for your kind invitation to visit Peterborough on the first of July next on the occasion of a patriotic celebration by the Sons of England in your city and to inform you that His Excellency much regrets that his plans for the coming summer will not permit of his accepting your courteous invitation for first of July next.

Yours faithfully,
ARTUR F. SLADEN.

Government House, Ottawa.

His Worship the Mayor of Peterborough:

Sir,—I am directed by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario to acknowledge your letter of the 24th instant on behalf of your city wishing His Honor to be present at the celebration on Dominion Day, 1908. His Honor directs me to thank the city through you for the kind invitation and to say that, provided His Honor is in Ontario on that date he will be pleased to accept. His Honor usually leaves Ontario for a holiday before that date, and although his plans are not yet completed he may not be in Ontario. I am communicating with the secretary of the Sons of England and asking them if they will be good enough to communicate with me about the middle of May when a definite answer will then be given them.

I regret that I cannot be definite now, but you will understand the reason.

Your obedient servant,
MAJOR H. MACDONALD.
Official Secretary.

Antonio Marone Heavily Fined For Biting Renzetti's Finger

Another Assault Case as a Result of Fracas on Charlotte St. Last Week—Story of the Row Told by Several Italians—A New Charge Against Renzetti

The police court cases resulting from the mix-up at the Italian boarding house on Charlotte street last week were continued this morning. Antonio Marone was charged with assaulting Nicholas Renzetti on January 7th. Mr. F. D. Kerr defended Marone and pleaded not guilty. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for Renzetti.

After hearing the evidence His Worship imposed a fine of twenty dollars to be paid forthwith or thirty days in gaol.

Renzetti was called and stated that when he went home last Tuesday evening he gave orders that everyone was to go to bed. The Marones were the only ones to make a reply, and they commenced to scrap. A lively melee followed, and during the encounter witness shoved his finger into Antonio's mouth and the defendant bit him, inflicting the wound which the doctor dressed in the police station, and is at present attending. Witness stated that the retiring hour was 9.30, but on Saturday nights it was 11 o'clock. In reply to the question if he had been drinking he said that he only had had three drinks. "It would take a whole keg to make me drunk," he added. Renzetti denied ever having scratched Antonio Marone or ever striking him a blow. "I don't know how to fight, so didn't take any part," said Nicholas.

The surgeon who attended Renzetti was called. He said that the wound on the index finger of his hand looked like as if it had been made by the teeth of a man, evidently having been bitten.

Pierto Alfieno was next sworn. He said that Antonio Marone started the fight. He also saw Antonio bite Renzetti. Witness got hold of Renzetti's hand and pulled the finger out of Maron's mouth. Renzetti hit Antonio a blow and scratched him in the face.

Ferro Bruno was the next witness. He was in the house on the night of the fight. He was in bed upstairs and heard Renzetti order everyone to bed. Then followed some loud talking and hollering. Witness said that Antonio ran to his room and grabbed a pair of scissors, but before he got away witness took them from him.

Fio Ra Venado Sgrngueiola was next called. He said that she did not see Antonio bite him. When he came downstairs Renzetti's hand was bleeding and Antonio's face was badly scratched.

Antonio Callino was called and stated that he saw the fight but did not see Renzetti bitten. One of them started the row as much as the other.

Antonio Marone was called for the defence. He said Renzetti put his hand on his face and shoved his fingers into his mouth so that he could not breath. He said that he bit his finger to make him take it out.

His Worship in giving judgment stated that there was direct evidence that Renzetti had had his finger bitten by Antonio Marone. He abominated biting as a means of revenge. He thought they should do so with their fists alone. He found Marone guilty and fined him twenty dollars, ten dollars of which was to go to Renzetti for doctor's bill. However, it appears that Renzetti owes Marone $87.50, and they agreed that the ten dollars he was to receive for doctor's expenses be deducted from the above amount.

Renzetti has to face another charge that of threatening to take the life of Nicholas Mammolo.

Band at Brock St. Rink to-night. Peterborough-Cobourg game at Cobourg will be bulletined promptly.

New Members for Board of Health

Dr. Young and Messrs. Jas. Edgar and Chas. Murty Elected Last Night

Messrs. Wm. Eyres, George Schneider, and Robt. Neill have retired from the Board of Health, and Dr. Young and Messrs. James Edgar and Chas. Murty have been elected to take their place. Mr. Neill resigned on account of being elected a member of the city council, but Messrs. Eyres and Schneider desired to be relieved of their duties in connection with the board. At last night's meeting of the city council a bylaw was passed, appointing Messrs. Young, Edgar and Murty members of the Board of Health. As a result the board for 1908 will be composed as follows: Messrs. Parker, Edgar, Mc- follows: Messrs. Parker, Edgar, Murty, Drs. McNulty, Burnham, to be medical health officer.

The board will hold its inaugural meeting in a few days.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

We hereby certify that we have personally checked the cash on hand at Halifax, St. John, Montreal and Toronto. We have also verified the securities held as investments, personally examining those held by the Canadian branches of the Bank, and procuring certificates by responsible business men, not in the employ of the Bank, certifying to the existence of the remainder of these securities.

We have further to report that having examined the foregoing Balance Sheet, and having compared the same with the books of the Head Office, and the certified returns from the branches, we are of the opinion that it is a full and fair Balance Sheet, exhibiting a true and correct view of the Bank's affairs as at 31st December, 1907.

Rev. Mr. Allan Tells Story of Goldfields of South Africa

The Marvellous Growth of the City of Johannesburg—The Real Cause of the War With Britain—Present Day Conditions in the Gold Country.

At St. Andrew's church last night Rev. A. Allan, the Scottish divine, read for his lesson the 5th chapter of Romans, verses 1-11. He said that these verses would have a close connection with his address.

Mr. Allan spoke on the subject "The Gold Fields of Johannesburg." He desired to convey to his audience the great world consciousness, of the spread of Christianity. He said that during his stay of seven years in South Africa he had come into close relations with the problems of South African affairs. He could speak for a whole evening on any topic, but would strive to condense his remarks to a few on each matter. He had received his education in Scotland and had been sent out in 1887 by the presbytery to establish a church in Johannesburg. That city had only 300 inhabitants at that time, and it increased to 150,000 in three years. There were no railways at that time, and the immigrants came by stage coach or bullock waggon. Having founded his Presbyterian church, he was on the lookout for all newcomers. These were mostly men, and he had only two women in his congregation. These men formed all the church organization, which he said was very unique. Not having a church when he first went there, he secured a store where he held meetings. After he had fixed the church up by the help of Kaffirs and had secured an organist, he sent a boy into the street with a bell to announce his service. His congregation consisted of all the nationalities of Europe, and his first service was really successful. At length he was compelled to build a new church, and to do this he had to beg all that was necessary for its structure. He hadn't much time to study, as he was the life and soul of every movement, Building, visiting, entertaining and looking after new arrivals. His secret of winning the young men was that of being one of them, becoming their close friends, and bearing their troubles with them.

Mr. Allan next dealt with the political aspect of the country. He says that a wrong impression prevails in the old land and in the colonies about the cause of the Boer war, and that we blame the Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, who was not directly responsible. There is a great deal in the understanding of the three classes in South Africa — Hollanders, Dutch and Boers. The trouble began by the Transvaal bringing out the Hollanders among them. Dr. Leyds was a very clever and far-seeing diplomat, who took charge of the affairs in the Transvaal. He and his Hollander colleagues originated a great scheme by which Holland should control South Africa, and to accomplish this end the Boers were drawn into it under false pretences. He claims it was a European war. Holland planned for seven years, and sent out trained men from all the European countries to carry out their conspiracy. The Boers were Dutch farmers in South Africa, the Dutch were merely the Dutch people in Cape Colony and were the same as the British. They were highly educated, were mixed in blood with the British and having all the privileges of British citizens.

A fellow minister of Mr. Allan received a sympathetic pamphlet from the President of the Free State and Secretary of the Transvaal, showing the scheme of the Hollanders. This minister who was in favor of going to England to plead the Boer cause requested an explanation, but none was returned.

The Hon. Cecil Rhodes, who was the far-seeing statesman of Britain, was aware of the great Hollander scheme, and it was his plan to incorporate all the Transvaal and Free State to British protectorate. He planned a great raid, which, if it had been successful, would have evaded the late Boer war. At the time of this raid, the Hollander, Dr. Leyds, was in Europe planning his great conspiracy. But one man who knows when the war would have ended. That man was Theodore Schreiner, who was trusted by both parties, the Boers and Dutch of Cape Colony. He knew about this great conspiracy, and had the chance to be leader of all the Boers, but he was loyal to his Queen and country. He held the sixty thousand Dutch of Cape Colony, who were waiting for his command, until Kimberly was relieved, and then their opportunity was lost. Many of the Boers were in Mr. Allan's congregation, some taking one side in the war and some the other. He was personally acquainted with Cronje, who knew of the great scheme. He knew General Botha, who is at present Premier of Cape Colony, and he says there is now no danger of any rebellion among the Boers, but the danger lies among the Dutch of Cape Colony, who were sorely disappointed with the outcome of the war. Mr. Allan says that he has had many interviews with President Kruger, who was a great preacher and leader of his people. He says that the Boers came up to Pretoria and Johannesburg every six months to celebrate the Lord's supper, and that at that time they do all their shopping for six months. The natives also prove loyal workers in the church work, and he has many times preached to a congregation to which his sermon had to be translated in four or five different languages.

He next proceeded to give his idea of the relation of the colonies to the war. He said that the British and Scotch were proud of Canada and the other colonies for the brilliant and brave work done in the South African war. The Dutch of Cape Colony were disgusted with the misfortunes and defeats of the earlier stages of the war as the British kept out all colonials from the war council, and those were the very ones who knew most about the country, tactics and nature of the Boers. He believed that the colonials from Canada and Australia would have settled the war in six months if they had been there from the first. At any rate their service in the war had been the means of cementing the whole Empire.

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro' our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Yours very respectfully,

Animated Discussion In House—What Senate Costs Canadian People—Member For Centre York Introduced—Trade With France—Purchase of Rifles—Maintenance of Dockyards—Drilling Seamen.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—P. D. McLean, Centre York, was introduced to the House by Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday afternoon. He is the fourth bearing the name in the House.

On motion of Sir Wilfrid Dr. McLean was appointed a member of the committees on public accounts, railways and canals, and agriculture.

Replying to Dr. Barr, the Minister of Railways and Canals said 215 applications had been made to the Railway Commission for the privilege of crossing railway tracks with water mains or water pipes from Feb. 1, 1904, to Dec. 1, 1907, and none were refused. The number of applications to cross tracks with telegraph wires was 65, and none were refused.

Sir Frederick Borden said no steps had been taken in the past year to have medals issued to members of the third South African contingent, who arrived within the three-mile limit before the conclusion of the war. The War Office had decided they were not entitled to the medals. Sir Frederick also said a bill was being prepared in the terms of resolution of last session to set aside lands for veterans of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. He also told Col. Hughes that the claims of Lindsay for an armory would be considered, and steps were being taken to secure a site for rifle ranges.

Senate Costs More.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, replying to Mr. Foster, said the cost of the Senate in 1895 was $76,528, and in 1905-6 $210,114.

Hon. Mr. Paterson told Mr. Cockshutt that in five months ending Nov. 30 last, 198,075 pounds of butter worth $34,803 were entered for home consumption in Canada.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur said the correspondence in respect to the maintenance of the dockyards at Esquimalt and Halifax transferred to Canada was confidential. Since they were taken over by Canada $24,069 had been expended, and $40,000 was in the estimates for this year. He also told Mr. Macdonell that $1,154,352 had been expended up to the present in connection with hydrographic survey.

The matter of increasing the docking facilities on the Atlantic and Pacific were under consideration.

Sir Wilfrid said, replying to Mr. Macdonell, that the Government intended to adhere to the policy laid down by the Premier at the Colonial Conference in connection with the part taken by Canada in Imperial naval defence when he said, "We could not contribute or undertake to do more than we are doing in that way."

Mr. Brodeur said the total expended since 1885, the date of the abrogation of the Washington treaty in protecting Canadian fisheries was $2,824,000. Mr. Brodeur also told Mr. Macdonell that it was true that at the Colonial Conference he said the Dominion Government claimed credit for drilling Canadian seamen on a Canadian cruiser. The number trained was 287.

The probable cost of deepening the Ruscomb River was $6,000. Mr. Pugsley said in reply to Mr. Clements that the contract had not been awarded.

Sir Frederick Borden said the Department of Militia had purchased ten Lee-Enfield rifles at a cost of $24 each since signing the contract with the Ross Rifle Co.

Replying to Dr. Daniel, the Minister of Customs, gave the value of the imports from France in the past five years as follows: 1903, $6,580,029; 1904, $6,206,529; 1905, $7,059,139; 1906, $7,667,987; nine months ended March 31, 1907, $6,699,512. All imports were brought direct as through shipments.

The right of a member of Parliament to inspect original papers filed in the Department of the Interior was last night denied by the majority sitting behind Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleague, Hon. Frank Oliver.

H. B. Ames of St. Antoine division of Montreal moved for the production of certain papers in connection with the granting of timber limits in the west, and during the greater part of the afternoon and all the evening session the debate was continued.

The Minister of the Interior opposed the motion on the ground that it was the practice to produce only copies. The Opposition contended that the House was entitled to the originals if it desired them, and that failure to produce increased suspicions of wrongdoing.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier challenged the Opposition to make a charge that the papers laid on the table were not the exact copies. This the latter refused to do, but more than one member unhesitatingly asserted that he believed they had been tampered with. Mr. Ames said of the 600 or more pages, he was anxious to inspect the originals of only nine, and he appealed to the Government not to lay down the principle that state papers were not to be open to the inspection of the representatives of the people.

Mr. Foster combatted the theory of the Minister that the papers were the exclusive property of the employes of the Department. The 214 members representing the six million people of Canada were, he would imagine, superior to the Deputy Minister.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier called to the support of the Minister of the Interior a rule of the House that no papers may be taken from the Departments unless sufficient reasons were given. The Government had never refused to produce copies of any documents.

R. L. Borden charged that members of the Opposition were refused permission to examine documents in the Immigration Department, a right that was accorded Government supporters.

An Awful Theatre Fire in Which Many Meet Their Death

Oil Lamps Cause Blaze in Which Scores Perish.

Apalling Disaster at Boyertown, Pa., in Which Fifty to Seventy-Five People Were Burned to Death or Crushed in Frantic Battle to Reach Exits—Many Children Are Among the Dead.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 14.—Between 50 and 75 persons were burned to death last night in a fire which completely destroyed Rhodes' Opera House in this place.

The opera house was crowded with the members of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School, who were attending a benefit given for the church.

While the show was in progress, a tank exploded. The actors endeavored to quiet the audience, but in their anxiety to make themselves heard and to avoid the awful stampede of the women and children, the coal oil lamps which were used at the footlights were overturned, setting the place on fire.

The flames, fed by the oil, shot almost to the ceiling and there was a wild rush of the 700 persons to escape from the burning building.

Scores of women and children were trampled on and several who escaped being burned to death died after being dragged from the opera house.

In many cases, it is said, entire families have been wiped out.

The scene which followed the explosion is indescribable.

Scores of persons who were in the balcony at the time of the explosion, jumped from the windows and sustained serious injuries.

To add to the terrible disaster the fire apparatus became disabled and the structure was left entirely to the mercy of the seething flames.

It is almost certain not a vestige of the bodies of the unfortunates who were overcome by the smoke and perished, ever will be found.

Assistance was asked from Pottstown, but before the fire apparatus from that city reached this place the entire centre of the structure was a roaring furnace.

Had the women and children heeded the warning of the cooler heads in the audience the horrible loss of life might have been avoided, but there was the usual panic and stampede which invariably follows at such a catastrophe.

The flames spread rapidly and communicated to the other parts of the theatre.

Men, women and children rushed for the many exits and the weaker sex and the children were trample and maimed in the mad rush to gain the street.

Medical Assistance Sent.

Assistance was at once asked of both Reading and Pottstown and special trains carrying nurses and doctors were rushed to the scene of the disaster.

Every home within a radius of half a dozen blocks of the opera house was made a temporary hospital, where the wounded were rushed by carriages and other means of conveyance.

Boyertown is a borough with a population of about 2,500, and is located about midway between Pottstown and Reading.

The fire is not yet—midnight—under control, but it is thought it will not be communicated to other property, as the opera house is on a plot of ground by itself.

Parents Distracted.

Hundreds of persons surrounded the burning structure, apparently unconscious of the pending danger from falling walls.

Many parents who had children in the opera house are pacing to and fro almost maddened by the awful sight.

Bigger Locks For Warships.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—Secretary of War Taft has written a letter to the President, recommending an increase of the width of the Panama Canal locks from 100 feet, as at present planned, to 110 feet. The change will cost about $5,000,000 additional, but meets the naval view as to the likelihood of larger battleships in the future.

Death Sentence For Thieving.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 14.—A court-martial has sentenced five persons to death and two to the mines for the robbery during last April of the estate belonging to the Alexander Nevsky Monastery. The robbers expected a big haul, but secured only a lot of rubbish. Many other death sentences for theft are recorded.

Alfonso May Visit America.

Madrid, Jan. 14.—The newspapers of all political shades are enthusiastic over the report that King Alfonso next year may make a trip to Mexico and other Latin-American countries. While it is not officially admitted that the King contemplates such a voyage, it is known that he is considering it.

Schmitz Stays in Jail.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 14.—Superior Judge Dunne yesterday refused to admit to bail former Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz, whose conviction was reversed last Wednesday by the Appelate Court.

Cuba Free In 1909.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—So far as he can, Secretary Taft has committed the American Government to a promise to withdraw completely from Cuba in the beginning of the spring of 1909.

Boycott Collapsing.

Shanghai, Jan. 14.—The movement to boycott British goods, which arose over the Chinktan loan dispute, points to a collapse, owing to the measures taken by the Chinese Government.

Former Local Oddfellows Are Honored in Toronto

Messrs. E. J. Cobean and John Skitch Given Veteran's Jewels—Presentation Made by Mayor Oliver.

On Monday evening last two members of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I. O. O. F., Messrs. E. J. Cobean and John Skitch, formerly of Peterborough, but now residing in Toronto, were presented with veterans' jewels, the gift of Peterborough Lodge, in recognition of their twenty-five years' faithful and continuous membership. As these brothers could not be present at Peterborough in November, when some of the other members were honored in a similar manner, the jewels were forwarded to Bro. M. W. Matchett, D.D.G.M., a member of Peterborough lodge now residing in Toronto, who made all arrangements for their presentation.

The occasion was the installation of the officers of Queen City of Ontario Lodge, No. 56, corner College and Yonge. Two candidates were also initiated the same evening. The Noble Grand, Bro. Wm. Hudson, called upon Bro. Matchett, who, in a short address, explained the circumstances of the case, and referred to the nature of the presentation and the honor which the Peterborough brethren wished to confer on their two members, and concluded by asking Mayor Oliver to make the presentation. Mayor Oliver has been for thirty-five years a member of Queen City Lodge, and has been honored with the highest positions in the gift of the order, being a Past Grand Master and a Past Grand Patriarch. Bro. Oliver, in a neat speech, referred to the pleasure it gave him to be present and assist, and to his lifelong interest in the noble work of the order. Hearty applause greeted Bros. Skitch and Cobean as the jewels were pinned on their breast by the mayor, who hoped they might be long spared to wear them.

D. D. G. M. Bowden and his staff, which included Bro. Parks, well-known to the Peterborough brethren, as he formerly lived here, installed the officers in excellent form, rituals being conspicuous by their absence.

Driver of Delivery Sleigh Said to Have Been Held Up

A rumor is current on the streets to-day that a well known driver of a delivery sleigh for a local dry goods firm was held up on Saturday evening while driving in the south end of the city. It is said that a man dressed in dark clothes walked out and stopped the horse and demanded the money and other valuables that the driver had in his possession. However, to-day when a Review reporter called on the young man he denied any such story and said that certain parties had started the yarn, which is entirely without foundation.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations.—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

Margret Merkley
Mrs R. Glenn

When a physician tells a woman, suffering from female trouble, that an operation is necessary it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation she felt that her death knell had sounded.

Our hospitals are full of women who are there for just such operations!

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations.

Mrs. Robert Glenn of 434 Marie St., Ottawa, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so well and widely known that it does not need my recommendation, but I am pleased to add it to the many which you have in its favor. I have suffered untold agonies from a serious female trouble for nearly three years, and the doctors told me that I must undergo an operation, but as I was unwilling to do this, I tried your Vegetable Compound, and I am only too pleased that I did so, for it restored me to perfect health, saving me the pain of an operation and the immense bills attending the same. Pray accept my hearty thanks and best wishes."

Miss Margaret Merkley of 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps, bearing-down pains, and an irritable disposition compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said that I had a serious female trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation as my only hope. To this I strongly objected—and I decided as a last resort to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"To my surprise the ulceration healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared, and I am once more strong, vigorous and well; and I cannot express my thanks for what it has done for me."

Serious feminine troubles are steadily on the increase among women—and before submitting to an operation every woman should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been curing the worst forms of female complaints, all functional troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement, weakness, irregularities, indigestion and nervous prostration. Any woman who could read the many grateful letters on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office would be convinced of the efficiency of her advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

North Monaghan Council Holds Inaugural Meeting

Preparations Made for the Year's Work—Severa Officials Were Appointed.

The inaugural meeting of the council of the Township of North Monaghan was held in the Town Hall on Monday, January 13, 1908, at 1.30 p.m.

The members of the council are: John Brown, reeve, and Messrs. R. A. Dobbin, J. H. Forster, G. H. May and W. G. Howden, councillors.

All were present.

The clerk having reported that each member had made and subscribed the necessary declaration of qualification and of office, the reeve in a few well chosen remarks, referring to the general work of the council throughout the ensuing year, organized for the transaction of public business.

The minutes of the last meeting were then read and confirmed.

Communications were read from J. Ross Robertson, asking for a grant to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto.

From the Municipal World of St. Thomas, soliciting subscriptions for 1908.

The Peterborough Times Printing Co., asking for the township printing account for 1908.

Accounts were handed in from the following:

Thomas Williams, for burying dead carcase	.50
The Peterborough Printing Co balance account	$ 13.12
G. W. Bennett, amount paid for registration of debenture, bylaw, etc	3.50
J. J. Bennett, D R O and poll clerk	4.00
B. Sanderson, D R O and poll clerk	4.00
G. H. May, rent of No. 12 school house	4.00

These accounts being certified to, were passed and ordered to be paid.

Applications for office were received from the following:

Bert Sanderson as auditor.
J. J. Lynch as auditor.
Bruce Johnston as assessor.
Richard Lillico as road commissioner for road division No. 1.

It was moved by Messrs. Dobbin and Forster, that a grant of the sum of $6.00 be given to the Hospital for Sick Children at Toronto, and that the clerk is hereby directed to forward the same. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Howden and Dobbin, that the clerk is hereby directed to subscribe for 6 copies of the Municipal World for the use of this council, and that an order be drawn upon the treasurer, for the sum of $5.00 in payment of the same. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Howden and Forster that the clerk is hereby directed to give the township printing account to the Peterborough Times Printing Co. for current year. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Forster and May, that Robert Waterman and Thomas M. Foster be appointed auditors for 1907 at a salary of $5.00 each. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Forster and May, that Bruce Johnston be appointed assessor for 1908 at a salary of $45.00. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Howden and May, that Wm. Whitfield be appointed collector of rates for 1908 at a salary of $50. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Howden and Forster, that Israel Payne be reappointed a member of the township local board of health for a period of 3 years. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs Howden and May, that Mr. Foster Moncrief and Mr. R. Collin be re-appointed road commissioners for road districts Nos. 4 and 2 respectively. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Forster and Howden, that Mr. John Armstrong be re-appointed road commissioner for road district No. 3. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs Dobbin and May, that Rich. Lillico be appointed road commissioner for road district No. 1. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Forster and Howden, that the supervisors on the work of improvement of roads and bridges for the various districts for the year be as follows:

Road district No. 1, Mr. Forster.
Road district No. 2, Mr. May.
Road district No. 3, Mr. Dobbin.
Road district No. 4, Mr. Howden.

This was carried.

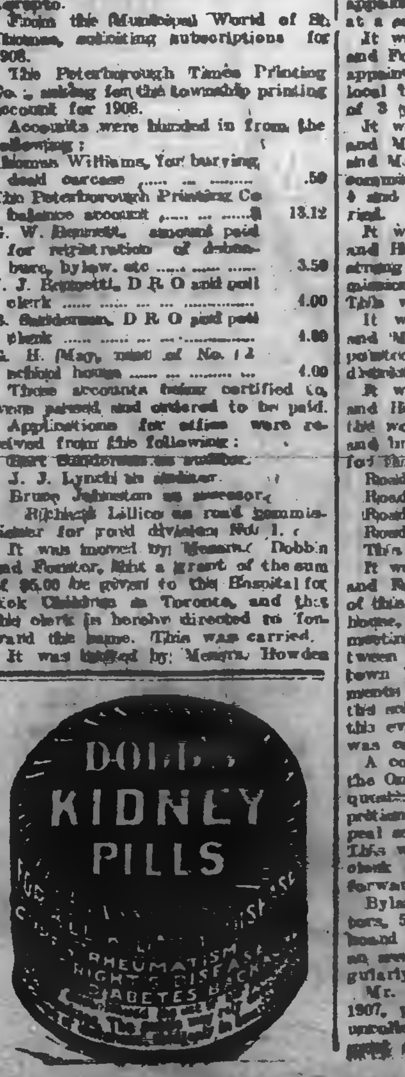
It was moved by Messrs. Howden and Forster, that the next meeting of this council be held in May's school house, and that thereafter regular meetings be held alternatively between May's school house and the town hall, (provided that arrangements can be made for the use of this school house at 7.30 o'clock in the evenings for that purpose). This was carried.

A communication was read from the Ontario Municipal Association, requesting the council to endorse a petition to the Legislature to repeal section 606 of the Municipal Act. This was received and the reeve and clerk were directed to sign and forward the petition.

Bylaws Nos. 594 to appoint auditors, 595 to appoint members of the board of health, and 596 to appoint an assessor, were then introduced regularly read and passed.

Mr. Israel Payne, the collector for 1907, presented a statement of the uncollected taxes for 1907. This statement showed that the sum of $99.22 was still uncollected. The clerk was directed to act with Mr. Payne to investigate the standing of those ratepayers who yet owe their taxes, and in default of immediate settlement to have a distress warrant issued, and seize goods and chattels, if any, to secure payment of all outstanding taxes.

Council then adjourned until Feb. 10th, to meet in May's school house at 7.30 p.m.



Meetings are Held Each Afternoon

Mr. Allan Speaks on "Person and Ministry of Holy Spirit"

In connection with the Allan evangelistic mission in St. Andrew's church most instructive addresses are given every afternoon at 3.30 in the comfortable and commodious auditorium of the church. No one should miss the helpful and instructive course of studies on the person and Ministry of the Holy Spirit. On Sunday night Mr. Allan will deal particularly with young men's difficulties and all are urged to communicate to Mr. Allan any personal difficulties that stand in the way of a Christian life.

Miss Reesor and Mr. Scriver will sing at to-night's meeting. Song service at 7.45. Everybody welcome.

May be Shortage in Ice Harvest

In Peterborough Unless Weather Continues Cool—Ice is Only 12 Inches Thick Yet

It seems more or less of a mockery to the shivering man on the street, who is endeavoring to keep the frost from his ears by pulling down his fur cap and turning up his coat collar, to be told that there may be a shortage in the ice crop this year in Peterborough. But, nevertheless, this is likely to happen.

Owing to continued mild weather, the river and lake did not freeze as early as usual, and consequently ice cutting has not commenced by the Peterborough dealers, the Allin Ice Company and Mr. T. A. Rohill, although operations are begun in an ordinary winter about New Year's, and in especially good years during the latter part of December.

The ice is about twelve inches thick in Little Lake, where much of the supply is obtained. Some small quantities of ice have been cut to supplement last year's crop. Several men have already obtained work that way, and these report a good quality of ice.

Cutting in general will not commence till next week, and it is hoped that the present cold weather will continue.

It is too far ahead yet to say whether the lateness of the season will cause an advance in the price next summer. If severe weather has come to stay, the ice will probably grow much thicker, and make amends for the fortnight's delay.

The hotels, butcher shops and other places requiring ice during the winter are being supplied from last year's crop, which in some instances is still large.

Presentation to Mr. Frank Pratt

Given Handsome Marble Clock by Fellow Boarders

An enjoyable affair took place at the Peterborough House on Monday night, when Mr. Frank Pratt, of the Canadian Express Company, was presented with a handsome marble clock. The time piece was the gift of Mr. James Head, proprietor, and the boarders of the Peterborough House. Mr. Pratt made a suitable reply, and afterwards songs were sung and a jolly time spent. Mr. Pratt is joining the ranks of the benedicts.

PRESCRIPTION FILLED OFTEN

Many Persons Here Benefited by Home Prescription and Druggists are Kept Busy

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well known local pharmacy filled the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. One of these folks naturally bought the ingredients only and mixed them at home. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It cannot be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults is one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.

A PIANIST OF ABILITY

Has Been Engaged by Mr. Edwards, Manager of the Crystal

Manager Edwards of the Crystal is fortunate in securing the services of Mr. H. N. Birchall as pianist for the Crystal to succeed Miss Margaret McKeever, the clever young musician who has so ably filled the position for the past four months.

Miss McKeever has been forced to resign, as she and her parents leave in the immediate future for Great Falls, Nebraska, where they will reside.

Mr. Birchell received a thorough musical training in the old country, having the distinction of winning a gold medal provided by one of the leading English colleges of music. He is a brilliant player, possessing splendid powers of technique and producing an excellent tone.

AMUSEMENTS

ROSELLE KNOTT.

Roselle Knott has executed a five year contract with the International Amalgamated Amusement Co., of New York, of which her husband, Ernest Shipman, is President and General Manager. It will be welcome news to the better class of theatregoers of the United States and Canada to learn that Roselle Knott, who has endeared herself to all hearts by her artistic acting in recent years, will return to the stage in March or April of this year, and Canada will be included in her itinerary.

A new company to be known as the International Amalgamated Amusement Company, with a capitalization of $100,000, was given its charter at Albany, N.Y., on January 10th, and Miss Knott, who will continue to be known by her professional name, has in company with several other stars, executed a five year contract with this company, and will make her initial bow under the new management on March 15th, at Rochester, NY. in "Alice, Sit By the Fire," by J. M. Barrie, the dean of Scotch writers

Must Live up to its Contract

Machine Phone Co. Must Ship its Plant to Edmonton by February

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 13.—Mayor McDougall has taken decided action on a matter of vital interest to citizens both of Edmonton and Strathcona. It is now over a year since the Lorimer Automatic Telephone system contract was let, and almost a year since it was to have been installed. Meanwhile hundreds of applications for phones have been filed in the city offices, and practically none of them have been granted, as present service is taxed to its utmost capacity.

Upon assuming reins of office, Mayor McDougall immediately had the city solicitor examine the contract between the city and the company. As a result of his report, an ultimatum has been delivered to the Canadian Machine Company, manufacturers of the Lorimer system, that they have been given till February to ship the plant to Edmonton. If it is shipped before the specified date another condition is that it shall be installed in complete and satisfacory working order by March 15 next. If both these conditions are not complied with, the contract will forthwith be cancelled.

NOTES FROM INDIAN RIVER

Indian River, Jan. 14.—Miss Maggie O'Leary, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is recovering slowly.

Miss Janet Breckenridge, of Norwood, is visiting her brother here.

Miss Annie Walker, of Toronto, is home for a few holidays.

Prof. Wm. J. McQuinn, of Peterborough, held a series of concerts here last week with considerable success. A prize was given to the most popular young lady, which was awarded to Miss Mabel Elmhurst. Also a prize was given to the prettiest baby which was won by little Beatrice Breckenridge.

Mr. William Evans, of the S.P.S., Toronto, has returned after spending his holidays at his home here.

Mr. Percy Pollin has also returned to Toronto.

Mr. Quigley, the grain buyer here, is doing a rushing business selling corn, bran and shorts, flour, etc.

Mr. Rodger Devlin has returned to St. Jerome's College, Berlin.

The Baptist Church here is being supplied by McMaster students since Rev. L. S. Steadman left. Rev. Mr. Reade was here last Sunday.

We are glad to say that the village has a better mail service since the New Year. We now get two mails a day, one from the west at noon and one from the east at noon.

In the Abbitibbi inquiry Mr. Mathys has been excused from answering the questions to which he objected, on the ground that so doing would expose him to criminal prosecution.

The Fear of Death Made Men Fight Like Demons

Men Lost Control of Themselves in the Boyertown Disaster.

Struggled With Women and Children in Fight For Life—Whole Audience Panic-Stricken — Death Roll Is 167—Many Bodies Can Never Be Identified—Whole Families Wiped Out.

Boyertown, Jan. 15.—When nightfall put a stop to the work of recovering the dead from the ruins of the Rhoades Opera House, where Monday night's holocaust occurred, the official roll of victims numbered 167.

Whether more bodies are buried beneath the ruins cannot be positively stated, but it is the belief of those who had charge of the gruesome work, that all the dead have been removed, and that the total list of victims will not go above 170. The ratio of women and girls to men and boys is about nine to one. The work of identification will not be begun until to-day, as most of the bodies are still lying in a confused state at the four improvised morgues.

Recovering the Bodies.

It was almost daylight yesterday morning before the flames were extinguished and rescuers were able to enter the ruins to remove the dead. The morning was bitter cold, and by the time the benumbed and exhausted firemen began the task of disentangling the mass of burned debris, the entire ruins were coated with ice and there was danger of the walls falling. The work went slow at first and it was 7 o'clock before the first body was removed. Coroner Strasser of Reading, who reached the scene shortly after midnight had a detail of men ready to recover the bodies and keep a record of the description of every corpse removed. The bodies were so badly burned, however, that there was little to describe them by, and it is safe to say that not half the victims will ever be identified. The second victim was taken from the ruins about a half hour after the first and then the work of recovery moved more rapidly.

By noon the rescuers became thoroughly exhausted from the cold and labor, and for a time the work came almost to a standstill.

Soon after the work of recovering the bodies moved so rapidly, that victims were being taken from the ruins at the rate of two every five minutes.

There were many different stories as to the exact cause of the panic and fire, and there were several rumors of arrests, but the borough officials and Coroner Strasser last night denied that any action whatever had been taken. The coroner said that his one thought was to get out all the bodies before a sleet or snow storm should set in and hamper the work.

Audience Mainly Adults.

So far as can be learned, there were about 425 persons packed in the room, most of whom were adults. The number of children present was comparatively small. There was about sixty-five persons, all local talent, on the stage, who were giving a performance of the Scottish Reformation. The entertainment was nearly over, the audience waiting for the curtain to go up on the last part, when something went wrong with the calcium light apparatus that was perched on a small platform near the front entrance of the building and at the back of the audience. The light was in charge of H. W. Fisher of Carlisle, Pa., and he says a rubber tube slipped from one of the tanks. At any rate there was a loud hissing sound, which caused many in the audience to turn their heads in curiosity to see what it was.

There was absolutely no panic up to this time, and nothing probably would have happened if one or more of the performers behind the curtain had not been curious to learn what was causing the noise. Who he—or they — was will probably never be known. Hearing the hissing sound and the slight commotion in the audience, one of the performers raised the curtain from the floor. In front of the curtain, and serving as footlights, was a tin tank, perhaps 8 feet long, 3 inches wide and 3 inches high. It contained coal oil and about ten lights. In raising the curtain the performer accidentally turned this tank over, and it fell to the floor within a few inches of those persons in the front row.

Deadly Cry of Fire.

Then came the inevitable cry of fire, and what followed would be impossible to accurately tell. Every eye witness says the audience rose en masse, the one impulse being to reach the front door. All attempted it, but few got out. The seats in the centre of the hall were of the usual folding variety, screwed to the floor, while along the sides of the hall were loose chairs. In the scramble to get out, many persons fell over the chairs and were never able to regain their feet. Those who did reach the front entrance found it jammed with people who were fighting and shrieking to get out. One of the double doors had been bolted shut, so as to better enable the ticket-taker to take up tickets. Not more than two persons could pass this door at one time, and after the first half-dozen got through the narrow passage it became clogged with the struggling mass of humanity. Men, women, boys, girls and chairs were tangled up in a solid mass that no one from the outside was able to disentangle.

Fire Escapes Discovered.

In the meantime someone discovered that there were fire escapes on each side of the building, and dozens made their exit by those avenues and gave the alarm. The fire bell was rung and the whole town was aroused and went to the rescue. All this time the flames from the oil tank were creeping toward the terrified mass of people, who were frantically shrieking and fighting to get out. The noise was terrific, and few heard the cries of those who found the fire escapes.

When the flames were extinguished and rescuers entered the building a horrible sight met their gaze. Bodies were piled in one solid mass six feet high on the second floor. So solidly were they wedged that picks and crowbars had to be used gently to separate the victims. As each victim was taken from the pile, a number tag was attached and the body placed on boards, after which it was taken to one of the morgues.

Some of the bravest who had gained the fire escapes pulled dozens from the struggling mass and directed them to the sides of the building.

While the frenzied people were fighting to get down the front steps, the calcium light tank exploded and fire was spread over the entire mass of people. This added horror was more than the rescuers could stand, and in order to save their own lives they were forced to flee down the fire escapes. On the front steps outside the door men pulled frantically to open a way for the wedged in people, but not more than half a dozen were rescued in this manner.

Whole Place In Flames.

The explosion of the calcium tank and the flames from the front of the stage, which had by this time reached the struggling people, made further rescue impossible. The entire interior of the building was one seething furnace, firemen threw a feeble stream of water into the burning building, but it had no effect on the flames. The cries of the unfortunate victims, many with their clothing already ablaze, and the moans of the dying were heartrending. Fathers and brothers, frenzied by the thought that loved ones were in the fiery place, were compelled to retreat. Nothing could be done to get their people out, and they were forced to stand by and watch the awful sacrifice of life.

MAY IMPEACH DUNSMUIR.

Attack Will Begin After Speech From the Throne.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 15.—Plans are being made by a faction of the Legislature, headed by the Socialist members, for the impeachment of Gov. James Dunsmuir. The Legislature will meet in Victoria to-morrow, and the proposal is that immediately after the speech from the throne has been delivered by Mr. Dunsmuir, the attack will begin. Dunsmuir's action in the Japanese question is the cause of the move. When the Legislature met last year the Natal Act was passed, designed to keep out Japanese immigration. Though all the members, both on the Government and Opposition, voted for the measure, the governor vetoed it, and the act never became law. A few months afterwards, according to the evidence recently given in the King enquiry, his honor signed a contract with Goto, the Japanese minister, to hire hundreds of Japanese miners. The position taken by Dunsmuir's opponents is that he turned down the unanimous action of the Legislature for private gain.

The proposed action is probably unprecedented in the history of British colonial affairs.

BOYS' GRUESOME FIND.

Discovered Body of a Man With Bullet Wounds In Lonely Shack.

Chatham, Jan. 15.—Wm. Bellaire, Alex. Grant and Ernie Gagnier, three Chatham boys, while hunting rabbits in the bush near Bloomfield at noon yesterday found the body of an unknown man frozen stiff in a shanty in the woods. The young lads were so terrified with their gruesome discovery that they did not wait to make any further investigation, but hurried to this city to inform the authorities. Coroner Bray hastily left for the scene of the tragedy on being informed by the police. The coroner returned late in the afternoon, and says that the man had a bullet-hole in his temple, and that there were two empty whisky flasks lying near the body, indicating that he had committed suicide. The man is as yet unidentified. He is middle-aged and was well dressed, and it is thought that he was an American. It is not expected that an inquest will be held, although there appears to be considerable mystery surrounding the man's suicide in such a lonely spot. In the hatband are the words: "Henry, the hatter."

Steel Company Wins Again.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 15.—By the unanimous decision of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, given yesterday, the Dominion Steel Co. has scored another complete victory over the Dominion Coal Co., the court entirely upholding Judge Longley's decision in the trial at Sydney. Damages for past injuries are awarded the Steel company, and a decree of specific performance will be granted, compelling the Coal company to live up to the contract in 1903 in future.

The decision of the court is based not upon the ground that there was an implied warrant in this contract that the coal should be suitable, but that there was an express contract that the coal should be suitable for the Steel company's purposes.

James Ross, president of the Dominion Coal Co., stated that the company will appeal to the Privy Council.

Died at Age of 105.

Kingston, Jan. 15.—The death occurred yesterday at Wolfe Island of Patrick Conway at the ripe old age of 105 years. The deceased was born in Ireland, and came to Canada when a young man, and soon after his arrival started a general store. Being sober and industrious he acquired considerable property and retired from active life, leaving the business to a son, who predeceased him about a year ago at the age of 75. Last spring he removed to the island, where he died.

The city records furnish only one older death, namely, the late Timothy Ronan, aged 108.

Boy's Awful Death.

New York, Jan. 15.—Harry DeFreys, a 15-year-old boy, suffered a horrible death in an elevator shaft of the Commercial Cable Building on Broad street. The boy fell down the elevator shaft from one of the top storeys. Difficulty in starting an elevator led to the discovery of the body between the top of a big counter-balance weight and the side of the elevator shaft at the sixth floor.

Fourteen Skaters Drown.

Paris, Jan. 15.—Thirty young people were skating on the lake in the Boi de Boulogne yesterday afternoon when the ice broke and fourteen were drowned.

Ex-Premier Walkem Dead.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 15.—Hon. G. A. Walkem, three times Premier of British Columbia, and ex-judge of the Supreme Court, is dead, aged 81 years.

Firemen In Watch Towers.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Chicago's telegraphic communication with the outer world was practically paralyzed by Sunday's sleet storm, and with fire alarm and police telephone devices practically out of communication the old watch tower system was resorted to by the fire department.

Two Skated to Death.

Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 14.—Two deaths, one being a young man named Simsons, aged 21, and the other a young lady, Miss Lulu Kennedy, aged 19, who died from exposure, occurred at Thessalon Saturday evening.

HAD TAINT OF MADNESS

Thaw's Counsel Brings Evidence of Insanity in the Family.

Jerome Blocks Testimony, Which Is Ruled Out—Thaw's Old Teacher on Stand—Distinctly Remembers Boy's Mental Peculiarities—Example of Millionaire's Son—His Monte Carlo Nurse Also Testifies.

New Yory, Jan. 15.—The attorneys of Harry K. Thaw, at his trial yesterday began relentlessly to build up the case of legal insanity which they have interposed in his behalf as a defence for the killing of Stanford White. The two principal witnesses of the day were Prof. Charles H. Koehler of Winona, Minn., who acted as instructor to Thaw in the Wooster, Ohio, University, in 1886, and Mrs. Amy Gosette, of San Mateo, California, who attended Thaw as a trained nurse at Monte Carlo in 1897. They both told of the young man's eccentricities and declared that his manner always was irrational.

Dr. John T. Deemar of Kittaning, Pa., one of the Thaw family physicians, also was heard, as were the attending physicians of three institutions for the insane where members of Thaw's family on both paternal and maternal sides were confined.

District Attorney Jerome, by unexpectedly invoking the sacred privileges of physician and patient, blocked much of the testimony as to unsoundness of mind of the Thaw family, but the calling of the witnesses and the questions they were allowed by the court to answer, left the desired impression upon the jury.

Mr. Jerome explained that the law compelled him to object to such testimony without an express waiver from the patients. Even the nurse who attended Thaw was not allowed to testify until Thaw personally had made a waiver of the confidential privilege in open court.

Thaw's Eccentricities.

Charles Koehler of Winona, Minn., who was a teacher at Wooster University, Wooster, Ohio, in 1886, when Harry Thaw was a student there, took the stand and was asked to tell his impressions of Thaw as a boy of 16 or 17 years of age.

"Harry Thaw always had a nervous gait and walked jerkily," he said "His eyes were striking, his complexion aenemic. His manner in the class room was abstracted and indifferent. His eyes usually had a fixed staring gaze. There was never any warmth in his eyes—no illumination." Mr. Koehler said he set down many of Thaw's eccentricities in a diary, which was destroyed ten years ago. Thaw's mind always worked slowly, and he had great difficulty in following any demonstration—his manner was irrational.

Cross-examined by District Attorney Jerome, Mr. Koehler said 200 boys came under his care at Wooster, and since that time as a teacher he had been thrown in contact with 1,500 boys or more. The witness insisted, however, that the memory of Thaw—a pale-faced twitching lad—stood out among the others.

Thaw looked annoyed when the witness said he had used the defendant as the example of the son of a rich man.

Mrs. Amy Gozette, the trained nurse who attended Harry Thaw at Monte Carlo in 1897, said that while under her care and with a temperature of 100 degrees Thaw dressed himself one day and stole out. He was gone two hours and came back in a highly nervous condition.

Mrs. Gozette said that while Thaw was under her care he impressed her as being distinctly irrational.

ASIATICS ARRESTED.

Transvaal Government Determined to Drive Them Out.

Johannesburg, Jan. 15.—Pursuant to the determination of the Government to make the Transvaal so hot for Asiatics that those now in the country will be driven out and further immigration come to an end, fifty prominent Asiatics were arrested here yesterday.

Among the prisoners are the chairman of both of the British Indian and the Chinese associations and a number of officers and committeemen of those organizations.

May Help "All-Red."

London, Jan. 15.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, in an interview last night on the shipping situation, said that he regarded the agreement recently entered into by the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg-American steamship lines as likely to precipitate a repetition of the situation of a few years ago, when the American attack upon British shipping resulted in the granting of a subsidy to the Cunard Company by the British Government and the building of the Lusitania and the Mauretania. He considers that the German agreement is further justification for the subsidizing of an all-red transportation line to encircle the globe, which had been strongly advocated last summer.

WHEN LEGISLATURE OPENS.

On Feb. 5th Business Will Again Commence.

Toronto, Jan. 15.—The Provincial Legislature will meet for the concluding session of the present Parliament on the 5th of February. The official announcement of the intention of the Government to call the members of the Legislature together on that date was made at the close of the Cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon. Although there is no rule in regard to the matter, the Government have departed somewhat from the usual custom in naming a Wednesday as the opening day of any session, except that for the first meeting of a newly-elected Parliament. It is probable, however, that after the Legislature has been formally opened the House will adjourn for the rest of the week, and that serious business will not be commenced until the following Monday.

State Senator Jailed.

Columbus, O., Jan. 15.—The Supreme Court yesterday sentenced former Supreme Court clerk Lawson W. Emerson to ten days in jail and State Senator Austin of Toledo to ten days in jail and $100 fine in connection with the charge of securing the latter's certificate to practice law in this state without proper examination.

Hand Caught In Knives.

Burke Under Arrest in Local Gaol

Constable Cochrane Brought Alleged Burglar Back From Toronto Last Evening

High County Constable Cochrane arrived in the city on the C.P.R. local last evening from Toronto with Chas. E. Burke in charge. Burke was placed under arrest in the local police station, and in a few days will appear before County Magistrate Edmison on a charge of robbing the till in Purser's store of twenty dollars in October last. It will be remembered that a young man entered the store, and after purchasing some tobacco walked towards the door, but immediately returned, and at the point of a revolver, made Miss Purser hand over the contents of the cash register. A sister of the young lady endeavored to hold the burglar but was unable to do so, and in the darkness of the night he escaped. A week ago Burke was arrested in Toronto with a number of others supposed to have been implicated in numerous hold-ups and assaults, amongst them being the dastardly attack upon Porteous of Cavan. He has been in custody in Toronto on a charge of vagrancy, and when it was learned that he was under arrest, Mr. Cochrane wired to Toronto to hold him until an officer arrived to bring him back.

OFFICERS OF ORANGE LODGE

District Lodge Held Annual Meeting Last Night at Nassau

The annual meeting of the District Orange Lodge of Peterborough was held last night in the Orange Hall, Nassau, when a large number of the members of the order were present. After the general business had been transacted the election of officers took place and resulted as follows:

W.D.M.—Bro. A. R. Robson.
D.D.M.—Bro. T. McIntyre.
D.C.—Bro. J. C. Waddie.
D.R.C.—Bro. W. G. Bartley.
D.F.S.—Bro. J. Lesson.
D.T.—Bro. C. Kidney.
D. Dir. of C.—Bro. H. McClure.
D. Lecturer—Bro. H. Smith.
D. 2nd Lecturer—Bro. J. Elliott.
D.P.D.M.—Bro. T. A. Young.

The newly elected officers were then installed by Bro. Robert Campbell, Past District Maste.

Will Appoint Two New Carriers

It is understood that two more letter carriers will be appointed for Peterborough. Since the system of street mail delivery went into effect some weeks ago, seven men have been covering the city. It is found that the districts are too extended and the walks too long. It will be necessary to have smaller districts. One mail carrier remarked today that he had to cover over twenty miles a day in all kinds of weather, up hill and down hill, besides carrying heavy loads. Other men have the same experience. When two carriers are added and the force numbers nine, the labors of each will be somewhat lighter.

Branch Offices to be Established

Post Offices at Downers Corners, Nassau and West of the City

It is reported that branch post offices will shortly be opened out at different points adjacent to the city. This will be a great convenience to many farmers and others who have to travel several miles now to obtain their mail at the Peterborough city post office. One branch office will be established at Downer's Corners, another at Nassau, and a third at some point west of the city yet to be decided upon. It is expected that the post office inspector will be here in a few days to make the necessary arrangements, when further announcement may be expected.

Balance of $96.71 on Books Of Peterboro' Industrial Fair

A Splendid Showing Considering Unfavorable Weather —Annual Meeting Held in City Council Chambers Wednesday—Presentation of Statements and Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Industrial Fair was held this afternoon in the City Council Chambers, with ex-Ald Leary, president, in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Secretary-Treasurer F. J. A. Hall, and the auditors' report report was presented, showing a balance of $96.71. This showing, in view of the heavy rainfall which spoiled the last day of the fair, and in view of the deficit last year of $134.80, is a highly creditable one.

A vote of thanks was passed, thanking the citizens for their support, and expressing the directors' gratitude to all those whose assistance was lent for the success of the fair.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

Secretary-Treasurer F. J. A. Hall presented his annual report, showing a balance of $79.71. The total receipts for the year amounted to $3,045.57, and expenditure to $2,965.86. There were 1,315 entries in the various classes, and $1,296.50 was given out in prizes, all of which has been paid.

Mr. Garbutt said it was necessary to have some members of the Turf Club on the Board of Directors to look after matters.

President Leary said it was necessary to have one or two members of the Turf Club on the Board.

It was unanimously decided that Dr. Johnston, president of the Turf Club and Secretary Jas. O'Shea, be appointed members of the Board of Directors.

It was moved by Mr. Turner, and seconded by Mr. Stewart, that the date of the next fair be September 17, 18 and 19, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The secretary was instructed to get membership tickets and give them to the directors to dispose of. The secretary was instructed to get cards printed containing the dates of the fair and distribute them.

The meeting then adjourned. The next meeting will be held in the City Council Chamber on the afternoon of February 5th, at two o'clock.

THE OFFICERS.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—Ex-Ald. Leary.
Vice-Pres.—J H Garbutt.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Sam Redmond.
Sec.-Treas.—F. J. A. Hall.

Board of Directors—Messrs. Geo. E Elliott, Peterborough; John Young, Ennismore; S Deyell, Otonabee; W B Stewart, Otonabee; J. J. Turner, Peterborough; John Brown, Springville; Dawson Kennedy, Peterborough; Jas. R. Bell, Peterborough; R Vance, Millbrook; Wm. Collins, Peterborough; G. A. Gillespie, Peterborough; W E Conway, Peterborough; Wm. Switzer, Peterborough. H C Garbutt, Lakefield.

Class Leaders Ask That Union Revival Services be Held in City

At the regular monthly meeting of the Class Leaders' Association held in George Street Methodist church last night, a resolution was introduced and carried, asking the Peterborough Ministerial Association to consider the advisability of holding union evangelistic services in the city at an early date.

Mr. Jos. Batten, president of the association, presided. Rev. E A. Pearson and Rev. H. M. Manning were present, as well as a fine representation of the class leaders of the city.

Mr. Frank Mason read an instructive paper on, "How to Promote a Revival."

A general discussion followed, being taken part in by Messrs. Dumble, Might, Miller, Powell and others.

A resolution was later passed, asking the ministerial association to take up the question of a union revival in Peterborough.

Strathconas Lost by 5 to 1 In Cobourg Last Night

The Strathconas were defeated last night in Cobourg by a score of 5—1. At half time Cobourg led by 2—1, and in the second half scored three straight, the Straths failing to find the nets.

The game was an interesting one, and played on keen ice. A large crowd attended the game, and rooted vociferously for the winners. McCourt of Toronto refereed satisfactorily.

The Strathconas line-up was:
Goal—Derocher.
Point—Barber.
Cover point—Moore.
Rover—Dobson.
Centre—Ray.
Right Wing—McWilliams.
Left Wing—Dudy.

Charged With Giving Liquor to Young Boys

Jos. Curtin of Young's Point Being Tried in County Police Court

Charged with supplying liquor to minors, Joseph Curtin, of Lakefield, appeared in the county police court last night before Magistrate Edmison. Mr. W. H Moore conducted the case for the prosecution. The charge was laid by Inspector Stewart and the entire evening was taken up by the evidence of the prosecution.

Adjournment took place at 10.30, the case coming up again on Wednesday, Jan. 22nd.

Sam W. Trude, a boy 14 years of age, and son of Wm. Trude, swore that the accused had taken the witness into his (Curtin's) room at the Temperance House on Sunday night, December 15th. Curtin kept him there all night, and gave him two drinks of ale, and wanted him to take some whiskey. Witness refused the latter.

Wm. Trude, the boy's father, testified as to him being absent absent from home all night on Dec. 15th. The boy had gone to church early in the evening and had not been home all night.

Two other boys, Norris Short, aged thirteen, and Quinlan, aged fourteen, swore that Curtin had given them whiskey, but it was shown that it was not on the date mentioned in the charge, and their evidence was not considered.

Sweep the Sand Off the Walks

This Should Not be Done—Public Should be Considered

Ald. H. Phelan, chairman of the Board of Works, has had the icy walks on the principal streets sprinkled with sand, so that they will not be so slippery. This has been done twice, but some persons are mean enough to sweep the sand off. This is annoying, and should be stopped. Sand keeps pedestrians from slipping, and after the Board of Works has the pavements sprinkled business men should not sweep the sand away.

The National Tax Commission is to hold its first annual conference in Toronto the first week in October next.

Whitcroft Had Shoulder Hurt

Edmonton defeated Strathcona on January 10 by the score of 6 to 4. Edmonton has won three gruelling games this week and five so far this season.

The Edmonton Journal says: Early in the game Whitcroft had his shoulder badly damaged, but went on without a murmur, and it was not until two minutes of time that he, on receiving another bump, was forced to rest a moment. He was game to the core and was still playing when the bell rang.

Great praise is also bestowed upon Crowley for his strong work.

RECEIVED AN INJURY BY FALLING

While engaged at his work as weaver in the Brinton Carpet Company's factory, W. A. Bayton, who resides on Gladstone avenue, was seized with a fainting spell and fell to the floor. In falling he received a bad scalp wound. Dr. Greer was summoned and had the young man removed to Nicholl's Hospital, where his injuries were attended. Mr. Bayton is not seriously hurt, and it is expected that he will be around again in a few days.

RESIGNS FROM PRESIDENCY

Mr. R. E. Harding Retiring From Presidency of Y.M.C.A.

Mr. R. E. Harding has sent in his resignation as president of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. It was received at a meeting of the board of managers last night, but not accepted, as the board is loath to lose Mr. Harding's services. The resignation will be considered at the general meeting of the association on Friday night. Mr. Harding finds it difficult to attend to the duties of president, as he would like, owing to living such a long distance from the association building. Although resigning the presidentship, Mr. Harding will still continue to take a deep interest in the Y.M.C.A.

At the meeting of the Board last night, a resolution was passed, expressing sympathy to Mr. R. J. Kidd in the sad affliction of the death of his wife. It was also decided to send a wreath.

A monster public demonstration was held in Berlin on Saturday, in which 40,000 Socialists and 30,000 sympathizers took part.

Persons Who Send in Fire Alarms

Persons sending in fire alarms from the different boxes throughout the city should remain on the spot until the brigade arrives so as to direct them to the scene of the blaze. This morning an alarm was sent in from the corner of George and Lake Sts. When the brigade arrived there was no one to tell them where the fire was, and they returned to the hall. This second alarm was given and they responded. In future Foreman Pakenham wants persons sending in alarms to remain at the box till the brigade arrives.

GIRLS' GUILD MET

The Girls' Guild of George Street Methodist Church had a very interesting meeting last evening. Reports of work done by the Charity committee during the holiday season were received and many plans were made for the winter's work. A sewing meeting of the Guild will be held at the residence of the Vice-President, Mrs. B. Shortly, 550 Aylmer St., on Monday evening next, and all the members are asked to be on hand.

CONVENTION

The coming convention of the Liberal-Conservative party in West Peterborough promises to be the most largely attended and representative in character of any ever held in the annals of the riding.

Encouraging reports have been received from all parts of the constituency. The primary meetings to select delegates have resulted in the rank and file, as well as the leaders of the party, coming together in large numbers, and much interest and enthusiasm have been displayed. A fine spirit of unity and esprit de corps has prevailed at these preliminary gatherings and five delegates have been selected from each polling sub-division in the county. The reports received by the West Riding Liberal-Conservative Association are most hopeful, and give evidence that the forthcoming convention will see representatives convened from every portion of the riding.

It is expected that the convention will see assembled about 300 delegates. The nomination proceedings will be conducted in Bradburn's Opera House and will begin at eight o'clock in the evening of January 29.

The annual meeting of the West Riding Liberal-Conservative Association will first be held. Reports will be presented and officers elected for the coming year. Afterwards a candidate will be selected for the Federal House, to be followed by the nomination of a standard-bearer for the Ontario Legislature. The strongest possible men will be selected and, with earnest work, sound organization, the thorough revision of the voters' lists and the co-operation of all members of the grand old party the prospects for redeeming West Peterborough in the next Federal campaign are exceedingly bright. The Conservatives of this riding were never in finer fighting trim and conditions were never more favorable than they are at the present juncture. There is a feeling of confidence existing in all parts of the riding, and at the convention on Wednesday, January 29th, will be gathered in Bradburn's Opera House as splendid a body of intelligent representative delegates as have ever been brought together in the political history of West Peterborough.

Gospel of Better Farming Preached to Smith Farmers

Meetings Held in Orange Hall in 4th Line of Smith Were Well Attended—Speakers Give Instructive Addresses—Interesting Programme at Night.

The Farmers' Institute meetings held in the Orange Hall on the 4th line of Smith yesterday afternoon and evening were well attended. The farmers turned out well at both sessions to hear the instructive addresses given by the delegates, Mr. Paget and Mr. Cornell. As a result of the meeting, much valuable information was disseminated and those present were well pleased with the way the speakers dealt with the various subjects.

Mr. Telford, president of the Institute, was chairman and opened the afternoon meeting by expressing his pleasure et seeing such a large number in attendance. The first speaker was Mr. Paget who dealt with two subjects, "The Production of Milk" and "Alfalfa."

Mr. Paget is a most successful dairyman and has of late visited many parts of the country, talking on dairying subjects. The dairying industry, he said, is one of the best in the province of Ontario, and much money is realized from it yearly. Farmers are dairying at a loss in this province. One loss is from the kind of cows which are kept at present. At one time the average production of milk per cow was 3,000 lbs. It is not through unintelligence of farmers but they are taking too much for granted. Farmers might reasonably have cows which should produce 10,000 lbs. of milk per year. A little foresight would result in money in pocket for many of our farmers. What are the state of cows in this district? He advises that farmers should keep account of the production of each cow's milk. Look at the example set by Denmark. They were at one time, at our stage of development, and by intelligent work, the production of milk was raised several thousand pounds per cow. The western provinces cannot compete with us in milk production, and we should foster the milk industry. It pays to look after the cows, and by means of Cow Testing Associations to improve the herd. It is good business for a farmer who is milking a cow that is not paying to get rid of her and replace her by one that will pay. The only way in which you can increase the production of your herd, is to breed to a pure-bred sire of a milking strain. They should also take an interest in testing and weighing the milk. It might cost a little more to keep a cow in the right and intelligent way, but the returns will be larger, and more encouraging. The speaker explained from his chart that a herd, which is fed ensilage, grain and green peas and oats in early seasons and dry periods would yield good results, but it is also important that they should be milked regularly. He referred to the county of Oxford and Victoria which had Cow-Testing Associations. He attributed the condition in Victoria, where the output is about one-half the output of Oxford, to the use of their breeding sires. He advises that if a farmer has an object before him, to follow it up, and if he has a fancy for any particular type of cattle, to breed to that type—and to no other. The results will be better.

ALFALFA.

Mr. Paget claimed that Alfafa is the most valuable of any clover, which the farmers grow, and that one can grow it more abundantly than other hay or clover. It will grow on almost any land, on heavy clay where no other crop will grow, and will thrive for years. It will produce from 4 to 6 tons per acre.

Mr. Paget explained the best way to get a good crop of alfafa established on the land. It is best sown in a nurse crop with peas. It is necessary that the soil should be well worked up, and then sow about 25 pounds to the acre. You can also thicken it each spring by sowing. Cut it just as soon as the first blossoms appear; let it lie thorugh the day then rake it up at night, and draw it in next day. It is far ahead of any other grain except ensilage, and is very valuable as a food for the stock.

Mr. Cornell followed with a talk on Ensilage as a food for the production of milk. To make a profit of dairying we should dairy the year around. During the past year, on account of the scarcity of feed, the silo has been brought into attention. Mr. Cornell said that the drop in the export trade of Ontario was due to scarcity of feed. The following method does well when it follows an oat crop. A shallow ploughing will prepare the ground for corn crop. Mr. Cornell's method of preparing the ground is as follows:—He draws out fertiliser in winter and leaves it in heaps. He leaves the manure in heaps and spreads in the spring. He advised putting the corn in with seed drill and cultivating with corn cultivator. The seed corn selection is also important, and the speaker advises choosing a good firm corn. Harrow once or twice before it comes up. This will kill the weeds. When the corn is up, cultivate once a week until it endangers the corn growth. The later cultivations should not be as deep as the first. He claimed that there is no food which can be handled to greater profit than ensilage. It is important to cut it at the right stage. Let it mature well rather than harvest it in the green state. As a result you get more grain on the cobs. It is also very important to knit the cobs and leaves together well, and tramp down around the edges of the silo. This will prevent any loss. Then feeding ensilage will less the cost of feeding cows. Mr. Cornell cuts straw and then mixes this and ensilage and pulped roots, enough to last for a couple of days. It is also profitable to feed grain with this, twice a day. It is dangerous to give prepared feeds which are on sale in any large quantities. Much waste product of the mills is also sent out as shorts, thus cheating the farmer. Mr. Cornell said that odors in the stable will taint the milk. Thus it is important that ensilage or moving manure should be avoided. In buying cows for dairy purposes, look for a broad forehead, gentle eye, good lungs and heart, a good paunch and feeding capacity, good udder, and large milk veins, with large milk wells, a long, slim tail, and lots of space between the ribs are also good signs.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening session was largely attended, many ladies and young people being present. In addition to the regular addresses there was a good programme. Mr. Telford again presided.

Mr. Cornel spoke on the Improvement of Rural Conditions. The people of Ontario, he said, are of a high class of intelligence, as has been shown by our successful competition in many lines of agriculture. We produce the best stock, the best dairy products and grain. We must depend on the boys of the country for our success in the future. The conditions of the farmer boys are superior to those of those brought up in the city. It is up to the country folk to keep up the moral standard of our country. It has been a serious drawback to Ontario farmers in supplying the west and cities with our young men.

Mr. Cornel spoke of the advisability of forming farmers' clubs and organizations. They will give the farmer to withstand other organizations. He read a letter from the Education Department, which explained more fully the purpose of the organization of farmers. A club of such a nature would become of general interest to the community, and such could correspond with others in different parts of the province. This is an improvement which is taking place, and will become more general in the near future. Such clubs have a chance to bring their claims to the notice of the public. Such was the case with the farmers of York county who secured better prices in Toronto for their milk. The homes on the farm should be made such that the young men would want to stay in the country. The rural telephone is another element of social intercourse on the farm. At the present time it is also possible to introduce a plumbing system in country homes. Instructions as to how it can be done are being sent out by the Education Department. Another matter which is being looked into is our roads which are improving in many districts. Another drawback to farming life is the long hours. It is common now on some farms not to work any later than do the city dwellers. There is a growing tendency in this direction among the farmers of to-day.

The following excellent programme was given at night:

Song, Mrs. J. Young.
Reading, Mr. H. Peters.
Quartette, Mr. A. McGregor, W. H. Graham, Mrs. Young, Miss Graham.
Song, Mr. Campbell.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 82, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother, her home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Large Attendance Bright Services

Rev. And. Allan Delivered Inspiring Address Last Night

The first week night meeting in connection with the Allan mission in St. Andrew's church was held last night and was most interesting. The large congregation that assembled were held with intense interest to the reading and exposition of the scripture. Mr. G. W. Mulligan's solo, "I Stand All Amazed" was most effectively rendered, and the spirit and tone of the whole meeting was uplifting and inspiring. Mr. Allan is in no sense a sensational but is a strong believer in and an exponent of the reality of Christian life. His address was full of force and power from beginning to end. No Bible student should miss this rare chance of getting a strong grip of the word of God. It is a Bible college, conference and revival without superficiality. No one can attend the services without feeling greatly benefited thereby.

In the reading lesson I. John, chap. 1, Mr. Allan referred to the fact that the five chapters of the Epistle presented five distinct features of Christian experience. 1, Our Fellowship; 2, Our Christian Walk; 3, Our Christian Hope; 4, Our Christian Victory; 5, Our Christian Confidence. He then chose as the keynote of the whole epistle the seventh verse of the first chapter, "But if we walk in the light as He is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin."

He was glad that the Christian religion meant fellowship — companionship. The word in the Greek was Koinonia, meaning joint interest, partnership. That is what made Christian life worth possessing. What's observance of dogma, creed, ritual, if there is no personal friendship and companionship. What is religion to anybody if it does not enter into all the relationship of life and teach us that between us and God there was a continuous fellowship through Jesus Christ. It is the purpose of the Holy Spirit to make real the Christ as the one who mirrors the Father. How long will men be satisfied with viewing Christianity, and giving their opinions and criticisms. When visiting the great Cathedral of Milan he had been so overwhelmed with its grandeur that he walked round and round it, but when a friend escorted him within the magnificence of the interior was simply unspeakable. "Come away in with me," said the speaker, "and behold the winsomeness of Christ and His love." So many stay outside and offer their opinions. We spend too much time on the Deity of Christ, but realize with that great truth that His ministry was that of a human leader as well as a Divine Saviour. Henry Drummond had urged students who had allowed their opinions and doubts to keep them mentally and spiritually in misery just to set aside everything and to look to Christ as a human friend, and with all the intimacy possible to look to Christ as Master of their lives, but for one month. Mr. Allan asserted that in many cases these young men were led to know that Christ had become more and more manifest to them in all His Divine power. But the Christian life was more than this. There was the note of victory. I. John iv., 4, "Greater is He that is in you than He that is in the world." Dr. Campbell Morgan's answer to a student who queried if he could always say "No" to temptation was, "Well, I don't think I can, but Christ who liveth in me can, and when temptation comes I always refer the devil to my Master and I am safe." The young man afterwards returned to Dr. Morgan, assuring him that "it works," for he had overcome temptation by following his plan.

The great secret of victory was found in the text, "The blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin." Mr. Allan gave a most instructive description of the sevenfold use of the "blood" in the Bible. 1, The blood of redemption; 2, the blood of cleansing; 3, the blood of atonement; 4, the blood of consecration; 5, the blood of acceptance; 6, the blood of emancipation; 7, the blood of victory. How true the Scriptures. "Much more being justified by His blood, we shall be saved by His life."

The meetings will be continued all this week except Saturday. Miss Rexsor and Mr. Scriver will sing at to-night's meeting. The services of Prof. Reynar in presiding at the organ last night were greatly appreciated by the audience.

Many Pay Last Token of Respect

Funeral of the Late Mrs. R. J. Kidd Was Largely Attended

The funeral of the late Mrs. R. J. Kidd took place yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, from her late residence, Hunter street, to the Little Lake cemetery. It was largely attended, many turning out to pay their last token of respect to the memory of the deceased. The service at the house was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Manning, pastor of the Charlotte Street Methodist church, of which the late Mrs. Kidd was a valued member. Rev. Mr. Manning was assisted by Revs. E. A. Pearson, C. H. Coon and J. G. Potter. The pall bearers were Messrs. Dr. Morrison, Ald. R. Neill, S. Clegg, H. P. Kennedy, G. Gosford, and M. McPherson of Brantford. There were a large number of beautiful floral tributes, including many handsome designs, which testified to the high esteem in which she was held by a wide circle of friends.

Much sympathy is expressed for the husband and mother and sisters of the deceased in their sad bereavement.

A Happy 1908

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro' our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Yours very respectfully,

ADDRESSED ORANGEMEN AT LAKEFIELD

Rev. A. H. Brace and W. H. G. Armstrong Attend District Meeting

Last night the annual meeting of the Lakefield District of the Loyal Orange Association was held under the presidency of District Master Sidney Hunter. The visiting brethren outside the district were Past County Master Stewart, County Master W. H. G. Armstrong and County Chaplain Rev. A. H. Brace. The election of officers resulted in the choice of the following brethren:

W.M.—Bro. Sidney Hunter, Lodge No. 122.
D.M.—Bro. Albert Northey, Lodge No. 419.
Chaplain—Bro. Robt. Carter, Lodge No. 1835.
Rec. Sec. — Bro. Stephen Harrison, Lodge No. 419.
Fin. Sec.—Bro. Isaac Lean, Lodge No. 1072.
Treasurer — Bro. Sherman Garbutt, Lodge No. 122.
D.J.S.—Bro. Andrew Young, Lodge No. 122.
Lecturer—Bro. Wm. Allen, Lodge No. 122.

Considerable important business was put through. Several grants in cash were made to various objects.

Addresses were given by W. H. G. Armstrong and Bro. Rev. A. H. Brace, which called forth a very enthusiastic vote of thanks.

At the close the Scarlet Chapter opened in due form and a number of pressing matters attended to.

Progress was reported from all departments, members increasing and finances good.

Annual Meeting Friday Night

The annual meeting of the active members of the Y.M.C.A. of Peterborough will be held on this Friday evening, Jan. 17th, at 8 p.m.

It is of great importance that every active member be present, as officers and committees will be elected for the coming year.

Conference of Epworth Leagues

To be Held in Lindsay This Month—Rev. C. H. Coon Will Represent Local District

A meeting of the executive of the Peterborough district of the Epworth league was held yesterday afternoon, at the home of the president, Mr. J. Tisdale, George street. Those present were Rev. C. H. Coon, Mrs. E. D. Lewis, Mrs. George, Prof. McCann, Mrs. Bravender, of Lakefield and Mr. Smith Kelly, of Bridgenorth.

The president was in the chair, and the first question discussed was the proposal to organise some plan of visitation among the different leagues.

The executive also recommended that the local union of the leagues be revised, and also that the Young People's societies of the other churches be invited to join. Efforts will also be put forward to organise junior leagues throughout the district.

Mr. C. H. Coon was appointed to represent the district at the league conference, to be held in Lindsay on the 21st, 22nd and 23rd of this month.

Early Morning Blaze on Lake St.

Back Kitchen of Mr. S. Murphy's House Destroyed—Another Fire

The fire brigade was given a call this morning between seven and eight o'clock to 81 Lake street, where the house of Mr. Simon Murphy was on fire. The conflagration originated from a spark from the chimney and the back kitchen was badly burned. The firemen worked about an hour at the building and the fire was prevented from spreading to the main part of the house. The loss will not be a serious one, the kitchen being the only part destroyed, with the exception of a chimney that fell in.

BLAZE LAST EVENING.

The brigade had another call last evening about six o'clock to a small chimney fire at the Commercial House. However, the fire was extinguished without the assistance of the firemen and no damage was done.

RAISULI JOINS NEW SULTAN.

Europeans at Rabat Greatly Alarmed at Situation There.

Paris, Jan. 14.—A special despatch from Tangier to The Petit Parisien states that the news from Fez has produced such a tremendous sensation among the native population that the Government officials fear that the deposition of Abd-El-Aziz may also be proclaimed at Tangier soon.

Despatches received by the Government from Rabat announce that the army of Gen. Bagboni, chief of the Sultan's army, which was camped outside the city, has been called within the walls. This is causing the Europeans great anxiety. They fear the soldiers of Abd-El-Aziz as much as they do Mulai Hafid's.

A special despatch to The Matin from Tangier says that Raisuli, the bandit, has joined Mulai Hafid, and that he still persists in his refusal to give up Kaid Sir Henry MacLean, except by order of the new leader.

Advices from Rabat to The Matin state that Abd-El-Aziz's court is terror-stricken by the news that Mulai Hafid has been proclaimed Sultan.

The Matin understands that recent conferences between Premier Clemenceau and the French representatives at Berlin and Tangier make it practically certain that it will be absolutely unnecessary to modify the French policy in Morocco.

MUCH FURNITURE BURNED.

Blaze at Toronto Storage Warehouse Desolates Many Homes.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—The household furniture of about a thousand families was badly damaged and some of it destroyed yesterday morning in a big fire in one of the storehouses of M. Rawlinson, Limited, on St. Joseph street near Yonge street. It is impossible to say yet how much the total loss will amount to, but it will probably be about $200,000. The fire occurred in "A" warehouse, which was buit in 1903. "B" warehouse, which is next to it on the east side, was untouched. The building is divided into six sections, with fireproof brick walls between each.

An electric motor which works an elevator in No. 2 section, at the south east corner of the building, is supposed to have been the place where the fire started. Another theory is that two stoves in the same section became overheated.

The general alarm was turned in about 8.45, and soon seven fire engines were at work. The contents and fixtures of the entire four stories of No. 2 section were all destroyed. At about 9.30 o'clock the roof of that section fell in, and parts of the lower floors also caved in. In sections 3 and 4 only the two top floors were destroyed, but much damage was done by the water to the lower floors. No. 1 section escaped much damage from fire, but everything in it was soaked with water. About two hundred pianos were stored in that section.

The employes in the warehouse found it possible to get about forty of these out without damage to them. Sections 5 and 6 escaped entirely. The fire was then quite under control in about three hours. The water pressure was very weak.

Only one man suffered injuries. Fireman Andy Ferguson of Rose ave. was near the top of the long ladder against the east side of the building, when he was suddenly overcome with the smoke and fainted. He would have fallen to the ground had not the man immediately below seized him and held him until a rope was fastened to him and he was lowered to the ground. He was taken home in the ambulance.

The building is insured for $20,000, but the greater part of the furniture and other effects stored there is not covered at all, and the loss will fall heavily on many families.

To Stop Seine Fishing.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Senator Proctor of Vermont called at the White House yesterday in regard to the negotiations which are being carried on with Canada looking to an arrangement whereby the Canadians will desist from taking fish by seine from that portion of Lake Champlain which extends into Canadian territory.

Coupled with the negotiations regarding this lake are other disputes between the Canadian Government and the United States regarding fishing rights, but the Lake Champlain negotiations are those in which the Senator was most interested, as he explained that it was the fault of the fish in this instance that they were caught in Canada.

He said they followed the shore line of the lake on the New York side up into Canada and back into their breeding grounds on the Vermont River. While in Canadian waters they were caught by the carloads in seines, and he predicted it would be but a short time before the pike species would be completely exterminated.

Archbishop Bruchesi, since his pastoral letter on the subject a few weeks ago, has refused fifteen applications to authorize mixed marriages.

Excellent Ice and Music by Band Attract Many Skaters

There was a big crowd at Brock street rink last night, the ice being thronged with skaters from eight o'clock until ten. The ice was in splendid shape and the splendid music furnished by the band made skating very enjoyable.

The Peterborough-Cobourg hockey match at Cobourg was bulletined, and although the result was not as satisfactory as it might have been, the bulletin service was much appreciated. When the half time score was announced as 2-1 in favor of Cobourg, there was some hope that the Strathconas might win out, but such was not the case.

Crop Reports From all Over the World

Special to the Review.

Liverpool, Jan. 14 — Broomhall's weekly foreign crop summary says:

United Kingdom, France, Italy, and Spain—There is no change in crop conditions since our last report.

Germany—The weather is changeable, but on the whole unfavorable. There has, however, been a fall of snow, and there are no complaints heard regarding the outlook for the crops.

Sweden—Severe winter wheat weather is reported.

Hungary—Climatic conditions are decidedly unfavorable, as the weather alternates between freezing and thawing, and the crops are in need of snow covering.

Roumania and Bulgaria—The weather continues cold, but the outlook has improved during the week, as there has been a good fall of snow.

Russia—Severe weather prevails. In the center and east there is plenty of snow, while from the south crop reports are less pessimistic; supplies continue very light.

North Africa.—The outlook for the crops is less favorable, as compared with our last statement, as rain is wanted.

Cash Was Taken From His Pocket

Edward Sisson, a farmer who resides near Cavanville, is mourning the loss of $63, which mysteriously disappeared from his trousers pocket one day last week. Mr. F. C. Wilson, of Springville, bought some wheat from Mr. Sisson, and paid him the foregoing sum. When Mr. Sisson that evening went to take the money from his trousers pocket he found that it was gone. How the bank notes vanished is a mystery, but it is supposed someone entered Mr. Sisson's bedroom during his absence and extracted the money.

Ancient Foresters Had Big Night

Joint Installation Held—Social Time Was Spent

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of Court Stanley, A.O.F., held last night in the Sons of England hall. A joint installation was held with Queen Alexandra No. 138. Following are the new officers for the latter circle installed by Bro. G. R. Record:

OBITUARY

MARY JANE WIDDESS.

Many old friends of the family were shocked today on hearing of the demise of Mrs. Mary Jane Widdess, relict of the late Robert Widdess, at the age of 69 years. The deceased lady contracted a severe cold a little over a week ago, which, developed into pneumonia and, despite all that medical aid could do, she sank gradually until the end came at six o'clock this morning.

The deceased was born in the township of Cartwright, where she resided until after her marriage, after which she removed to Lindsay with her husband, who became a prominent contractor. She was beloved by many for her sterling virtues and benevolent disposition. The husband predeceased her about 10 months.

Mrs Widdess leaves a family of three daughters and one son — Mrs. Buell, Winnipeg; Mrs. Robertson, Belleville; Mrs. Brown, Moose Jaw, and William R., of this town, manager of the Great North-Western Telegraph Company, and Canadian Express Company agencies. They will have the sympathy of our citizens in their bereavement.—Lindsay Post.

Generous Gift of Mayor Rush

Donates $100 to Charity Board for Relief—Other Donations

At the meeting of the Central Charity Board last evening Mayor Rush, who is chairman of the Board, said that he would give $100 to the Board to be used for charitable purposes. The Board receives a grant each year from the City Council, which it disburses to those in need, but the Mayor, who has held the position of chairman for several years, and is familiar with the work and its needs, has found that this winter there are not only larger demands than usual, but along with the greater demands, there are calls of a special nature, that, in addition to the regular system of orders for groceries and wood, require to be given special aid. In view of these facts he made the generous contribution referred to, which was accepted by the board and will be disbursed by the Relief Officer.

But the matter did not end there. Mr. Rush's explanation of the exigency of the situation which had caused him to make this donation, appealed to others and the suggestion was made before all the members had left the room, that others would follow his excellent example in placing further funds at the disposal of the Board to aid in relieving the distress. This suggestion was acted upon at once, with the result that two other subscriptions were made, and it was deemed advisable to open the way for further contributions in order that everyone who approved of the action taken and wished to join in the good work might do so. The subscriptions made, including that of the chairman, were as follows:—

H Rush	$100 00
Robert Neill	25 00
R. C. Braund	10 00

Any person who is willing to aid in this way is invited to send his contribution to the Mayor, or to Mr W. Yelland, Treasurer of the Board, or to Mr. S. R. Armstrong, Secretary at the City Clerk's office.

High Praise for The Inspector

Correspondent Speaks Highly of Mr. Stewart's Work

To the Editor of the Review

Sir,—The liquor trials which took place yesterday at the court house, although they resulted in a manner unsatisfactory to the local optionists, certainly showed Inspector Stewart in a favorable light, as about the best man that could be got in the province for the work in hand. He is a man absolutely without fear or favor, and if local option fails in this district it will be through the inherent weakness of the act itself rather than through any short comings of the inspector.

ONE PRESENT AT THE TRIAL

What About Uniforms for the Firemen?

Members of Brigade Want to Know if They Will Get Them This Year

The firemen are wondering these days if they are going to get their new uniforms, which were promised to them last year. The bylaw regulating the fire brigade provides that each man should receive two suits annually, and as yet they have not laid eyes on any. It is up to the Fire, Water and Light Committee to look into this matter, and see that the brigade are provided with uniforms. They are supposed to be in uniform from 9 o'clock in the morning until the same hour in the evening. The firemen are hoping that 1908 will see them in their new outfits.

Charges of Selling Liquor Without License Dismissed Yesterday by Magistrate

Evidence in County Police Court Cases Did Not Warrant Convictions—Andrew Wilson, of Young's Point, and Thos. E. Darcy, of Lakefield, Were the Defendants—Much Testimony Was Heard by the Court.

There were two cases of selling liquor without a license heard in the county police court by Magistrate Edmison. The defendants in both charges was found not guilty.

Inspector Stewart is to be commended for his vigilance in any cases where supposed infractions of the act take place, and is obviously doing all in his power to enforce the law to the letter.

In the case of Inspector Stewart against Andrew Wilson of Young's Point, E. Hurl of Young's Point being sworn, said that he was in Young's Point on Dec. 26th. He was in the bar at Wilson's, was asked to have a drink by somebody. There were several there. Didn't know what he got; wasn't like beer, wasn't like whiskey.

Questioned by Mr. Haverson. Went in to have some private business with Mr. Wilson. Didn't go in to have a drink, and certainly could not swear that he had had any intoxicating liquor there at all.

James Reid, sworn, said he was at Wilson's on the 26th inst. He was in the bar and had a drink of ginger ale. Saw money paid over the counter. Mr. Wilson served it.

Wilburt McNaughton, sworn, said he was at Wilson's home on the 26th inst., and was in the bar. I treated and paid for the treat. I asked for something good. Couldn't tell what I got. There might or might not have been whiskey in it.

Edward Young, sworn, said he was at the bar on the 26th inst. Didn't know what he drank, but it tasted a little like whiskey; couldn't tell how much. Had come from my home one-half a minute before, where Mr. Anglesey and he had two drinks of liquor each. The taste of whiskey was still in his mouth. Mr. Anglesey asked for whiskey. Mr. Wilson said he had no whiskey.

Mr. Anglesey sworn, said he was at Wilson's on the 26th ult. He treated. Told the boys to come up and have something. Had either ginger ale or ginger wine. The witness being somewhat hectored by questions asked Mr. Moore if he thought he was a "damned fool."

Magistrate Edmison held that on the strength of the testimony the charge was not proven.

LAKEFIELD CASE.

The first case in the morning was the case of Inspector Stewart against R. Darcy on a charge of selling liquor to Gingras.

The prosecution was chiefly based on a letter written by Mrs. Gingras to the inspector, who stated that her husband had got drunk at Darcy's hotel.

Wm. Cowthard, sworn, said he met Gingras between three and four p.m. on the street and went to his house with him. There was nobody there but Gingras and himself. Gingras had liquor out of a bottle. The bottle was half empty. Gingras took three drinks out of it, whilst he was with him. They went up the street together and at Leonard's corner they parted company. Gingras when he left him was in a state of intoxication. He had seen him, however, in the morning and noticed from his breath that he had been drinking.

Joseph Curtin, sworn, said he knew Gingras. He had seen him on the 7th inst. coming from his own house on the afternoon. He was intoxicated. One or two friends were with him, and he saw Mate McIlwain half supporting him to Darcy's hotel. They went into the house and that was the last he saw of Gingras that day.

Wm. McIlwain, sworn, said he saw Gingras about 2 p.m. at Darcy's hotel. He saw him at the bar drinking what he thought was Kop's ale. He left the hotel with Mr. Quinn and returned about 4 p.m. Gingras was then drunk.

Mr. Roland Darcy, sworn, said he was joint manager of the Midland house with his father. He was in the hotel on the 7th inst. He saw Gingras about 2 p.m. in the afternoon, accompanied by his father-in-law, Ed. Quinn. They got no intoxicating liquor, but did have some drinks. They went out together. There was not a drop of intoxicating liquor in the house that day. I next saw Gingras when I was told there was a drunken man in the hall. I saw it was Gingras. He was taken out, but shortly afterwards came back again. I then had him taken upstairs and put to bed. I did not see him again until about 10 p.m. when he came back with Mr. Quinn and stated that he had lost $10. In answer to Mr. Moore he stated that Gingras had drank Kop's ale.

After all the evidence had been heard the magistrate dismissed the case.

Mr. William J. Hawes Wishes To Deny the Falsehood

No Truth in Rumor That He Married Two Weeks After His Wife's Death—Will Take Action Against Parties Who Started Rumor if They Are Discovered—"A Contemptible Lie."

It is remarkable how rumor that is absolutely unfounded will gain ground. Some people take a special delight in making slanderous remarks about others, and the false gossip of irresponsible parties often does an incalculable amount of harm. One of these malicious tales is being circulated concerning Mr. Wm. J. Hawes, of this city. His wife died in October in the Nicholls hospital, and someone has started a rumor that Mr. Hawes is married again, and was, in fact, two weeks after his wife's demise.

"It's a contemptible lie," said Mr. Hawes to a Review reporter yesterday as he expressed his indignation at the audacity and absolute viciousness of the persons who made such a ridiculous and hurtful statement. Mr. Hawes says if he finds the person who is responsible for the statement referred to above, he will take action against the guilty one. He also states that he will prosecute anyone who further circulates the falsehood.

Council of Belmont and Methuen Will be a Deputation to Ottawa

Members Will Join With Havelock, Norwood and Other Representatives in Waiting Upon Federal Government as to Lease to Durham-Northumberland Power Co. of Intervening Portion of the Falls

The councils of the townships of Belmont and Methuen in a body will join Havelock and Norwood councils along with company directors who are leading business men and manufacturers of the lakefront towns and cities, at the end of the month in a deputation to urge the Dominion Government to grant a lease of the intervening portion of upper Healey rapids to the Northumberland-Durham Power Company.

The company already holds a lease of the Ontario Government of the main Healey Falls and lower rapids and owns patent of land required for development works and holds deeds of other lands.

The company recently, upon advice of Havelock Council and a visiting delegation of ratepayers who viewed the construction works of the company, stopped work, pending the answer of the Dominion Government, but this has been delayed owing to the canal surveys of the Healey Rapids section not being completed.

Recently Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines of Ontario, notified a deputation of Havelock shareholders and councillors, along with Managing Director J. A. Culverwell of Port Hope, that he required the company (unless they secured an answer by February first from Hon. Geo. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals) to notify the Ontario Government that the company would go ahead, after a reasonable time, on the lower 37 foot head controlled by the Ontario lease alone.

This scheme of development the company is determined to recommence if necessary, but they complain rightly of the long delays of the surveys by the canal officials. It is two years since twelve councils last visited Ottawa. However, Minister-elect Graham has promised John Finley, M.P., on request of a Havelock and Norwood deputation which interviewed Mr. Finley, that these surveys would be completed at once, so that the deputations could visit Ottawa the end of January and receive an answer. The company has now been officially endorsed by eighteen municipal councils, and it is naturally thought that certain greedy and "careless" politicians should be asked to step aside. The district feel that they will at least receive justice now that the department is in command of the Hon. Geo. P. Graham.

THE MEMORIAL.

Following is the memorial of townships of Belmont and Methuen:

"Resolved that this whole council and the clerk of the townships of Belmont and Methuen, at the request of a large deputation of ratepayers of Havelock and of the townships, be a deputation to go to Ottawa along with Havelock and Norwood councils, and with a deputation of leading business men and manufacturers of the lakefront towns and cities to request, as we do now request, the Dominion Government to grant a lease of their intervening portion of Healey Rapids to the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., Ltd., the company holding a lease of the Healey Falls and lower adjoining rapids and owning portions of the upper rapids and a patent of the land, 56 acres, required for development works.

These townships situated as they are in the heart of an iron mining district are greatly dependent on electric power for their growth in that direction as well as for their development of flour mills and factories and electric railways, which will benefit the farming district adjoining.

And we strongly urge the Dominion Government for an immediate settlement, as the Ontario Government has already done at the request of seventeen other municipal councils.

Dated at Township Hall, this 13th January, 1908.

James W. Russell, Reeve; W. H. Johnston, Clerk.

During the proceedings of the council some one asked if it was right for the township council to be spending the ratepayers' money in sending a deputation to Ottawa on the business of a private company.

Mr. J. A. Culverwell, managing director of the Northumberland-Durham Power Company, said in reply that his company was not a private company in the usually accepted term. It was a public one, as the rates which it charged for power, etc, were regulated by the Ontario Government; and, besides the company was backed by the councils of seventeen municipalities in what it was seeking to obtain. Mr. Culverwell also pointed out that the development work in which it was engaged would be beneficial to the mining, manufacturing, electric railway, and other interests of the whole riding.

Williamson Has Been Discharged

Wife Did Not Care to Press Charge of Assault

The charge against James Williamson for assaulting his wife about two weeks ago was dismissed this morning. Williamson has been out on bail and was to have appeared before the magistrate to-morrow. However, Mrs Williamson did not care to press the charge, and as there was no direct evidence against him of having assaulted his wife, the case was dropped. He had been drinking rather incessantly and was merely put in gaol to sober up. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the accused.

The bandit Raisuli is said to have joined the forces of Mulai Hafig, who was proclaimed Sultan at Fez last week, and still to refuse to release Sir Harry McLean, and officials are living in daily fear that Abdul Hafig will, before long, be proclaimed Sultan at Tangier.

Norwood Hopes to Retain The District Model School

Deputation That Went to Toronto Reports to the Board of Education—Former Norwood Citizen Passes Away at Calgary—Other Norwood News.

Norwood, Jan. 14.—The Board of Education met on Jan. 13. Those present were Messrs. J. L. Squire (chairman), E. P. Cuffe, Campbell, William Webster, R. J. Robertson, J. Doherty, A. S. Harrison, J. F. Elliott, A. W. Waters, P. W. Stevenson, J. A. Finlay.

Minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

The signed teachers' agreements by Mr. MacLean, H. S. Principal, and Miss B. Dell, science teacher, were laid on the table by the secretary.

Mr. Squire read a testimonial to Mr. J. Davidson, late H. S. Principal, which was accepted and forwarded to Mr. Davidson.

The chairman reported on the deputation to Toronto re the Model school, and expressed hope of being able to retain the school here as a district model school. The thanks of the Board were tendered the members of the deputation who had interested themselves in the welfare of our schools.

Public School Inspector R. Lee's report was laid before the Board and read.

The report was very satisfactory, and on motion was received and fyled.

The report, together with his previous report, were handed to the Property Committee, to be acted on as seemed best to the committee.

The H. S. Principal asked the Board to furnish some sixty supplementary readers for use in the school. The Supply Committee was ordered to procure same.

The Supply Committee were authorized to purchase fifteen cords green hardwood for next year.

Moved by Mr. Cuffe, seconded by Dr. Robertson, that this Board express our appreciation of Mr. P. W. Stevenson, the retiring member, as a member of this Board for the past 12 years, and that a copy of this resolution be handed to Mr. Stevenson.—Carried unanimously.

The chairman intimated that on behalf of the Board he had sent a telegram of condolence and sympathy to the widow of the late Thomas Fraser, Calgary, Alta., a late member of this Board.

The Board decided to attend the funeral of the late Mr. Fraser in a body on Thursday.

Mr. Finlay, chairman of the Finance Committee, submitted an abstract statement of the receipts and expenditures for 1907, which showed the schools to be in a very satisfactory financial condition.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts were passed as follows: B. Weese, salary truant officer, $5; Secretary, postage, 1907, $2.28; K. G. Thompson, advertising, $4.17; Norwood Register, $12.87; J. W. Rork, supplies and repairs, $10.88; K. G. Thompson, supplies, $1.45; Roxburgh & Son, six tons coal, $45.

DIED IN WEST.

There died in Calgary, Alta., on Thursday, Jan. 9th, an old resident of Norwood, respected and loved for his sterling qualities as a citizen and a man in the person of Mr. Thomas Fraser, who left here with his family about three years ago to take up their residence in the fair western city. Mr. Fraser in his almost life long residence in Norwood made a host of friends, who with the general public feel keenly the shock of his demise. Mr. Fraser, who was only about 62 years of age, has been in rather poor health since he left here and some time ago word was received here of his serious condition, but the news of his death came as a shock. His wife and a large family survive him, most of them residing in the west. His son, Alex., resides in Toronto.

Mr. Fraser was one of the pioneer merchants of this village, having up to within the last dozen years or so conducted a hardware and tinsmithing business, which since then up to two years ago was conducted by his son David, at present at Bawlf, Sask.

Since giving over the store to his son, Mr. Fraser, up to the time of his departure for the west, was clerk of the second division court of the county of Peterborough, and also carried on successfully the business of auctioneer. He was a faithful member of the Methodist church. In politics Mr. Fraser was a staunch Liberal and always lent his efforts in behalf of his chosen party.

The remains are expected here on Wednesday, the 15th, by C.P.R., when they will be taken to the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. David Foster. On Thursday the funeral will take place under Masonic and Workmen auspices. The service will be held in the Methodist church. The Board of Education, of which Mr. Fraser was an honored member for about twenty years, will attend in a body.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mrs. Fraser and family.

Springville Presbyterian Church In Most Flourishing Condition

Annual Meeting Held—Membership Has Doubled in Past Year—Rev. Dr. Marsh's Services Appreciated—Presentation to the Organist, Miss Cathcart.

The annual meeting of the Springville Presbyterian church was held on Tuesday. There was a very large gathering, the edifice being crowded to the doors.

Most encouraging reports were presented, showing activity and progress in every department of the work.

After devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. Dr. Marsh, Mr. Thos M. Hunter took the chair, Mr. Robert Robertson acted as secretary. The report of the session, presented by Rev. Dr. Marsh, showed that during the past year the membership had more than doubled, and that the future prospects were exceedingly bright. The report also referred to the work in the Sunday School and in the choir, a tribute being paid to both these organizations on the excellent progress made.

The financial statement also revealed a flourishing condition of affairs, and the annual meeting was announced the best ever held.

In appreciation of Rev. Dr. Marsh's energetic and faithful services the [illegible] unanimously voted him an advance of $100 on salary.

Another feature of the evening was a presentation to Miss Jennie Cathcart, the popular organist. Mr. Jos. [illegible] read a felicitous address from the congregation, and Miss Nellie Laing made the presentation, which consisted of an ebony hairbrush and silver mounted comb, enclosed in a plush case, along with a purse of gold. Mr. F. E. Wilson suitably replied on behalf of Miss Cathcart.

This makes the second purse of gold presented during the past few weeks, Mrs. (Dr.) Marsh being similarly honored a short time ago.

A number of young men have been appointed on the board of managers, among them being Ira Robson, Bruce Elliott and Charles Johnson, and they have taken hold of the work with energy.

After the business meeting a social time was spent, Rev. Dr. Marsh in the chair. Master Robert Whitfield gave three very clever recitations. A dialogue was contributed by the Bid- good boys and Master Whitfield. Mr. Thos. Ruth and Rev. Dr. Marsh favored with a duet, and a trio was pleasingly rendered by Mr. F. E. Wilson, Mr. Harry Bothwell and Mr. Jas. Marsh. Another excellent number was a vocal duet by Miss Cathcart and Dr. Marsh. Mrs. (Dr) Marsh and Mrs. Albert Sanderson gave impromptu and highly humorous speeches on "What I Would do if I Were a Man," while Rev. Dr. Marsh replied on "What I Would do if I were a Woman."

Refreshments were served, and an unusually enjoyable evening brought to a close.

Happenings of the Week at Lakefield

Sunday School Entertainment Was Largely Attended—An Exciting Skating Race—Personal Notes

Lakefield, Jan. 14.— Miss Roberts, who has been paying a visit of some length to her sister, Mrs. Cumberland, returned to her home in Toronto on Tuesday last.

St. John's Church Sunday School entertainment and Christmas tree, took place in the town hall on Friday night, and, notwithstanding counter attractions at the rink, and the Conservative meeting, in the Oddfellows' Hall, was a pronounced success. Mr. Pratt made a most acceptable Father Christmas.

Mrs. Ridpath, of Toronto, is in Lakefield on a visit to her son, Mr. J. W. Ridpath.

Mr. and Mrs. Lillicrap were called away suddenly on Friday last, by the illness of their daughter, Mrs. Stuart, who is dangerously ill with pneumonia, near Calgary. We are glad to learn that since Mr. and Mrs. Lillicrap's departure, very encouraging news has been received regarding Mrs. Stuart's health.

The many friends of Mrs. Roland Strickland will be pleased to learn that she is getting along splendidly, after her late severe operation at the Nicholls hospital.

The Strathconas of Peterborough and the Lakefields played an excit- and the Lakefields played an exciting game of hockey at the rink on Monday last. The score at the close was 9—3 in Lakefield's favor.

Mrs. Frank Arnold, of Toronto, arrived in the village on Saturday last on a visit to Mrs. F. J. Tate.

The annual meeting of the Agricultural Society will be held in the Town Hall on Wednesday next at 2 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Mytton, of Regina, Sask., who have been spending the past few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Tate, left for home on Saturday last.

The Grove school reopened for the Easter term on Monday last. Owing possibly to the stormy weather, some of the boys from the west did not arrive on time.

Rev. W. J. Creighton took afternoon service at Young's Point on Sunday last.

Mr. Doust, of Toronto, was a visitor in the village on Saturday last.

Miss Nicholls, of Harvey township, is at present in Lakefield, on a visit to her friend, Miss Florence Simpson.

A very exciting skating race took place at the rink on Monday last between Messrs. Kilbourn and Wm. Paptie. The race was fourteen times around the rink, and was a most exciting one, Mr. Kilbourn finally winning out by one lap.

Mr. F. J. Tate, of Lakefield, was in the city yesterday.

Quite a large contingent of Lakefield villagers visited Peterborough yesterday, being drawn there by the liquor trials, in which certain of their friends were concerned.

ENNISMORE HAPPENINGS

Ennismore, Jan. 14.—Conway Bros. have just pulled in their threshing outfit on last Monday, after making one of the biggest season's ever made in this settlement, being five months of steady work without having a break. The farmers of Ennismore congratulate Conway Bros. on their successful season's threshing.

Mr. Timothy Crough held one of the largest and up-to-date dances in Ennismore on Wednesday night. There were over 150 guests. Music was supplied by Hixon Bros., and Misses Scollard, Guiry and Gertie Moloney presided at the organ, and Mr W. J. Conway was floor manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sullivan have just left for their home in Cheboygen, Michigan, after spending three weeks visiting their friends in Ennismore, Peterborough and other parts. Mr. Sullivan saw a great many changes in Ennismore since he left, as most of the country has been cleared, and also Peterborough and surrounding villages have grown to a great extent. Leaving here Mr. Sullivan went to Michigan seeking employment in a saw mill. Now he is general manager for one of the largest saw mills in Michigan State. It was a very happy and joyful meeting for Mr. Sullivan to meet his brothers and sisters after an absence of 30 years.

The Rev. A. Kaye, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Oak Park, Ill., has been sentenced to two years in penitentiary for having counterfeiting tools in his possession.

THE WHITE SCOURGE
Neglected Colds MAY CAUSE Consumption
MRS. ADDIE HARDING.
MRS. MARY MEYER.
MRS. FRANCES WILSON.

MRS. ADDIE HARDING, 810 Court street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes:

"I have been a user of Peruna for the last twelve years and can truthfully say that there is no better medicine on earth.

"With me it is a sure preventive for colds and many other ills. In my home can always be found a bottle of Peruna. Two or three times a year I am troubled with my throat.

"A SURE PREVENTIVE."

"I always had to have the services of my physician two or three times in each case.

"Although a user of Peruna, I never thought of taking it for my throat until about two years ago.

"I tried Peruna to check it, and to my great delight I was not troubled with the smothered and choked feeling and never have since.

"I can check it every time with Peruna.

"I certainly would not be without Peruna one minute."

The fight against consumption is becoming a national problem.

Everywhere we hear of sanitariums established at the expense of the state for the treatment of the vast army of consumptives.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all of its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague.

Mrs. Mary Meyer, Thomson avenue, near Shell Road, Winfield, L. Y., N. Y., writes:

"I have been annoyed with a cough for years.

"Often it was so bad that I could not sleep half the night. Many people thought I had consumption.

CONSUMPTION WAS FEARED.

"A woman recommended Peruna to me two years ago. I began to take Peruna and now I am perfectly free from a cough.

"I am glad to say that Peruna cured me entirely. I take Peruna occasionally when I do not feel well and I also give it to my children.

"Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me."

Peruna tends to lessen the cough, decreases the expectoration, strengthens the patient, increases the appetite and in many cases procures sound, refreshing sleep.

But the value of Peruna in the treatment of a case of consumption is not so great as it is in the prevention of consumption.

Since it is well known that consumption begins with a common cold or catarrh, any medicine that can be relied upon to relieve these must be regarded as a preventive of consumption.

Thousands of cases of incipient consumption, or chronic coughs, or settled colds, have reported Peruna as being a safe and reliable remedy for these ailments.

Mrs. Frances Wilson, 32 Nelson street, Clinton, Mass., writes:

"Had you seen me at the time of my illness and now, you would not wonder that I take delight in sounding the praises of Peruna.

"My ailment was a severe cold which attacked the bronchial tubes and lungs.

"I followed your special directions and after using six bottles of Peruna I was on my feet again.

"I think Peruna a wonderful medicine."

The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, that have become thoroughly established, is well-known throughout the entire country. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

CONSUMPTION PREVENTED.

Mr. Wm. Swain, 4245 Stiles street, W. Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

"Before I commenced taking Peruna I had used almost everything I could think of for catarrh.

"I felt so tired when getting up in the morning and my lungs felt dry and sore. No one who has not experienced it can imagine how I suffered.

"I tried nearly everything recommended, but nothing did me any permanent good.

"The first bottle of Peruna did me so much good that I continued taking it until completely cured.

"I cannot praise Peruna high enough. I wish every one could know of it."

Those suffering from colds can do nothing better than to procure a bottle of Peruna and give it a fair trial.

Is Charles Burke the Man Who Assaulted P. C. Newhall ?

Man Arrested in Toronto on Charge of Robbing Purser's Store at Buckhorn Identified by the Above Officer—Was Brought Here by High County Constable Cochrane on Charge of Robbing Purser's Store—Appeared This Morning on Both Charges and Was Remanded.

Chas. Burke, who was brought down from Toronto by High County Constable Cochrane last night, to answer a charge of robbery at Buckhorn, faced Police Magistrate Dumble on a charge of assaulting P. C. Newhall on October 23rd. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, and elected to be tried summarily.

"I am ready to go on with the trial right away," said the chief.

"Excuse me, sir," said the prisoner, "I'll have to ask for a remand to get an attorney. If I can't get an attorney it will take me no time to settle my case."

"How will Monday suit you?" asked the chief.

"Monday's all right, replied Burke; "it's not very pleasant lying over, but still it's the only course open."

THE OFFENCE IN QUESTION.

It will be remembered that on Oct. 23rd, P. C. Newhall heard of a couple of strangers disposing of rings in the city, and believing they were pursuing an illicit traffic, decided to place them under arrest. He saw the suspects at the C.P.R. station on the 23rd of October, and placed them under arrest. One of them, Murray, who has since received a year in the Central Prison for the offence, drew a gun on the officer. The other man managed to get away after a tussle with P. C. Newhall, the latter taking Murray. When the officer came to the police station P. C. Adams asked him to go and take a look at the prisoner. He did so, and recognized him at once as Murray's pal.

THE INCRIMINATING HAT.

At the time P. C. Newhall saw Burke at the police station, he wore a hard felt hat of somewhat peculiar shape. High County Constable brought a hat from Toronto among among the other possessions of the prisoner, and when P. C. Newhall saw it he at once noticed that it was one of the same kind as worn by the man who was with Murray at the C. P. R. station. When the prisoner was shown the hat he claimed that he knew nothing of it whatever.

BEFORE COUNTY MAGISTRATE

After Burke had been remanded he was taken up to the county magistrate's court to answer the charge of robbery of $25 from Purser's store Buckhorn, on Nov. 5. He pleaded not guilty to this charge, and was remanded for a week.

New Conductor for Port Hope Train

Commencing yesterday, Mr. Wm. Hodgins, of Lindsay, took charge of the Port Hope train, leaving here in the morning, and returning again at noon. From now until spring the shunting gang will only be at the local depot during the afternoon. The crew that takes the Port Hope train will be shunting here in the afternoon, and Mr. Hodgins will also fill the position of yardmaster.

This arrangement will likely last till spring, when the busy season will commence again.

Porker That Was Unusually Heavy

Mr. Benjamin White, of Smith township, had a load of dressed pork in town yesterday. He had two carcasses, which weighed 1,068 pounds together, the largest one weighing 612 pounds. This is an extra large weight for a dressed hog. When alive it weighed 710 lbs. On Monday while it was in the stock yards, it lifted a gate off its hinges which usually took two men to handle.

William U. Mack, a Winnipeg man, was shot while letting in his own house on Saturday night and robbed of $27.

Received Bad Gash in Right Eye

Young Man Victim of Painful Injury While Playing Hockey

Mr. Roy Menzies, who resides on Sherbrooke street, was the victim of a painful accident while playing hockey at Knox church rink last evening. While closely cross checking his opponent he was struck on the right eye with a hockey stick and a severe gash was inflicted in the eyelid. Mr. Menzies was unable to continue playing and consulted a doctor who found it necessary to put several stitches in the wound. No serious results are feared, and it is expected that the injured optic will be alright in a few days.

He Was Fined for Cruelty to Cattle

Albert Seeley, a cattle shipper, of Stirling, was sentenced last Wednesday to a fine of $10 and costs for overcrowding cattle in cars of the Grand Trunk railway. Seeley said that he had not exceeded the weight allowed per car in his shipments, but upon Magistrate Kingsford being informed by Humane Officer Chapman that the cattle were chained by the forelegs, and that no man was sent with the cattle although the Grand Trunk offered free transportation to cattle rovers in charge of cattle, the Magistrate decided to convict him.

"I can't send a man with every load. We ship a car every day," said Seeley.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Bible class for men meets Sunday morning at 10.15 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. Mr. W. B. Warne will be the leader. Already quite a number of men have expressed their desire to join. The first class will be held this coming Sunday. Any man may join.

The afternoon meeting will be addressed by Rev. Andrew Allan. His subject will be "Gold Mining."

Miss Reeson, soloist of George-st. Methodist church, will sing. A large attendance and a good meeting is expected.

Where the Bank Clerks are Born

Canada's banking system illustrates its usefulness as an employer of youth in Eastern Canada by the number of sons Fergus, Ont., has sent into action as bank clerks in the last five years.

Fergus boasts that twenty-three of her native sons are in the employment of the Canadian banks and most of them come home for Christmas.

When a community of 1,020 population supplies 23 clerks to the banks the figures are startling in their significance as to one phase meaning that the banking system carries into the village life of Ontario.

BROKE HER LEG

Saturday evening about 9 o'clock, while a young lady of about seventeen, Miss Jessie Mapes, daughter of Mr. Ben Mapes, was skating on the small rink opposite the Public Library, she stumbled in some way and fell heavily with her feet caught together. The manner and force of the fall broke her right leg between the ankle and knee. Comrades carried her into a nearby house, where a doctor was called and she was then taken in a cab to her home, where her leg was set. To-day she is doing well, but will not be able to skate again this winter.—Lindsay Post.

Archbishop Bruchesi, since his pastoral letter on the subject a few weeks ago, has refused fifteen applications to authorise mixed marriages.

Production of Milk for City Trade Was Discussed

Absolute Cleanliness Necessary at All Times—Good Attendance at Farmers' Institute Meeting in City Council Chamber.

There was a fair attendance at the Farmers' Institute meeting held in the City Council chamber yesterday afternoon. Among those present were a number of city people who were interested in the discussion of the subject, "The Production of Milk for City Trade." President Telford was in the chair, and the speakers were Mr. Cornell and Mr. Paget.

Mr. Cornell, who is a milk producer for the city of Toronto, spoke on the subject, "Milk Production for City Use." He said there is a growing demand for milk in the city on account of its food value, and because the cereals now manufactured so largely need cream and milk to make them palatable. The city population in Canada is growing more rapidly than the other country. There is no line of milk production more profitable than that for the city trade.

Dairy men should get more for their milk than that supplied by factories at cheese factories. Dairymen have also to keep the best grades of milk cows, which involves considerable expense. A yield of 2000 pounds would not pay a dairyman, who supplied milk to the city. It is necessary for him to have good milking cows, when they are fed for milk purposes. The conditions of milk supply in the City of Peterborough is not the same as in Toronto. Here the farmer supplies his milk to the vendors at 4c per quart, and the vendors retail it in this city at 7 and 8 cents per quart.

Mr. Cornell impressed upon his hearers the absolute necessity of cleanliness in the handling of the milk. This was imperative if a success was to be made of the business.

Mr. A. J. Reynolds, of Scarboro, was the second speaker. He stated that although the price of milk has been raised, the vendors are not getting any more for it than they deserve. The advance in price had been made necessary by the increased cost of feed and everything required by the dairyman.

Mr. Reynolds gave some valuable pointers as to the cultivation of the soil and the preparation of the seed bed for various crops. He spoke very highly of alfalfa as a feed for dairy cattle. When cut green it made a good feed for poultry. It grows well on almost any kind of soil, and every farmer should try it.

Cavanah House Stable Totally Destroyed by Fire Early This Morning

Blaze Started in South East Corner and Spread Rapidly—Horse and Dog Were Unable to Get Out and Were Burned to Death—Only a Buggy and Cutter Saved—Insurance of $2,000 on Buildings and $400 on Contents—Brigade Done Good Work—No Idea of Origin of Conflagration.

About 3 o'clock this morning a blaze started in the southwest corner of the Cavanah House stables, and on account of the inflammable nature of the structure, spread very rapidly, and it was only owing to the heroic work of the fire brigade that all the sheds were not destroyed in the conflagration and possibly greater damage done. P. C. McHarry who was on his beat at the time, was the first to notice the blaze, and immediately sounded the alarm. In a remarkably short time the brigade was on hand, and brought three hose services into requisition, one from Simcoe street and one from Charlotte. It was a hard fight to gain mastery over the flames, the dry boards and in the loft furnishing easy food for the flames. The illumination was most brilliant, and the big sparks that floated in the air looked dangerous to the surrounding buildings. No other places caught fire, however, and the flames were pretty well under control about 4.30, less than an hour and a half from that time the fire brigade first turned the streams on the burning building. The firemen however, played the hose on the stable until 6 o'clock to make sure it was put out thoroughly. The hay was the main source of anxiety in the matter of fearing that the fire might spread. There was 6 tons in the loft, and when it commenced to burn its crackling was intense and huge flames shot upward lighting the scene for a great distance around.

The blaze attracted large numbers of people who were willing to lend a helping hand, but who found it impossible to render any assistance whatever.

HORSE AND DOG BURNED.

Mr. Roy Cavanah noticed the blaze from his bedroom window, in the hotel, and ran out into the yard clad in nothing but a night shirt and a pair of trousers. He thought of the horse and dog in the stable, and immediately made a rush for the stable door with the intention of taking them out. This was after the alarm had been sounded and P. C. McHarry and Nightwatchman Finnie were standing on the yard at that time. Knowing that the young man would probably lose his own life if he ever ventured into the stable and so kept him out. He and Mr. George Fowler, of Fowler's restaurant, went into a box stall on the east side of the stable, proper, and which was used for a driving shed, and brought out a buggy and cutter which was all that was saved from the flames. It was a hard task to get even these and when Mr. Cavanah left the stable he fell to the ground, overcome by the smoke. There were absolutely no means of saving the horse and dog, and both perished in the flames. The horse was in a box stall at the southeast corner of the building, and was found lying there this morning absolutely roasted. The dog was chained to a ladder close to the door, and was lying up against the wall near the door in a charred condition. The chain and collar were lying nearby, the collar having been practically burned up. No sound whatever was made by the horse, though the dog was heard to give one distressful bark.

The horse was valued at $200 and only a short time ago Mr. Cavanagh was offered $190 for him. The dog "Jack" was a bull terrier and worth $25.

CONTENTS OF STABLE.

The loss of the other contents of the stable was a $35 set of harness, of which all that is left is the bit, 6 bushels of oats, a couple of blankets, curry combs, brushes and other stable equipment and accessories.

THE INSURANCE.

The building and contents are totally destroyed. The building is insured for $2,000, and the contents for $200. The policies have been taken out with different companies.

The stable was built over the creek running south through that portion of the city, and much of the timber and debris fell into the creek. The work of clearing away the ruins will be proceeded with at once, and the stable will be rebuilt as soon as possible.

Part of the sheds were also burned and the insurance on them is included in the above amount.

NO IDEA HOW IT STARTED.

No cause whatever can be given for the fire. Mr. Cavanah is at a loss to understand what was the source of the conflagration.

Burke Was One of The Bancroft Gang

Toronto, Jan. 14. — Charles Burke, the well known member of the Quackenbush gang, will be taken back to Peterborough on a charge of attempting to hold up a country store at Bancroft, near that town, on Nov. 5 last. A picture of Burke was forwarded to High Constable Cochrane at Peterborough, and a young woman, at whom the hold-up men presented a revolver, has identified it. Burke is held here on a charge of vagrancy.

"WHEY BUTTER" NOT FAVORED

New Method Discountenanced at Dairy Convention

On the last day of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Convention at Picton, the practice of skimming whey and making from it "whey butter" was discountenanced by experts in the industry and by representatives of the buyers at Montreal. G. G. Publow, chief dairy instructor and sanitary inspector for Ontario, thought that if the cheese-maker attempted to exploit whey butter there was a danger that the cheese industry might suffer, and that injury might be done to the reputation of Canadian butter. Should the system of skimming whey become generally adopted he feared that it might necessitate the passing of an act compelling the branding of all butter. H. A. Hodson, as a Montreal buyer and member of the Montreal Produce Merchant's Association, warned the dairymen against the whey product. He stated that whereas that kind of butter often tasted and looked as well as the regular article the former would not keep well even under the best cold-storage conditions.

AMUSEMENTS

A GOOD COMPANY.

The Stoddart Stock Company delighted a big audience at the Grand Opera House last night. "Tom Moore," a romantic Irish drama, was the presentation, and it was put on in a highly creditable manner. W. L. Stewart had the title role and showed himself the possessor of much ability. Leah Stoddart, as Bessie Dyke, the heroine of the play, portrayed the part in a splendid manner. The other members of the cast gave them splendid support, and the work of the entire company was received with enthusiasm. "Tom Moore" has many bright lines and strong situations, and has the pleasing features of the romantic Irish play.

The specialties were splendid and received loud and deserved applause. Altogether the Stoddart Stock Company is perhaps the superior of any stock company that has ever visited this city and should have bumper houses for the remainder of the week. Tonight David Belasco's masterpiece, "The Girl of the Golden West," will be presented, and tomorrow night the dramatization of Hall Caine's famous story, "The Christian," will be the attraction.

BORN

GILLESPIE.—On Wednesday, Jan. 15th, 1908, to Mr. and Mrs. George A. Gillespie, Hunter street, east city, a son.

Bright Number Of Rod and Gun

It is often said that a good beginning is half the battle, and the Canadian Sportsman's Magazine, "Rod and Gun and Motor Sports in Canada," published by W. J. Taylor at Woodstock, Ont., makes a splendid beginning for the New Year. It is crowded with stories of interest to sportsmen, including notes on the last season's sport in several provinces, which must cause hunters to go over their own experiences once more and see if they agree with those given. The most important subject of the International Control of the Great Lakes Fisheries is dealt with in an address given by Mr. A. Kelly Evans at a conference of the American Fisheries Society. Stories of deer hunting in Quebec and Ontario, duck hunting in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, exploring trips in the northern country, with fishermen's yarns and mountain climbing reminiscences are but samples of the budget of good things awaiting the readers of this excellent magazine. Every lover of outdoor life must find something to appeal to his particular and favorite recreation, and to the whole of them must come home the spirit of the well written and effective story, "Nature's Elixir—and it is not work!" This is the spirit pervading the whole — the spirit of freedom and a strenuous exertion which brings with it health and happiness, though in the conventions of modern civilization it is not classed as "work." Often, indeed, as everyone knows, it is work of the hardest possible character, but when it is a change from ordinary occupations, let the labor be what it may, so long as it is performed in the open air and without restraint, it is not, in the ordinary acceptance of the word, "work." With such a promising beginning the New Year holds the strongest possibilities for the further success of this favorite Canadian magazine, whose special work it has been to make the advantages of the Dominion, in the region of sport known to our people and through them to the whole world.

Smith Council Held Meeting

The council then adjourned.

They Welcomed the New Pastor

Peterborough Churches Represented at Gathering at Gilmour Church

On Friday evening a reception was held at Gilmour church, Smith, when the new pastor, Rev. Mr. Bonner, and his wife, were given a hearty welcome to the congregation. Among those present were Rev. Dr. Metzler, pastor of the Bridgenorth Methodist church, and Mr. R. E. Harding, of Peterborough, representing the Murray street Baptist church. Short addresses of a most appropriate nature were given by Dr. Metzler and Mr Harding. Mr. Mann acted as chairman. A good programme was rendered and afterwards a jolly social time was spent.

Mr. Bonner will have charge of Gilmour Memorial and Selwyn Baptist churches.

The government of Cuba is to be handed over to the natives before another year.

The Strange Acts of Thaw; Evidence as to Insanity

Prisoner Was Irrational on Day of the Tragedy.

Put Three Cigarettes In Safe—Crazy Actions at Whist Club Five Days Before Shooting White — Played Bridge Before Murder—Evidence of the Steward — The Coroner's Jury Thought Him Insane.

New York, Jan. 16.—Adhering to their promise to interpose no other defence than that of insanity in behalf of their client, the attorneys representing Harry K. Thaw at his trial yesterday continued the examination of witnesses who swore that young Thaw at various times in his life appeared to them as irrational and mentally unsound. Practically all of the testimony was entirely new to the case and had to do with acts down to the day of the tragedy itself.

Then came the declaration of ten men who sat on the coroner's jury during the enquiry into Stanford White's death, all of whom declared that the defendant the day following the shooting acted irrationally. His manner and appearance were such as to cause the inquest jury to discuss his state of mind after their formal verdict had been rendered.

Some of Thaw's alleged eccentricities, revealed for the first time, were related by Christopher Baggan, steward of the New York Whist Club, by Miss Matilda Stein, a telephone operator, and by August Weber, a former butler in Thaw's household. Thaw spent a portion of the afternoon of June 25, 1906, at the whist club, and at that time — a few hours before the tragedy—was pictured by the steward as being highly nervous and as frequently exclaiming: "This is awful." He asked the steward to have a valuable package put into the safe. After the shooting the package was opened and found to contain three cigarettes wrapped in tinfoil.

District Attorney Jerome, in the cross-examination of the club steward, brought out the fact that Thaw played bridge there with many prominent men. The witness declared he was not supposed to know that Mr. Thaw, Mr. Gates, Mr. Schwab and the others played for, but he was sure nothing but mineral water ever was served at the tables.

The telephone operator told of Mr. Thaw putting in seventy-five calls one morning at the Grand Hotel and then forgetting all about them. The butler told many details of Thaw's life at home in 1903, and was still under examination when adjournment was taken. The separate incidents of alleged irrational conduct on the part of the defendant was being put in evidence by Mr. Littleton as the foundation for the expert testimony that is to come. He also hopes to accumulate such a mass of testimony as to Thaw's erratic conduct as to make it impossible for the district attorney to fulfill the task the law places upon him of proving Thaw sane "beyond every reasonable doubt."

Criminal lawyers of prominence who are following the case outlined by the defence, and who are taking into consideration the fact that a specific plea of insanity has been entered this year, declare that acquittal under the circumstances can come only with the added clause, "on account of the insanity of the defendant at the time the act was committed." This, it is declared, would compel the presiding judge to commit Thaw to Matteawan Asylum, from whence a fight to prove his present sanity and thus gain freedom would have to be conducted through habeas corpus proceedings.

The Policy of Assisting Immigrants Should Cease

Immigration Policy of Government Again Attacked in House.

Mr. Cockshutt's Resolution In Favor of Stricter Inspection — Assisted Immigration Should Cease, He Says—Only Agricultural and Domestic Classes Are Wanted — Hon. Frank Oliver Replies.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—The immigration policy of the Government was again the point of attack in the House yesterday. W. F. Cockshutt (Brantford) presented a resolution declaring that the policy of assisting immigrants should cease, and calling for a stricter inspection of those coming in.

It was a short day for the Commons. Under the rules there is no night session Wednesday. After Messrs. Cockshutt, Oliver and Borden had spoken, Alex. Johnston (Cape Breton) was put up at 5.20 to talk it out. At 5.57 he offered an amendment in these words:

"That this House approves the policy of the Department of Immigration in confining its immigration operations to the encouragement of the coming into Canada of farmers, farm laborers, railway laborers and female domestic servants."

Uriah Wilson arose just as Mr. Speaker left the chair and the question now is whether the resolution is dead or will be reached in good time.

Mr. Cockshutt's resolution follows: "That in consideration of the great congestion that at present prevails in the labor market in many of the industrial centres throughout the country, it is highly expedient that assisted immigration, excepting only agricultural and domestic servant classes, should immediately cease, and that no further bonuses shall be paid to individual agents or companies for sending or bringing in such immigrants. Further, that the time has come for strict enforcement of the law that requires that only financially, morally and physically fit shall be allowed to enter this Dominion as settlers."

Changed Word Meant Much.

The mover began by referring to the use made by Hon. Frank Oliver the other day of a private letter sent by him to the Minister, enclosing a letter written by a constituent. In making use of the letter Mr. Oliver had unfairly attempted to show that he was in favor of emptying the tenements of Europe into the city of Brantford. The letter was from an information and employment bureau in Brantford and the Minister changed the word information into immigration.

Mr. Cockshutt challenged Mr. Oliver to go to Brantford and read the letter and he would be assured of a good-sized crowd and a warm reception. He then set himself right as to the use made of the incident by the Liberal press. He had been accused, as a member of the C. M. A., of trying to flood the market with cheap labor, whereas he had never been a member of the organization and had always stood by labor. He read a letter written by an agent in Aberdeen of the Immigration Department in June last, the writer being under the impression that Mr. Cockshutt was president of the C. M. A. It stated that Government officers were in receipt of applications from laborers, skilled and unskilled, and the writer suggested that the C. M. A. notify the Government officers what sort of laborers and mechanics they wanted. The aim of the Department was to bring in many at the expense of quality. We could grow fast at the expense of all that was true and best in citizenship. The Minister was going to hand down to posterity a legacy that three generations would not assimilate. The class of immigrants brought in was shown by the fact that the Bible Society was distributing Bibles printed in 45 languages, and that the mission societies of churches were being called upon to devote their attention more and more to the Christianizing of hordes of new settlers in the west. It was time to retrench in respect to immigration.

The Minister of the Interior replied. The House was indebted, he said, to Mr. Cockshutt for placing before the country the policy of the Opposition with regard to immigration. Mr. Oliver demanded his reading of the Cockshutt letter, which was essentially a House document. The House was entitled to know that Mr. Cockshutt was in accord with the policy of the Government three years ago. He had not wrongfully changed the title of the employment and information bureau. Mr. Oliver claimed that the letter of Mr. Cockshutt, as well as the enclosure, proved Mr. Cockshutt's sympathy with the objects of the bureau. He maintained that even though the writer of the letter said that a "few" could be provided for in Brantford, that few meant a good many if their emigration was to relieve the distress of the millions in Europe.

Paid Immigration.

During question hour Mr. Lavergne (Montmagny) was informed by Hon. Frank Oliver that the Government still paid premiums on immigration, the amount of money paid since 1900 being over $699,000. To the same questioner Sir Frederick Borden said there were no grounds whatever for the statement that the Canadian troops at Halifax were to be replaced by troops from Britain.

To Mr. Smith (Nanaimo) Hon. L. P. Brodeur said the naval station at Esquimalt had not been taken over by Canada, but would probably be shortly.

Sir Frederick Borden also gave Mr. Smith the number of permanent officers at Halifax as 68, with 1,219 non-coms. and men, and 13 officers and 149 non-coms. and men at Esquimalt.

Sir Frederick Borden, answering Claude Macdonell, said he had ordered a board of directors to report on the question of pay of officers and of permanent corps, but it had not yet been reported, owing to pressure of work.

Mr. Oliver told Mr. Smith (Nanaimo) that complaints had been made to the Government concerning treatment of immigrants by shipping companies. The Government had supervision to protect the health and safety of the immigration, but supplies of food were under the supervision of the British Board of Trade.

E. N. Lewis (Huron) asked for an amendment of the Immigration Act, the object being to stop the coming of undesirables, who may be in the habit of carrying concealed weapons. Immigrants may be searched, and, if dangerous weapons are found on them, they may be deported. The bill was read a first time.

M.P.P. SUICIDES.

G. W. Allen, K.C., Shoots Himself at Fredericton, N.B.

Fredericton, N.B., Jan. 16.—George W. Allen, K.C., M.P.P., passed away at his residence, St. John street, shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the result of a bullet wound inflicted by his own hand during the morning.

The deceased for some years past has not enjoyed very good health, and since November last, and within two weeks ago, was confined to the house. The last few days, however, he was able to move about quite freely and appeared to be much improved and in good spirits. Mr. Allen was alone in his bedroom at the time the shooting occurred. Mrs. Allen, it seems, was absent from home several hours in the morning, and returned shortly before 1 o'clock. Not seeing her husband, she went at once to his room and was horrified to find him lying on the bed unconscious.

A revolver clutched in his right hand and a bullet wound in his forehead, from which the blood was oozing, told the sad story plainer than words.

Mr. Allen was about 50 years of age, a native of Fredericton, and the sixth son of the late Sir John C. Allen, chief justice of New Brunswick. He received his education at the common schools here and was medallist at the collegiate school, where he was a pupil of Dr. George R. Parkin. He afterwards attended the university and graduated from that institution in 1877. His course was a most brilliant one and he took his M.A. two years later. In the same year he underwent examination for the Gilchrist scholarship, and though not successful in winning the coveted prize, his examination was of such a high standard that he received honorable mention, and Mr. Allen was really the first to show that a Canadian could compete successfully with the best of British scholars.

Mr. Allen was elected to the Legislature some eight years ago, and as chairman of the municipalities committee in the Legislature displayed much ability. In his younger days Mr. Allen was a fine athlete.

GETS PARDON FOR LOVER.

And Marries Man Who In Jealousy Disfigured Her.

New York, Jan. 16.—Through the intercession of a girl whom he had wilfully disfigured for life, Agostineo Mallena, a former lieutenant of the Italian army, was freed yesterday of a sentence of nine years in the penitentiary, and married to the young woman who liberated him.

While on his way to America four years ago, Mallena met Marietta Mariconda, a 14-year-old child, on the steamer. He fell in love with her, proposed, and was refused, on the ground that he already had a wife. The young man denied this, and frequently renewed his offer after their arrival in New York. Last September on receiving a final refusal, he attacked the girl with a wooden shoe, greatly disfiguring her. Miss Mariconda prosecuted him for assault; he was convicted and sentenced on Monday to nine years and six months' imprisonment.

Yesterday, the girl found Mallena was really unmarried, went to the judge, secured his pardon, and the pair were wedded in the Tombs by a prison missionary.

Ross Rifle Enquiry.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—The Ross rifle business occupied the attention of the public accounts committee yesterday. Lieut.-Col. Wartele, a chartered accountant, was examined on an item of $284,722, paid to the Ross Rifle Co.

In reply to Wallace Nesbitt, who appeared for the Rifle Company, the witness said that $1,186,000 was paid by the Government in advance. Against this there were $825,000 for completed rifles accepted by the Government, 3,000 in the inspection department, 2,500 or thereabouts assembled in parts. The material in the shops was worth about $300,000. The witness added that in no case did he certify to the payment of more than 75 per cent. on any contract.

Japs Have No Chance.

Honolulu, Jan. 16.—A local Japanese newspaper prints an interview with Viscount Aoki, Japanese ambassador to America, in which Viscount Aoki is quoted as follows: "I do not approve of manual laborers going to America. They cannot expect after Japan's long isolation to establish themselves in any western country."

WAS NEARLY DISASTER

Panic at St. Catharines at Moving Picture Show.

Spark Ignited Combustible Film—Crowd of Half a Hundred Women and Children In Stampede But Only One Person Was Seriously Hurt—Whole Theatre In Flames—Rush For Exits.

St. Catharines, Jan. 16.—Fire of a serious nature destroyed the Hippodrome, a moving picture theatre owned by Mrs. Hastings of Buffalo, yesterday afternoon, but fortunately no lives were lost and only one person was seriously injured, though the case may yet prove fatal

About 50 women and children and a few men were witnessing the pictures of Ben Hur. The performance was about concluded when a spark from the electric light fell upon the combustible film and an explosion followed.

So soon as the report was heard the audience was left in darkness, but in an instant the whole rear of the theatre was in flames. Women and children were stricken with fear and in the excitement made a rush for the exits, both of which were located in the mouth of the flames.

Panic followed and several were trampled under foot, but owing to the few persons, all gained the street, no one being badly injured, though several received painful bruises.

The machine was being operated by Lorne McDermott, a boy under 15 years of age. The lad was severely and seriously burned about the hands and all over the face. Dr. Mulock was quickly summoned and the boy was taken to the General and Marine Hospital. Reports last night state that he is doing nicely and may recover in time. Dr. Mulock stated that the burns were very bad, the skin being completely off the hands and face and the boy is also suffering from shock.

Firemen promptly responded to the alarm and fought for two hours, confining the flames to the Hippodrome building, though smoke and water greatly damaged Chas. McDermott's store and also effected some loss to A. J. Gilmore's store, and The Star Journal office. It required the continuous use of chemicals and three streams of water to quench the flames. As yet the loss cannot be accurately estimated, though it is considered to be about $3,000, partly covered by insurance.

FLOUR MILL BURNED.

Maple Leaf Plant Entirely Destroyed —Loss $1,000,000 Fully Insured.

Winnipeg, Jan. 16.—The Maple Leaf Flour Milling Co. of Kenora, headquarters in Toronto, lost its great plant, consisting of mill, elevator and 300,000 bushels of wheat, by fire Tuesday night. Loss $1,000,000, fully covered by insurance.

The plant was completed only two months ago. Defective electric light wiring was the cause of the fire.

The wiping out of the industry, the loss in taxation and the loss to the municipality of the revenue which would have been derived from the electrical power which the town was under contract to supply to the Maple Leaf Milling Co. will hit Kenora hard.

A strong wind prevailed during the conflagration and there was no hope of saving anything. The north and south mills have fallen, and a fierce fire is still raging in the grain storages and the east wall of the mill, which is liable to fall at any moment.

At present it is impossible to get any information as to the insurance or as to the amount of wheat now in the bins.

This disaster to the town will make non-effective a revenue producer, almost the whole of the water power development work for a long time to come, as the Maple Leaf Milling Co. were under contract to take from the town 2,000 horse-power. This would have given the town an immediate revenue of $20,000 per year, which by this fire is now cut off.

D. S. Cameron of Winnipeg is president of the Maple Leaf Milling Co. The mill had a capacity of 4,500 barrels a day, and was formally set in operation Dec. 12 of last year.

The mill proper was 165 feet by 55 feet and six storeys high.

Mr. Cameron left last evening for the west. It is expected he will return immediately on being apprised of the loss.

Earthquake In Hayti.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Jan. 16.—A serious earthquake has occurred at Gonalves, 65 miles northwest of this city. A few houses have been destroyed, and others were damaged. No loss of life has been reported.

Gonalves is one of the most thriving towns of the Haytian republic. Gonalves is a bishop's see and has a population of about 18,000.

It was a year ago Tuesday that the Kingston (Jamaica) earthquake occurred.

Changed Hands at Midnight.

Winnipeg, Jan. 16.—Last night at midnight the Bell Telephone business passed from the hands of the Bell Telephone Co. and came under the management of the Manitoba Government.

The telephone commission will have their first meeting this morning.

Manifestation In Paris.

Paris, Jan. 16.—The departure yesterday of the Augustinian nuns from the municipal hospital, where they acted in the capacity of nurses for generations, was made the occasion of a Catholic manifestation, in which the police finally had to intervene. Several arrests were made.

Two Villages Flooded.

Yekaterinodar, Russia, Jan. 16.—The formation of a heavy ice jam on the Kuban River has resulted in the inundation of two villages and the submerging of a large area of land. It is feared that there has been serious loss of life.

Irishmen Still Struggle.

Dublin, Jan. 16.—The recently discussed reunion of the Redmondites and the O'Brienites is still far from consummation, judging from an incident that took place yesterday at the meeting of the directors of the United Irish League. Two Nationalists from Cork, supporters of Mr. O'Brien and duly accredited delegates to the meeting, entered the hall, but as soon as their presence was discovered, the league officials ordered that they be expelled. The delegates from Cork declined to obey, and after an exciting struggle they were finally ejected by force.

German Fleet For Mediterranean.

Paris, Jan. 16.—The news that a German fleet will cruise in the Mediterranean next spring has created some anxiety in Government circles, where it is thought that the presence of warships may mean a "renewal of German meddling in Moroccan affairs."

New System of Children's Aid

Little Ones are all Placed With Good Families

There are no children at the Children's Shelter at the present time, which is largely due to the system that has been recently adopted. The secretary of the society has secured a list of persons desirous of adopting children, and in this way it has been possible to place all the children with good families almost as soon as they are brought to the shelter. The agent of the society, Mr. Geo. Cochrane, is as vigilant as even in investigating cases of neglected children, but happily the number is not as large as usual this winter.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Death of Mr. John Gainey, East City, This Morning

One of the oldest residents of East City in the person of Mr. John Gainey passed away at his late residence, Driscoll Terrace, this morning at half past ten. The late Mr. Gainey had only been ailing about a week, his death being due to a general breakdown of the system. He was seventy-one years of age, and was born in Newcastle, Limerick, Ireland. He came to Canada when a boy of thirteen, and for fifty-eight years had resided in Ashburnham. He was widely known and highly respected. He had witnessed the steady growth of Peterborough from a hamlet to what it is now, a prosperous city. The late Mr. Gainey was predeceased by his wife fourteen years ago.

Five sons and one daughter are left to mourn his loss. The sons are Messrs. Henry and Cornelius of this city, Maurice and John of Duluth, Mich., and Timothy of Oregon. The daughter is Miss Mary, residing at home.

The funeral will take place Saturday morning at nine o'clock from the family residence, Driscoll terrace, to St. Peter's cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Last Meeting of the Institute

This last meeting of the Farmers' Institute meetings for West Peterborough was held last night in the North Monaghan town hall. There were about twenty-five farmers present, and all took a keen interest in the subjects delivered. Mr. Cornell, of Toronto, spoke on "The Production of Milk for City Use," and Mr A. J. Reynolds, of Scarboro, dealt with "Controlling Soil Moisture." Mr. W. Copeland also gave a few very practical suggestions.

Knocked Down by Fire Team

About nine o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Fred Whaley was knocked down by one of the fire teams in the Snowden House lane and was badly shaken up. He was carried into the Snowden house and recuperated in a short time. Mr. Whaley's escape was a very narrow one as the horses were going to the fire at the Cavanagh house stables and were eager and excited. Mr. Whaley lives on Cedar street and is employed at the Peterborough Lock Company.

Just a Little Smoke Arising

It Was Thought That Cavanagh House Stable Might Again be on Fire

This afternoon about a quarter to two, a man rushed in from the yards of the Cavanagh house saying the blaze in the stable had started again. An investigation was made and it was found that only some smoke was coming forth from smouldering pieces of wood. It was not dangerous and no alarm was rung.

Case Against "Crystal" and Newspapers Was Dismissed

His Honor Judge Weller Gave His Decision This Afternoon—Court Held That There Was Nothing to Indicate That a Lottery Was Being Conducted.

The case of The Crown vs. W. C. Edwards, of the Crystal theatorium, the Review Printing Co. and the Examiner Printing Co., which arose out of the publication of an advertisement regarding the giving away of watches at the "Crystal" last November, was dismissed this afternoon by His Honor Judge Weller. The charge against Mr. Edwards and the newspapers has aroused considerable public interest, and the decision has been awaited with some amount of speculation.

Last fall Mr. Edwards had an advertisement inserted in the Review and Examiner, stating that watches were to be given away at the Crystal theatorium under certain conditions. It was not stated in the ad-advertisement how the watches were to be allotted. Upon the publication of the advertisement the chief of police took action against Mr. Edwards and the two newspapers, basing the charge on section 236 of the Criminal Code, which states that anyone found guilty of causing to be published or of publishing a lottery scheme is liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or to a fine not exceeding $2,000.

The case was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Dumble, who committed the defendants for trial before the County Judge. They elected to be tried by His Honor Judge Weller without a jury, and the case came up before him a few days before Christmas. After hearing the evidence, His Honor reserved judgment. His decision was handed out today, and resulted in the case being dismissed. The court held that there was nothing in the advertisement that would indicate that a lottery was to be conducted, there being nothing stated as to how the watches were to be allotted. After the charge had been laid by the chief of police, Mr. Edwards, in subsequent advertisements, announced that the watch was to be given to the person who could guess the closest to the number of beans in a glass jar. Several cases which have been tried have shown that there is nothing illegal in a guessing contest.

Mr. D. O'Connell looked after the interests of Mr. Edwards, and the newspapers, and Crown Attorney Wood conducted the prosecution.

What a New York Journal Says About an Old Peterboro' Boy

The following sketch of a former Peterborough boy in a recent issue of a New York journal will be read with interest by many here;

One of the first buyers from the Pacific Coast to arrive in the market this season was A. N. Brown of the seven stores of Hale Bros. in California. Mr. Brown makes his headquarters at the Hotel Wellington, where he will remain until the first of February, and every morning can be found at the local offices of his company at 395 Broadway. Like the rest of the San Francisco buyers and merchants, Mr. Brown is contagiously optimistic regarding the future of the Pacific Slope metropolis, and he looks forward to a continued increase of sales in the departments under his management at the new and handsome Hale store at Market and Sixth streets, the last addition to which was completed in September. This was the old location where the firm enjoyed such a fine trade before the earthquake and fire, and their faith in the down-town section caused them to rebuild at the earliest opportunity.

Mr. Brown buys for all of the seven establishments in the chain, the other Hale stores being in Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton, Los Angeles, San Jose and Petaluma. Mr Brown is a Canadian by birth, and his early experience in cloak and suit departments was gained in Chicago, where he was connected with the Fair department store and with the basement department store of the former store of Schlesinger & Mayer. When in 1899, the Nebraska Clothing Co. of Omaha extended its business to include women's wear, Mr. Brown was summoned from Chicago to become buyer and manager of the department. His work there was of the highest order, and this and his earlier record resulted in his being chosen for the present responsible position with Hale Bros., which he has held now for the last eight years.

During his present stay in the market it is Mr. Brown's intention to buy just as many goods as he did a year ago, for business is good all through California, and the state seems to be highly prosperous. His first purchases were made for catalogue trade, and now that his work in that respect is practically over, he is getting down to the selection of goods for spring openings. One of his most notable characteristics is his great earnestness of purpose, and that he is a master of details and system is proved by his extensive operations in buying for a circuit of seven retail establishments.

Mr. Brown was born in Peterborough, and is a son of the late John Brown, Harvey street. He was educated in this city and was a faithful attendant of the George Street church and Sunday school. His many Peterborough friends will be glad to hear of his success.

Bold Thief Walks Into House And Steals Pair of Skates

While Mrs. Geo. Tibault, who resides on George street, was receiving her daily supply of milk to-day at noon from the milkman, a young man with a considerable amount of audacity walked into her house and carried off a new pair of skates attached to a good patent leather boots that were lying on a table. Mrs. Tibault noticed that the skates had disappeared when she returned to the house, but the culprit was nowhere to be seen. A short, dark young man, alleged to have committed the theft, was seen walking down George street. The matter has been reported to the police, who are on the lookout for the thief.

Masculine Christianity the Secret of Manhood's Victory

Impressive Service at St. Andrew's Church Last Night—Large Number in Attendance Were Deeply Touched by the Speaker's Eloquence.

That the interest is deepening in the Allan evangelistic mission in St. Andrew's, is evident from the profoundly impressive service in the church last night. Quite a number took part in the opening devotions, and Miss Reesor's solo, "Saved From the Wreck," was very beautifully and effectively rendered. The majesty of the power and reverence of the whole service was felt throughout, while the intensity and force of the speaker found a response in every one present.

Mr. Allan took his text from John 16, 8: "When He is come He will reprove the world of sin, of righteousness and of judgment to come.' The story is told of an English lady—Miss Marsh—sent by the government to the Crimea, who taught the soldiers to pray this prayer:—"O, God, give me thy Holy Spirit for Jesus sake." That prayer was the beginning of a mighty revival among the soldiers.

The Holy Spirit convicts of sin—the sin of unbelief, the sin of shutting Christ out of your life, cutting off His companionship, that sin that relegates the Saviour to some other realm than your life. The Holy Spirit comes to give a masculine Christianity.

Then there is a four-fold ministry of the Spirit of God. In the Old Testament we have a beautiful setting in the parable of the pillar of fire and pillar of cloud, and shown in four prepositions;

Exod 13—behind.
Exod 14, 19—upon.
Num 34, 36—before.
Exod 40—within.

Corresponding to and illustrating the New Testament doctrine of the Holy Spirit, what authority have we to use the symbolism of the pillar of cloud and fire in our story of the Holy Spirit. The 63rd chapter of Isaiah, 10th verse, refers to this very thing. Isaiah, under the guidance of the Spirit, says; "But they rebelled and vexed His Holy Spirit; therefore, He turned to be their enemy." Many a time God's people had been panic stricken, but Moses lifted his rod and pointed to the pillar of cloud and behold, it begins to move forward, but again they are in panic, because the pillar goes right over the Red Sea. Can it be that God is leading them into the sea to drown them? But lo! a path is prepared for them and they pass over, all safely. What happens? That pillar that went before them now gets behind them, a protection and providence to them, but a source of judgment to the Egyptians. What a parable of the man born again. The Holy Spirit to the saved man gets between him and the past sins and cuts them off forever. Joe Roberts, a most skilful mechanic in Manchester—an awful drunkard—everybody had given him up, was brought to the penitent bench in Judge Crossley's meetings in Manchester, and gave his life to God, but for one year he had to run past every saloon. One night, at Crossley's meeting he learned the truth of the protecting power of the Holy Spirit, and that night he decided to accept that Spirit, and now for ten years he has been able to do Christian work in the very places he was afraid to enter. What is meant by the Spirit "upon" you? In travelling in the East one realizes what is meant by being under the shadow of a great rock, and so saved from the burning, biting rays of a Syrian sun; so the Spirit of God comes between us and the fiery darts of the wicked. We need a helmet to keep the head cool. Again, God's Spirit goes "before" us. Men get into entanglements, business, domestics, etc., because they will not wait for the leading of the Holy Spirit. They are determined to take their own way and they fall into trouble. "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God." Mr. Allan here urged his hearers to yield their lives to the leadership of the Spirit of God."

In Exod. 40th chapter, we see how the pillar of cloud came "within" the temple—past altar and laver, and settled within the holy place. So the Spirit of God passes conscience, intellect, and settles within the soul. This is full salvation, to be possessed by that spirit of power, love and sound mind. The spirit of power is the will, and spirit of love is the heart, and the spirit of sound mind is the intellect.

This is what Christ meant when He said; "It is expedient that I go away from you, for if I go not away the Comforter will not come. When He the spirit of truth is come, He will guide you unto all truth. * * He will convince the world of sin, of righteousness and of judgment to come."

The meeting tonight will be of a specially interesting character, and Mr. G. W. Mulligan will again assist in sacred song.

Railways in Canada and the United States are said to have at present 220,800 freight cars lying idle. This represents $124,000,000 or ten per cent. of the aggregate capital.

ONE MAN'S TROUBLE.

One poor unfortunate—a prominent photographer on Kent-st.—has had the misfortune to have his studio in such a position that the snow from his neighbors' roof falls beside the studio's glass roof. Then that on the studio roof also falls in the same place, so that the other morning when he arose he found a solid bank of snow fully six feet high to be shovelled off before he could do business. To add to his troubles, a five foot parapet rises at the back of the roof and he had to heave every shovelful over this. After handling the snow two or three times he finally got everything clean, but he says the aches and pains brought on by the unwonted hard labor will be with him for days.—Lindsay Post.

Hotelmen Have Bet on Printing

One Says He Can Set More Type Than Another and Bet Has Been Made

Arthur Johnson and Charles Nixon, proprietors of the Windsor and Grand Hotels respectively, were both printers before they went into the hotel business, and have not yet given up the idea that they can "stick" type. A few days ago Mr. Johnson and Mr. Nixon were discussing type setting, and the result was that each gentleman has made a substantial wager that he can set more type in a given time than the other. It is said that one of the hotelmen told the other that he couldn't set a hen, let alone type, and the other retaliated by the statement that his opponent could set a cross-cut saw.

Chambers and Morgan Admit Their Guilt

And Will be Sentenced by Chancellor Boyd on Friday

Toronto, Jan. 15.—Geo. Chambers and his side partner in crime, Thomas Morgan, who were alleged to have been connected with the assault upon Charles Porteous, of Cavan township, both pleaded guilty to a number of charges this morning when arraigned before His Lordship Chancellor Boyd in the Criminal Assizes.

Chambers pleaded guilty to five charges of highway robbery and three charges of shooting with intent to do bodily harm. Morgan pleaded guilty to two charges of highway robbery.

Both prisoners appeared not to realize the seriousness of the charges against them, and both laughed and joked as their counsel was looking after their interests. They are practically boys, and Morgan an undeveloped youth of twenty years appeared to be under the control of his companion.

When Chancellor Boyd announced that he would pass sentence on the prisoners on Friday morning, Chambers slapped Morgan on the back and attempted to cheer him.

"Cheer up, pard, we'll soon get outa," was his remark as he was being led outside the courtroom.

Peterboro' Club Favored Project

To Preserve Plains of Abraham as National Memorial

Speaking of the gathering of Canadian Clubs representatives in Ottawa, the Free Press says:

"The opinion of the executive of the Peterborough club is unanimously in favor of the Plains of Abraham being preserved for all time as a national memorial, but that it should be national in every sense and be purchased by the Dominion Government," was the view expressed by Mr. Frank D. Kerr, president. The executive, added Mr. Kerr, also thought it might handicap the smaller clubs in their good work if a financial burden were imposed upon them in the shape of contributing to the memorial. However, he was in Ottawa to learn the details.

MILK TESTS IN OTHER CITIES

Householders of Peterboro' are Not so Badly off After all

Peterborough householders are sometimes heard grumbling about the quality of the milk supplied them, but it appears that if they have any cause for complaint, it is small compared with that which consumers of milk must have in other cities. Sanitary Inspector Ball has received a copy of a Calgary newspaper which contains the results of a recent milk test in that city. Some of the samples tested as low as 2 per cent. butter fat while only a small number were up to the standard required in Peterborough, 3.5 per cent. Mr. Ball also has the results of a milk test made in Scotland, and the average of the percentages is away below that of the Peterborough tests.

The average of the last test made in Peterborough was around 4 per cent., so it will be seen that the householders of this city are not so badly off after all.

Entertainment at Barracks

The young people of the Salvation Army will give program to-night consisting of recitations, dialogues, and drills. The presentation of books and prizes for the past year to the Sunday school children will also take place. Mr. R. C. Brabond will be chairman.

Murray St. Baptist Church Makes Steady Advancement

Encouraging Reports at Annual Meeting, Held Last Evening—Finances in Healthy Condition—Pastor Receives Substantial Increase in Stipend.

The annual meeting of the Murray Street Baptist was held last evening in the school room when a large number of the congregation was present. The chair was occupied by the Rev. J. R. Webb. The meeting opened with a hymn and prayer, after which the minutes of the last quarterly meeting were read by the clerk, Mr. Shimer, and confirmed.

The reports of the finances and of the different organizations of the church were received and ratified, showed marked progress in all the branches of church activity.

Rev. J. R. Webb in giving the pastor's report, stated that his first year with Murray Street congregation had been a very pleasant one. During the year he had made 613 pastoral calls, 21 visits to the Nicholls hospital, and one to the House of Refuge. He had buried nine members of the congregation and married nine couples. He had preached 88 sermons in addition to the number he preached out of the city. Twenty-six brothers and twenty-five sisters had been received into the church and fourteen had been baptized.

This report was read by Mr. Shimer, clerk of the church. The past year has been marked by a steady growth in our membership, fifty-one new members having been added, against twenty-six members dismissed, a net gain of twenty-five for the year. The figures are as follows:

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Mr. Vincent Eastwood presented the report of the finance committee. During the past year the contributions have all been well sustained, and show a satisfactory increase of over $200. A complete re-canvass of the congregation for pledges for church support is being taken, and a satisfactory advancement is looked for. The committee recommended an increase in the pastor's salary and asked the congregation to make out a card indicating the amount they are willing to give towards the financial responsibilities of the church, and thus greatly relieve the work of the officers.

FELLOWSHIP FUND.

This was presented by Mr. T. F. Matthews, on behalf of Dr. Scott.

Balance on hand December 31 1907	$ 19.95
Collections for year	89.99
	$109.94
Paid out	86.50
Balance on hand	23.44

SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORTS.

Miss Mary Garbutt presented the report of the Sunday school and the financial statement was read by Miss M. Rennard. The membership is 240, with an average attendance of 187. Number of teachers on roll, 38, with an average attendance of 30. Special mention is due Charles Hardwick, who has attended every Sunday for six years.

At the annual Sunday school entertainment the scholars gave $62.06 to the widows and orphans' fund of our Baptist ministers of our convention.

Total receipts and disbursements of the Sunday school were $389.96.

The report of the special fund of the Sunday school showed a balance on hand of $303.75.

LADIES' AID.

Miss Ellen Cochrane presented the financial statement of the Ladies' Aid. The receipts for the year were $125.67, and expenditures were $114.07, leaving a balance of $11.60.

WOMAN'S MISSION CIRCLE.

The 29th annual report of the Woman's Mission Circle was presented by Miss M. Nichols. Total membership is 74, one more than last year. Of these fifty-one contributed to home missions and forty-one to foreign. Eleven meetings have been held with an average attendance of thirty-one. During the year the Circle took a study of mission work on India and China and of Rex Christes. Much good work has been done along missionary lines. The Circle raised $94.72 for home missions, $118.42 for foreign missions and $15 for Northwest Indians. The monthly collections amounted to $7.67.

B. Y. P. W. REPORTS.

This report was read by Mr. R. J. Lang. It showed that much good work had been done in giving Biblical knowledge to the young people. The total membership is 92, an increase of six last year. During the year a very successful young people's rally was held, in which the different young people's societies of the city took part. This society hope to continue the good work in the future which they have achieved in the past.

B. Y. P. U. REPORTS.

Miss Hazel Kidd, in presenting this report, stated that the year closed with a membership of thirty-six. During the year the society lost six of its members through removal from the city and ten new names have been added. The society clothed a little girl on St. Peter's Reserve. The receipts for the year were $67.36 and expenditures $58.90, leaving a balance of $8.46.

CHURCH DEBT FUND.

This report was read by Mr. Geo. Cochrane. He said that he had now twenty contributors on his list, giving sums ranging from $1 to $50, and making a total of $296. At the end of last year the church debt was $1,200, but it had now been reduced to $800.

MISSION BAND.

This report was read by Miss Ethel Hardwick. The number on roll is 106, twenty-one having been added since the last annual meeting. The band has met on the second Sunday of each month, but in the future will meet on the first Wednesday. During the year eleven meetings have been held and liberal offerings have been made for the missionary cause. The band is still supporting a Bible woman in India. The financial statement showed a slight balance; $142.64 had been raised for missionary purposes.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Deacons — Messrs. Dr. Scott and V. Eastwood, re-elected; Dr. Browett, T. F. Matthews, P. Downham, C. B. Routley, R. Harding, W. Aldridge, and John Quinn.

Church Clerk—Mr. P. Downham.

Treasurer—Mr. T. F. Matthews.

Ushers — Messrs. Cochrane and Harding.

Superintendent Sunday School—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.

Musical Committee — Messrs. Matthews, Cunningham and Routley, and Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Dr. Scott.

Trustees—Re-elected.

Upon motion of Mr. T. F. Matthews and seconded by Dr. Browett, that the present finance committee have the power to act until the next quarterly business meeting when the number of members will be increased from five to ten.

PASTOR'S SERVICES APPRECIATED.

Upon motion of Mr. T. F. Matthews, seconded by Mr. Geo. Cochrane, the salary of the pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, was increased. Both gentlemen referred to the excellent work done by Mr. Webb and the great increase in the membership. He had done better work than any previous pastor and certainly was deserving of tangible encouragement. The motion was unanimously carried.

The meeting then closed with prayer by Deacon Downham.

An Address of Much Interest

W.C.T.U. Held a Profitable Meeting Yesterday Afternoon

The ladies who attended the W.C.T.U. drawing room yesterday at the "Y" received with appreciation and information able addresses of Mrs. Britton, of Gananoque, provincial organizer. The Women's Christian Temperance Union, as its name indicates, is a Christian society which began in a prayer meeting and has grown till the white ribbon entwines the world.

Mrs. Britton referred to a number of the departments of work which may be carried on by any union. The work among the lumber men of our northern districts by our two missionaries has by the men been much appreciated, not only by the lumbering but by railroad companies.

Ten new members were received.

After prayer by Mr. Reid the ladies enjoyed the social cup of tea. The next meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Kendry, George street, on Friday, Jan. 31st.

A Happy 1908

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro' our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Yours very respectfully,
J. W. BROWETT

Civic Sermon on Sunday Night

Mayor and Council Will Attend Murray St. Baptist Church

The sermon to the newly elected council will be preached in Murray Street Baptist Church next Sunday evening by Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the church, and president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association. The request that a civic sermon be delivered arose from the council itself, and it is, in response to this, that the municipal body will attend worship next Sunday night.

ANXIOUS ABOUT RIFLE RANGES

Military Men are Wondering What the Government is Doing

The military men of Peterborough are wondering when they are going to secure the rifle ranges that the Government at Ottawa has been promising them so long. Early last spring an official from the militia department was in Peterborough and looked over the sites that were available, and it was understood at the time that the ranges would be ready for the summer of 1908. Since then, however, nothing has been heard about the ranges, and the members of the local regiment are anxious to know what is being done.

It is understood that plans and estimates for the ranges have all been prepared, so there is some hope that the local marksmen may be able to have some place to shoot before 1910.

WEDDING BELLS

PETERS—GREENBANK

A very pleasing and interesting event took place at the home of Mr Frank Greenbank, Norwood, on Wednesday, 8 inst., when his sister Miss Agnes Greenbank, became the wife of Mr. Chas. Peters, son of Mr. Chas. Peters, sr., of Percy.

The ceremony took place at five in the afternoon and was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Adams, of Norwood, in the presence of some eighty friends of the bride and groom. Little Miss Sadie Greenbank, niece of the bride, who was dressed in white silk, acted as bridesmaid, and carried the ring in a basket of flowers. The bride's wedding gown was of brown broadcloth.

The house was profusely decorated with evergreens, including an arch under which the ceremony took place. After the ceremony the company sat down to a well served wedding dinner, after which the happy couple drove to the groom's home at Percy, where a reception was given the bride and groom by a large number of friends. The evening was spent in music and dancing, and extending congratulations.

Prison Work of the S. A. Army

Brigadier Collier of the Salvation Army, Toronto will be here next Saturday and Sunday. He will address a meeting Saturday night and will speak at all other meetings on Sunday, delivering a special address in the afternoon on "The Prison Work of the Salvation Army." The topic is a vitally interesting one and Brigadier Collier is thoroughly versed on the subject.

BODY NOT YET IDENTIFIED.

Name of Man Found Near Chatham Is Still Unknown.

Chatham, Jan. 16.—Up till 6 o'clock last evening no one had identified the remains of the young man whose body was found in a deserted shanty on the Bloomfield road Tuesday afternoon. The body was brought to the city and it was viewed by thousands. Many said that they had seen the man on the Chatham streets previously, but no one could identify the man.

Coroner Bray's report recommends no inquest, for the reason that there is no evidence on which to base one. A bullet hole in the left breast, round which there was a smudge of powder, would indicate that the deceased either committed suicide or was shot at close quarters by someone else. The unknown appears to be quite a young man, about 25 or 28 years of age. His face is clean shaven, and he has dark hair and brown eyes. His hands are white and soft, while the muscles of his arms and chest are abnormally developed. This would indicate that he was not a laboring man and that he must have indulged in considerable athletic exercise.

A curious circumstance in connection with the finding of the body was that there was no money in the dead man's clothes, which were good, and his general appearance would indicate that he was well-to-do. He had either divested himself of all papers, jewelry, etc., which might identify him, before he killed himself, or, in the event of his being murdered, as some are much inclined to think, he has been stripped of all valuables by his slayer or slayers. The unknown was seen on the city streets some days before the tragedy, in company with another stranger. He wore a new hat with the trade mark of a Detroit firm, which would indicate that he came here from that city.

VICTIMS NUMBER 170.

Member of Cast at Boyertown Had Premonition of Disaster.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 16.—Bearing up bravely under the awful blow which it received in the destruction of the Rhodes Opera House by fire on Monday, this thriving little borough yesterday came to a full realization of the fact that one-fifteenth of its population was wiped out of existence by the holocaust. The figures compiled by Coroner Strasser at nightfall show that there are 170 dead as a result of the fire. The list of dead includes one fireman, who lost his life fighting the fire, and one man, Jacob Johnson, who died yesterday. Three charred bodies were recovered from the ruins of the building yesterday, and of the 167 bodies, or remains that lie in the improvised morgues, 115 have been officially, or partially identified by sorrowing relatives or friends.

But two members of the cast, so far as can be learned, were killed. This was due to the precaution taken by Mrs. Della Meyer. She had a premonition that something would happen. At a luncheon given to the members of the cast in the hall several days ago, she said she feared something. There ought to be a means of escape, she said. The rear entrance was spoken of and at her suggestion the doors were taken off the hinges.

That the victims were not confined to residents of Boyertown, was shown by the number of unclaimed teams at the hotels. Fully 40 teams remained uncalled for yesterday.

STOESSEL TRIAL NEARS END.

Belief Prevails That General Will Not Be Held Guiltless.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 16.—The trial by court-martial of Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel for having surrendered the Port Arthur fortress to the Japanese is nearing its end and a verdict is expected early next week.

The belief prevails that the general will not be found guiltless, and yesterday Deputy Syrtlanoff, Gen. Stoessel's attorney, intimated to the representative of the Associated Press that he had little hope of acquittal on the main charge of surrendering the fortress.

M. Syrtlanoff hopes, however, that his client will be freed from blame for the evacuation of several of the minor Russian positions, as well as for superseding Gen. Smirnoff.

Fined $100 For Bigamy.

Tara, Ont., Jan. 16.—Solomon Wood was fined $100 or two months in jail for bigamy. Wood's first wife was Miss Charlotte Kennedy, and his second Miss Carson, daughter of George Carson, Township of Amabe. Wood is illiterate but honest. He told his second wife that he was a married man. He was married to his first wife when only 16 years of age. They only lived together a couple of months and had not seen each other for six years and his first wife had given her consent to his second marriage.

Fire at Quebec Citadel.

Quebec, Jan. 16.—About 1 o'clock yesterday morning the fire department was called to the citadel by a telephone message. A fire had broken out in one of the quartermaster's stores, in close proximity to one of the powder magazines. The building is of solid stone, so that the fire, owing to the good work of the brigade and artillerymen, was confined to the interior. The building contained a large quantity of stores, including ammunition, which frequently exploded.

Bank Officials Arrested.

Buffalo, Jan. 16.—A special to The News from Franklinville, N.Y., says: Cashier E. D. Scott and Bookkeeper R. W. Vanhoesen of the People's Bank of this place (Franklinville) were arrested yesterday on four charges in connection with the bank's failure. They were held in $4,000 bail each.

WANT PARLORS FOR THEIR USE

London, Ont. Waitresses Wish to Receive Their Men Friends

London Advertiser: Should the female help in a hotel be given the exclusive use of a parlor to entertain their gentlemen friends?

This was the question propounded to a well known hotel proprietor the past week.

As announced the other day Organizer Harding has been attempting to organize the girls of the different hotels into a union.

And the above was one of the demands made by them.

This proprietor inserted advertisements in several out of town papers, and soon had twenty-five girls on hand.

They then discharged seven of the girls who were making the demands, and filled their places with the young ladies he had secured. The rest of the twenty-five he distributed among other hotel proprietors who were in need of them.

As a result of this little question about twenty-five girls are out of employment.

The female help of London hotels also ask for more money, shorter hours and stated hours.

Several of the proprietors say their demands cannot be complied with.

"The Bars Must Go" Should be the Cry

Dean Farthing, of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, who is well known in Peterborough, thinks that if the moral and social reform council can unify the religious bodies on a temperance policy excellent results will follow. The question, he writes, is now before the country, and we are at the beginning of a great struggle with the liquor interests. The moral forces must be united and work in thorough harmony if they are to win. To his view. "The Bar Must Go" should be the front plank in the platform. That would be hitting at the root of the evil. It fosters the treating system, a mighty evil which no man can defend from the moral standpoint.

The Dean thinks men must be given a way to obtain alcoholic liquors legally and not by stealth. He favors the dispensary system modified to meet Canadian conditions, sale being made under Provincial Government control. He admits the system would be open to abuse, but what system does not, but it would minimize the evil. Dispensaries should only be in populous centres. He favors local option in country districts. He urges fair-minded men to grapple with the matter.

Paid Visit to the Observatory

The Royal Astronomical Society held their annual "at home" in the Canadian Institute, Toronto, on Tuesday night at which several representatives from Peterborough, headed by Mr. H. B. Collier, were present. Prof. Chant gave an able address on "The Astronomical events and discoveries of the past year." The visitors were entertained to an "at home" and inspected the Dominion Observatory under the guidance of Prof. Stupart and Mr. F. L. Blake, it was interesting to observe the various meteorological instruments, particularly the siderial and time clocks, which are operated by electricity. The siderial timepiece has varied only a minute in three years.

Mr. Collier reports that there are frequent queries at the observatory from produce merchants in Toronto, who ship perishable supplies to distant towns. For instance, while the visitors were there, one young business man enquired what the temperature was at Waubaushene, and received the reply that it was 10 or 15 degrees above zero. Mr. Stupart says they answer many such questions in the course of the day, so that the Observatory is really a valuable source of information to shippers.

Governor Dunsmuir, of British Columbia, will, it is said, be impeached on the Japanese question by the Socialist faction of the Legislature immediately after the delivery of the speech from the Throne.

The members of the commission to operate the provincial telephone system in Manitoba, are Mr. Frank C. Paterson, Mr. W. H. Hayes and Mr. H. J. Horan, all of the Bell company.

BOOMING THE CITY

To boom or "boost" as it is frequently called, a city like Peterborough several things are required. To bring about this accomplishment there must be unity of purpose and public spirit.

Every place is desirous of attracting favorable attention, of adding to its population, of increasing the number of its manufacturers and beautifying its surroundings, as well as adding to other conveniences and aspects of civic life.

If a town or city does not grow it generally recedes. There is no such a thing as stagnation and to make a community forge ahead requires incessant effort and continued watchfulness.

Mr. E. S. Batterton has been delivering a series of helpful and practical lectures before the business men of Marshall, Mich. Mr. Batterton is secretary of the Chicago Municipal Service League, and his remarks may well be applied to any place. He thinks that the town, like the merchant, must advertise if it wants to draw people. If it has the attractions in the first place, advertising will bring people to investigate, and if there are no false pretences an enquirer becomes a citizen. That is the whole question in a nutshell. It resolves itself into an advertising problem. On this point Mr. Batterton says: "One of the first things essential to 'town publicity' is that you believe in your town. Believe that it is going to advance. You should get to work to make the town and you must absolutely believe in your town. Be enthusiastic over it. This matter of publicity is important. Live to boost your town. The greatest factor in the publicity of your town is your local press. No matter if it has published something about you that you do not like. Large business firms use and receive thousands of clippings each day, and information from small towns is regarded as valuable. You should make your advertising as interesting as possible. Have it read so that it will be new. How is the commercial club of a town going to benefit from the newspapers? Nothing is more read than the industrial news of the town. Have a continued activity in your business men's organization."

The big papers in the State or Provincial capital can also help the town's growth by publishing real, live news of the smaller places. It devolves on the authorities to see that some one collects the news and sends it in while it is news. By this process the town gets publicity that is more valuable than frank advertising. It gets what the merchant calls a "reading notice," and instead of paying double rates, it gets it for nothing. Good hotel accommodation is also necessary, and the lecturer cited the case of a hotelkeeper who cheerfully loses $3,000 every year on his hotel by making it so attractive that it draws visitors, and helps to make them citizens. Commercial travellers should have nothing but cheerful tidings, or they are apt to carry "hard luck stories" to the next town, which is probably a rival.

Every effort should be made to beautify the district surrounding the railroad station. First impressions are usually lasting. A market day is a good thing for a small town, and so, the expert thinks, is a bargain day, although, on the second point, there is difference of opinion. It is plain, from the foregoing, that if a town is to "boom" there must be unity of purpose among its citizens. One also gets the idea that another generation will see a "press agent" elected every year, like a reeve or town clerk.

BUSY SESSION AHEAD

The fourth and final session of the eleventh legislature of Ontario, before an appeal is made to the electors by Mr. Whitney and his followers for a renewal of confidence and trust, will open in Toronto on February 5th.

A busy session is expected as many important questions are to come before the House. Hon. A. G. MacKay, the new leader for the opposition will probably be looking around for some material on which to ask support from the people, but he will find it exceedingly difficult to discover any weakness or shortcomings in the legislation and splendid record of the Whitney administration. The chances of success for Mr. Mackay and his handful of supporters are about as slim and remote as can be.

The government, so successfully and economically has it managed the finances of the province, will be able to announce a satisfactory surplus—this too in face of the fact that it has made larger appropriations than in previous years for the improvement of highways and the maintenance of rural schools.

Other matters to be taken up will be improvements to the asylum service, prison labor reforms, including the establishment of a branch of the Central prison in North Ontario and the purchase of a large prison farm for the cultivation of supplies for the various institutions.

Further legislation is also likely to be passed in reference to child labor, the municipal act, the mines act, advance in the movement to secure cheap text books, the establishment of technical schools, as well as more consideration of the power question whereby the scheme of furnishing cheap electric power to the municipalities—so generally endorsed in the municipal elections—will be carried out.

The largest measure of the session will in all probability be the redistribution bill, whereby a more equal division of Ontario for electoral purposes will be brought about.

At present according to population, Toronto and Northern Ontario have not sufficient representation. In the redistribution proposition county boundaries will be as closely adhered to as possible, and as fair a plan as possible of equalized representation arrived at.

The forthcoming session will be an active, vigorous one and will result in much legislation being introduced by the Whitney government in its earnest effort to give Ontario clean, progressive and advanced legislation and a wise, careful, economical administration of provincial affairs.

UP-TO-DATE CIVILIZATION

In Montreal a boy, aged 14 years, gave a little five year old girl something in a bottle saying that it was candy. The child was told to "shut her eyes and swallow it." The contents proved to be lye, and the little one's tongue and throat were so badly burned that she died.

In another town an older lad "stumped" a younger one to run his tongue against a frost coated iron hook. The boy's tongue stuck; he howled with pain and the skin of his tongue was torn off.

In still another city samples of pills were left on various doorways. A four year old girl picked up a box and thinking it was sweetmeat devoured enough to kill her.

How long is this sort of nonsense to go on in a civilized country? The practice of distributing medicined samples where they are apt to come into the hands of or be discovered by children should be stamped out by law. This advertising custom is dangerous in the extreme, besides being a confounded nuisance.

How long are boyish pranks which result in the death or permanent injury of smaller lads, who are not aware of what they are doing or who are "stumped" or teased or ordered to do something harmful to themselves, to continue? If that fourteen-year-old lad in Montreal who knowingly induced a five-year-old child to drink an alkaline solution, can be apprehended, he should be most severely dealt with. Older children, who regard it as fun to see innocent smaller ones tortured or injured, just to cause amusement or gratification, should be put in some place of detention and chastised. Day after day we read of these escapades and still the law is slow to act. Our boasted twentieth century civilization and practices are still in many respects a myth.

What about adults? Here is another instance where an "amusement" caused death. No comment is required:

As a result of being hazed by students of the Rose Polytechnic Institute, at Terre Haute, Ind., two years ago, Wm. Keifer, Jun., of Louisville, twenty years old, died to-day in Texas. He was taken from his room and tied with his back to a tombstone, being left all night in the chill autumn air. He contracted a severe cold, which culminated in pneumonia, and he became a permanent invalid, having to leave school. Tuberculosis developed six months ago.

And Canada and the United States are called civilized, Christian, enlightened and God-fearing countries!

PEN POINTS

A letter carrier in this or in any other city, who traverses twenty miles a day in all kinds of weather, carrying heavy deliveries of mail, certainly earns all that he gets.

The United States is going to issue more money—an additional bank circulation. The augmented circulation shall in no case exceed seventy-five per cent of the value of the bonds deposited. The currency may be issued against government, state or municipal bonds in approved cases.

Sir John A. Macdonald used to say that nothing could check Manitoba. A bill is being introduced in the legislature of the Prairie Province to limit the speed of automobilists in the rural sections to twelve miles an hour. That will certainly check the speed of some Manitoba autos—at any rate.

Fruit-a-tives
OR FRUIT LIVER TABLETS

—clean the blood of all impurities—clear the skin of pimples and blotches, and make the complexion beautiful. Made of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box.

A concern, which is a danger to public health, cannot go ahead doing exactly as it pleases. The proprietor of a rendering plant in Janeville, near Ottawa, was fined $10,000 by Justice Riddell for maintaining a nuisance dangerous to the public health. The fine was not to be paid if the nuisance was permanently abated in three days. The plant has shut down.

The practice of holding bye-elections or springing them on a constituency suddenly may soon be terminated. Heretofore a contest has taken place just when it suited the convenience or connivance of the government. In some instances ridings have gone unrepresented for many months. If Mr. Borden's bill carries all this will be put a stop to. His measure will provide that a bye-election must be held within a fixed period after the vacancy occurs. The length of time will be decided upon by the House if the bill is favorably considered as it ought to be.

The congregation of Murray Street Baptist Church last night evidenced its appreciation of the services and talents of its faithful and energetic pastor by unanimously voting him an increase of $300 in salary. The recognition is well merited. Rev. Mr. Webb has won a firm place in the confidence and esteem not only of his own people but the citizens generally. He is also much beloved by his ministerial brethren who honored him a few days ago by making him president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association. As a preacher he possesses force, directness and earnestness, and is a strong, helpful factor in the moral and Christian life of the city.

The treatment of Cadet Lancaster at the Kingston Military College cannot be allowed to be passed over with no further action than a protest in Parliament. That an injustice has been done is admitted by the Minister of Militia. That a fine young man was accused of unworthy conduct, unjustly, and was even punished for it when not guilty, is clear. Every citizen has rights, and the rights of this cadet have been grossly assailed. Parliament must determine whether or not the commandant, who was responsible for the wrong, and who is alleged to have encouraged the bringing of accusations against this young fellow, is fit to continue longer at the head of the institution.—Toronto Mail.

Mr. D. Burke Simpson, of Bowmanville, the Liberal candidate in Durham, has no chance whatever of carrying that riding in the next Federal election against Mr. Thornton, the popular Conservative standard bearer. Simpson is largely the nominee of the West Durham Grits, and why he is running it is hard to tell, as the representatives of his party in Port Hope have no use for his candidature and will not support him. He was selected at a convention composed largely of West Durham delegates, and, although there was a sort of acquiescence in his selection, by the representatives in the eastern portion of the constituency, they are very sore. Simpson will get no lift whatever from his party in Hope, and surrounding townships. The next contest looks like a walk-over for Mr. Thornton, who will prove a fit and worthy successor to Lieut.-Col. Harry Ward, the present esteemed representative who is retiring and will ever be remembered as having trimmed Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, he of "two mouth" canal fame, by a decisive majority in 1904.

Local T.A.S. Lose at Ennismore

In Interesting Game of Forty-Fives—Enjoyable Time Spent

Twenty-six members of St. Peter's T. A. S. drove out to Ennismore last evening and played forty-fives against St. Martin's Total Abstinence Society. The contest resulted in a victory for the Ennismore players by nineteen games, the score being one hundred and twenty-six to one hundred and seven. After the games a most sumptuous repast was partaken of and a social time spent. Songs, recitations, step dances and speeches formed an interesting programme and a pleasant hour was enjoyed.

The party had a rather unpleasant drive returning home, the roads in many places being badly drifted. They did not reach the city until nearly four o'clock this morning.

Overhanging Rock Crushed Out His Life

Albert McQuilton, of Trenton, Met Death Near Campbellford

A Campbellford despatch says:—A fatal accident occurred today, in which a man named Albert McQuilton, was killed. He, along with a number of other men, was working at rock work in connection with the new power plant at Crowe Bay. When in the act of adjusting the grapplers, a large piece of overhanging rock, weighing between four and five tons, fell on him, crushing and killing him instantly. Deceased was about 24 years of age, unmarried, and resided near Trenton, Ont. No inquest will be held.

What is Happening At Mount Julian

School is Being Well Attended—Mr. Sanderson's Death Regretted

Mount Julian, Jan. 16.—The anniversary tea meeting of Eden church will be held in February. The proceeds from it will probably be used for the building of a driving shed.

The schools opened with a fair attendance after the Christmas vacation. Miss Anderson, of Norwood, has charge of the upper school, and Miss Sykes, from Warkworth, has the lower one. It is expected that some of the pupils will try the entrance examinations for the High School in June.

Mr. Wm. Spence, a former teacher here, and whose wife and family reside here, is again teaching the Apsley school.

Mrs. Israel D. Church and Miss Jessie Reid have returned after spending the holiday season in Toronto with Mrs. Church's parents.

Miss May Shewn, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Crawford, in Lakefield, has been called home on account of her father's illness.

Mrs. Welton Bronson and little son, of Alberta, are spending the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Stone.

The next meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in March at Mrs. S. Wilson's.

The death of Mr. Wm. Sanderson, was greatly regretted by all who knew him. He had lived amongst us from boyhood and was a universal favorite. A number from here attended his funeral at Lakefield.

WEDDING BELLS

PRATT—TURNER

On Wednesday, January 15th, at Peterborough, Mr. Frank Pratt, Peterborough, and Miss A. E. Turner, of Zion, Otonabee, were married by the Rev. C. H. Coon, pastor of Mark street church. The young couple took the afternoon C.P.R. train for Toronto, and points west. On their return home they will reside in Peterborough.

MORRISON—GRAY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Canon Davidson, at 7.30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, when Massie, the youngest daughter of Mrs. John Gray, 209 Murray street, was united in marriage to Mr. Peter Morrison, of Arcola, Saskatchewan. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Austin Gray, and was very becomingly attired in a gown of white silk, over pale blue taffeta, with trimming of duchess satin ribbon and Irish baby lace. She carried a fine bouquet of white roses. Miss Luella Redpath, of Lakefield, acted as bridesmaid, and wore white silk trimmed with lace and tucks. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Andrew Young, of Lakefield.

After the ceremony the guests retired to the dining room, where they partook of a sumptuous wedding supper. The groom's present to the bride was a pretty gold bracelet, and to the bridesmaid a crescent pin. The presents were numerous and costly, showing the high esteem in which the young lady is held by her friends and acquaintances. There were about thirty-five friends present and a social evening was spent in games and music.

Mr. Morrison was at one time a resident of Smith township, where his parents reside at present. Mr. Morrison is going to Arcola next week, and Mrs. Morrison intends going out next spring. Their many friends will wish them every success.

An Action Entered Against Mr. Small

Miss Annie Webb, of Toronto, has commenced an action against Mr. Ambrose J. Small, proprietor of the Grand Opera House, for $2,000 damages. Plaintiff claims that the defendant published a copy of a photograph of herself in a programme of the Grand Opera House, the plaintiff being described as Florence Rossland. A person bearing the name of Florence Rossland was actually taking part as an actress in the play, "The Fatal Flower," referred to in the programme.

Miss Webb claims that the face reproduced on the programme was undoubtedly hers, as well as the brooch and broad-trimmed hat forming part of the picture.

This Miss Rossland referred to in the above appeared at the Grand here a short time ago, in the production of "The Fatal Flower."

A LIVELY EPISODE

The residents of Lake street were somewhat boisterously entertained last night. It appears a man, who resides in the southern portion of the city has been calling on a lady friend at frequent intervals, and last night his wife, learning of his rendezvous, called at the house when he was there. There was a sound of loud talk and things smashing, and some of the neighbors gathered round the scene of action, but none dared to venture to interpose. The husband finally beat a stealthy retreat, and was soon followed by his wife, who gave vent to her feelings in a very loud voice.

William J. Meek, a Winnipeg man, was shot while sitting in his own house on Saturday night and robbed of $27.

A Battle Royal Between Strathconas and Norwood

Norwood Trimmed by 9-5 in a Hotly Contested and Spectacular Contest—A Game That Was a Game—Half Time Score Was 4-1—Both Teams Showed Surprisingly Good Form—High Lifes Run Away From Bridgenorth Defeating Them by 11-2.

That there is splendid material in this city league was proved last night when Norwood and the Strathconas met in one of the fastest and most exciting games played here for some time, the latter winning by 9—5. It appeared an easy Strathcona victory in the early stages of the match and in the first half the wearers of the red and white scored four straight, Norwood securing the first goal. The Norwood seven appeared to be all in shortly after the commencement of the game, but they played hockey all the time and finished strong. The contest afforded a great exhibition for the spectators, who enthusiastically recognized the good work of both teams.

From the time Referee Lynch rang his bell until the last moment of play the contest didn't lag for any length of time, although the pace became a trifle too strenuous at times, and the players eased a little for a breathing spell.

When the wearers of the green and red came on the ice previous to the match, they made a fine impression with the fans, their skating and shooting appearing to be particularly good. In fact, they looked as handy as most first-class intermediate teams. They strengthened this impression, when after a few moments' play they landed the first goal. And there is no doubt about it that they are a first class aggregation. But the Straths were on color, and went after the visitors in a way that showed they meant business, and they brought it too. The work of the local seven was superb, and they have never worked to such advantage as they did last night. The defence and forwards both were conspicuous by their brilliant and heady playing, and the line swung in a combination that carried the puck right along to the shooting point. Every man was on color, and in spite of the fact that several members of the team had played in Cobourg the previous night the winners of last night's game never let up for an instant. It would be an almost impossible matter to pick out any individual player deserving of the greatest amount of credit. The work of Derocher in goal, however, was conspicuously good, and he certainly has all the earmarks of a comer, in fact, of one who "has come." He turned aside shot after shot that looked billed to hit the and many times stopped what looked like impossible ones. Meagher at point was always in the way, and rendered especially good service in the second half, when he carried the puck down on two spectacular rushes that were responsible for scores. Dusty at cover played his usual effective game. The forwards come in for an unusually big pat on the back. Everyone of the four men seemed in the very best form, and the all round work of the line would be hard to improve upon. Ray appeared with the Strathconas locally, for the first time, and showed he was a man of superior ability. He played a fast, and steady game, and handled his stick better than any man on the ice. Weatherstone and McMillan on the wings and Long at centre were always very prominent for their excellent work. McMillan did some corking good shooting, getting no less than three of the goals. Weatherstone played easily the best game he has this season, and shone at all stages. Long bored in after the lifts of the enemy's goal, and played a fine game.

Norwood also has several players, among whom there is little to choose. The team, however, showed lack of condition, and a few more good practices would very greatly improve the playing ability of the septette. Both as a team and individually the men from the western town showed a great deal of ability. The forward line did great service, and all the Norwood forwards played excellent hockey. Doherty on left wing was probably the visitors' fastest and most effective man. Time after time he started down the ice with the puck. When he had the rubber it meant danger for the locals. Kempt and Scott at centre and right wing were noticeable for their good work. The defence put up a strong resistance against the onslaughts of the Strathconas, and did first class work.

One great drawback to Norwood in the matter of scoring seemed their inability to look after the puck when they got near the Strathcona net. The disc would be frequently carried down the ice on dangerous looking combination plays, but the attacks were often rendered useless by reason of the fact that it was carried too far before any shooting was done. The work of the visitors around the goal was by no means as clear cut as that of the locals.

Mr. George Lynch refereed both games, and won the approval of the teams and the players.

NORWOOD-STRATHCONAS.

Kempt started things going by making a long rush. He took the puck too far before shooting, however. Ray uncorked a sensational run and shot dead on the flags. Huycke was there however, and no score resulted. Doherty jumped away with the puck and shot, missing the nets by a trifle. Derocher glanced aside a well delivered one. On a pass from Doherty Kempt did the desirable for Norwood, 1-0; 9 minutes.

In 30 seconds McMillan scored from a mix-up in front of the Norwood goal, 1-1.

Scott was benched two minutes for slashing. Doherty made a brilliant dash and sent in a hummer on the nets which nearly counted. Ray was penalized two minutes for holding. Dusty rushed on goal, C. Pearce getting the shot. Dusty and Ray got away for a pretty combination run. Weatherstone rushed and passed to Ray, who scored; 2-1; 8 minutes.

Weatherstone was naughty and the referee handed him a two minute rest ticket. McMillan and Ray were soon in a little spectacular combination work. Doherty circled around on dangerous looking swoop and tried for a point. Ray broke through for a tally; 3-1; 3 minutes.

McMillan rushed up the side and shot; 4-1; 1-2 minute.

Long was allowed a minute's retirement for tripping. Derocher cleverly handled a high one from Doherty. Huycke got in the way of a well meant one from Weatherstone. Meagher was ruled off for 2 minutes.

SECOND HALF.

Dusty started the penalty procession by doing two minutes. Derocher turned aside a dinky from Doherty. Weatherstone, was stopped for three minutes. Norwood was having an strong and shots hummed around the Strath's net. Ray made a beautiful rush and shot. Meagher and Weatherstone tore off a pretty end to end combination play. Weatherstone romped past the Norwood defence and passed to Long, who scored. 5-1; 10 1-2 minutes.

Weatherstone shot on a pass from Ray, Huycke blocking nicely. Derocher blocked a fast one. Doherty did a lonesome stunt up the ice, and as he had no one to pass to lost the rubber near the Strath's goal. Meagher made a splendid rush and passed to Long who did the rest; 6-1; 8 1-2 minutes.

Pearce sent in one, that Derocher caught, but the rubber hopped away from him for a tally; 6-2; 4 minutes.

Meagher rushed again and passed to Long, who clinked the nets; 7-2; 1 minute.

Kempt snapped up the puck at the face off and scored on a pretty individual play; 7-3; 30 seconds.

Weatherstone did likewise in 50 seconds; 8-3.

The Norwood goal umpire put up his hand for a tally that looked a little doubtful. Kempt was the man behind the puck when the score was made.

The Norwood official lost his job and "Gunner" Boyle was stationed at the foot; 8-4; 2 1-2 minutes.

McMillan scored for Strathconas after a superb three man combination play; 3 minutes; 9-4.

McMillan was penalized for two minutes. Doherty obtained the last goal of the night on a beautiful wrist, 1 1-2 minutes; 9-5.

Dusty tripped Kempt and was given three minutes, going to the barn as there was only a couple of minutes play left. Weatherstone was sidetracked for the customary two just before time was up.

The score:

BRIDGENORTH—HIGH LIFES.

This contest was by no means as interesting as the first and was somewhat of a lopsided struggle, owing to the superiority of the High Lifes, who won by 11-2. At half time the score was 4-1. The Bridgenorth team was clearly outplayed. Belleghem in goal never played a better game and staved off many with a through ticket on them. Every man on the High Lifes played well. There was quite a bit of dropping about the game but otherwise it was not rough and nobody was hurt. Referee Lynch only penalized three men, although Ferguson was allowed to the roost 3 times.

THE GAME.

J. Cullen was the first man penalized, being given 2 minutes for tripping. Rose got first blood for High Lifes. 1-0. Foley obtained the next 2-0. A short time later Rose again did the trick. 3-0. Foley was given 2 minutes. Pentland scored. 4-0. Conway scored on a magnificent wrist shot from near centre. 4-1.

SECOND HALF.

J. Cullen scored the initial point in this half. 4-2. Rose notched one for the High Lifes. 5-2. Rose rushed and passed to Foley, who scored. 6-2. He got the next one also. 7-2. Ferguson shot from the wing and scored. 8-2. He rushed a minute later and again found the nets. 9-2. took a ramble and passed to Rose, who did the trick. 10-2. Ferguson was given two minutes on the fence. Pentland scored. 11-2. Ferguson was again benched. No more scoring was done before time was called.

HOCKEY

The Boys' Brigade of All Saints' church challenges the hockey teams of St. Luke's or Grace Churches to a match, to be played on Knox church rink on Tuesday or Thursday evening between seven and eight o'clock.

THE ROOSTER.

The Lindsay intermediates have won two outside games, and the Post has resurrected that veteran rooster. It stands out prominently on the sporting page, and apparently lustily crows, "Lindsay — Cock—a—doodle—doo!" Well, well.—Stratford Herald.

MILLER'S GOOD WORK.

Miller, who plays left wing, has shown great improvement in form since his appearance in Guelph. He finished stronger than any on Friday night last, and in the latter half did some good boring in. Miller was up against as hard check in Rowley Young.—Brantford Expositor.

KNOX CHURCH WON.

A very interesting game of hockey took place at McCammon's rink on Wednesday evening between Knox church and Park St. Baptist church clubs from 8 to 9 o'clock. The former won by the score of 3—2.

The line-up was as follows:

Park St. Baptist		Knox

FACE COVERED WITH ECZEMA

YOUNG LADY GRATEFUL TO ZAM-BUK

This balm cleared her skin when everything else failed. The terrible effects of Eczema, so unsightly to everybody, so painful to the sufferer, cannot be fully appreciated except by persons who are victims of this disease. Zam-Buk by its wonderful healing virtue and its peculiar power of toning up the skin has won for itself the most wonderful reputation.

Miss Susan Peake, 49 Edward St., Toronto says: "A year ago last Spring my arms and face broke out with Eczema. Not only was it troublesome and painful, but very unsightly too. I used various kinds of salves and ointments, but received no benefit until I began with Zam-Buk. I first heard of this remedy through a friend who had been cured of a long standing case of Eczema by using Zam-Buk. The very first application seemed different from other ointments used; it relieved the terrible itching, and also soothed the pain. In a very short time after commencing with the Zam-Buk treatment I was cured entirely of Eczema. My arms and face were so smooth and clean from any pimples or rash as they had ever been. I have since kept a box by me in case I should need it at any time. I find it very good for chapped hands or roughness of the skin after washing. I can recommend it to anyone afflicted as I have been. You have my permission to use this, also my photo in any publication."

CURLING CLUB MEETS TO-NIGHT

An important meeting of the Peterborough Curling Club will be held in the City Council chambers to-night at eight o'clock. All the members are asked to be present, as important matters will be considered. Plans for the season will be talked over and arrangements made for several important matters.

Peteborough to Be Represented

The Orillia Curling Club is holding a grand bonspiel on January 21, 22 and 23. The Peterborough Club has been invited to send representatives and it has been decided to send four or five rinks. They leave for Orillia next Monday morning. D. A. MacNab is secretary of the Orillia club, and excellent prizes are offered in the different competitions.

CURLING

MAKING PREPARATIONS.

The snow is being cleaned off the ice at the old curling rink, and arrangements are being made for the electric lighting. A meeting is being held to-night to decide on the plans for the future.

There are people living a few miles out from Goderich who never witnessed a curling match and certainly have never looked upon a curling stone. Only the other day a newspaperman was told of a conversation that took place between two students, one of whom came from Goderich vicinity, and whose home is about twelve miles from any post office. This youth, along with his more versed companions visited a local curling rink. The youth from the backwoods vicinity was greatly surprised as well as pleased with the rink surroundings, and when told curling was a Scotchman's game he was happier still.

"Is that so? Why, I'm a Scotch, or, at least, my great great grandfather was. But say (pointing to a few curling stones on the ice and around the rink) what do they use all those spittoons with the handles on for?"

Some of the veterans who were standing around and who overheard the remark, commenced to laugh and "haw-haw," and one old devotee of the broom and stane replied in a jocular manner, "Hoot, mon lad an' ye must surely come from Gadshill. Why those kuspidors are not spittoons. They be ordinary stone kettles, and are used to warm the player's cold hands and also put steam into their arms so as to manipulate the "running shots."

Another laugh was heard.

Good Events at Lindsay Races

Lindsay, Jan. 16.—The second day of the Lindsay Trotting Association was a great success, despite the heavy condition of the track and the snowstorm which lasted part of the afternoon. The races were all well contested, and the attendance was good.

Totally Unfounded Report Regarding Former Citizen

No Truth in Rumor That Mr. J. B. McDonald, Late o City Police Force, Was Arrested in Chicago—How the Regrettable Mistake Evidently Arose—Report Has Done Former Worthy Citizen Great Injustice

In the Review of January 6th, there appeared an item to the effect that Mr. J. B. McDonald, a former member of the Peterborough police force, had been arrested in Chicago on the charge of endeavoring to obtain money under false pretences. It appears, so far as the Review has subsequently been able to learn, that there was not one word of truth in the report which was current here, and for which there appears now to have been no reliable foundation.

The paragraph was published in the belief that the information at the time was received from a trustworthy source. It has been found out since that the name mentioned in a despatch was "J. B. MacDougall," styled a former Canadian policeman, and not "MacDonald," and this is evidently how the mistake arose and caused a rumor of a malicious character to be spread against the good name of a former citizen of Peterborough, who is well and favorably known here, and held in high esteem.

Since resigning voluntarily from the police force here, and returning to Chicago, Mr. McDonald has been constantly employed on the west side elevated railroad.

So far as can be ascertained, no Canadian by the name of McDonald has been arrested in Chicago during the past few weeks.

The Review regrets that it has been the victim of an error in regard to a former worthy citizen, and, in justice to Mr. McDonald, gladly corrects a malicious report that apparently arose out of a confusion of names in a despatch from Chicago. If there has been any other motive at the bottom of the slanderous report, the Review is not aware of it.

North Dakota Resident is Home on Visit

Mr. Joseph Lee, a former resident of Peterborough, who is now a resident of Grand Forks, North Dakota, is home on a visit and will spend a few weeks with relatives and friends here. It is three years since Mr. Lee was in Peterborough last, and he is pleased to note that the city is making steady progress. He states that times were pretty hard in Grand Forks a few weeks ago, but that the tide is turning and everything will soon be normal again. The tightness in the money market, which was so much in evidence before the holidays affected Grand Forks seriously, and many of the industrial establishments and wholesale houses laid off a large number of employees. This resulted in hard times for some time, but business is again picking up and the hands are being taken on again.

His Services are Much Appreciated

A Hamilton despatch says: — The congregation of St. Andrew's church last night increased the salary of Rev. J. A. Wilson, formerly assistant pastor of St. Paul's church, Peterborough, from $1,700 to $1,900. The treasurer's statement showed receipts of $5,086, out of which a small balance is left.

The annual meeting of McNab-st. Presbyterian church, of which Rev. Beverley Ketchen, formerly of Peterborough, is pastor, was held last night Donald McPhie presided, and the reports presented showed the church to be in a prosperous condition. Though the growth was not large during the year it was healthy, and the managers' statement showed a balance on the right side. Total receipts were $5,317.95, and after all expenses were paid, there was a balance on hand of $9.99. During the year $1,848.69 was contributed for missionary purposes. The retiring managers—Donald McPhie, Thomas Cook and C. S. Murray—were all re-elected. E. J. Leith was also elected manager.

Election Results in Millbrook

The elections on Monday last created unusual interest and the large vote polled in the Millbrook Local Option contest, says the Millbrook Reporter, was evidence of the interest taken in its adoption on the one hand and its defeat on the other. It was thought by many that the absence of a municipal fight in the village would cause the fervor of the respective parties to abate but such was not the case. From nine o'clock in the morning until the last available vote was safely housed, there was work, aggressive and energetic, in order that victory might be assured. There was the utmost of good feeling, which was a pleasing feature of the contest, no hard words being spoken so far as we know.

The vote was heavy as a reference to the figures below will show, at least twenty-five more than was ever polled before. The local ministers assisted by a committee of energetic laymen put their shoulder to the wheel and with a big push, a steady push, and a united push, they put the majority beyond peradventure. The other side was not without its active workers either and although they went down, they have this to their satisfaction, they left nothing undone. The women turned out to a man, (excuse the Hibernianism) and of course rolled up the majority.

A million dollars has been contributed by a New York man, who refuses to allow his name to be made known, to organize a fight against tuberculosis throughout the state.

A mission from Mulai Hafig, the newly proclaimed Sultan of Morocco, has arrived in Paris. The members announce that the new Sultan has men and money galore, but that all existing foreign treaties will be scrupulously observed by him.

The annual New Year's reception was held at Tsarkoe Selo last evening. For the first time in a number of years, the Empress did not take part in the ceremony on account of illness. She was represented by the Dowager Empress.

FAILED TO TAKE OUT LICENSE

Carter Was Heavily Fined for the Offence—Appeared in Court To-day

Having obtained an express license and having been furnished with a number plate and the said license having expired on November 1st, 1907, Thos. Rebill was fined five dollars and costs amounting to $8.35, for neglecting to renew his license within fifteen days after it had expired and also for failing to return the number plate in good order to the clerk at his office within two days thereafter as required by by-law number three of the Board of the Police Commissioners of the city of Peterborough.

Mr. Rebill appeared before the magistrate this morning and pleaded guilty. His Worship stated that provided that Mr. Rebill gets out a license he needn't pay the fine.

Warkworth, Jan. 17.—At the Liberal convention held here yesterday Mr. F. L. Webb, barrister, Colborne, received the nomination for the House of Commons and Mr. L. F. Clarry, barrister, of Hastings, received the nomination for the Legislature.

Mr. Clarry is a brother of Mr. E. S. Clarry, of Peterborough.

Rousing Meeting of Conservatives

Lakefield Village Should be Transferred to East Riding for Provincial Purposes

An enthusiastic meeting of Conservatives of Lakefield was held on Friday evening, the 10th inst., for the purpose of electing delegates to the nominating conventions for the Dominion Parliament and Provincial Legislature, and other business. Besides a big attendance from the village a large number were present from the adjoining townships and an active interest was displayed by everyone present. The following officers of the local association were elected:

President—Dr. J. R. Fraser.

1st Vice-President—Dr. J. A. Burgess.

2nd Vice-President—R. C. Strickland.

3rd Vice-President—Gerald Fitzgerald.

Secretary—O. A. Langley.

Assistant Secretary—J. W. Ridgmith.

Delegates were appointed to attend the convention at Peterborough, but it was decided to defer appointment of delegates to the convention at Norwood until after the next meeting to be held on call of the president. A motion was adopted unanimously that the Provincial Government be asked to place the village of Lakefield in the Riding of East Peterborough for Provincial elections as it is now for Dominion elections.

On motion of Mr. Langley, the following resolution was carried unanimously: "Resolved, that this meeting of Liberal-Conservatives at Lakefield do express by this resolution its entire confidence in the Hon. J. P. Whitney and his Government, and its hearty approval of the splendid administration of public affairs in this province since that government has come into power; and also its confidence in Mr. R. L. Borden, the Opposition leader in the Commons, and its endorsation of the strenuous attack being made by him and his colleagues against the graft and extravagance now prevalent at Ottawa."

The meeting closed with rousing cheers for the King, Hon. Mr. Whitney, Mr. Borden and Mr. Bradburn.

SAT ON WITH MUCH FORCE

Although the pavements have been carefully sprinkled, there are still a few places where they are quite slippery. Small spots where the sand has worn off make the walking rather precarious here and there, and unless care is exercised by pedestrians frequent falls are likely to be in order.

This afternoon a lady and small boy both sat down on the pavement in front of China Hall, with considerable more force than they would have ordained if the act had been a voluntary one. The little fellow hurt himself somewhat, and cried loudly for a few minutes.

The Man in the Pew Has a Ministry Just As Surely as Has the Man in the Pulpit

Rev. Dr. Kierstead Gives Deeply Interesting and Impressive Address at First Annual Men's Banquet at the Murray Street Baptist Church—Tells What This Ministry is—Mr. J. A. Shenstone, President of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in Ontario and Quebec, Tells of Crying Need of Men and Money to Convert One Thousand Million Heathen.

The laymen's movement in the churches menaces the pre-eminence which the pulpit has hitherto occupied. That is, judging from the large attendance at this first annual men's banquet at the Murray Street Baptist church last night, and the prominence given to "the ministry of the man in the pew" in the admirable addresses of the evening. The occasion was marked by a numerous attendance largely of young men representing the congregation of the church where the assembly was held, and of the Park Street Baptist church and Gilmour Memorial Baptist church congregations. There were also in attendance as evidence of the co-operative spirit existing between the several denominations, the following ministers: Rev. Canon Davidson, St. John's; Rev. E. A. Pearson, George Street Methodist; Rev. Robert Pogue, St. Paul's; Rev. A. H. Keith, Knox; Rev. A. H. Brace, Park Street Baptist; Rev. Mr. Bonner, Gilmour Memorial Baptist, and Rev. Mr. Welsh, Lindsay Baptist church. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's, who was absent on account of illness, forwarded a letter of regret to Dr. Scott. There was also present Mr. J. A. Shenstone, president of the Laymen's Missionary Movement Association, of Ontario and Quebec.

The whole of the basement of the church was filled with tables around which were congregated about one hundred and seventy-five guests, and an excellent repast was prepared and served by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Murray Street Baptist church.

Artistically tasteful programmes of the evening's proceedings were provided for the guests, on the title page of which was described as "Our Guest," Rev. E. M. Keirstead, D.D., who is professor of moral philosophy at McMaster University, Toronto.

Dr. Scott presided as chairman and introduced the toast list by proposing "The King," which was loyally honored with "God Save the King," heartily sung. This was followed by "The Ministers in the Pulpit," neatly proposed by Mr. R. E. Harding and responded to in a felicitiously eloquent and appropriate speech by Rev. Robert Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's. "The Press" was flatteringly proposed by Mr. Vincent Eastwood, city manager of the Royal Bank, and was responded to by Messrs. G. B. Van Blaricom of the Review, and F. R. Yokome of the Examiner.

"Our Guest" was proposed by Mr. T. F. Matthews in a well expressed speech of appreciation. Of course this was drunk with every demonstration of enthusiasm, which was renewed when Rev. Dr. Keirstead arose to reply and to make the speech of the evening on the set subject, "The Ministry of the Pew."

TOASTS AND SPEECHES

In proposing the toast of "The King," Dr. Scott said that Canada should be proud of its King, not only for his personal qualities, but also on account of his relationship to his late revered mother. He heartily welcomed Dr. Keirstead and Mr. Shenstone, and all the other guests present. He made some timely reference to the work of the laymen's movement, and spoke of the commendable character of the work. The loyal subjects of King Edward accordingly sang the national anthem in response to the toast, and drank His Majesty's health.

Mr. R. E. Harding then proposed "The Ministers in the Pulpit," and in making the speech mentioned some things that have happened in connection with church matters in 1907. The ministers are loved and respected by Christian men and women, as was shown by the attendance at the banquet. Many ministers had come and gone during the past year. Their departure was to be regretted, and those who came to the city were most welcome.

The lot of the preacher is a difficult one. How often he is criticised. The speaker did not believe that all criticisms were prompted by unkind motives. Here he made some jocular remarks concerning the proverbial long sermon. The day when the priest says do not look at my life but do as I tell you, is no longer. The hero of today is the man with a message that he knows to be true and a message that he lives. The toast evidently touched a responsive chord, and it was warmly drunk.

Rev. R. Pogue, in making the reply, kept the audience in convulsions by his lighter remarks, and in more serious mood told of the relation that should exist between a minister and his congregation. He said he felt like the minister who had left his notes at home. He had had no idea that the occasion would be as great a one as it was. He spoke of the work of the minister in the pulpit, dwelling on the various phases of the matter. The true minister is a man with a great distinction of mind, and therefore he is an ambassador of God. The great ministry that a minister can render is to enlist the services of the men in the pew.

A selection was next sung by a quartette consisting of Messrs. Raddon, Miller, Cunningham, and Hooker, and was heartily applauded.

Mr. Vincent Eastwood was characteristic in this recognition of the press and told of its power for good in the community. He said he should be a man of inextinguishable eloquence to fittingly propose the toast, and remarked upon the proud position of the press in Canada.

The editors of the local evening papers replied.

Mr. Matthews made some interesting remarks in proposing the toast of the evening—"Our Guest," whom he eulogized in glowing terms. He said that many of the most successful Canadian professional and business men came from the Maritime Provinces, the home of Dr. Keirstead. He also made a defence of the ministers against the sometimes too critical remarks of their listeners. Needless to say, the toast to "Our Guest" was honored in a very enthusiastic way.

("The Ministry of the Man in the Pew.")

Dr. Kierstead said when he came to the banquet he had ideas which he thought had vanished in the interest he had taken in the proceedings. However, it was soon obvious that his impressions in that respect were not well founded, for he delivered an address that was marked by fine thought, pure ideals and an eloquent and sympathetic rendition.

In his opening remarks he expressed his appreciation at having been given the honor of speaking before such a gathering, and bespoke his gratitude for the kindness shown him during the time he had been in Peterborough.

There is a ministry for the men in the pew. By ministry we mean that the one who ministers is in a subordinate place, but has a function to perform and if he doesn't perform it his standing is lost. It is a glory for the man in the pew to have a ministry. Jesus passes His word to mankind. The word is near the soul. The glory that was given to Christ passes on to us.

There is a real ministry in the deepest part of our soul, and ministry involves self-surrender. Jesus surrendered Himself. If we say "no" just from the habit of saying no, we lose our real power.

"Self-surrender," said the speaker, "is the key to progress and power."

The spirit of self-surrender, of obedience, of readiness to respond to command has been in our race. It is the ministry of the man in the pew to surrender, and when there is a general surrender there is a vision of the Highest, which leaves its mark upon us all.

Then there is self-sacrifice. The mother is an example of one who can lay claim to self-sacrifice. The speaker, in beautiful language, spoke of the divine source of the transcendent influence of woman in this world, and of the sublimity of motherhood. Self-sacrifice is the source of woman's power. There is no influence in the world that is so fragrant as that of a pure life. And men as well as women are called upon to live pure lives.

For many generations the ministers have been led like lambs to the slaughter. For a long time they and their families had to live lives of hardship and did without a dollar. But at last the laymen are realizing that ministers really need the tangible and material things of life.

There are schools and seminaries that teach men how to preach, but is there any school to teach the people that hear? The high mission is to be able to hear. We hear many things in the world. When we come to church we hear the minister. But what is there behind what he is saying? Is Christ Himself not behind it? Look down and see the result of the message he delivers, and we look back to the time Moses gave the children of Israel the commandments.

The speaker referred to the necessity of having the power of adoration. We must not lose the power to adore. If we cease to adore we lose the power to grow.

"Let us follow the minister's lead of worship," he said, "and fall down and pray when the word comes. That is the ministry of the pew." All our efforts should not be confined to words. The endeavor must go with them. The word must become a force. The minister gives the word; the men in the pew must spread it throughout the world.

The message of Christ, the thought of Christ, and the gospel of Christ must be carried out. We have in making these ethical forces dominant, the true power. The ministry of the man in the pew is the ministry of nothing less than Christianity. There is no philosophy that can compare with the gospel of Jesus Christ. Antagonism is but a proof of its genuineness. It brings together men of all stations and power of intellect. Where is there any force that can be compared with it? Where is there anything that has the high moral standing of the gospel? The power of the church can only be exercised by the men in the pew.

In conclusion Dr. Keirstead congratulated those responsible for the success of the opening banquet, and said the raising of the standard of morality, even at one gathering, would have a widespread sympathetic influence.

When he resumed his seat he was greeted with the loudest and prolonged applause by a grateful audience.

MR. SHENSTONE SPEAKS.

Mr. Shenstone said he didn't think it was necessary for him to say very much concerning the laymen's missionary movement. The message in this respect had been comprehensively delivered by Rev. J. A. McDonald on his visit here. The meeting at which the movement started was held in New York about a year ago. It was simply a prayer meeting at which inspiration came for the establishment of the movement.

The predominating spirit of commercialism makes men selfish and egotistical in spite of the awful fact that millions are living godless lives. There were on earth 400,000,000 Christians as against 1,000,000,000 who knew nothing of Christ. Throughout the globe there are 13,000 missionaries. Missionary work is costing $22,000,000, representing the combined giving of all Christians. It has been estimated that it takes $2 to reach one heathen and at that rate it would take one hundred years for the present force of missionaries to reach them. It has been decided to increase the number of missionaries to 40,000.

The speaker referred to the magnificent work of missionaries of different denominations and of the obligation of the people of Ontario and Quebec to provide means for evangelizing the million and a half people of Telegu Land in India. They have this work in hand, and it is their serious duty to see it is performed. There is a deficit of about $20,000 in funds of the Home and Foreign Missions requiring $6,000 interest, and taking the revenue from seventy-five churches to pay it. There are 500 places in northwestern Canada where Baptist churches could be planted without interfering with any other denominations. The speaker said enthusiasm, men and capital were needed in the great fields of mission labor.

Mr. Downham moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Kerstead and Mr. Steuser for their addresses. Mr. Lillie seconded the motion and told of the benefits Dr. Kierstead's powerful remarks had done him.

Although it was not on the programme Mr. Ernest Best said no respecting banquet could close without a toast to the ladies, and he proposed their health and happiness in one of the brightest speeches of the evening.

THE COMMITTEE IN CHARGE.

The committee in charge to whom the greatest praise is due for the success of the occasion was Dr. Scott, chairman; Messrs. B. A. Lillie, secretary; Rev. J. R. Webb, V. Eastwood, P. Downham, P. White, Jas. Elliott, T. F. Matthews, J. Riddell, Dr. Brewett, W. J. Dunlop, George Cochrane and W. Shirer.

Great credit is due the Ladies' Aid for the sumptuous spread they provided and the excellent manner in which they looked after the wants of their guests. The men of the church are also thankful to those firms who supplied materials for decorative purposes, and to Mr. T. E. Towsley of Turnbull & Co. for the efficient way in which he arranged the decorations.

Peterboro' Talent Was Appreciated

Messrs. Bennett and McLaren Scored a Decided Hit at Newcastle

Newcastle, Ont., paper to hand contains the following of local interest:

The congregation of St. John's R. C. church are to be congratulated upon the very successful entertainment given in the Music Hall last Friday night according to previous announcements. The chair was taken about 8 o'clock by Rev. M. O'Leary, who, after explaining the object of the gathering in a neat little speech, called upon Mr. Bennett, of Peterborough, who rendered in excellent style, "The Poet and the Peasant," the first of a series of sweet instrumentals he favored the assembly with in addition to his yeoman service in accompanying "Peterborough's humorist," Mr. Wm. McLaren, in his dozen or more selections, in each and all of which he made such a decided hit that we can easily understand how he and Mr. Bennett are so much appreciated by the concert-goers in their city; and without doubt they will have the pleasure of revisiting this burg and possibly Bowmanville too at no distant date. Mrs. Barren, whose elocutionary powers are well known and always appreciated by a Newcastle audience, gave a couple of her choice selections, which met with hearty applause, and fairly divided the honors of the evening with Mr. Walter G. Craig, elocutionist, of Port Hope. This was Mr. Craig's first appearance in Newcastle, and now that the ice has been broken between us there is no doubt from the very favorable impression left by him upon his auditors by his exceptional powers in caricature, that our citizens will be privileged to hear him again upon some future occasion. Two interesting interludes took place during the progress of the evening—the former, the drawing for the five-dollar gold coin, and the latter, that for the Christmas cake. In bringing the event to a close Rev. Mr. O'Leary referred to the disagreeable weather and the counter attractions at Orono and other places and thanked the large gathering for their presence, attention and hearty support.

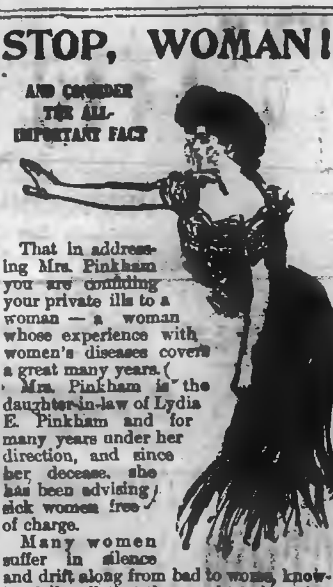
Annual Meeting This Evening

Astronomical Society Will Elect Officers—Dr. Marsh to Speak

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Astronomical Society will be held in the green room of the Y.M.C.A. tonight. Rev. Dr. Marsh, the president will speak on "The Giant of the Skies—Jupiter." The report of some observations made with the telescope by Mr. H. B. Collier, and also a report of the recent reception in Toronto to certain members of the society, and of a visit to the observatory will be given. Officers will be elected tonight and a full attendance is requested.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT



That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman — a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it "I do not believe it will help me."

Bucket Brigade Did Good Work

Former Peterboro' Man Assisted in Putting Out Fire at Coboconk

A Coboconk despatch says:—A very serious conflagration was narrowly averted yesterday by the faithful discharge of duty by the firemen, Mr. Caster, in charge of the Coboconk railway engine. While attending to his usual night duties he detected an unusual smell of smoke, and on going outside to scrutinize the horizon, he discovered a fierce fire raging at Mr. George Richmond's general store. He immediately sounded the engine whistle, and informed Mr. Jackson, who is the captain of the bucket brigade (which is quite out of date.) The train crew, hearing their engine whistle at such an unusual hour, left their beds and rushed out in the freezing air to render aid. Our fire brigade was first on the scene. The train crew, consisting of Conductor G. H. Adam, formerly of Peterborough, Engineer Dayman, Fireman Wakelin, and Brakesman Geo. Dickerson and Pat McCann, did excellent service with a pail brigade.

Amid the rush of pails and noise of pumps, the poor women and children could be heard, some screaming, others praying. After struggling for an hour or so the fire was got under control. A vote of thanks was awarded to the Captain, Mr. E. Jackson, and his willing helpers. All agree that had the firemen been asleep, instead of awake, the results would vhave been disastrous to Coboconk.

Peterboro' Party Leaving on Trip

They Will Visit Egypt, Palestine, Algiers and Other Ancient Countries

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Miss Laura Davidson and the Misses Bella and Emma Morrow will leave in a few days on an extended tour to the Madeira Islands, Spain, Gibraltar, Algiers, Morocco, Malta, Palestine, Jerusalem, Egypt, Rome, Greece, Switzerland and other world-famed points. They will sail from New York in a couple of weeks and will be away four months.

Mr. Matthews has been granted a well earned holiday by the George Matthews Company, after twenty-five years' faithful service, and many friends will join in wishing him and the lady members of the party an enjoyable sojourn and a safe return.

DIED

GRUBBE.—At 5 Chepstow Place, Bayswater, London W., England, on the 24th day of December, 1907, Edward Walter Grubbe, youngest son of the late John Grubbe, Esquire, of "Horsendon Manor," Buckinghamshire, England, and "Falconwood" and 'Holland Park," Prince Edward Island, Canada, in his eighty-eighth year. The late Mr. Grubbe was an uncle of Mr. R. W. Grubbe, of this city.

At a meeting of the congregation of Knox Presbyterian church, Hamilton, last night, a claim was received from Rev. Dr. Nelson, a former pastor, for $600 arrears of salary, the minister claiming that before he came to Hamilton he had been promised $3,- a year, and only received $2,500, but the claim was not allowed.

The Thaw Trial Proceeds; Harry Thaw's Crazy Order

Sent 84 Pounds of Beef to Evelyn For Breakfast.

Prisoner's Mother Arrives In New York—Wrote Teacher Years Ago Regarding Her Son's Sanity—Former Teacher Gives Evidence—White Threatened to Kill Thaw, Says Theatre Doorkeeper.

New York, Jan. 17.—The non-arrival of important witnesses, who are hurrying to New York by steamer and train, caused an abandonment of the afternoon session yesterday and cut the morning sitting down to two hours. Mr. Littleton, counsel for the defence, announced that he would hurry the case along as rapidly as possible. It was explained that all evidence has to do with Thaws of the past several years should be before the medical expert arrived to the stand to express a scientific opinion as to the defendant's mental condition at the time he killed Stanford White.

Mrs. William Thaw, mother of the accused, arrived from Pittsburg yesterday, and if strong enough may take the stand to-day. She had been ill for more than a month and at one time it was feared she would not be able to attend the trial at all. Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw will not be offered as a witness until some time next week. All of the indications so far have been that District Attorney Jerome will make a desperate fight to have her testimony ruled out this year. Counsel for the defence are confident, however, that it will be allowed to go in, now that they have entered a formal specification of insanity in connection with the plea of not guilty.

The elder Mrs. Thaw figured indirectly in the evidence taken yesterday. In 1881 the master of the little Pennsylvania school where her son was a pupil was identified by the master and read to the jury. It told of the mother's great anxiety over the conduct of her son and the fear she entertained that his mind even then was unbalanced. The schoolmaster, 79 years old, was an impressive witness. He is Abraham R. Beck, an uncle of former Assistant Attorney-General James W. Beck, and he related many incidents which led him to the conclusion that young Thaw undoubtedly was irrational. The former assistant attorney-general was a spectator at the trial.

Benjamin Boman, formerly doorkeeper of the Madison Square Theatre, where Evelyn Nesbitt played in "A Girl from Dixie" in 1903, repeated the story he told at the first trial, of a threat made by Stanford White to find and kill Thaw before daylight.

One of Thaw's eccentricities, which it is said soon will be testified to, was the sending of 84 pounds of beef to Evelyn Nesbitt one morning when she was ill. The attorneys have the receipts for it.

WOULD DIE FOR THAW.

All He Wants Is Two Million Dollars For His Family.

New York, Jan. 17.—One of the 2,000 strange letters which have been received by Mrs. Evelyn Thaw since Harry K. Thaw's trial began, which was made public yesterday, contained an offer from an Ohio man to substitute himself for Thaw, and, if necessary, be executed. The writer imposed the consideration that his family be paid $2,000,000 as soon as the proposed substitution is complete. His letter covered 600 pages. He declared that he was a double of the prisoner in appearance and could take Thaw's place in his cell by visiting him in prison in disguise.

The writer, whose name was not made public, said he had no special desire in regard to life, was not afraid to die, but made the offer in order to provide for his family. The letter was coherently written.

Agricultural Day With Legislators at Ottawa

Needs of Farmers Discussed in House of Commons.

Mr. Sifton Heard For First Time This Session—Osler Doesn't Approve of Spoon Feeding — Bill to Hasten Writs For Bye-Elections—Revenue of the Yukon—The French Treaty Again.

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—The question of meeting the needs of the farmers of the Northwest for seed grain in view of the damage to the crop last season, was discussed in the House yesterday afternoon, nearly every western member and some Ontario men being heard. It was brought up by Clifford Sifton, this being the first time he has spoken this session.

R. L. Borden introduced a bill to amend the revised statutes of Canada, 1906. He explained its object is to make provision for the automatic issue of a writ for a bye-election within a reasonable time after the vacancy occurs.

In reply to Mr. Foster, the Finance Minister said the total Dominion revenue of the Yukon from March 31 to June 30, 1907, was $152,905; the expenditures were, on consolidated account, $19,481; on capital account, $104,257.

Sir Frederick Borden, replying to Mr. Reid (Grenville) said nineteen acres of the Plains of Abraham were leased to the Ross Rifle Co. on May 27, 1902, for ninety-nine years at $1 a year, without power to assign or sublet. He had no knowledge that the scheme to beautify the plains would involve the expropriation of these leased lands.

Necessity for Seed Wheat.

Mr. Sifton, on the orders of the day being called, arose to direct attention of the Government to the necessity of meeting the demand for seed grain in the Northwest, and he did not wish to be understood as saying the position of the people of Saskatchewan was a serious one. All things considered, they were in excellent shape, which was a tribute to the agricultural possibilities of the country. In considerable sections of the province wheat had suffered from frost. A large portion of the province was ready for seeding operations, but unless some steps were taken by the Government a large area would not be seeded at all, and perhaps the balance would be seeded with inferior seed. Mr. Sifton thought the situation called for some action, and he understood a member of the Provincial Parliament would be in Ottawa in a few days to arrange for meeting the difficulty. It might be advisable for the authorities to make arrangements for temporary advances, which could be distributed by the Provincial Governments.

Mr. Lake (Conservative, Qu'Appelle) thought the situation was quite as serious with regard to oats. It had been Mr. Lake's intention to move that the Government make advances of money for the distribution of seed grain. This course had many advantages over the distribution of grain itself.

Dr. Cash (Liberal, MacKenzie, Man.) said wheat in his district was so badly frozen that none was shipped out last season.

Mr. Greenway (Liberal, Lisgar) said there was plenty of seed in Manitoba to supply the wants of the western provinces. The grain crops of last year yielded farmers $40,000,000. He heartily supported the suggestion.

Mr. Staples (Conservative, Manitoba) asked the Government to provide for the needs of the northern part of his province. Deal with all provinces alike, he said.

Mr. McIntyre (Liberal, Strathcona, Alta.) and Mr. Herron (Conservative, Alberta) supported the suggestion of Mr. Sifton, and then some of the Ontario members took a hand in the suggestion. Col. Sam Hughes, Dr. Sproule and E. B. Osler spoke. Dr. Sproule suggested that wheat distributed should be properly tested. Mr. Osler objected to the Government spoon feeding any class of people. If the Government advanced money directly it would be difficult matter to collect, and he thought farmers could be financed through a trust company, the matter being treated as a purely business proposition.

Mr. McCraney (Liberal, Rosthern, Sask.) said in his district farmers did not need any seed grain.

Mr. Jackson (Selkirk, Man.) would not advise a direct loan to farmers. Some years ago the Government had made a loan to farmers of Manitoba, and $30,000 of this money had not been repaid.

George Taylor (Conservative, Leeds) said the Government should confine its attention to the inspection of the seed supplied farmers.

Dr. Schaffner (Conservative, Souris, Man.) said there has been no demand for seed grain as far as he had heard. Mr. Sifton might have furnished some data.

Who Brought the Frost?

Mr. Knowles (Liberal, Saskatchewan) attributed the early frost in the west to the tour of the Opposition leader, but Mr. Borden said the frost occurred two weeks before his visit, about the time the Minister of the Interior made his tour.

Dr. Roche (Conservative, Marquette, Man.) and M. S. McCarthy (Conservative, Calgary, Alta.) also took part in the discussion.

Hon. Frank Oliver demonstrated the importance of seeding as large an area as possible. On the whole there had been a fairly good crop, but in patches frost had done considerable damage. The matter of affording relief to farmers of Saskatchewan had been discussed with the Provincial Governments, but the question of responsibility that should be assessed by each Government had not been decided. As to the suggestion that there might be political advantage in dealing with the question, Mr. Oliver feared the advantage would be with the Opposition, owing to the difficulty of pleasing everybody.

R. L. Borden closed the discussion. He approved the suggestion and was sure no attempt would be made to secure political advantage out of the question. He was prepared to support the Government in any reasonable solution of the difficulty. The matter then dropped, and Mr. Bennett (Simcoe) brought up the question of custody of original papers produced before public accounts committee Wednesday. He asked that certain papers from the Public Works Department be produced, but was given no opportunity to examine them, as instructions had been given officers, in whose charge they were, to return them to the Department as soon as the committee adjourned. In order to inspect the papers, Mr. Bennett, who was examining the witnesses, would have to ask the committee to wait, and he wanted to know if this was to be the rule in future.

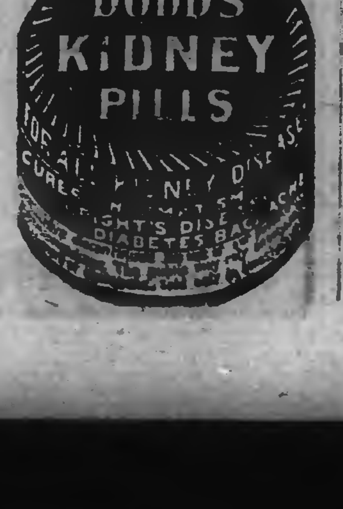
Sir Wilfrid said he would consult with the Minister of Public Works and give an answer to-day.

To a somewhat thin House Mr. Brodeur, who, with the Finance Minister, negotiated the French treaty, last night, proceeded to explain further the importance of the treaty, not only from the point of view of commercial advantage, but from that also of sentimentality. Mr. Brodeur spent some time in disputing the assertion that the Franco-Canadian treaty of 1893 had been negotiated by Sir Charles Tupper.

Mr. Brodeur thought that there was still a chance of reductions in the present duty, he hoped that there would be an increased trade in apples, but in reply to a question by E. D. Smith of Wentworth he admitted the duty had not been changed, and last year's export was only $50,000. He said a member of the Opposition from Montreal had been trying to stir up opposition to the treaty.

Mr. Ames, who was referred to, replied that he had simply asked his constituents for their opinion, as he was entitled to do.

In conclusion Mr. Brodeur urged the sentimental consideration for adoption of the treaty, as well as the effect its means would have in building up the trade of Canadian ports.



NO SERVICES FOR THE DEAD.

Boyertown Clergymen Prostrated—Many Unidentified Bodies.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 17.—This little borough, which lost one-fifteenth of its population in the opera house horror Monday night, turned to the task of burying its dead. Because of the condition of most of the bodies, the borough authorities have asked the bereaved relatives to bury the dead within three days. There was a slight hitch in the work of removing bodies from the morgues by order of Coroner Strasser. This was due to a mix-up in the identification of the body of a boy. There were three claimants for the body and all appeared before the coroner for permission to remove it. Each one was positive that the body was the one they were looking for.

There is not a clergyman in town able to conduct funeral services.

The borough has decided to buy eight lots for the burial of the unidentified dead.

Postoffice Robbed.

Highland Creek, Jan. 17.—Late Wednesday night thieves obtained an entrance to the postoffice here and secured $30 in cash and a registered letter. High Constable Ramsden was notified at once, and Provincial Constable Burns is working on the case. There have been a number of attempts made at robbery in different parts of the county recently, though for the most part unsuccessfully.

On Tuesday night two men were caught by Postmaster Kennedy of Agincourt in an attempt to obtain entrance to his store at that place. They had removed a large pane of glass when detected. They were pursued by Mr. Kennedy for some distance, but escaped.

Fight Fire With Snowballs.

Johnstown, Pa., Jan. 17.—Probably the most remarkable manner of extinguishing fire occurred yesterday at Poswell, a mining town near here, when hundreds of men, women, boys and girls saved the town from destruction by throwing snowballs. The town has no fire department and water is scarce. The flames had gained much headway and in a big engine was stored sufficient powder to blow up the village. As a last resource practically the entire population began throwing snowballs by thousands made from soft wet snow, and after a time prevented the fire from destroying the village.

Noted Oculist Poisoned.

Binghamton, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Dr. F. M. Michaels, an oculist of national reputation, is dying as the result of ptomaine poisoning, from eating a portion of cold storage chicken.

Found Dead on Barn Floor.

Southampton, Jan. 17.—About 12 o'clock Wednesday night John France found Norman Shoemaker, manager of the Commercial Hotel stables, dead on the barn floor.

McGill is Blamed by Directors

Statement of Defence Filed in Action Against Old Bank Board

The statement of defence in the action of the Ontario Bank against the ex-directors was filed yesterday.

Each of the defendants, George R. R. Cockburn, Donald McKay, R. D. Perry, Richard Harcourt, Rulifr Grass, Thomas Walmsley and John Flett, denies all the allegations of misfeasance, want of care, and negligence on his part contained in the plaintiff's claim. They also say that they in good faith believed that the profits earned by the bank justified the payment of dividends, and that none of them knowingly or wilfully concurred in the declaration or payment of any dividends in impairment of the paid-up capital of the bank."

McGILL ALSO RESPONSIBLE.

The defendants say that if moneys of the plaintiff were invested in the speculative purchase of stocks, on margin, they had not, nor had any of them notice or knowledge thereof, and the general manager was alone responsible therefor.

All representations made by them to the shareholders as to the value of the assets were made in entire good faith in reliance on information furnished in the ordinary course of business by the general manager and other officers, and they say they were not guilty of any breach of duty in respect of any of the matters referred to.

If any moneys of the plaintiff were unlawfully expended in the purchase of shares of the capital stock of the bank none of the defendants had any notice or knowledge of such expenditure, and they claim that they cannot be held responsible for any losses arising therefrom.

McGILL'S COMPETENCE.

The defendants say that a competent general manager was employed to supervise the affairs of the bank. The said manager was selected for his well known integrity and general approved ability to discharge the duties of his office, and the said defendants had implicit confidence in the ability experience, and integrity of said general manager, and in good faith relied upon the statement of the bank's affairs from time to time, prepared by him, as also upon his representations as to the assets and liabilities and the securities held by the said bank, and these defendants say that any impairment of capital of said bank, and all losses in respect of which it is sought to hold these defendants liable in this action, were owing to the misrepresentation and concealment of the said general manager and of the deception practised by him on said defendants, and as to which none of them acquired notice or knowledge until just prior to the suspension of said bank, and each of said defendants says that he was not guilty of any breach of duty in connection with any of the matters referred to in the statement of claim.

Found a Pearl in the Oysters

Peterborough Man Made Somewhat Unusual Discovery

A local man has had his faith increased in the lines of the "Gingerbread Man" song, which says that "Every oyster has its little pearl." On Wednesday night while eating oysters at his boarding house his teeth grated on something hard, and he discovered that he was the finder of a good sized pearl. It is about the eighth of an inch in diameter and is worth considerable, enough to pay for the oyster supper at any rate. The gentleman in question is too modest to allow his name to be mentioned, but he has the pearl alright.

MIX THIS YOURSELF

Easily Prepared at Small Cost and Many Swear by It.

Mix the following by shaking well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. A local druggist is the authority that these simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from any good prescription pharmacy.

The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged and inactive Kidneys, overcoming Backache, Bladder weakness and Urinary trouble of all kinds, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination, especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial, as it is said to do wonders for many persons.

More Deer Killed Than Last Season

Returns of the number of carcasses of deer carried from the hunting grounds of Ontario by the express companies have been received by Mr Edwin Tinsley, Superintendent of Game and Fisheries. In all the companies handled 3,886 deer as compared with 3,310 last season. Before the close of the hunting season the Dominion Express Company transported the heads of 117 moose. These figures by no means represent the slaughtered deer and moose in 1907, for they did not include the animals killed by settlers or hunters living near the haunts of the game.

Slight Drop in C.G.E. Stock

Toronto, Jan. 16.—Canadian General Electric and San Paulo were weak and unsteady today, while the balance of the list for the most part, was steady at somewhat reduced figures.

General Electric, which, for the past week, has been considerably over par, going as high as 108, at which point many sales were made, opened at 99, and then oscillated between 98 and 96, three transactions being recorded around noon at 97.

Engine Ran Off Track at Port Hope

Train Due Here at 8.20 This Morning Was Delayed over an Hour

Owing to the engine of the Port Hope train running off the switch just as it was leaving Port Hope this morning, it did not arrive in Peterborough until ten minutes to ten, an hour and twenty minutes behind scheduled time. Those intending to take the 8.20 G.T.R. for Toronto this morning were sadly disappointed when they got to the depot and found that it would be over an hour before their train would be in. The waiting rooms were filled with patient travellers, who viewed the situation in the best light.

The engine was got back on the track without the assistance of the auxiliary, and it made exceedingly good time once it got started.

Band to-night at Street Railway Rink.

Annual Meeting Children's Aid

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society will be held in the City Council chamber next Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

An address will be delivered by Mr. J. J. Kelso, superintendent of the neglected and dependent children of Ontario, reports presented, officers elected, etc.

ATOMIZERS

A poor Atomizer is a most annoying thing when you need it most. It is often out of order.

We keep the De Vilbe's Atomizer in all their grades. Their strength and simplicity make them very satisfactory to use.

We have a splendid line of Hot Water Bottles, Fountain Syringes and Combination Bottle and Syringe at reasonable prices.

Quality guaranteed.

Budget of News From Hall's Glen

Hall's Glen, Jan. 17.—Mr. H. Dodds is gradually recovering from his severe illness.

Messrs. A. Darling and D. Little are busily employed these times doing their chores and getting out a bit of wood.

Wm. Carveth has accepted the terms and has contracted to supply the year's wood to the Zion church. He has already commenced hauling the wood.

Sunday's storm was the worst known in the village for years. Business in general was tied up completely until Tuesday, when the roads and streets were cleared.

Walter and Willie are carrying on a lumbering business this season which will surprise the villagers here. They are not employing as many men as might be expected, but are certain of higher profits in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Batten recently returned from their visit among their many friends in Paisley and elsewhere. The trip was much enjoyed and Mr. Batten will again push the interests of the Massey-Harris Co. with greater determination to exceed even his past record.

Visit the Turnbull Co's. White Sale. 10 to 20 per cent. can be saved on Sheetings, Pillow Cottons, Tablings, Towellings, etc. 2d

DELEGATES FROM JUNIOR CHAPTER

Masters Frank Halpany and Hugh Burritt left this morning for Brockville as delegates for Junior Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. John's church. The Eastern Ontario Brotherhood convention is being held there to-day and Saturday and Sunday. It is expected that over 100 delegates will be in attendance.

AMUSEMENTS

THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST

A highly creditable presentation of David Belasco's play, "The Girl of the Golden West," was given by the Stoddart Stock Company at the Grand Opera House. This is the play in which Blanche Bates, the celebrated American actress, scored her signal success. It deals with Western life as it really exists, and the story told is a most interesting one. The different parts were splendidly taken and the large audience time after time expressed its hearty appreciation. The specialties were of the high order set by the Stoddart Company.

Tonight Hall Caine's masterpiece, "The Christian," will be presented. A crowded house should be on hand.

Interest is Deepening in Allan In Meetings at St. Andrew's

The Noted Scotch Evangelist Gave Eloquent Address Last Night—Singing is Bright Feature of the Services—The Departments of Christian Life.

It is quite manifest that the meetings in connection with St. Andrew's special services are growing in interest.

Last night there was an excellent congregation and the singing was hearty. The sacred solos rendered by Mr. Duncan Campbell and Mr. G. W. Mulligan were particularly inspiring.

Mr. Allan's address was most lucid, eloquent and convincing. Mark x., 9: "What therefore God hath joined together let not man put asunder." Prof. Rabbi Duncan, a worthy servant of God, used to say that he found it hard sometimes to get hold of Christ, but in his pessimism he said that he got hold of Christ by one handle, and he as a sinner knew that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, and he knew that from Christ he could not be cut asunder.

Mr. Allan applied the text to four great departments of Christian life.

1. Prayer. The Old Testament definition of prayer is found in Numbers, 7, 89, where we are given a description of a divine telephone. Moses went into the sanctuary to speak to God. . . and God spake to him. "Is prayer to every Christian as real as this?" asked Mr. Allan. The New Testament definition is found in the words of Christ, "Ask and ye shall receive, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you." The law of prayer is as infallible as the law of electricity. The law of prayer is asking, taking and saying — thank you. Take Christ at His word, I. John 2, 12, "Your sins are forgiven." What is the secret of the Marconi system? Both transmitter and receiver are turned to the same key note. So prayer. The key note is "I came to do Thy will." In the nine-fold power of the spirit we find that love is the first, and the last is temperance. The Greek word is enchrakeia—power within to fight against all evil and sin. If you are obedient to the law of God we shall have power to live the life He wants.

2. Mr. Allan then applied the text to the realm of Sin. Proverbs 28, "He that covereth his sin shall not prosper, but he that confesseth and forsaketh his sins shall have mercy." Henry Drummond tells the story of a doctor who had attended the meetings and his conscience became troubled. He had been dishonest in his examination, and until he confessed he could not enjoy peace. Dr. Drummond communicated privately with the secretary of the Senatus and found that the student had made excellent papers in all other branches and forgiveness was freely bestowed.

3. The text was also applied to the fact of Salvation. Forgiveness is conditional on conversion and forsaking our sins. God is faithful and just to forgive us our sin, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. This is the new heredity. A poor fellow claimed that he could not live right because of tainted blood. His grandfather had been an awful slave to drink. But he was led to see that whereas in Adam all die—in Christ all are made alive.

4. Mr. Allan closed by reference to the realm of faith. By an interesting illustration he showed the difference between belief and trust, and urged upon his hearers the wisdom of not only believing about Christ and accepting truth, but to accept Him as a personal Saviour and confess Him. "If thou shalt believe in thine heart and confess with thine mouth."

Mr. Scriver and Mr. F. C. Freeland will sing at to-night's meeting.

Numerous Items of Interest From the Parish of St. Luke's

St. Luke's Parish Church Work contains the following references of much local interest:

"Alderman" Turner is the new title that our esteemed lay reader is to be addressed by.

This Christmas season brought a good many of our former parishioners back to the parental roof. We were glad to see at church Messrs. Harry Rogers, Claude Rogers, Hugh McWha, Warner Tighe, A. E. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Gaskin, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Curtis, Mrs. Frank Scott, the Misses E. Pakenham, Helen Deane, Lena Deane, Marion Deane, Lenti Rogers, Winifred Courtney, A. Revell and Mrs. G. W. Nichols.

The rector is much indebted to Mr. Arthur Kingdon, who very kindly assists him by taking the cottage meeting in the country. During the cold weather the rector is forbidden by his physician to expose himself to the night-air.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kraut are spending the winter in Ashburnham, at the residence of Mrs. Kraut's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Scott.

We extend a hearty welcome back again to Mrs. and Miss Hickey, who after six years' absence from St. Luke's, have returned to their former parish church.

The rector wishes to thank the congregation of St. Luke's for the general Christmas offering presented to him.

Mr. Wm Gibbs has purchased the blacksmith and carpenter business hitherto carried on by Mr. Stanger. We wish Mr. Gibbs every possible success in his new enterprise, and we bespeak for him the support of our friends and readers in a business in which he has obtained a highly reputed mark of efficiency.

The Ladies' Aid have begun their regular meetings, which are held every Wednesday at 2.30. We hope that many will join their membership and help in a work which is purely parochial and deserving of united support. The ladies have made arrangements for a Shredded Wheat banquet, which will be held on Shrove Tuesday, March 3, in the Ashburnham town hall.

There is much poverty in our midst and much relief might be given to many deserving poor, if the people who are blessed by God with enough and to spare would provide the rector with the funds and goods necessary to distribute help.

We congratulate Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons upon having received first prize for their exhibit at the Industrial Fair held in Toronto last August.

The Mission at Nassau is progressing very encouragingly. The people have requested the rector to organize a congregation with its officers. A Sunday School will also be organized. An organ has been purchased which is nearly paid for.

A new vesper hymn is being practised by the choir, which will shortly be sung at eventide. Its words are as follows:

"Part in peace; Christ's life was peace,
Let us live our life in Him;
Part in peace; Christ's death was peace,
Let us die our death in Him,
Part in peace; Christ promise gave,
Of a life beyond the grave.
Where all mortal partings cease:
Brethren, sisters, part in peace."
Amen.

The rector has heard from Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Warde, who are now in Vancouver, in sending a large contribution to the church. Mr. Warde intimated that he and his wife expected to be home again in the beginning of March.

Mr. Harold Hatley, who for 13 months has been in Peterborough and a member of St. Luke's choir, has gone to Orillia.

We were glad to see Mr. Gordon Butcher in church on Christmas Day. He spent the holidays at home.

The many friends of Mr. George Mackey will be pleased to learn of his marriage to Miss Johnson, of Kingston, which happy event was solemnized in Lipton, Alta., the week before Christmas. Mr. Mackey is a school teacher, and has met with remarkable success in his work. We tender him and his bride our hearty congratulations.

Rev. J. C. Davidson received from several members of his congregation $175 for helping the poor; of this there was one cheque for $100. "He that helpeth the poor, lendeth to the Lord."

Belleville is Visfted With An Epidemic of Smallpox

There is about sixteen cases of smallpox at Belleville. The disease is of a mild type, however.

A cottage on the outskirts of the city has been transformed into an isolation hospital and a special nursing staff, including a physician from Toronto, has been engaged to look after the treatment of the patients. The epidemic has been prevalent for about five weeks past and is the first time in years that Belleville has had one of any size. Several patients who have been under treatment have left the hospital completely cured.

Every precaution has been taken by the civic authorities to prevent the spread of the disease and there is absolutely no danger of infection to visitors to the city.

OBITUARY

THOS. STOTHART.

The death occurred last night at 12 o'clock of Thos. Stothart, an old and highly respected resident of Smith. The deceased passed away at his late home on the third concession of Smith after a lengthy illness. The late Mr. Stothart was 71 years of age and was born in Peterborough county, where he had always resided. He was universally known and highly esteemed for his many excellent traits of character. He was unmarried and was a faithful member of St. Paul's church.

Two brothers and two sisters are left to mourn his loss. They are Messrs. John and James and Misses Mary and Ellen all residing at home.

The funeral will take place on Monday at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 3rd concession of Smith, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Mrs. Isabella J., relict of the late G. P. Rogers, of Montreal, is dead, aged 68.

FOUND TO BE INSANE

Alonzo Phillips is insane? That is the opinion of the two physicians, Drs Caldwell and Greer, who gave a report as to his mental condition this morning to County Police Magistrate Edmison. He appeared before the magistrate on the charge of insanity and non-support, but the latter charge against him was dropped on account of the doctors' report concerning his condition. He was remanded to gaol by the magistrate, and will be taken to an asylum in a short time.

The House of Commons again discussed the immigration policy of the Government yesterday.

Albert McQuitten was crushed to death yesterday by a five ton rock rolling on him while he was working at the rock work at Crow Bay, near Campbellford, where a new power plant is being established.

ROBIN SEEN IN MIDDLE OF JANUARY

To see a robbin in the middle of January is a rather rare sight, and there are few persons who believe that there are any of the red-breasted creatures in Peterborough at this season of the year. However, Mr. John Gilman, who resides at 466 Mark street, East City, is the authority for the saying that the robins are here again. Yesterday at noon he noticed one perched in an apple tree in his back yard. He is sure it was a robbin, and though the story seems rather improbable, it is nevertheless true. What the appearance of a robin at this season of the year is an omen of Mr. Gilman cannot say, but he believes that there will be an early spring.

Fire Destroys Kinmount Mill

Early Thursday morning Craig & Austin's saw mill at Kinmount was completely destroyed by fire. No other buildings were burned, and the lumber yard was not endangered, it being on the windward side of the fire. Particulars of loss and insurance are not obtainable. The cause of the fire is a mystery, as the mill has been shut down for some time.

Chicago Railway Man on a Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allison, of Chicago, are in the city on a short visit, the guest of the former's mother, Mrs. Allison, Water Street. Mr. Allison is a former newspaper man, having been one of the most brilliant and energetic men on the Examiner staff some years ago. He is at present chief clerk in the head office of the general manager of the New York Central Railway system, with head offices in Chicago.

IN BAD REPAIR.

The Campbellford Herald says: We are informed that the pumps at the waterworks station are in bad repair. This no doubt accounts in part for the decrease in power gotten from the water motors in town. It is likely that in the spring the pumps will undergo complete repairs and that an improvement in the service will be experienced.

HORSE SHOW.

The annual horse show, held under the auspices of the Provincial Agricultural Department, will be held in the St. Lawrence arena, Toronto, on February 12, 13 and 14. Coming, as it will, a week later than the National Live Stock convention, which is to be held in Ottawa on February 5, 6 and 7, it is expected that an unusually large number of horsemen from all parts of the Dominion will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend the Toronto show.

MAY PURCHASE SHARES.

The Campbellford Herald says: In another column will be found the advertisement of the Weston Shoe Company, Limited, offering the investing public of Campbellford and vicinity an opportunity of purchasing two hundred preferred shares bearing interest at 7 per cent. We believe that this is the first time that our citizens have had an opportunity to invest in a purely local concern, and under such favorable conditions. Shares have a face value of $50, so as to be within reach of almost everyone. They bear interest at 7 per cent., which is preferred.

BELLEVILLE MEN MINING.

The Bessemer iron mines near Bancroft have been leased by a syndicate of Belleville capitalists, among whom are Harry Corby and R. R. Lingham. Mr. McPhail, who has been connected with the mines for some time has been installed as manager, and Mr. Farnum is secretary treasurer. Work will be commenced at once on an extensive scale, and with plenty of capital to push it along, a big boom should be the result. The new company will devote their attention entirely to mining, and shipping ore, and there is no doubt but it will be made to pay handsomely.

NEW FACTORY

A joint stock company with an authorized capital of $150,000, known as "The Brass and Steel Goods Ltd." has established a factory in Belleville for the manufacture of brass goods. At the present time there are about a dozen hands at work, mostly employed at dies, patterns, and placing machinery in position, although some manufacturing is being carried on. It is expected soon to have about fifty hands, and as the business develops, several times that many.

Mr. and Mrs. Lillicrap were called away suddenly on Friday last, by the illness of their daughter, Mrs. Stuart, who is dangerously ill with pneumonia, near Calgary. We are glad to learn that since Mr. and Mrs. Lillicrap's departure very encouraging news has been received regarding Mrs. Stuart's health.—Lakefield News.

Mr. J. R. Stewart, business manager of the Bobcaygeon Independent, underwent an operation for appendicitis at Toronto, about two weeks ago. The many friends and readers of that "great family journal"—as it modestly calls itself—will rejoice to modestly calls itself—will rejoice to recovering, and will be in harness again very soon.

Norwood Register: The Misses Fraser, of Peterborough, are here to attend the funeral of their uncle, the late Thomas Fraser. Messrs. W. R. Howson and Joseph Brillinger shipped a car load of horses from Peterborough this week. Mr. and Mrs. A. Cameron moved to Peterborough on Tuesday, where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Bert Davis has been left in charge of Mr. Cameron's business in town. Mrs. Sperry, of Peterborough, is in the village for the purpose of attending the funeral of the late Thomas Fraser, which takes place this afternoon.

Great Interest in Y.M.C.A. Circles

Annual Meeting of Active Members to be Held To-night

The 37th annual meeting of the active members of the Y.M.C.A. will be held to-night. It is hoped to have a large attendance as very important business will be brought up and discussed and officers and committees elected for this year. The largest number yet were out to the intermediate Bible club for supper and Bible study last night. Each meeting is growing in interest, and even a larger number is expected next Thursday night. Next Friday night the club go for a sleigh ride. Tickets will be sold for it on Thursday night, and as the committee are working hard over the arrangements, a full and enthusiastic load is assured.

CITY COUNCIL MONDAY NIGHT

The City Council will meet on Monday night, when several important matters will be taken up. The legislation to be applied for at the forthcoming session of the Provincial Legislature is one of the matters to be taken up. Permission to elect aldermen for a term of two years is one of the questions of legislation that will be applied for. The preliminary steps in connection with the legislation required were taken by the council of last year, but some further arrangements are necessary.

City Engineer Hay will submit a report on the Smith street bridge and action thereon will likely be taken by the council.

Several other questions will also be dealt with.

One Hundred and Fifty Cars Are Lying Idle in This City

Both Railways Have Many Freight Cars in Excess of Business—Same Conditions Exist in Canada and the United States—Said to be Due to the Short Wheat Crop and Stringency of Money Market.

Railroads hereabouts, and it seems to be the same all over Canada and the United States, have hundreds of freight cars in excess of business. A statement from Chicago covering conditions in the United States and the Dominion shows figures compiled from reports from 158 railroads with 206,800 idle freight cars. In other words, the surplus cars aggregate about ten per cent. of all the cars owned in the States and Canada.

On the local divisions similar conditions are prevalent, probably not so much on the C.P.R., as their space for unused cars is very limited. On the G. T. R. it is different, and in this city there are in the neighborhood of one hundred and fifty cars lying idle. On the two sidings from the Auburn mills to Smith street are lined a great number of empty freights. The siding in East City is also filled with idle cars. The large excess over the demand means that there is a great amount of capital not in use.

In fact, Mr. Sandy, local station agent of the G. T. R., stated that the amount of rolling stock lying idle was enormously high. One car costs the company $750, which means that there is in Peterborough alone $112,500 of capital bringing in no returns.

The same conditions exist on the C. P. R. only they are not so noticeable here. This company have practically no sidings on which to leave unused cars, and therefore the greater number of their idle freights are lying in other places.

The cause of being more cars than required is attributed to the scarcity of grain owing to the short wheat crop in the west. There has always been a great demand for cars from this source, and it, no doubt, has greatly decreased the shipping trade of the railways. The stringency of the money market has also a great deal to do with it. With the manufactories, the railroads are intimately connected, and as the result of their action of reducing their working staffs, some of them 50 per cent., the railroads have suffered.

How Some Habitual Drunkards Joined With Local Optionists

To Get Even With a Quiet Inoffensive Hotelkeeper in Omemee—"Is Record One for Temperance People to be Proud of"? Asks St. Luke's Parish—Church Work.

The St. Luke's Parish Church Work of this month remarks: "To show to what an extent a certain class of so-called temperance people will go in order to force upon the public their views a lamentable incident is reported from Omemee where local option has recently been introduced. The hotelkeeper in Omemee is a quiet, inoffensive man, who, to the best of his ability, has upheld and kept the license law. He does not allow any loafing or excessive drinking on his premises and has put on the black list certain individuals who imbibed too freely and make open eye sores of themselves. The result of his efforts in this direction has been seen in the fact that Omemee is free from drunkenness. To injure the hotelkeeper and to take vengeance on him these habitual drunkards have joined the local option forces and acted for them to "get even" with the hotelkeeper. They were successful; they unitedly succeeded in driving a good and honest man out of his business; they took from him and his children their daily bread. Whether this record is one for the temperance people to be proud of, we leave to our readers to decide.

Port Hope is Looking for Two Railroads This Year

The Port Hope Times throws out its chest this week, metaphorically speaking, and has the following information under a three column heading, "Two Additional Railways for Port Hope This Year."

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWDY.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—It is reported here on good authority that one of the first expenditures to be made out of the new issue of C.P.R. stock will be the proposed new line from Toronto to Montreal, passing through Port Hope, Cobourg and other towns on the shore of Lake Ontario. The new line will be double tracked and will be the main line of the C.P.R. in the Province of Ontario.

Construction will be commenced in the spring.

CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY.

Toronto, Jan. 11. — The negotiations conducted by Mr. Mackenzie in London during his visit to England from which he has just returned will have great influence on railway development in Ontario. It is understood that Mr. Mackenzie has arranged for bond issues of from ten to sixteen millions of dollars, and that a considerable portion of this money will be spent on work in Ontario. One of the first lines to be constructed will be the short route from Toronto to Ottawa passing through Orono and thence via Port Hope and Cobourg northerly to Ottawa. Work on the line will be commenced in the immediate future as the surveys have already been completed.

PORT HOPE THIS SUMMER.

The Cobourg Post says: "From a reliable source we learn that the Canadian Northern Railway will likely reach Cobourg this summer. The route has been selected and plans of an early commencement of the work are nearly completed, only the financing of the enterprise will delay the work beyond the spring. The C.P.R. will also commence the work on its proposed lake front this spring. The first named road will work east from Toronto, and the C.P.R. will start in the east and work west to Toronto. With these lines under construction, there should be plenty of work in these parts this coming summer."

Ennismore's New Council Held Inaugural Meeting

The first meeting of the Council of the township of Ennismore was held in the town hall, Ennismore, on Jan. 13th. All members were present. After taking the required declarations and qualifications of office the members took their seats as follows;—

Samuel Killen, reeve; Michael Perdue, Timothy Crough, Wm. Harrington, Wm. D. Cavanagh, councillors. After a few special orders from the reeve business began as follows;—

On motion of Messrs. Harrington and Cavanagh, John Moloney was appointed clerk of said municipality for the year 1908, at a salary of forty dollars.

On motion of Messrs. Perdue and Crough, John O'Reilly was appointed treasurer at a salary of thirty dollars.

On motion of Messrs. Perdue and Harrington, Michael Geary was appointed assessor for the year 1908 at a salary of twenty-five dollars.

On motion of Messrs. Cavanagh and Crough, Wm. F. Cavanagh and Wm. Curtin were appointed auditors for the year 1908 at a salary of five dollars each.

In accordance with said bylaw the following members of the Board of Health were appointed;—

Samuel Killen, John Moloney, David Quingan, Timoty Murphy, Patrick Twomey, Dr. McGrath, Medical Health Officer and Sanitary Inspector, and John Moloney secretary of said Board.

On motion of Messrs. Perdue and Harrington, this council will not pay any person or persons for shovelling snow, breaking roads, cutting or burning brush, putting in culverts, or any work done on the highway unless such person or persons received authority from the said Council.

On motion of Messrs. Harrington and Cavanagh, the auditor's report was received and adopted for the year 1907, and one hundred copies were ordered to be printed.

On motion of Messrs. Harrington and Perdue, the council complies with the request of the Ontario Municipal Association by petitioning the Legislature to repeal section 606 of the Municipal Act.

On motion of the council the following accounts were ordered to be drawn on the treasurer;—John Mahoney, constable, on election day, $1.50; Wm Curtin, poll clerk on election day, $3; Wm. Curtin and Jos. Costello, auditors for 1907, each $5; Examiner Printing Co., balance on account, $22; W. Taylor, for tile, $10.50; Reeve and Council, one day's service in council, $10.

The council adjourned to meet at the call of the Reeve.

Carnival Will be Held Next Week

At the Street Railway Rink—Fancy Dress Event

WEDDING BELLS

THOMPSON—COPELAND

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Copeland, Fair View Farm, Mariposa, when their second daughter, Esther Jane, was united in marriage to Mr. Bertrand Thompson, of Valentia. Miss Edith Dundas, of Lindsay, played Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the bride, who was given away by her father, entered the parlor at 2.30 o'clock, looking charming in a navy blue suit with white silk waist trimmed with chiffon and ribbon, and carrying a bouquet of primroses and ferns and wore the usual conventional veil, caught up with smylax and carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Alice, who wore a grey suit with cream silk waist over pale blue, trimmed with blue ribbon, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and ferns. Mr. Harry Thompson, brother of the groom, acted as best man, while little Miss [illegible], sister of the bride, looked charming in a cream dress, acting as flower girl. Master Fred Stroud acted as page boy, carrying the ring in a basket of flowers. After the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. T. Brown, of Oakwood, the party proceeded to the dining room where they sat down to a dainty repast. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch, and to the bridesmaid a manicure set, and to the flower girl a ring.

The couple left on the 6.30 train for Toronto and other points west. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson bore testimony to their good will, love and esteem for her by the many handsome gifts, accompanied by good wishes. About sixty guests were present, some from Peterborough, Lindsay, Linden Valley and Little Britain. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside at Washburn's Island.—Watchman-Warder.

PETERBORO' FREE FROM CONTAGION

Gratifying State of Affairs Exists at Present Time

Medical Health Officer Dr. Bingham is authority for the statement that Peterborough is entirely free from contagion at the present time. This will be gratifying news to citizens generally. When the case of smallpox in Ashburnham was announced there was some uneasiness lest the disease might spread. Fortunately, however, it was stamped out by the prompt measures taken by the authorities, who deserve credit for the way they handled the outbreak. There are no other cases of contagious disease in the city at the present time.

Congratulates the New Alderman

St. Luke's parish church work in the current issue contains an excellent cut of Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., recently elected a member of the City Council, and says:

The municipal elections have resulted in the election of a good and business-like council. The mayor and the aldermen have much work before them, and we hope that they will be faithful to the trust given them by the electorate. The many friends of Mr. J. J. Turner, Jun., were delighted to see him reach the 1,000 mark in votes. While we all expected him to be elected by reason of the high esteem in which he is everywhere held, we did not anticipate that he would receive at this his first appeal to the electorate such a large vote. We extend to him our very hearty congratulations upon being elected alderman. It is a matter of regret to us that Mr. R. H. Leany fell a few votes short of being elected. His business experience and success make him well qualified for a city councillor.

JAPAN'S NEW YEAR CAKE

Important in the celebration of New Year in Japan is the making of the New Year's cake, which every family must have if good luck is to follow it during the coming year.

This cake is made of a peculiar variety of rice, boiled and pounded in a great wooden mortar until it is of the consistency of dough. Although this pure white dough is often colored yellow or pink, the shape of the cake is always the same—that of the sacred mirror—one of the three sacred symbols of the Shinto faith. (A piece of this cake, writes Clara W. Kaiji, in Leslie's Weekly, is offered to the Shinto deities because it is of the shape of the sacred mirror, which wooed the sun goddess to come out of the cave where she had hidden herself in wrath, and thus saved the land from total darkness. Each member of the family takes a hand in the manufacture of the New Year's cake. Even the baby is carried out and the baby hand guided in lifting the heavy wooden mallet for a "good luck" blow.

Enough is made to last nearly the whole year through, and it occupies an important place in the daily menu.

EIGHT PERSONS HURT

Grand Valley Electric Car Plunged Over Trestle Bridge.

Slippery Rail Causes Bad Accident Near Paris — Conductor Seriously Injured and May Die—Passengers Removed Through Roof—Car Fell About Thirty Feet and Was Badly Smashed.

Brantford, Jan. 17.—A Grand Valley Railway electric car dropped about twenty feet over a trestle bridge a mile and a half outside of Paris Wednesday evening, and Conductor Beacom of Brantford may die from the injuries he received, and seven or eight passengers sustained some painful bruises. The car should have left Paris at 7 o'clock, but was twenty minutes late. While the motorman was eating his lunch Conductor Beacom took charge of the car. As the motor approached a grade leading to the trestle bridge a slippery rail made moving difficult, and three different attempts had to be made. The third time, in backing up, one of the wheels left the rails, and the car was thrown over the side to the ground, about 30 feet. The passengers were taken out through the roof, and the motorman and conductor, who were the most serious hurt, were assisted to the home of Mr. Foulds, near by, where they were attended by doctors.

Conductor's Injuries Serious.

Conductor Beacom's injuries consist of crushed chest, fractured thigh and head bruises. Motorman Longhurst sustained a dislocated shoulder. Beacom was brought to the city yesterday, after being kept at a farmhouse near the scene of the accident over night.

The passengers injured are:

J. S. Buckwell, Boston, three ribs broken.

C. L. Morris, Toronto, back injured.

George James, Brantford, shoulder dislocated.

John Jefferson, Paris, injured about hip.

E. T. Rowland, Brantford, slightly hurt.

The following were on the car, but escaped injury: James Demming, Brantford; Mrs. James Miller and two children, Brantford; Isaac Newsome, Paris.

In backing up, in order to get up speed to make the run over the bridge, the rear truck left the tracks. This was not noticed owing to the protection afforded by the guard rail. When the bridge was reached the car topple over, and, leaving the truck, both front and rear, plunged over the bridge, landing on its side. The vestibule was badly smashed, the conductor being pinned beneath the motorman in the wreckage. Two passengers managed to get out and break the roof, thus releasing the others.

The Grand Valley officials state that the passengers were warned at Paris that the line was in bad condition owing to the snow, and that the trip was at their own risk.

London Woman Disappears.

New York, Jan. 17.—New York's police force is looking for Mrs. Frederick A. Warner, wife of a wealthy London (Eng.) shoe merchant, who disappeared yesterday after sending a letter to her relatives in Boston, Mass., saying she intended to take her life. Mrs. Warner came to America several months ago to visit her mother at Ashemont. She also spent some time with relatives at Montrose, N. Y. Warner sailed recently from London for Boston.

The letter to Boston was received by her brother, S. C. Briel, who came to New York immediately and appealed to the police to search for Mrs. Warner.

Cleverly Planned Escape.

London, Jan. 17.—A detective of the Pittsburg police department took John Scott, the self-confessed murderer of his stepfather, away on the midnight train to Pittsburg.

In reply to the officer as to how he got away so far without being caught he said: "I thought the matter over and concluded all the trains would be watched, so I made up my mind to travel by street car. I came direct on the radial roads from Pittsburg to Conneaut, where I boarded the Shenango and came over to Port Stanley on Saturday morning. No one asked me a question until the detectives arrested me on Richmond street."

Huber Asks New Election.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—On the strength of Judge Chisholm's refusal to go on with recount proceedings owing to many irregularities of the returning officers brought to light in this investigation, Allan Huber, who was defeated by W. W. Uttley by four votes in the mayoralty contest, has decided to appeal for a new election.

There is much indignation extended by citizens generally at the disgraceful state of affairs thus brought to light.

Stage Went Through Ice.

Little Current, Jan. 17.—With the temperature below zero and in a blinding snowstorm, the mail stage with mail for 34 Manitoulin offices, Wednesday night went through the ice. A Toronto traveler was on board. Driver McEachern saved the mail. The stage and horses were lost.

Less Poaching.

Windsor, Jan. 17.—In the report made by Capt. Dunn of the Government cruiser Vigilant for the year's work, he says that there has been less poaching by both the American and Canadian fishermen during the past year than ever before.

Severe Jolt for Carnegie Library

Patriotic citizens especially those who are loyally attached to the memory of England's greatest Queen, the late Queen Victoria, will resent the effort inaugurated by the late City Council to ask Andrew Carnegie to build a library in Peterborough. It is unfortunate that the name of the man who fathered this scheme was not sufficiently known or he would, no doubt, have met with defeat at the recent municipal elections. It seems strange that any one should beg of a man who in such violent manner slandered our beloved Queen, or that any one would dare to ask loyal subjects to have the name of such a man immortalized in a British community by having to name the building after him. Surely the new council will do better things.—St. Luke's Parish Church Work.

Knocked Down by Farmer's Team

Young Englishman Named Cuthbert Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury

This morning on Aylmer street between Sherbrooke and Dalhousie street, a young Englishman by the name of Cuthbert was knocked down by a farmer's team and had the right side of his face badly scratched. He was somewhat stunned, but did not lose consciousness. On account of the fact that the blood flowed somewhat freely from Cuthbert's wound on his face, it was first thought the injury was more serious than it proved to be.

Attended Concert in Ennismore

Yesterday afternoon Messrs. Harry LeBrun, E. G. Patterson, Jas. Lynch, Wm. McIlroy and W. S. Davidson enjoyed a drive to Ennismore. The roads were filled in with snow. At Ennismore the Peterborough party were the guests of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, who entertained them in first class style. They took a leading part in the programme furnished by the Ennismore branch of the C.M.B.A. Mr. D. Hughes Charles was chairman and gave an interesting address. Mr. H. LeBrun gave "The Marseillaise." Mr. Davidson also contributed several songs, and an interesting address on "Quaker Oats." Mr. McIlroy sang in good voice. Mr. Patterson delivered a racy address. There were many young ladies and men of Ennismore present, and the orchestra gave several pleasing selections. The city participants, who were in Mr. Lynch's care, speak highly of their visit to the country.

Royal Bank Gains in Seven Years

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, JAN. 17, 1908

BE A GOOD HEARER

After listening to the eloquent address in Murray Street Baptist church last night, of Rev. Mr. Kierstead, of Toronto, who spoke on "The Ministry of the Man in the Pew," the hearer could not but be impressed that there was something higher and better for the average male worshipper to do than to criticize the minister and give so much a year to the finances of the church.

Dr. Kierstead made clear and impressive many points which will be found referred to in another column. But two of these points deserve special recognition. One is the man in the pew would not hear so many poor sermons if he were a good listener. The latter term means a great deal. It signifies that a man's thought, attention, spirit, attitude, receptive and mental faculties in the house of God should be properly adjusted so to speak, then he would receive more—yes, get infinitely much more from the sermon than he otherwise would.

Another point — the ministry of the man in the pew is often so cold, listless, selfish and unavailing that the minister departs of his own accord, or feels that he is not making headway. He obtains little or no support from those around him, and his people write him down as a failure. He is called to some other field. There conditions are propitious. The environs are such that the potentialities of the pastor are brought out. As the world would say, he "makes good," and success begets success. Then the members of his former congregation wake up and refer delightfully and proudly to the fact that Rev. Mr. —— was pastor of our church once. Alas! They have discovered too late what a rare jewel they have allowed to escape, what a beautiful plant has been transplanted, and they did not recover the fragrance of his life nor the sweetness of his disposition and nobility of his purpose until all too late.

But it was ever thus. People frequently are aroused to a true sense of their responsibility, a just appreciation of their surroundings or opportunities when it is too late.

Give the man in the pulpit an appreciative hearing. Speak kindly to him and of his efforts; do not indulge in indiscriminate fault finding, and criticism, and remember, if you think he is a poor preacher, you yourself may be the rankest kind of a listener. The shortcomings in the world do not always lie with the other fellow. Think of this when you are about to condemn hastily or unjustly.

QUALITY NOT QUANTITY

It is high time that something was done to restrict indiscriminate immigration to Canada. Mr. Cockshutt, of Brantford, in a terse, argumentative speech in the House of Commons this week, drew attention to some important facts, one of which is that, at the present time, the labor market is glutted and we have enough unemployed at home without importing others. He further pointed out that it was highly expedient that assisted immigration, excepting only domestic servants and agricultural classes, should immediately cease, and that in future bonuses should be paid to individual agents or companies for sending or bringing in such immigrants. He favored also a stricter inspection of those arriving. This talk of need of more mechanics, skilled laborers, young bank clerks, etc., at the present juncture sounds well, but the information is misleading. There are to-day in all the centres of population sufficient artisans out of work to equip any industrial establishment requiring help. Canada wants more men for the farms, those who stay on the soil, take up land in the west, buy property and not get the microbe of city life as so many new arrivals do. There is also great need of domestic help in many households. Servants in the homes and on the farm are assured of constant employment, but for all other classes of imported workers the outlook is not so bright. If the Salvation Army and other agencies will direct their energies and efforts solely in the line of securing help for the farm and the home they will be doing the right thing and will receive active sympathy and hearty endorsation in their work. It is certainly time there should be a classification of immigrants, and that all bonuses for dumping in large numbers of the derelicts, cast-offs and never-do-wells of Great Britain and the Continent should cease. Mr. Cockshutt's resolution is timely and along right lines.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANK

Mr. F. S. Jarvis, manager of the Bank of Commerce at Galt, has a high opinion of the school bank, and he speaks from experience. Writing to the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, he says of it:

"With a penny bank you people can handle the school banking, teaching the theory and practice perfectly, and also do a lot of good to a lot of people generally in your town. I took in through the schools in eight years, without much trouble, over $9,000, and I have now handed over to the Penny bank over $4,400. You cannot but feel the good that all this has done in the years to all these children; the denials, the knowledge of money and money's worth which is gained, the helps over sickness, the supplying of money for Christmas holidays and for starting in life. Only recently a young girl took out enough money to buy a sewing machine, cash price, and she never missed the money when she was saving it.

"It is so comical to hear people as they did, fear we would make misers. Well, we have not, but surely it would be a good side to err on, in this country. Take it up. Your town wouldn't have anything so good come off in a long time. Thrift-teaching is the basis of everything towards our comfort and happiness in this world, better than education in books. You don't hear a teacher condemn it—they all enthuse. The rule is that two-thirds of the children become depositors. We had eight hundred depositors out of twelve hundred children."

PEN POINTS

The Messrs B. M. Conger and Co., who have published the Picton Gazette for over 50 years, have retired from active business. The new publisher will be Mr. E. Weldon Sheriff, who has been an employee of the paper for years.

Succession duties collected by the Ontario Government in September last amounted to 40,656.85, as compared with $16,307.14 for September, 1906. The gross total for 1907 was $904,562.22, and of this $68,000 will be returned to those estates whose deposits exceeded the estate tax. In 1906 the aggregate was $1,015,000, of which $519,676 came from the Gooderham estate. In 1907 the largest amounts were $180,000 from the Fulford estate, and $100,000 from the Easton estate. Last year's estimate was $700,000, so the actual collections exceeded this by $135,000.

It was a novel and inspiring spectacle to behold Grits and Tories yesterday morning hand in glove for the good of Brockville. Some of the old time municipal politicians must have turned in their tombs yesterday when prominent Grits canvassed earnestly for Tories, and leading Tories urged support for [illegible] Grits. One staunch Grit came out of the polling booth with a wry face, and said, "Well, that's the first Tory vote I ever cast! It didn't seem right, somehow, but it's for the good of the town, and that goes with me every time."—Brockville Times.

H. P. McMahon, of Woodstock, was a candidate for Woodstock Board of education. On nomination day he explained his views on school matters, and in very plain words informed the electors that he was allowing his name to stand because he felt this to be his duty as a citizen, but he was not going to make the least effort to secure election. If the people wanted him to serve he would do so, but he considered that he conferred a greater favor on the people by serving them than they conferred on him by electing him. On these terms he was a candidate. The Sentinel Review says that unusual as it was to hear a candidate speak in that way, the electors present heartily applauded. On polling day Mr. McMahon was elected. It seems to show that it isn't really necessary to give the voters guff.

The Belleville Intelligencer observes: Rev. Canon Davidson of Peterborough, is well known as a practical Christian, and he has lately been living right up to this reputation. In a sermon last Sunday morning, the reverend gentleman urged his congregation to start the new year by settling all their obligations. The admonition was timely and wise, and if lived up to by everyone would result in a pleasant and satisfactory state of things all round. Hoarding money under any circumstances, even by people out of debt, is bad, providing, of course, that reasonable and honorable chances for investment are at hand, but hoarding money which really belongs to someone else is dishonest and dishonorable. Pay your debts and keep the dollar in circulation. Then you will have a clear conscience and and a happy new year.

The following incident is of interest, as showing the law in regard to certain privileges on a railway train: On December 18th five men were talking in a C.P.R. smoker between Ottawa and Montreal. One of them left his seat to visit the lavatory, and returned to find Albert Brazeau occupying his seat. There were other seats in the smoker, and the former occupant remonstrated with Brazeau, as did his friends. It was of no avail. Brazeau sat on. The conductor was called and expostulated. It was of no avail. The conductor then, to use judicial language, molliter manus imposuit, or, in common garden English, took him by the lapel of the coat, and gently lifting him from the seat, placed him in the passage way. Brazeau thereupon sued the Canadian Pacific to recover $1,000 damages. Judge Riddell has given judgment, dismissing the action.

Arm Drawn in Putting on Belt

Sylvester Mf'g. Co. Employee Met With Serious Accident at Lindsay

The Lindsay Post says:—Mr. Wm. Hear, who had three fingers taken off about two months ago, had the misfortune to meet with another serious accident at the Sylvester works, a day or two ago. He was employed in the woodworking department at the time of the mishap, and was a little removed from his fellows, busy with a job on the planer. In some way, while putting a belt on a pulley, his sleeve got caught, and his arm was drawn in. He was immediately taken to a doctor, where it was found that the arm was fractured in three places. He is now at Ross Hospital.

The government of Cuba is to be handed over to the natives before another year.

The favorite argument of those selling western wheat flour has been that it is more economical than Ontario wheat flour. Again have Ontario blended flours proved this false. In a recent article, that reliable journal, "The Farmer's Advocate," gives an account of a series of experiments made at the Ontario Agricultural College with Ontario blended flour and Manitoba "strong" wheat flour.

In summing up the results, the writer says, "It must be remembered, too, that while the strong flour absorb more water, they also cost more. In the case of flours used in these experiments, the (Manitoba) strong strong patent cost about $1 per barrel more than the (Ontario blended) winter wheat flour. And the indications are that it requires more shortening to give the best results, thus making them (Manitoba flours) more expensive." This simply shows that our farmers are all on the wrong track. Here they are raising little or no Ontario wheat, and spending their hard earned money to western flour — when they should be raising their own wheat and using Ontario blended flours in their own homes. It rests with the farmers themselves. And every farmer in the province should unite with every other farmer to grow Ontario wheat, use Ontario wheat flours, and thus keep up the demand and the prices for the most profitable crop they can grow.

Many Prizes Presented at Meeting

Enjoyable Time Spent at Salvation Army Barracks Last Night—Good Program

The Salvation Army held their "young people's annual" last night for the purpose of entertaining the children of the Sunday school, who were present in large numbers. The excellent programme provided excellent entertainment, and the many numbers given were pleasing to the audience. The dialogue which took about twenty minutes time, entitled "Our country cousins" made a great hit.

The programme was as follows:—
Opening song, hymn No. 713.
Prayer.
Chairman's address—Mr. R. C. Braund.
Chorus—"Who is that knocking at the door," by several girls.
Recitation, "Six keeps"—By Percy Fowler.
Recitation, "Mamma's kisses."—By Maggie Parnell.
Drill—Girls club drills.
Recitation, "What is ice?" — By Pearl Chard.
Piano duet—By Miss Braund and Master Braund.
Dialogue, "Our Country Cousins."
Band selection.
Recitation, "A Life for Jesus"—By Ebea Luck.
Song—Willie Leeman.
Recitation, "Dusty old Bonnet."—By Emma Blake.
Drill—Girls with dumb bells.
Recitation, "Little Lady."—By Olive Cresswell.
Duett—Elsie Northcott and Dolly Grey.

Was Mr. Finnie Who Gave Alarm

In yesterday's issue of the Review it was stated that P.C. Mehatry gave the alarm of the fire at the Cavanagh House stable. While the above officer was one of the first present at the blaze, it was Nightwatchman Finnie who first discovered the flames and rounded the alarm.

Good Principles in Dairying

How one Man Cleared $75.04 per Head on 30 Cows

My dairy consists of 30 cows, a few of them pure breds and the balance grade Holstein-Friesians. These cows gave 184,328 pounds of milk from April 1, 1906, or 6144 pounds per cow. This milk was delivered to a cheese factory in summer and to a creamery in the winter. I also received from calves $158, making a total from cheese factory, creamery and calves, of $2,051.41, or $68.38 per cow. My profit from hogs was $200, which, of course, I would not have had if I had not kept the cows. This makes a grand total of $2,251.41, or $75.04 per head.

These cows were not fed anything during the entire year but good hay and ensilage during spring, green grass in early summer, supplemented by peas and oats in mid summer, green corn in early fall, then ensilage and good hay again until spring. These cows were taken care of 365 days in the year. They were not turned in poor pastures with poor fences; they were not run to the barn to be milked with a dog at their heels; there were no scrub apple trees in the pasture for them to chase after during late summer; they were not whipped when being milked, neither had they any ribs broken with a milking stool, but they were treated kindly, and last but not least, they were not tortured by flies, but were sprayed twice a day from the time the flies first appeared in the spring until they disappeared in the fall.

I do not think these cows have done anything very remarkable and perhaps no better than many others have done: but I think as everything they consumed was grown on the farm, they were a source of profit, and I also think that if the same business principles are used in dairying that a manufacturer or merchant must use in their business in order to succeed, the dairy will pay.

Open Air Rink for the Curlers

Decided on at Meeting Last Night —Ice is Nearly Ready

At a meeting of the Curling Club held in the City Council chamber last night it was decided to go ahead with the plan to have an open air rink on the site where the building was recently destroyed by fire. Preparations are already well under way and Mr. Macintosh will have ice ready for curling in a very short time. It has been found almost impossible to secure a building that would be converted into a rink on short notice, hence the decision to utilize the old site.

It was also decided to only charge half the membership fee, $3, to members of the club who are not desirous of curling this winter. Those who intend staying with the game will, of course, pay the full fee. The $3 fee is being charged for the purpose of paying the expenses for the month of December.

President C. N. Brown was in the chair last night and about twenty members were present.

Programme for Orillia Bonspiel

Peterborough Club to be Well Represented

Three or four rinks of Peterborough curlers will go to the Orillia bonspiel on January 21st, 22nd and 23rd. Three skips have already been selected, Messrs. Dickson Davidson, Wm. Lang and R. M. Waddell. The rinks will be picked this week. The programme for the Orillia 'spiel is as follows:—

Two competitions—9 sheets of first class ice.

First draw to be made at 1.30 p.m., Tuesday, January 21st. Play to commence at 2 p.m.

Twelve ends to constitute the game.

Primary Prizes—1st, 4 gold medals, value $40.00; 2nd, 4 silver medals, value $20.00; 3rd, 4 Scotch tams.

Consolation Prizes—1st, 4 solid leather suit cases; 2nd, 4 best silk hats, "Stetson make"; 3rd, 4 curling brooms.

THE INVITATION IS ACCEPTED

Review is Willing to Meet the Examiner—How to Make Arrangements

The Review has much pleasure in accepting the kind invitation of the Examiner to put it all over the seven excuses forming the so-called hockey team from that office. The game may be arranged if the Examiner sends a man around to this office when he will be given an open date of the Review seven. The office hours of the secretary of the Review team are from 3.30 p.m. to 2.45 a.m. on the first and third Thursdays in each month. If the Examiner secretary will drop him a card, however, giving him the street address of the office in which he is employed, he will condescend to drop in and arrange matters and thus save the first mentioned person embarrassment of trying to feel at home in the superior atmosphere of this office.

HOCKEY

TWO NEW PROS.

Toronto, Jan. 17. — The two new additions to the Torontos will be here in time for the Guelph game at the Mutual Street Rink to-morrow night. In fact, Mercer is already in town, having arrived yesterday afternoon, and "Newsy" Lalonde will be in from the west to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock. Both will line up with the Torontos to-morrow night. The departure of Mallen will not be noticed since the addition of Mercer and Lalonde. It means that Young will go back to cover, where he is at his best, and the attack and defence will thus be materially strengthened. The collections of stars from Guelph and Toronto ought to make the best game of the season to date.

RACING

MR. KILBOURN WON.

On Monday evening an interesting skating race took place at the skating rink between two well known residents of Lakefield, viz., Messrs. F. A. Kilbourn and W. J. Baptule. The event had been kept pretty quiet but still there was quite a number of spectators present. The ice was in splendid condition having been carefully prepared under the personal supervision of "Dad" Morin. The race itself baffles description, suffice to say that in the end Mr. Kilbourn was declared winner after an exceedingly close race, having skated the stipulated mile in record time, according to the timekeepers. A protest was immediately entered against the winner on the ground that he did, contrary to regulations, practice for two weeks in Owen Sound. However, after a heated discussion the protest was disallowed. Afterwards the two contestants along with a number of friends, sat down to an oyster supper at the Lakefield house, with Reeve Moore at the head of the table. The company present included Reeve Moore, Councillor J. M. Bygott, Dr. Gibson, A. E. Coulter, representing the Grand Trunk railway, J. C. R. Pattrick, Wm. Brooks, H. W. Lewis, J. McLearen and others. After having partaken of the excellent supper provided Reeve Moore, in a very appropriate speech, congratulated the winner on his great victory and also the loser on the sportsmanlike way in which he accepted his defeat. He also alluded to the early departure of Mr. Brooks, who for the past three months has been managing the Lakefield house. He felt sure that he was voicing the opinion of all present and also of a large majority of the inhabitants of the village in expressing regret at losing Mr. Brooks. He also spoke in eulogistic terms of Mrs. Brooks and family, and was glad to say that although leaving Lakefield they would not be very far away from us. This was seconded by "some bloke from the Old Country." Mr. Brooks and the two contestants suitably responded. A pleasant evening was brought to a close with the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow," after which the company assembled at the rink to witness Lakefield trim the Strathconas.—We understand that three prominent citizens who had made heavy wagers on the result of the race, arrived at the rink on Monday evening in time to be twenty minutes late—bank hours.—Lakefield News.

CURLING

Peterborough was to play Orillia for the Shepherd-Neill cup next week, but the games have been postponed owing to the locals having no rink accommodation. Arrangements for the match will be made when the Peterborough curlers visit Orillia for the bonspiel next week. Peterborough won the trophy last year and will make a big endeavor to hold it.

TURF

Pleaded Guilty to the Charge

Frank Hamilton Admits Forgery —Healey Brothers Entered Plea of Not Guilty

This morning at the county police court, before Magistrate Edmison, Frank Hamilton pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery. He is accused of having raised a cheque on the Cavendish Lumber Company in his favor from $1.40 to $51.40. He was remanded for a week for sentence.

Frank and Charley Healey, who are supposed to be implicated in the matter, pleaded not guilty and were remanded for a week. Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for Hamilton, while the Healey brothers' interests were looked after by Mr. G. N. Gordon.

EXPLANATION WANTED

To the Editor of the Review:

Sir,—Through the columns of your paper the ratepayers wish to know if the statements made by Mr. Frank Moher, ex-reeve, at the Douro nomination, charging Mr. Belcher, the county engineer, with altering the specifications of the abutments for the Evans and Keene bridges and by so doing saved for the contractor one thousand six hundred dollars, is correct. If this be true, as Mr. Moher says Mr. Belcher told him, the ratepayers of the county think it high time the county council should secure the services of another engineer to do their work.

Thanking you for space in your valuable paper.

Yours truly,
COUNTY RATEPAYER

Chatty Letter on New York Stocks

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.

New York, Jan. 17 — Lower prices in London were reflected throughout the list here at the opening, and in the early trading most stocks were quite weak. There was some better support on the decline than was the case yesterday, and the bullish manipulation made its appearance in Northern Pacific and Reading, and these stocks were used as leaders in the advance. During the last hour there was some more realizing, and though the market had a strong undertone general sentiment looked for somewhat lower prices.

London is disposed to consider as of more importance on the future trend of prices here, the statements of our road earnings than we do in this market. Yesterday's November Missouri, Kansas and Texas statement showed a falling off in net earnings of 30 per cent. and the Great Western statement today is about as poor. Consequently when the December and January net statements are made public, we fear that a great deal of bearish sentiment will develop.

London also received with a good deal of dissatisfaction the statement of the reduction in the Amal. Copper dividend, and this helped the influence selling in this market for foreign account.

We look for a trading market and would buy good stocks on the dips, and secure profits when obtainable.

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

ANNUAL JANUARY STOCK RFDUCTION AND WHITE-WEAR SALE

We are now entering upon the third week of the greatest Bargain Festival Peterboro has ever known. In spite of the socalled stringency in the money market, this year's sale has eclipsed all previous January Sales. The reason is very obvious. Every inhabitant of the city and county of Peterborough knows positively, that when a bargain is advertised at Fairs, it is a BARGAIN and will be found on sale just as advertised. Every day it is remarked in our store by a pleased customer—"I like dealing at Fair's because I find everything as represented."

The coming week we will centre our efforts specially on:

Table Linens, Towels, etc.,

Wrapperetees and Flannelettes, Carpets and Oilcloths,

Ladies' Coats and Suits,

Blankets and Comforters,

Toques, Mufflers and Clouds

on all of which the price will be suffering from very deep cuts.

The White-wear Sale goes merrily on, and that our values are appropriate is showed by the enormous selling we have done in this department. White-wear showing on first floor.

Improvements to Opera House

Messrs. Turner Make Important Announcement—Their First Anniversary

At the Grand Opera House last night the Stoddart Stock Company presented in a capable manner Hall Caine's "The Christian." The production was an unusually strong one, and the audience manifested its pleasure by frequent applause.

Mr J. J. Turner, sr., delivered a neat speech during the evening. He said that it was just a year ago since he and his sons had bought the opera house. They desired to heartily thank the public for their generous patronage during the past year, and said they were deeply appreciative of the many kindnesses received. They had endeavored to secure the best attractions possible. They contemplated making several improvements to the house, thus adding to the comfort, convenience and enjoyment of the patrons. They would also strive to secure the best attractions on the road.

The Stoddart Stock Company closes its week's engagement here this evening by presenting "The Counterfeiters," and should be greeted by a bumper house.

Prompted by jealousy, Baroness Von Sobwitzer, aged fifty, a Roumanian beauty, committed suicide at Orajora yesterday.

WEAK MEN AND WOMEN

The Most Perfect Restorative Known and Invigorating Tonic Vitalizer —Greatest Health-Renewer

Nature's greatest cure for weak, pale men and women is Ferrozone. It is invaluable for run-down, overworked, delicate people, and will restore them to robust health more quickly, at smaller expense, than any other tonic you can select.

We quote the following cases to show what Ferrozone has done for others. In your case it will act just as efficiently:—

FOR BUSINESS MEN
The Experience of a Well-known Lawyer Proves Ferrozone an Ideal Tonic.

Mr. N. W. Burke, a well known lawyer in Meriden, says:—"When I first took Ferrozone I was in a nervous run-down condition, almost sick enough to give up work. I lacked strength and felt as if I could not get down to work. Ferrozone at once gave me a good appetite, and drove away the nervous, apprehensive feelings that formerly made my life miserable. As I continued the use of Ferrozone I grew stronger, and am glad to say it has brought me back to perfect health. I know that Ferrozone is an excellent tonic for business men and people inclined to a sedentary life. I can recommend it to such."

FOR NERVOUS WOMEN
Nothing Compares With the Nerve-Strengthening Power of Ferrozone.

Mrs. R. D. Emmerson, of Centreville, says:—"I am glad to think that there is at least one honest remedy for nervous people. No one can imagine what I suffered with my nerves, and I sometimes wonder at the number of useless prescriptions and medicines I took. But Ferrozone acted differently from all the rest. It built up my system, and gradually the irritability left my nerves, and I got well. Ferrozone cured me by removing the cause of my trouble, and by giving me enough additional strength to overthrow the attack of nervousness. I can recommend Ferrozone strongly."

THOUSANDS ANNUALLY CURED BY FERROZONE

If you want to get well and keep well, by all means use Ferrozone. If you suffer from insomnia, nervousness, debility, loss of appetite, poor digestion, or any other symptom of disordered blood, nothing will tone up and vitalize your system like Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

FERROZONE

The Thaw Trial Proceeds; Jerome Badgers Witnesses

District Attorney Robs Evelyn's Evidence of All Its Romance.

Glares at Unfortunate Young Wife—Asks Judge to Exclude Both Public and Press From the Court—Prisoner's Mother Repeats Testimony—Thaw's Nurse Tells of His Childish Freaks.

New York, Jan. 18.—A series of surprises brought the Thaw trial near a crisis yesterday. Both Evelyn Thaw, the wife, and Mrs. William Thaw, the mother of the defendant, were on the witness stand, and just as the former was about to relate anew the story of her life, as she told it to Thaw in Paris in 1903, District Attorney Jerome suggested that in the interest of public morals all persons save those immediately interested in the case should be excluded from the courtroom during the recital of what he termed "a horrible tale." The motion included the representatives of newspapers as well as the public generally.

Attorney Martin W. Littleton of the defence, joined in it to shield the young woman from hundreds of curious eyes, and said that so far as the constitutional right to an open hearing was concerned, he was ready to waive that point in any ironclad manner the court might suggest. Proceedings were suspended until next Monday morning, when Justice Dowling, who is presiding, will announce his decision.

The district attorney's suggestion was a distinct surprise, and called forth the remark from Justice Dowling that it would have come with greater force at the first hearing of the case. When Mr. Jerome arose it was generally believed that he was about to contend against the admissability of young Mrs. Thaw's testimony on the ground that it could not have a very serious effect on the mind of the man who subsequently became her husband, inasmuch as the homicide did not occur until three years thereafter. Mr. Jerome had previously objected to Mrs. Thaw detailing conversations she had with Thaw three years prior to the tragedy, but Justice Dowling ruled that the declarations of the defendant were admissible on general principles and without any reference to the Wood case, under which the evidence in dispute was admitted last year, and which Mr. Jerome had been expected to ask a construction of this year.

"I will not except to your honor's ruling," said the district attorney, as he took his seat after his objection, "for the state has no power of appeal."

Jerome's New Plan.

Then Mr. Jerome attacked the witness in another way, and, by standing immediately in front of her and objecting to practically every question which Mr. Littleton asked in his preliminary examination as to her early history, cut the young woman's recital from the effective narrative form it assumed last year into a hundred fragments. Many of the objections, based upon irrelevancy and immateriality, were sustained by the court. When these failed, the prosecutor was ever ready with others, until the testimony fairly was torn into shreds and had lost entirely many little touches of human interest which were a part of the relation last year when no objections were offered. Mr. Jerome said his intentions were to cut out all stories about pet cats "and a lot of other stuff" which had no place in the trial.

Thaw's Mother on the Stand.

Yesterday, however, was one of good progress for the defence. The elder Mrs. Thaw, pale and weak from her recent illness, was assisted to the witness chair and repeated a large part of the testimony she gave a year ago. Her appearance and the sincerity of her evidence, as she told of her son's strange conduct after meeting Evelyn Nesbitt and hearing her story, had a marked effect upon all who listened. On account of her weak condition, her examination was interrupted by consent to be resumed some time next week, when she will tell of Thaw's infancy. District Attorney Jerome's manner while the mother was on the stand was all deference, and it was his suggestion which led to the respite in her ordeal. But when the young wife took the stand the change was marked. Jerome glared at her from the very first, and his objections were fairly shouted in her ears. Well accustomed to court usages from her former experience, the young woman waited patiently for a ruling as to each objection. When they were sustained she was silent; when overruled she was ever ready with her response.

Effective testimony was given at the morning session by Miss Alice C. Fletcher of Washington, D.C., a longtime friend of Thaw's and a frequent visitor at their home. She said she had known Harry Thaw for 26 years and he had always impressed her as irrational. Miss Catherine O'Neill, who nursed Thaw as a boy, from his third to his tenth year, added her evidence to that already adduced as to irrational conduct, and tendencies on the part of the defendant.

Two doormen at the police station where Thaw was confined the night of the tragedy repeated their stories of last year of Thaw's irrational appearance and his complaining of noises that did not exist.

The trial may be concluded in two more weeks.

Evidence of Prisoner's Wife.

After the recess Mrs. Thaw told of going on the stage in the "Florodoro." The cause of her seeking employment, and the difficulty because of her youth were barred from the jury this year, Mr. Jerome being ever ready with an objection to shut out much of the testimony which was allowed at the first trial.

The witness said she first met Harry Thaw just before Christmas in 1901. She saw him several times in 1902—once while she was ill at school in New Jersey.

"How long were you ill?"

"Objected to," said Jerome.

So the examination proceeded, the prosecutor objecting every time the attorney for the defence turned questioning to direct sequence of events in the young woman's career.

Justice Dowling, over an objection by the district attorney, ruled that the acts and discretions of the defendant to his wife were competent testimony on general principles in any murder case. Mrs. Thaw, over the never-ceasing objections of the district attorney, told of going to Europe in the spring of 1903, following a severe illness. Thaw's servants and her mother accompanied her and Thaw himself met her in Paris and asked her to marry him.

"I replied that I could not. He asked if it was because of Stanford White, and I said it was. He then wanted to know all about it."

Would Exclude Public.

District Attorney Jerome asked that the public, including the newspaper reporters, be excluded from the courtroom during the recital of Mrs. Thaw's story as related to Thaw in Paris. He said it was shocking in every way and should be excluded.

Justice Dowling said the suggestion would have come with greater force at the first trial. Excluding the newspapers at this time would not prevent the publication of the testimony as first given. He asked, however, that the newspaper men exercise their power for the public good by suppressing as many details as possible.

District Attorney Jerome said the papers would not publish anything like the same reports as last year, or they would lay themselves liable for prosecution.

"I have nothing to do with the newspapers, or what they choose to do," said Justice Dowling. "But I am ready to receive suggestions from counsel."

Attorney Littleton here arose and said that while he had given no thought as to the effect on the public, he asked, for Mrs. Thaw's sake, that the public and newspaper writers be excluded.

It was decided that further consideration should be given to the matter and no decision announced until the next sitting of court.

TWO GIRLS KILLED AT A FIRE.

Seven Others Badly Hurt in Panic In a Scranton Factory.

Scranton, Pa., Jan 18.—Two girls were killed and seven others seriously injured in a fire yesterday in the building occupied by the Imperial Underwear Co. About two hundred girls were employed in the building, and there was a panic when the alarm of fire was sounded.

The fire is supposed to have been started by the upsetting of a glue pot in the warehouse of the Economy Furniture Co., located in the basement of the building, which was four storeys. Most of the girls on the third and fourth floors fled to the fire escapes. These got as far as the second storey, and from there they jumped to the alleyway. Many of the girls fled down the one narrow stairway of the building. Some fainted, and there was a jam on the stairs which threatened serious consequences, but the firemen were able to get them all out safely before the fire reached that portion of the building. The loss is $75,000.

Liquor Case at Barrie.

Barrie, Jan. 18.—Two hotelkeepers, E. D. King, proprietor of the King Edward, and John Wright, of the Railroad House, were summoned yesterday for selling liquor on election day, contrary to the Liquor License Act. The informations were laid by Inspector Duff. Mr. King admitted breaking the law, as charged, and was fined $50 and costs. The case against Mr. Wright was enlarged for a week. Several witnesses swore that they had something to drink in his hotel that day, but believed it was raspberry wine, or pop, and no person paid for these refreshments.

Railways Found Guilty.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The jury in the sessions yesterday, after a short deliberation, returned a verdict of guilty against both the C. P. R. and the Grand Trunk, for maintaining a nuisance and for failure to protect life and property at the foot of Bay street.

The railroads will appeal to a higher court, on the main ground that they were under the jurisdiction of the Railway Board. Judge Winchester held that they were amenable to the charge of criminal negligence laid against them.

Charge Fell Through.

Bowmanville, Jan. 18.—Charles Lehmann, proprietor of the Bennet House, charged with obtaining money under false pretences from John J. Griffiths, appeared before Police Magistrate Horsey Thursday. No false representations or statements were proved, and he was accordingly acquitted. Griffiths, it appeared, loaned $4,490 to Lehmann, who was to repay him $50 a month, and has paid small sums from time to time.

Afraid of Aged Woman

Brockville, Jan. 18.—A venerable looking old woman named Mrs. J. McAvoy of Rockport was bound over in the sum of $200 at the Police Court sittings yesterday on the complaint of J. R. Rogers, a neighboring farmer, who say he is afraid the woman will do him bodily harm. The pair are bad friends over a deal in real estate, Rogers claiming the woman went back on an agreement to sell him a piece of wooded land.

Masonic Temple Burned.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 18.—The Masonic Temple on North Charles street, between Lexington and Saratoga streets, was badly damaged by fire early yesterday.

Another Theatre Panic.

Ingersoll, Jan. 18.—The explosion of the moving picture machine which was followed by fire caused a panic at the Theatorium Thursday night. The machine was elevated in the front window, which was demolished by the shock and intense heat.

The audience escaped by way of a rear exit.

The firemen extinguished the fire, which seriously damaged the building. The machine, which was valued at $350, together with other paraphernalia, was destroyed.

The Jap Fleet.

Tokio, Jan. 18.—The Foreign Office is in receipt of a despatch from Washington, pointing out that there is much uneasiness in American in consequence of sensational reports emanating from Europe concerning the distribution of the Japanese naval fleet.

Admiral Sato, Minister of Marine, said yesterday that he was willing to make a full statement if it would in any way allay excitement, but he considered the rumors from Europe hardly worth attention.

Yankee Cutters to Rescue Britishers.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 18.—The revenue cutters Perry and Thelis left Seattle Thursday night to seek possible survivors of the British ship Hartfield, believed to be lost off the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Costly Fire In Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Fire broke out at No. 239 St. James street west at 6.30 yesterday morning, badly damaging the stocks and fittings of a number of establishments. The total damage is about $20,000.

Reverse For Sinn Fein.

Dublin, Jan. 18.—The Sinn Fein adherents suffered reverses at the municipal elections, electing only three of the eleven candidates contesting in twenty wards.

Two villages in Russia have been inundated by a heavy ice jam on the Kuban river. [illegible]

Wholesale Burial of Babe's Bodies

Detroit, Jan. 18.—That the bodies of thirteen little babies were buried in a trench from 36 to 40 feet long in Forest Lawn cemetery Tuesday afternoon is the statement made by a reputable physician of North Detroit.

It is said that most of the bodies came from a maternity hospital on Grand River avenue. Others died in institutions on Trumbull and Lafayette avenues.

The undertaker who had charge of the funerals did not take the bodies out to the cemetery at the time of death, because it would not pay to do so. So he waited until there were a half dozen or more on hand and then took them out in one large waggon, thus saving considerable expense.

The health board records show that 13 infants were buried Tuesday afternoon.

Superintendent Sherrill, of Forest Lawn cemetery, denies that the bodies were buried in a trench, or that any such large number of bodies were buried lately. He did admit, however, that some time ago, nine were buried at one time, but that each little body was placed in a separate grave two and one-half feet wide.

After the denial made by Superintendent Sherrill, the man who gave out the information was called by telephone and described the exact location of the alleged trench, and said that he was willing to make an affidavit that he saw it and that it was at least thirty feet long.

He said that Superintendent Sherrill himself called attention to this wholesale burial of little ones who, after being deserted or given away by their mothers, had come to their death from neglect.

A million dollars has been contributed by a New York man, who refuses to allow his name to be made known, to organize a fight against tuberculosis throughout the state.

The Prince Regent of Bavaria, in granting pardons to two murderers, has declared his intention not to sign any more death warrants.

Prison Work of Salvation Army

Will be Topic of Brigadier Collier's Address at Barracks To-morrow Afternoon

Brigadier Collier, of Toronto, of the prison gate department of the Salvation Army arrives in the city to-night and will deliver an address at the barracks after his arrival. He will speak at all three meetings to-morrow and in the afternoon speak on the absorbing topic of "the prison work of the Salvation Army." The adherents and friends of the army are cordially invited to attend.

BETHEL NEWS NOTES

What is Going on in That Neighborhood in Emily.

A party of Bethel young people numbering twenty attended the tea held at Lebanon on Monday evening last. They had a most enjoyable drive and were well entertained when they arrived at Lebanon.

Miss Ida Switzer is visiting her sisters, the Mesdames Jones, of Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Shirey of Bracebridge, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Shire's mother, and her brother Robert.

Miss Jennie Kerr is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Miss Olive Switzer and Miss Eva Mills are attending the Epworth League convention held at Lindsay this week.

Isaac and Willie Guthrie are visiting their many friends at Midland.

Has Received an Important Appointment

The many friends and relatives of Mr. J. Arthur Hall, son of the late Frederick Hall, Deputy Sheriff of Peterborough, and nephew of the present Sheriff, James A. Hall, will be pleased to hear that he has been appointed as Assistant Electrical Inspector to the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association in connection with the Toronto or head office of the Western Division. Mr. Hall was appointed solely on his own merit, having passed through the various stages of electrical construction work during the past eight years. Mr Arthur Hall left Peterborough about twelve years ago and was brought to Toronto by his brother-in-law, Mr. H. F. Strickland, who was at that time in the electrical business in Toronto, and having served three years with this firm went away to United States and has worked in most of the principal cities there. About four years ago Mr. Hall was married and returned to Toronto, where he has always held positions in connection with important electrical construction work with several of the largest electrical firms doing business, and has now been appointed to the position referred to.

The Electrical Department of the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association is under the management of Mr. H. F. Strickland, also a Peterborough boy.

SLEEPLESS BABIES ARE SICKLY BABIES

Well, babies sleep soundly and wake up brightly. When little ones are restless, sleepless and cross it's the surest sign that they are not well. Probably the stomach or bowels is out of order, or it may be teething troubles. Give Baby's Own Tablets and see how quickly the child grows well and happy and sleeps soundly and happily. Not the drugged sleep of "soothing" medicines, but the natural sleep of health. You have the guarantee of a government analyst that this medicine contains no poisonous opiate or narcotic, and you can give the Tablets just as safely to a new born babe as to the well grown child. Sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail, at 25 cents a box, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Smashed Wires are Now Repaired

Mr Jas. Bremener, of the construction department of the Bell Telephone Company has returned from Port Hope, Cobourg and Millbrook, where he has been engaged in assisting in the work of putting in new wires on the lines that suffered from the effects of the heavy storm of last Sunday. Mr. Bremener says the wires were in very bad shape, and a gang of 40 men from Hamilton, Toronto and other places were kept three days in making the repairs. The service was completely paralyzed on many lines by reason of the storm, and ice six inches thick had formed on many o the poles. The work is completed now, however, and the lines are again in perfect working order.

Special Meeting of Fire Brigade

A special meeting of the Fire Brigade will be held on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock for the purpose of meeting the Fire, Water and Light committee and discussing some matters that require adjustment.

Astronomical Society Has Its Annual

Officers Elected at Meeting Last Night—An Address on Jupiter

The annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Royal Astronomical Society was held last night at the Y. W.C.A. There was a good attendance of the members and considerable business was transacted, including the election of officers for the ensuing year. A feature of the evening was an interesting address on Jupiter, by Rev. Dr. Marsh. The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—Rev. Dr. Marsh
1st Vice Pres.—Mr. H. B. Collier,
2nd Vice Pres.—Sheriff Hall.
Secretary—Mr. S. Lowry.
Treasurer—Dr. T. C. Neal,
Councillors—Messrs. G. M. Roger, H. O. Fiske, and S. Lowry.

The treasurer's report showed the finances of society to be in good condition. After the business part of the meeting was over, an interesting discussion took place on subjects of interest to the members.

ADDRESS ON JUPITER.

Dr. Marsh gave a very interesting talk on the planet Jupiter.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES

It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see the latest Parisian and New York styles in Hair Goods, yet such is the case, as Prof. Dorenwend, of Toronto, is visiting this town, and invites your inspection of these goods at his private apartments reserved at the hotel.

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adjusted protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face, and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at Oriental hotel on Jan. 27th

Civic Sermon at Murray Street

Mayor and Aldermen Will Attend Worship To-morrow Night

The Mayor, aldermen and civic officials will meet at the city clerk's office to-morrow evening at 6.30 o'clock, and will march in a body to Murray street Baptist church where Rev. J. R. Webb will deliver a sermon to the visitors.

It will be the annual civic discourse. Mr. Webb's discourse will be on the subject "Service in God's larger house."

Tenders Called for Another Section

More Work Will Soon be Under Contract on Canal Section

Tenders are being called for the construction of section 8 on Trent Valley canal and will be accepted until March 14th. This section includes about 7 miles of river from a point 10 miles above Trenton to Bradley's Bay. The work will consist chiefly of dredging along the Trent river. At Chisholm's Rapids which is five miles from Stirling, however, some extra work will be done in the removal of the ruins of an old dam and lock supposed to have been built about 1837 by the British government. At this point rock channel will have to be enlarged about half a mile and a new lock and new dam constructed. At this point the old Central Ontario railway crosses the Trent. This section ends at Bradley's Bay, three miles above the rapids.

APPEALED TO THE CZAR.

Gen. Stoessel Ask For Fair Hearing In His Defence.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 18.—Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel Thursday night sent a protest direct to Emperor Nicholas against the exclusion of witnesses for the defence and other alleged discriminations by the court-martial which is trying him on the charge of having surrendered Port Arthur to the Japanese before the resources of the fortress were exhausted.

As a result of this action Gen. Stroukoff, Emperor Nicholas' personal aide-de-camp, was present in court for the purpose of furnishing a report direct to His Majesty. It was noticable that the judges showed the defence greater consideration than heretofore.

In the telegram Gen. Stoessel said he believed that Emperor Nicholas would not refuse an old soldier every opportunity to clear his impeached honor.

Boy's Dangerous Trick.

St. Catharines, Jan. 18.—A peculiar case has been reported from Beamsville. A young lad named Kerr is said to have gone to Dr. Fairfield's drug store and askel for five cents worth of Spanish fly blister. The doctor told him it was poison and asked what he wanted it for. The boy said his father wanted to blister a horse and the sale was completed.

The boy then went to Tufford's livery, where he found some companions, one of whom had a quantity of chocolates. Kerr took some of the candy and placed some of the fly blister inside and gave it to Gordon Russell, who knew nothing of what he had done. Russell was taken ill, and it was with difficulty that he was revived. Russell will not lay any information, but the county police have the matter in hand.

Woman's Leap to Death.

New York, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Herbert M. Sears, 40 years old, a guest at the Hotel St. Regis, committed suicide yesterday by jumping from a thirteenth-storey window.

Mrs. Sears had been a frequent visitor at the St. Regis for several years. She always came to the hotel accompanied only by a maid, and frequently remained there several days.

Her actions were described by the hotel people as erratic, and the maid always maintained a close watch over her mistress.

The body of Mrs. Sears fell on the roof of a four-storey building adjoining the St. Regis.

Mrs. Sears left a note to her husband in her room in the hotel.

Charge Dropped.

Berlin, Ont., Jan. 18.—Cecil Simpson, former agent of the Canadian Express Co., who has been in jail almost a month awaiting preliminary trial on a charge of stealing $2,100 of the company's funds, was yesterday discharged from custody.

Simpson will at once go to the company's head office, and it is expected will shortly be in the service again. The money has been raised here to make good the shortage. The Knights of Pythias raised about $500.

Lamp Upset; Woman May Die.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Conners, an old lady living in the rear of 38 Alexander street, was probably fatally burned last night by a lamp exploding which set fire to her clothing. Mrs. Conners lived alone.

Fire at Aylmer.

Aylmer, Ont., Jan. 18.—Fire broke out here yesterday morning, completely destroying Newell & House's warerooms and J. B. Hambridge's cold storage. The amount of insurance is not yet known.

SIX SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Explosion of Dynamite on the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Kenora, Jan. 18.—Another accident has occurred at Thompson & Egan's sub-contract on the G. T. P., this time in Camp No. 1, east of Hawk. Six men were seriously injured by an explosion of dynamite while on a piece of excavation work. They were brought here Thursday night and placed in hospital.

Their injuries consist of broken limbs, scalp wounds and injured eyes, and are not considered beyond medical aid. The patients are foreigners, and their names cannot be ascertained at present.

Suing Newfoundland Government.

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 18.—Railroad Contractor Reid, promoter of the Reid Newfoundland Co., has filed a claim for $1,200,000 damages against the Newfoundland Government. Mr. Reid claims that the Government subsidized a line of steamers competing with one of his lines, which has been in operation for several years.

Reid has already obtained several millions of dollars from the colony as damages, due to the Government amending a railway contract made with him in 1898.

Theatre Fire Victim.

St. Catharines, an. 18.—The young boy, Lorne McDermott, son of Charles McDermott, who was burned while running the moving picture machine at the Hippodrome Theatre fire Wednesday afternoon, died yesterday at the hospital.

Coroner Merritt states that it was purely an accident, and no inquest will be held.

Hon. John Charlton Dying.

Delhi, Jan. 18.—Hon. John Charlton is lying at his home in Lynedoch dying from a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Charlton was in Delhi on Wednesday and was taken ill just after he got home.

As this is the second stroke, the physicians hold out slight hope for his recovery.

Violated Scott Act.

Moncton, N. B., Jan. 18.—Andrew Melanson was yesterday arrested for Scott Act violation, and within half an hour of the time of his arrest had been sentenced to one month in Dorchester Penitentiary. He bought liquor in the bar-room and retailed it to another man, who was arrested later.

RAILWAYS MUST OBEY

Orders of Commission Must Be Respected Says Mr. Lemieux.

Members Complain of Bad Service and Contemptuous Indifference — Estimates For Public Works—Cost of Royal Mint Severely Criticized—Mr. Pugsley Under Fire—Member For Nicolet Takes Seat.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—Another new member was presented yesterday, Mr. Turcotte, who was victor in a bye-election in Nicolet. He was introduced by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Brodeur.

Before the orders of the day were called, Mr. Ames corrected his statement of the expenses of Sir Charles Tupper in connection with the French treaty of 1893. He had said Sir Charles' expenses were $190.19, where, as he had since ascertained, the amount was $1,830.40.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier told Mr. Borden the statement of the Postmaster-General of the result of his mission to Japan would be given on Tuesday next.

Mr. Borden called the attention of the Postmaster-General to the manner in which mail bags were thrown off at Packingham, Lanark County. On occasions bags had fallen under the wheels of the train and the mail matter destroyed. Mr. Lemieux promised an investigation.

On going into supply, Mr. Bennett (Simcoe) renewed his request for a statement of the Government's intentions with regard to the production of papers before the committee.

Mr. Pugsley said he had instructed his officials to return papers to the Department, but he was willing to convenience the committee in any reasonable way.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier added a word, for which he received Opposition applause. He pronounced a reversal of the policy adopted by Mr. Pugsley, promising the papers would be left in the custody of the clerk of the committee, where they could be inspected.

Mr. Taylor (Leeds) again complained of the railway connections at Brockville. Although the Railway Commission had issued an order calling for a better service there had been no improvement. It was time to take the Railway Commission by the throat. They had extended the time at the request of the railways, regardless of the interests of the people.

Mr. Sifton, speaking from the Government side of the House, supported Mr. Taylor. The condition of affairs was ridiculous. The Minister of Railways and Postmaster-General should send their representatives to the Railway Commission to compel them to redress the grievance.

Mr. Lemieux agreed that Mr. Taylor had a substantial grievance. He promised to go with Mr. Taylor to the Railway Commission, and to see that the orders of that body were respected.

Jean Baptiste Morin (Conservative, Dorchester) also drew attention to the unsatisfactory connections between the I. C. R., the Quebec Central and the Grand Trunk, and Mr. Lemieux promised to look into it.

A. H. Blake (South Essex), chairman of the public accounts committee, explained that Mr. Northrup, who had charge of the Ross rifle enquiry, had agreed with counsel for Sir Charles Ross that the rifle investigation should not be taken up again until next week.

Mr. Boyce (Conservative, Algoma) asked if the Government were aware that the Grand Trunk Pacific was buying ties in the United States. Mr. Conmee (Liberal, Rainy River) pointed out that the Ontario Government imposed stumpage dues on railway ties, whereas in Minnesota the settler got everything on the land. The Government dues on ties amounted to 10 to 12 cents a tie in the Rainy River district.

William Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, was yesterday afternoon called upon to explain the expenditures on the royal mint, which will cost over half a million, including $43,000 for a fence and a house for the guard, Twenty-nine thousand dollars was the cost of the fence alone.

The House went into supply, taking up the estimates of the Public Works Department. Mr. Reid (Grenville) appeared in the role of chief inquisitor.

Mr. Pugsley said there has been expended on the royal mint up to Nov. 30, 1907, $403,000. An additional grant of $30,000 would be required to complete the building, and it was estimated that the total cost, including machinery, would be $509,701.

The admission that the Minister intended to ask the House for an additional $30,000 after the $25,000 placed in the estimates had been voted, was deception, in the view of the opposition. Mr. Fielding said he had "held down" the Ministers, and the final estimates not being prepared, the total vote was laid over for the supplementaries.

Mr. Bristol (Centre Toronto) said it would cost Canada $100,000 a year for the luxury of counting our own money, but Mr. Fielding pointed out that the resolution to establish a mint received the unanimous consent of the House. The mint was the best equipped in the world.

Mr. Bristol observed that the original estimates were only half of the actual cost. Mr. Pugsley replied that the estimate for building and fence was $350,000, and the contract price $253,000 for building and $43,000 for fence and guard house. The site cost $21,000.

The cost of the fence came in for considerable criticism. Bennett of Simcoe ascertained that $25 for each lineal foot of fence was the cost to the people of the country, there being 200 feet of this substantial affair.

Mr. Pugsley added $6,000 to the cost of the fence, making it $50,000. The new item was for the new foundations.

Dr. Reid said he was informed that machinery bought for the mint at a cost of $85,000 could have been bought for $25,000.

Dr. Barr asserted that a large amount of the money paid in excess of the estimates had probably gone into the pockets of middlemen, and some of it would find its way back to the election fund.

Mr. Fielding intimated that the end was not yet. The Imperial authorities had suggested a residence for the deputy minister (cost $20,000), and a metal refinery.

The item then passed, and the House proceeded to discuss an item for an extension of the east wing of the Parliament Buildings. The work, Mr. Pugsley said, would cost over $300,000.

PREMIERS HELD CONFERENCE.

British and French Ministers Discuss Situation In Morocco.

Paris, Jan. 18.—Premier Clemenceau, Foreign Minister Pichon and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the British Premier, who passed through the French capital on his way from Biarritz to London, recently had a long conference regarding the situation in Morocco, the result of which, however, has not been made public.

In face of the growing fanaticism of the Moors in favor of Mulai Hafid, who now has been proclaimed Sultan at both Morocco City and Fez, the position of France and Morocco is increasingly difficult. Apprehensions are cropping up that perhaps France may have been backing the wrong horse, and that it would be better to accept Mulai Hafid if he does not repudiate the Algeciras act. At any rate, the Government is now marking time pending developments. Active French support of Abd-el-Aziz, which at present could only injure his cause with the Moors in the interior, will now be withdrawn and a position of nominal neutrality will be assumed.

A scrutiny in the ballots cast in the local option vote in Saltfleet township has been ordered by the judge.

Charles H. Lovell, Liberal, and A. H. Moore, Conservative, were nominated for the House of Commons, to represent the county of Stanstead at Ayr's Cliff, Quebec, yesterday.

SUCCESS OF MRS. HODGSON

Mrs. J. E. Hodgson, of this city, has been successful in passing with excellent standing her pianoforte examinations at the University of Toronto. Mrs. Hodgson is a talented pupil of Mr. Rupert Gliddon of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, and her success reflects much credit upon her ability and that of her teacher.

Mr. Elcome Gave Address to Boys

A large number of boys were present last night to hear Mr. Elcome's talk on "How to classify birds," which was entertaining as well as instructive.

After the address the boys' membership canvass was opened. Twenty-five new paid members are to be secured and the proceeds devoted to their rooms, which will be renovated and new games and papers put in. On the last Friday of January a "champions" banquet is to be held at which only new members and those who brought them in will be present. Several fellows have already stated they have a ticket secured in this way and everything points to success.

The Largest Jack Manufacturer in the World Writes about Zutoo

Regarding your Zutoo Tablets I beg to say: I have been a sufferer from headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all, of the so-called "cures" on the market, till warned by my physician to discontinue their use on account of their bad effects on the heart. Some months since my attention was called to your Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a "sick" or "nervous" headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effect. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from headache and they never fail to give quick relief. I find them a good remedy for "sour" stomach as well as headache. I always carry them in my grip on the road and would not be without them at any cost.

FRENZIED DOG ATTACKS LITTLE CHILD

Jennie Smith, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Smith, James st., east city, was the victim of a brutal attack by a big canine this morning while playing. The dog, which is a very vicious animal had been chained up in the yard of Mr. R. Heal, but somehow it broke away and after being so securely bound for such a long time, the beast was in a frenzied state and jumped at the child. A bad wound was inflicted on the child's face, causing her much pain.

Medical aid was summoned and no serious results are anticipated.

Sovereign Bank is no Longer in Existence

Forced to go Into Liquidation on Account of Heavy Liabilities Handed Down to Present Management by Predecessors—Branches and Agencies Have Been Taken Over by Other Large Canadian Banks—Depositors and Customers Amply Protected.

Word was received in Peterborough late last night that the Sovereign Bank was in acute financial difficulty, and a few of those closely in touch with the financial situation were apprised that the bank was about to suspend. The newspaper despatches this morning, created considerable interest when they were bulletined, but the failure to do the Sovereign did not materially affect Peterborough, as there was no branch here, and no Peterborough people are among the stockholders.

A Toronto despatch has the following information concerning the bank's going into liquidation;—

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The Sovereign Bank of Canada is no more. This morning its various offices will be open as usual, and doing business as usual, but under the ownership and control, in fact, as the branch offices of a number of other banks which have taken over its affairs and assumed all its liabilities.

There is no cause for excitement or alarm. The absorption, for such it is, is due to the exceptional strain of the past few months.

The assets are declared by other bankers to be sufficient to meet all the liabilities.

Mr. Jarvis, the manager, discussing the matter last night, said that the liquidation was not liable to cause any difficulty in commercial circles. The bank's business customers were not numerous, and the various accounts, he thought, would readily be taken over by the other institutions, among which the Sovereign's clientele would be distributed.

The Sovereign Bank will liquidate as follows:

$11,000,000 deposits will be taken up by other banks.

$3,750,000 call loans on stock will have to be paid or taken up by other banks.

$11,120,124 commercial loans will have to be paid or taken over by other banks.

$2,000,000 bonds and stocks will have to be sold.

$600,000 real estate and bank premises will have to be sold.

$3,000,000 in capital will share in proportion to the amount realized from assets over liabilities.

Acting in unity with the members of the Canadian Bankers' Association, a scheme was evolved by which the Sovereign Bank will disappear from the list of Canadian banks, the various undertakings of the institution being absorbed in the larger and stronger concerns.

By the method evolved there is not the least necessity for concern to depositors, as the transition from the defunct bank to another will be automatic.

The various branches of the Sovereign have been apportioned to the Bank of Montreal, Bank of Commerce and others which have entered into the arrangement, and to-day the old Sovereign branches will open up in full charge of the banks which have taken them over.

LIST OF BANK'S BRANCHES.

The following is a list of the branches of the Sovereign Bank established throughout Canada;—

Ontario — Amherstburg, Aylmer, Beaverton, Berlin, Belmont, Brampton, Brechin, Brucefield, Burk's Falls, Chatham, Claremont, Clinton, Dashwood, Durham, Erin, Exeter, Fletcher, Goderich, Haileybury, Harrietsville, Harrow, Havelock, Hensall, Huntsville, Ilderton, Lambeth, London East, Markham, Millbank, Milverton, Monkton, Mount Albert, Mount Forest, New Dundee, New Liskeard, Newmarket, North Bay, Ottawa (two branches), Owen Sound, Pefferlaw, Penetanguishene, Perth, Queensville, Rockland, Sandwich, South River, South Woodslee, Sprucedale, St. Catharines, St. David's, St. Jacob's, Stirling, Stouffville, Teeswater, Thedford, Thorndale, Tilbury, Toronto, Tweed, Unionville, Windsor, Wyoming, Zurich.

Quebec—Plain, Brome, Dunham, Frelighsburg, Montreal, Stanbridge East, Standstead, Sutton, waterloo.

THE GUARANTORS.

The banks that have assumed the business of the Sovereign Bank are:

Bank of Montreal.
Canadian Bank of Commerce.
Bank of Nova Scotia.
Bank of Toronto.
Imperial Bank of Canada.
Dominion Bank.
Merchants' Bank of Canada.
Bank of British North America.
Royal Bank of Canada.

East City Lady Has Narrow Escape From Awful Death

Miss Addie Dodds, Mark St., Nearly Drowned While Skating on Lake Superior, a few Weeks Ago—Skated Into Airhole—Was Visiting Friends in Rossport.

Miss Addie Dodds, of 352 Mark-st., east city, who is at present visiting with her sister in Kenora, had a very narrow escape from an awful death by drowning a few weeks ago. Miss Dodds left here a few days before Christmas and spent Christmas and New Year's holidays with relatives in Rossport, a small village about three hundred miles from Kenora. The day after New Year's she with her brother and several other young people was skating on Lake Superior. They had skated a long distance out from shore. The lake was one sheet of clear ice and the party did not keep together, but separated and were going all directions. There was a large airhole in the lake that the party knew of, and they endeavored to keep away from it. However, there was a thin sheet of ice frozen over it the night previous and Miss Dodds thinking it quite safe, skated right into it. She at once realized her mistake and screamed vigorously for assistance. She endeavored to save herself by grabbing the ice around her, but it being so thin it gave way. Her brother heard her and rushed to her rescue. Reaching out his hockey stick he pulled her out, and brought her home.

Needless to say Miss Dodds was terribly frightened, but otherwise she did not receive any more than a good drenching. Her many friends here will be pleased to know that she at present is in good health and none the worse for her thrilling experience.

Great Success of Allan Mission

Another Large Attendance at St. Andrew's Church Last Night

All who have been sufficiently fortunate to take in the service in St. Andrew's church last night enjoyed a treat in the intensely interesting and instructive address of the Rev. Andrew Allan. It is the judgment of the minister of St. Andrew's that of all the addresses at the many Bible conferences he has attended at Northfield and Winona, the discourse of the Rev. A. Allan is equal to any and far superior to many. In a very large degree the preacher possesses the mental acumen of a Campbell Morgan, the spiritual fervor of Andrew Murray, the evangelistic note of a Wilbur Chapman, and the prayer spirit of S. D. Gordon, but, above all, he is like these men because he has seen the vision of the same Master and is seeking to encourage and stimulate others to follow the leadership of the same Christ.

The address was preceded by a bright song service. The preacher appealed to all present to look to Christ as the only one that could give satisfaction to the full.

Mr. Allan's mission will continue till Wednesday night next. To-morrow he will preach at both services in St. Andrew's, and in the Y.M.C.A. at four o'clock. Each afternoon at 3.30 (Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday) he will continue the Bible readings.

While the responsibility of inviting Mr. Allan to Peterborough has been gladly assumed by St. Andrew's, a most cordial invitation was publicly extended to all the churches by the pastor to join in these specially inspiring, instructive and edifying meetings.

IS LAYING IN PROVISIONS

Mr. Miller Buying To-day for Charity

Mr. Jacob Miller, city relief officer, is making good today in the role of charity shopper, and is on a mission of mercy. He bought eleven bags of potatoes and a quantity of beef to be given to those in the city dependent on charity, as a means of sustenance and these will be distributed according to the requirements of those in need. The potatoes were stored in the police station this morning.

Mr. Miller informed The Review today that steady demands were being made upon the Charity Board, and he is kept very busy and often is puzzled as to how he ought to meet them.

THE STONE PILE.

The stone pile that is being provided to furnish work to those who have no other means of support is not the industrial attraction that it was thought it would be at first. Several have welcomed it as a means of employment but to others it appeals only as a last resort. Many seem to think it calls for expenditure of too much strenuosity with too small financial returns.

LEARN DRESSMAKING

We teach you everything from the plainest shirt waist to the most elaborate toilet that can be found in the fashion books. We show you not only the lining but all the outer goods in coats, skirts, waists, wrappers, sleeves, children's dresses, collars, etc. Why spend months at a dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes? And then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. You will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year, than you did the first day you went there. So, why spend your time there when we can teach you in less than two weeks? You can come and try for a few days and if the course is not what we have advertised it to be you have the privilege to stop. As there is no pay in advance you certainly do not lose anything by trying. If you do not wish to be a professional dressmaker the cost is so small that you can well afford to take it up if only for your own use. We have taught over 7,000 in this way within the past five years.

Charge for full course is only $10, to be paid when through, including one of the most perfect fitting charts in use which we give free. An evening class will also be taught for the benefit of those that can not come during the day. In this class we will teach shirt waists, sleeves and [illegible]. Terms $4.00. Hours from 7:00 to 9:30. We will teach at Peterborough from January 30 to February 7. Hours for day class form 8:30 to 5:00. For full information we would be pleased to have all those interested call and have the system explained to them at the Oriental Hotel, on Wednesday, January 29, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Mr. J. C. Shook Appointed President of Local Y.M.C.A.

Annual Meeting of the Association Held Last Evening—Reports of Several Committees Were Read and Confirmed—Finances Show Deficit—Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. was held last evening, when only a fairly large number of the directors and members of the Association were present. The retiring president, Mr. R. B. Harding, was in the chair and opened the meeting with prayer, after which the reports of the different committees were read and adopted. While the reports were not probably as gratifying as they might have been, they were very fair. The changing of physical director and secretary, at an important period of the year, no doubt disconnected the work for a time, but now things seem to be running nicely and everything is favorable for a good year's work. The financial statement showed a deficit of some $1,800. In the fall it was thought that after the campaign, sufficient funds had been raised to carry on the work on a sound financial basis. However, $600 subscribed had not been paid, and owing to other necessary expenditures, the Association has been left with a deficit.

Mr. J. C. Shook was elected President of the Y.M.C.A., in succession to Mr. R. E. Harding, who has filled that office faithfully for the past two years.

Mr. Harding, in opening the meeting, was glad to see so many present. The Association had reached the close of another year. Y.M.C.A. work was a noble one. He would like to see many more young men actively engaged in the work. Bring them in off the street corners and show them that the institution is for their benefit, and they would take advantage of the opportunities held out to them.

REPORT OF RELIGIOUS WORK

We are glad to report a continued interest in the Sunday afternoon meetings since the 1st of June. They were continued all through the summer with a good attendance and lots of interest. Thirty-one meetings have been conducted, mostly addressed by the pastors of our city. There has been an attendance of at least 1,200 at these meetings, and 18 conversions are known to have resulted from them. The interest is still being well maintained, and every effort will be put forth to make this the strongest department of the work.

The Evangelistic Band meetings have been conducted frequently and attended by at least one hundred.

A successful song service has been conducted recently in the parlor on Sunday evenings from 8.30 to 10 o'clock. This has been attended by about seventy-five since started.

Respectfully submitted,
J. F. THORNTON,
Chairman Religious Work Committee.

Mr. Wilfrid Shiner, on behalf of the Bible Club, made a few remarks regarding the work of the Bible classes. In future Mr. A. Poe will have charge of the Saturday evening Bible class, Mr. J. C. Shook being unable to attend to it.

REPORT OF MEMBERSHIP COM.

The main thing in connection with the membership work for the past seven months has been the membership campaign in October, which was so successful. A large number of new members were received. A large number of pledges received at that time are yet unpaid, and there are a great many renewal memberships due. The membership at present stands as follows:—Full, 175, limited, 135; intermediates, 36; school boys, 69, making a total of 415, fully paid members on Jan. 1st, 1908. There are also 42 partly paid. This committee will put forth extra efforts this year to bring the privileges of the Association before non-members and we feel sure that, with the hearty co-operation of every member, we should at least have 700 members at that time next year.

Respectfully submitted,
WM McLAREN,
Chairman.

EDUCATIONAL COMMITTEE.

This report was read by Mr. E. [illegible]

So far as this department is concerned, the present is not an opportune time for a report, as we are just in the middle of the year's work. Some branches of the work are being carried on with marked success, and, while this cannot be said of all, yet there is, on the whole, ground for encouragement.

READING ROOMS.

This continues to be one of the most popular features of the Institution. The room is always filled with readers. It is proposed to place covers on the magazines which will tend to make the room tidy and attractive.

EVENING CLASSES.

As in former years this has proved the most discouraging feature of the work. Efforts were made to organize classes in mechanical drawing, architectural drawing, electricity, mechanical arithmetic and geometrical drawing, and a class in arithmetic, spelling, writing for employed boys. It seemed impossible to get enough pupils to guarantee a start in more than two classes.

DEBATING CLUB.

This, on the other hand, has proved a most interesting feature of the year's work. The club consists of about 24 active members, every one being an active member and taking part in the discussions. A very interesting programme has been mapped out for the remainder of the season, including a Mock Parliament. The success of the club is largely due the energy and enthusiasm of the president, Mr. W. G. Shiner, and the able, painstaking direction of the critic, Mr. J. E. Hodgson.

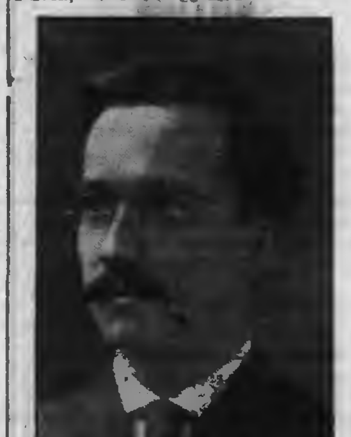
REPORT OF PHYSICAL COMMITTEE.

Your Physical Committee beg to present the following report:

Owing to the physical director having to devote so much of his time to other work in the beginning of the season, when the gymnasium classes required much attention, this department has suffered. The attendance during the fall season till 11th December has been:

Seniors—238.
Intermediates—403.
Senior School—[illegible]
Junior—300.

WM. RICHARDSON,
Chairman.



MR. H. C. WRIGHT
Secretary of the Peterborough Y. M. C. A.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

Mr. Garnet Galley reported that good work was being done among the boys. The recent campaign brought in a good number of new boys. The summer camp was well attended and a good time was spent. The Bible classes were fairly well attended and better things were hoped for in the future.

Mr. Richardson also read a very encouraging report on behalf of Mr. R. M. Glover for the Harrier Club. It reviewed the work for the past year, referring to the indoor meet held at Brock street rink and to the intention of the club to hold an outdoor next summer.

LADIES' AUXILIARY.

Miss N. Davidson, treasurer, presented this report. The receipts for the year were $116.14, and the expenditures were $68.90, leaving a balance of $47.24.

REPORT OF SOCIAL COMMITTEE.

For seven months, from 1st June, 1907, to 1st Jan., 1908. Not very much has been done in the social work since June 1st, as plans were just started when Mr. Williamson left. One reception was held in the building by St. John's A.Y.P.A., which proved very successful, about 150 attending. The Social Committee has been increased to 23 members and formed into a reception committee also, one of the committee to be in the building each evening to receive and welcome strangers and members. Plans for a larger work for the coming year are being made. The different Young People's Societies will be invited to hold receptions during the winter months to bring members of the Association in closer touch with the church.

Improvements will also be made in regard to the games and other social features.

The average attendance has been about the same, or slightly increasing.

Respectfully submitted,
C. E. COLEMAN,
Chairman of Social Committee.

The remainder of the reports presented will appear on Monday.

LIVELY DEBATE ENDED IN DRAW

St. Luke's Young People Discussed the Asiatic Problem

A most delightful time was spent Friday night at the literary evening of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. A large number were present. Mr. H. C. M. Potter, the president, occupied the chair. After the singing of a hymn Rev. Dr. Langfeldt conducted the devotional exercises. Business was then proceeded with, after which the following programme was rendered:

Violin solo—Miss Julia Choate.
Recitation—Mrs. Mowry.
Debate—"Resolved, that Asiatics be admitted into Canada." The affirmative side was supported by Mr. Guy Quartermaine and Mr. Arthur Pakenham; the negative side by Miss Mary Beatley and Miss Clara Adams.
Vocal solo—Miss Ruth Dawson.
Recitation—Mr. J. John
Paper—"Heroes of the Church of England," by Mr. H. C. M. Potter.
Recitation—Mrs. Mowry.

The various numbers were enthusiastically applauded and encored. The speakers in the debate acquitted themselves creditably. The judges, Messrs. E. M. Peck and J. W. Kelly, gave their decision in favor of both sides being equal. Arguments strongly supported by the affirmative were met by the negative so that in point of marks the contestants were even. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt moved a hearty vote of thanks to those who had given them such a delightful evening, and thanked Miss English for being so fortunate in providing such an excellent programme. He also commented on the debate and spoke in encouraging terms of this first effort in debating. The vote of thanks was seconded by Mr. Merton Adams and heartily endorsed by the audience. The rector closed the proceedings with the benediction.

SHOULD TAKE PRECAUTIONS

To Prevent Trouble With Moving Picture Machines in This City

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—During the past week accounts of a terrible accident reached us from the republic to the south of us, and which caused a terrible loss of life. Another accident happened the other day nearer home, in St. Catharines, which luckily did not result in any loss of life, but both happened from the same cause. A spark from the electric light running a moving picture show set fire to the films. This is liable to happen anywhere, and every precaution should be taken by the local authorities to insure the safety of our citizens from a like disaster. Those holding such shows should provide an exit away from light and films and an independent wire regulated from the outside or somewhere not connected with the machine in any way, and totally independent from it, should be provided, to ensure light if the other does explode, and not have a repitition of the St. Catarines accident, where the audience had to depend on the light from the burning film. No doubt our local shows do exercise every care to prevent such an accident, but that should not be sufficient. The authorities should see that there is no danger of an accident of this kind.

Yours, etc.,
AN OBSERVER.

CABINET HAS BEEN SELECTED

Mock Parliament on Wednesday Night Promises to be Interesting

The Mock Parliament which meets on Wednesday night at the Y.M.C.A., promises to be an unusually interesting one. The cabinet has been struck and the speech from the Throne, which was to have been the opening night, has been dispensed with, and the election held on the 8th Jan. was substituted. The Finance Minister will present his budget and it will be discussed afterwards. The opposition are preparing a strenuous fight against the extravagance of the government, and also have prepared a number of interesting questions, which the ministers will have to do some thinking to answer.

The cabinet is as follows:

Premier—Sir Wilfrid G. Shiner.
Minister of Finance—Hon. N. Greenhalgh.
Minister of Railways and Canals—Hon. B. A. Lillie.
Minister of Labor—Hon. Wm. McLaren.
Minister of Militia—Sir W. G. Shiner
Minister of Interior—
Minister of Customs—Hon. C. Coleman.
Minister of Public Works—Hon. B. A. Lillie.
Postmaster General—Hon. George Martin.

Hon. William Wright Gillespie, of Guelph, who died at Stormford, Conn., a few days ago, set up the first telephone in a private residence in Canada.

Albert McQuilton was crushed to death yesterday by a five ton rock rolling on him while he was working at the rock work at Crow Bay, near Campbellford, where a new power plant is being established.

A Happy 1908

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro' our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Midnight Marauders Create Sensation on Concession St.

Two Young Men Armed With Clubs Demanded Admittance to East City Residence Last Evening—Appeared in Police Court This Morning and Were Fined.

With treacherous looking sticks that were evidently taken from a picket fence and that had big nails projecting from them, two young men, Burke Stevens and a man by the name of Cassan walked up to Mr. David Flynn's residence in East City last night about twelve o'clock and demanded admittance. They were afterwards arrested by constables Meharry and Adams, and appeared before His Worship Magistrate Dumble this morning. They pleaded not guilty to a charge of being disorderly and attempting to break in a door. Mr. F. D. Kerr defended them. After having heard the evidence His Worship imposed in each case a fine of five dollars and costs amounting to $9.50 to be paid forthwith or ten days in gaol. After some little delay the necessary money was produced.

THE EVIDENCE.

Mr. David Flynn, who keeps a grocery store at the corner of Concession street and Carlisle avenue, was the first witness called. "It was just a few minutes to twelve when my daughter came to my room and awakened me", said Mr. Flynn. She said there were two men with clubs in their hands at the kitchen door and they wanted in. Mr. Flynn got up and went downstairs. He saw the two faces quite distinctly and recognized the prisoners as the midnight marauders. "What do you want?" witness asked. "Open the door and we will soon let you know what we are after" came the reply. Witness told them that they had better go but the answer from without was to the effect that they would go when they got ready. Mr. Flynn got his gun and when the prisoners looked in the window and saw the firearm they exclaimed "You have got a gun. Shoot and we can shoot too." They stood there for awhile and then they started shoving in the door, breaking the lock.

Miss Susie Flynn was the next witness. She said that she had not retired for the night when the men came to the door. They turned the knob of the back door several times. She opened it and saw the two men. They asked if Charlie McDonald was there. Witness replied no, and locked the door. They then forced it and succeeded partly in opening it. She called her father and 'phoned the police. Miss Flynn corroborated her father's story. It was only about twenty minutes until the police arrived.

A young man who was in the house at the time was called. Two men knocked at the door and demanded admittance. They had desperate looking clubs in their hands. His story of the affair was practically the same as that told by Mr. Flynn.

Mr. B. Stevens was the only prisoner called. He is employed with the Central Milling Co. He and his friend were out spending the evening. They had met a man by the name of McDonald and they saw him going to East City with two young ladies. They followed them. When they went up to Flynn's house they thought he was there. Stevens denied having a club but said that his friend had a small stick.

P. C. Adams sworn said that he got a 'phone message about midnight to come to East City. He and Meharry at once started out. Meharry went around by Douro street and witness took Rogers street. Meeting a respectable looking young man, who he took for a neighbor who probably had come to the assistance of Mr. Flynn, Mr. Adams asked "What is the matter?" The man replied "nothing". Meharry then hollered to arrest him. His name was Cassan and was afterwrds identified by Miss Flynn. Cassan was sober but Stevens appeared to be drunk.

His Worship imposed the above fine stating that it was a bold deliberate piece of business and such practices must stop.

A Great Doctor Speaks of a Great Remedy

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Strongly Endorsed by One of the World's Greatest Doctors—Hope for the Sick.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is the only advertised medicine in the world that has had the public endorsation of a doctor of world-wide reputation. Such an endorsation stamps this medicine as being worthy of the confidence of every person who is sick or ailing. A great doctor would not risk his reputation unless he was absolutely confident, through a personal knowledge, that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do what is claimed for them. Dr. Guiseppe Lapponi, one of the greatest physicians of modern times, for years the trusted medical adviser of the Pope, writes the following strong letter in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills;

"I certify that I have tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in four cases of the simple anaemia of development. After a few weeks of treatment, the result came fully up to my expectation. For that reason I shall not fail in the future to extend the use of this laudable prepartion, not only in the treatment of other morbid forms of the category of anaemia or chlorosis, but also in cases of neurasthenia and the like."

(Signed) DR. GIUSEPPE LAPPONI,
Coa dei Gracchi 332, Rome.

The "simple anaemia of development" referred to by Dr. Lapponi is of course, that tired, languid condition of young girls whose development to womanhood is tardy, and whose health, at the period of that development, is often imperilled. His opinion of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at that time is of the highest scientific authority, and it confirms the many published cases in which anaemia and other diseases of the blood, as well as nervous diseases, have been cured by these pills, which it need hardly be mentioned, owe their efficacy to their power of making new blood, and thus acting directly upon the digestive and nervous system. In all cases of anaemia, decline, indigestion, and all troubles due to bad blood and all affections of the nerves, as St. Vitus' dance, paralysis and locomotor ataxia, they are commended to the public with all the greater confidence because they have the strong endorsation of this great physician.

Bogus Money Was Passed on Local Express Co. This Week

A counterfeit twenty-five cent piece was passed in the city on Thursday afternoon by a member of a theatrical troupe. The young man purchased a money order at the Dominion Express office, and in payment gave the bogus quarter. That it was a counterfeit was not discovered until some hours after it had been received.

Upon the examination of the piece of money it could easily be seen that it was valueless. It was made of lead, and instead of the edge being indented it was perfectly smooth. The image of the King was a good one, and was about the only thing that made one believe that the quarter was genuine. Four marks, like as if made by a nail, were on the face of it.

There is no doubt as to the money piece being valueless. It is said that they are made in Toronto by certain parties who have their headquarters on Spadina Avenue. It is thought that the quarter was passed on account of the young man not knowing that it was bogus.

STORE WILL BE OPEN ALL DAY

Mr. Alex Gordon Makes a Progressive Move

Mr. Alex. Gordon, the city market butcher, has decided to keep his store open all day in future, for the greater convenience of his customers and the better handling of his rapidly growing trade. This move will doubtless be greatly appreciated by his patrons, who will thus be able to call or phone their orders at any hour of the day between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. Mr. Gordon has the newest machinery for the manufacture of sausage, and his stock of meats of all kinds will now be even better than ever.

Three Canadians Receive Honors

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 16—The Carnegie hero commission, at its fourth annual meeting held here, awarded nine silver medals and seven bronze medals for acts of heroism, besides $10,000 in cash to the heroes or their dependents and monthly payments during life to two widows and their minor children. The awards include:

John Bibby, aged 29, mate, of Gravenhurst, Ontario, Canada, on October 31, 1905, rescued James Jamieson, aged 40, and a companion, who were thrown into Muskoka Lake when a storm capsized their skiff. Silver medal.

William Raymond, aged 38, a teamster, of Lindsay, Ontario, Canada, on February 27, 1906, rescued Victor Henry, 10 years old, who broke through ice while skating. Bronze medal, and $300 to pay mortgage on house. Raymond has been ill and sustained a backset through exposure.

William Gilmour, aged 34, of Montreal, Canada, a printer, who, July 1, 1905, leaped from a St. Lawrence river steamer in an attempt to rescue John A. Morehouse, aged 10 who fell from the third deck. Silver medal and $1,000 to pay mortgage on his house.

NEW RAILWAY LINE

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 16.—That William McKenzie has been successful in his financial mission to England is well known by those who are closely connected with the Canadian Northern president here. The exact amount of money he has secured is not stated, but it is in the neighborhood of fifteen or sixteen million dollars. A goodly portion of this amount will be expended in the betterment of the lines already built and in operation in Western Canada. These lines are to be put in first-class permanent condition before any other extensive undertakings in the way of building new roads will be proceeded with in the West, though it is likely something will be done in connection with the Hudson's Bay line if it is found possible to do so.

The company's projects in Eastern Canada will receive much attention this year, and it will not be a surprise in some quarters if President Mackenzie announces on his return to Toronto that the company will proceed at once with the construction of their proposed line from Ottawa to Toronto. It is said that Mr. Mackenzie and his colleagues are very anxious to have their own line all the way from Lake Superior to Montreal and Quebec.

GETTING AFTER THE EDITORS

The Brockville Times gives the defeated editors a hard crack in the following: "Monday was a bad day for editors who butted into municipal contests—butted in as candidates, that is. Four were defeated and one elected. W. B. Burgoyne, of the St. Catharines Standard; Archibald McNee, of the Windsor Record; Mr. Sutherland, of the St. Thomas Journal, and W. S. Dingman, of the Stratford Herald, went down into the dust of defeat. W. V. Uttley, of the Berlin News-Record, alone won his contest, and that only by four little votes! Serves 'em all right; these forward and naughty persons ought to know better than to strive for municipal honors, when so many better men are available. It is bad enough for editors to presume to have ideas of their own and to express them in print; but to aspire to take a part in municipal administration is the limit."

Mrs. Isabella J., relict of the late G. P. Rogers, of Montreal, is dead, aged 88.

KILLED BY A COW'S TAIL

Binghampton, N.Y.—Wm. C. Wells, of Neward Valley, was milking, when a cow swished her tail, striking him on the forehead with the fleshy part of the appendage. Shortly afterwards, Mr. Wells returned to the house, complaining of a pain in the head, which rapidly grew worse. Physicians pronounced it apoplexy, brought on by the blow from the cow's tail. Mr. Wells died the same night.

Apoplexy is the result of poisoned blood. Bowels become constipated, kidneys get weakened, skin action becomes poor, and the blood is loaded with impurities, which produces weakness in the blood vessels.

Whenever there is headache, backache, neuralgia, rheumatism—it means blood poisoning. "Fruit-a-tives" are a certain cure for all these troubles.

"Fruit-a-tives" are made of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box. At all dealers.

SATURDAY, JAN. 11, 1908

EXPENSIVE TRAVELLER

Hon. Mr. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries in the Laurier Cabinet, seems to be a man of mystery. At least there is a mystery about Mr. Brodeur's travelling expenses in connection with his European trip last year. He left England in April, yet received $2,000 on account of the trip during the previous fiscal year ending in March. Other payments charged to this account amounted to $4,000, but Mr. Brodeur suggests that this included a part of the original $2,000, and also claims that while the government paid the fare of Mrs Brodeur and placed it in the public accounts, he had on his return from Europe refunded the money. It appeared that while the Minister received $2,000 before starting he left his Canadian railway fare and ocean steamship passage to be charged up in the accounts. The whole thing is one of those muddles which continually occur in the Marine Department. It is certain Mr. Brodeur's expenses were over $4,000, but whether they were over $6,000, he and his accountant together could not explain. Yet the whole expense and entertainment of the delegates to the Imperial Council and of the families with them was borne by the Imperial Government, so that from the time he put his foot in England till he left there the Minister was the guest of the nation. How he managed to spend the $4,000 or $6,000 or more chargeable to Canada is as mysterious as his accounting.

In the Marine Department the example of Mr. Brodeur and his predecessor is followed. The travelling expenses of the officers are outrageous. Officials not of high standing are allowed $10 a day living expenses. Some of them are said to be travelling on passes, while the country pays their way. Those who stay home have got the departmental books into such a mess that the Government has paid over $42,000 within the past few months to outside accountants to get them straightened out.

Meanwhile the lighthouse and coast service under their control has been a happy hunting ground for all manner of plunderers. It was shown in the session of 1906 that agents of American firms were selling to the department supplies bought from Canadian establishments right under the nose of the officers and making profits of from 60 to 190 per cent. in the transaction. The cost of the department has in ten years increased from a little over one million dollars to over five millions, the staff has been nearly doubled in number, and the scandals have been more numerous even than those in the Railway, the Militia, the Interior or the Public Works.

OBSCENE POST CARDS

The following from the Hamilton Herald will be of interest in other communities than Hamilton, where the obscene post card has obtruded itself. A short time ago the police were given a friendly tip as to how they might do some moral reform work on their own account, and on this set to work, with the result that, in a quiet way, they have accomplished some good work. They were informed that in several stores in the city there were offered for sale obscene picture postcards, and Chief Smith sent out his men and got some of them. Some were published in series and others singly, but all were such as to cause a blush to mantle the chief's cheek. He had those who offered them for sale informed that they were liable to be severely punished. He also told them that if they would give up all such cards to him for destruction he would not bring a charge this time. Some Take Two Obscene post cards agreed to this and gave up a number of very indecent ones, but one or two men tried to put the bluff that they could not be interfered with in the sale of the cards. They were shown a section of the criminal code which caused them to change their minds, and they gave up all they had. The section shown them was as follows: "Every person is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment, who knowingly, and without lawful justification, publicly sells or exposes for public sale, or to the public view, any obscene book or other printed matter, or any picture, photograph, model, or other subject tending to corrupt morals." Those who had the cards on sale agreed not to get any more, and they were threatened that, if they or others offered any more such obscene things for sale, or exposed them to view, they would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

PEN POINTS

In wishing its readers a happy New Year, the Montreal Witness asks not only for their co-operation and support, but their prayers, adding: "People pray for the King and for Parliament, for their relatives and for the communities in which they live, but how many of them count it a primary duty to pay for their own newspaper. Yet there is no power to-day that means more for good or ill than the press, and there is no agency that seems to need praying for more."

Hon. W. J. Hanna, addressing the electors at Petrolia, showed how the Ontario Government had kept all its pre-election promises. The numbered ballot had been abolished, and the Government had insisted in the strict pre-election promises. The numbered spect. He stated that it was the best policy to enforce both good laws and bad, as when bad laws were strictly carried out the people had it in their own hands to remedy them. He explained local option as being part of this license act and repudiated any sneak work done by the plotters. He dwelt on the advantages of the changes made in the public school acts by which, where in 1904 $118,000 was spent, now $380,000 was given.

He aroused great enthusiasm when he announced that the provincial surplus for 1907 was $2,000,000.

Enniskillen schools now get a school grant three times as large as in 1904.

He produced figures showing that the cost of school books had been reduced from $1.30 to 49 cents for the complete set of readers.

Chas. Lehmann Was Acquitted

Bowmanville, Ont., Jan. 10.—At the police court this morning Chas. Lehmann, the recent proprietor of the Bennett House here, was acquitted on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences from J. Griffiths. In the evidence given by Griffiths, it bonds to the extent of $4,190.00, which he loaned to Lehmann on the understanding that he was to repay him $50 per month until he was satisfied. Lehmann had paid him some of money from time to time, and there was nothing to show that Griffiths had been given any inducements to make the loan. In fact, he stated that he did not mind lending the money to to Lehmann if he wanted it. The county attorney advised the magistrate that the charge must fail, and Lehmann was accordingly acquitted.

NO SUCCESSOR TO DR. POTTS

Appointment of Treasurer of Victoria Was Postponed.

A Toronto despatch says:—The position of Treasurer of Victoria University, which was held by the late Dr Potts, will remain vacant for a while longer. It was thought that at the meeting of the board of Victoria, which was held yesterday, a successor to Dr. Potts would be appointed. This, however, was not done, the appointment being laid over till the next meeting of the board. The Hon. George A. Cox, who was associate treasurer with Dr. Potts, has been given the authority to select whom he thinks fit to perform the duties temporarily.

The board discussed fully the plans for the new Carnegie Library, and appointed a building committee with full power to proceed with the arrangements for the library.

The House of Commons again discussed the immigration policy of the Government yesterday.

THE MONARCHICAL SYSTEM

(By Chic.)

Many persons imagine that the monarchy of Great Britain is the most expensive government system of Europe, or in fact in the world. Let us see on what status she stands.

Admirers of monarchy, and there are evidently a good many to be found in the United States are expatiating upon the strength of the British throne, as disclosed by the respect shown to King Edward VII. by the press of that country. When Victoria the Good was on the throne, the respect shown her was more or less of a personal character, and if they were of an analytical turn of mind, they would see that the great respect shown Victoria was of a transcendent, sentimental kind and dependent on the character of the person on whom the Crown rests. Luckily for Britain, in Victoria's successor, we have a King who the whole world respects as the greatest peacemaker the world has ever known, and Britons everywhere hold to-day, as much for the present occupant of the throne, as they did for his respected and august mother. But let us for a moment imagine the throne occupied by a profligate prince or princess, or a frivolous, foolish Sovereign. Do they think that the strength of the institution would save it from attack?

One writer asks: "Suppose that the British Crown was worn by a person who disregarded the limits which unwritten rule has cast about its prerogatives. Suppose that King or Queen should insist on exercising some of the unused functions which many students of the British constitution say is still inherent in the kingship, for instance, refusing to sign measures which have not been clearly demanded by the electorate, or venturing to dismiss a ministry with a good majority behind it and invite the opposition to form a government, or making an arbitrary use of the kingly power to dissolve parliament or will to prorogue. Do you think that with the respect shown Edward the Seventh, or Victoria the Good, would make them immune from attack? Would monarchy be able to maintain itself while doing these things?"

Could Edward exercise the same prerogatives that some of his predecessors used, and enter into a struggle with the dominant party in the House of Commons with safety to the institution which is vested in them? I think not!

The popularity of the monarchy in Great Britain resides principally in the fact that monarchy has been almost abolished. The more it has effaced itself, except as a pageant, the more the people have admired it. To retain it they find it more convenient and economical than to introduce a new executive institution and under this disguise they have erected a more democratic and of a character more republican than any form of government the world has ever known. Radicals are able to bring about in Britain many things from which a nation more frankly democratic, would shrink. The glitter and tinsel of the royal pageants draw attention away from the progress of democracy and of socialism. The occupant of the throne in England would not have to contend with the nation, and Englishmen have secured individual freedom in spite of it, therefore Englishmen will tolerate its presence long after a more logical people would have brushed it out of sight.

The citizens of the United States have long ceased to contend against the idea of a survival of a monarchal form of government among the English speaking race, for they see that Britons have secured the same privileges which they have and have worked out the problem of liberty in their own way on a much less expensive basis. And Americans know that the tide of democracy is irresistible, however, slow its action, and in due time it will submerge every relic of caste and political privileges.

Now let us look and see what the British people pay for their monarchal pageant. When Victoria ascended the throne she resigned into the hands of the government of Great Britain, the hereditary revenues of the Crown, and in doing so she made a very bad bargain. Down to the time of the Restoration 1660, notwithstanding an attempt at negotiations with James I, and the parliament, for the commutation of the hereditary revenues of the Crown, the whole expense of the government of England, civil and military, were included in one list, or rather they were defrayed out of one fund, called the royal revenue. At the restoration a distinction was made between the extraordinary expenses incurred by war, and the ordinary cost of the civil government of the country. During the reign of William III the civil list amounted $3,300,000 annually. The expenditures included: 1. The royal household; 2. The privy purse; 3. royal palaces; 4. the salaries of the chancellor, judges, great officers of State and ambassadors; 5. The incomes given to the other members of the royal family, and 6. The secret service money, pensions and other irregular claims. During the reign of Queen Anne, the civil list remained nearly on their former footing. On the accession of George I, the civil list was raised to $3,402,000, and on that of George II to $3,900,000. When George III was on the throne, he found that this sum was inadequate to meet the expenditures and in 1769 and 177, parliament voted large sums of money for his relief, amounting to more than $4,800,000. In the latter year the civil list was raised to $3,600,000. When George IV ascended the throne, $1,250,000 expenditures was transferred to other funds and the civil list was fixed at $3,250,000. At this period, the Crown enjoyed the hereditary revenues of Scotland to the amount of about $570,000, and of Ireland of about $1,000,000. Against these sums were placed large expenditures which rightly belonged to the nation, rather than to the Crown. In 1830 a select committee was appointed to regulate the civil list and to separate the proper expenses of the Crown from all other charges. The result was that when William IV ascended the throne $2,175,000 was the annual appropriation set aside for the civil list of the Crown. This was exclusively devoted to the privy purse, the salaries and expenses of the household, secret service money and pensions. The civil list for Ireland was discontinued and the Scotch revenues and other items were now directed to be paid into exchequer. On the accession of Victoria, the civil list, which heretofore had been a compact between the sovereign and the government, and as such was beyond the control of parliament, during the life of the sovereign, was now settled by Acts 1 and 2 Vic. C. 2. Victoria surrendered for life the royal revenues in return for $1,800,000 annually to be devoted exclusively to the expenses of the royal household, and to the honor and dignity of the Crown. The application of this sum to the different branches of the Queen's privy purse, the salaries and expenses of the household, the royal bounty, alms and special services, was intrusted to the Lords of the Treasury.

King Edward did the same as his mother, surrendered the royal revenues, and accepting a clear yearly sum of $4,350,000. At the present moment the nation is making a profit on the bargain. This amounted to $112,500 in 1905, and is increasing rapidly. Among the properties thus assigned were considerable portions of the west end of London, including parts of Pall Mall and St. James. The rents on these properties have risen greatly in recent years and as fast as the leases expire, the authorities are increasing their demands. Many instances could be cited, but one will suffice. The land at 61 Portland Place has advanced from $25 annually to $625, and recently a new lease cost the lessee $4,500. So instead of the royal family receiving money from the English taxpayer, they are paying $112,000 for the privilege of being King and Queen and belonging to the Royal family of Great Britain. A few years before the decease of Queen Victoria, an act was passed allowing her to make a will. She had inherited $1,000,000 from a silly person, and other sums and properties were also willed to her personally. During her lifetime, (in 1852) the the Prince Consort himself purchased the Balmoral Castle and some adjoining estates, in all about 40,000 acres, and greatly improved it. This with Osborne House, Isle of Wight, was the private property of the Queen, previous to her death. So, not having the power to will any property, which according to 1 and 2 Victoria, she was not suppose to own private estates, she obtained power to make a will.

By the above will be seen that the people of the British Empire are ruled by a crowned head which is not costing them anything.

SPORTING NEWS

Some Horses Have Arrived For Ice Races, Jan. 21 and 22

The horses for the ice races on January 21st and 22nd are commencing to come into the city, and a number of good ones are at present stabled at the local hotel barns. Great interest is being manifested in the events by local and outside racing enthusiasts, and several people from Canadian and American cities are already here to see the events. The Turf Club is taking every means in their power to make a success of the races, and from every indication, will do so.

THE HORSES HERE.

Harry B., the property of Jas. Montgomery, Parry Sound, is stabled at the Snowden House and will be on deck for the free for all. Jim K., owned by Mr. Leo Ketcheson, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, Belleville, is chafing in his stable, anxious to get going in the .22 class. Orillia Belle, 2.15 1-4, the property of Mr. George Powell, the veteran horseman of Orillia, is registered at the National stable, and will start in the free-for-all. Honest Billy, owned by Gilks, of Barrie, is at the White House, and will do time in the .35 class. Al Patria, a fast green outsider, is at the National, and will get away in the .35 class. Of course there are many other steppers of prominence, which will start, and which will arrive here in due time for the races.

The Races Will be Very Fast Horsemen and Others Arriving

The horsemen and others who are to attend the ice races here on the 21st and 22nd are coming in fast, and the local hotel registers contain the names of several strangers here, entered as starters or spectators. The track is in the best possible condition, and as there are many first class steppers on the circuit this year, the races promise to be unusually interesting.

The Turf Club has done everything in its power to make the meet a success, and from present indications it will be. The public are assured of two days' keen racing, as the horses, having had lots of training in actual events this season, are in condition to make especially fast time.

Competition is Open to Schools

The competition for the best original pencil drawing from objects is open to all the city schools. Drawings are to be sent in on the 28th February.

It is suggested that the model used might be any of the following: Utensils of any kind, plants, fruits or vegetables or any object of interest arranged so as to form a group.

G.T.R. AND C.P.R. MEN LAID OFF

Said to be Due to Falling off in Traffic—A Poor Year

Two employes of the C.P.R. freight sheds and two of the office staff have been laid off. The services of two men from the G.T.R. yards have also been dispensed with. The action of the railway companies is attributed to the slackness in the freight traffic.

In United States owing to the failure of several large manufacturies, there has been a large falling off of freight business and naturally a sympathetic effect has been felt in Canada. The freight traffic in both Canada and the States, is the poorest it has been for years.

MISSIONARY FROM JAPAN

Will Preach in Two Local Churches To-morrow

Rev. R. H. McGinnis of Nagoyah, Japan, will preach in St. Luke's Church to-morrow morning and at All Saints' Church in the evening. Mr. McGinnis has been in Japan for some time engaged in missionary work for the church of England and will have an interesting story to tell. Mr. McGinnis is well known in Peterborough and his many friends will be glad to see and hear him. He is home on furlough at the present time.

Queen's Baron Works Out Well

Manages to Win Heat From Harry Direct in Fast Three Horse Workout

Some rarely good sport was provided for the railbirds who attended the workout of the horses at the Driving Park yesterday afternoon. There were five horses out,—Honest Billy, owned by Gilks of Barrie, and here for the .35 class. Mr. Ike Eastwood's fast green one, with Mr. Geo. Lipsett up pulling, and Hazel Belle, driven by Fred Kenrne; Queen's Baron with Dr. Johnston up, and Harry Direct, with Mr. J. Cottingham in the sleigh. All the horses showed good form.

It was a workout in which Hazel Belle, Harry Direct, Queen's Baron took part. The surprise of the day was sprung when Queen's Baron who has had practically no training this year won the first heat in good time with Harry Direct second and Hazel Belle in the last money place. In the second heat Harry Direct shot ahead followed by Hazel Belle, with Queen's Baron trailing. In the next heat Harry Direct and Queen's Baron fought hard for the honors with the former pulling under the wire slightly in the field. It was a splendid set-to and was watched with interest by a good-sized gathering of spectators.

The track will be in superb condition for the races if the weather permits and Mr. Jim Braden and three men are at present busily engaged in trimming up the rough spots.

PONTYPOOL OFFICERS WERE DULY INSTALLED

Messrs. R. J. Matchett, District Deputy Grand Master, J. W. Miller, Dr. R. F. Morrow, R G Freeburn, W Hill, George Cannon, Walter Hooper and J. Emmerson, of Peterborough, attended and after the business of the evening were treated to an oyster supper.

TO BE PLAYED AT LINDSAY

Games for Distict No. 2 of Curling Competition

Mr. R. M. Waddell, secretary of the Peterborough Curling club, has received the following letter from Mr. J. C. Harstone, of Lindsay, umpire for District No. 2. It is self explanatory:

"Dear Sir,—The games for District No. 2 will be played at Lindsay. These games will commence at 1.30 o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, January 28th. The draw will be made at the rink at one o'clock the same afternoon. Clubs that have a representative present at the time of the draw as well as clubs that notify me that they are on their way to Lindsay will be drawn.

Should the weather probabilities indicate that the ice will be unfit for play on Tuesday, I shall postpone the games notifying you to that effect by telegram on Monday. If you receive no word of a postponement you can count upon the games starting at the time indicated on Tuesday next."

The games for District No. 2 were played in Peterborough last year and this season it was Lindsay's turn. Peterborough will be well represented.

CURLING

HAD GOOD GAME.

The open air rinks on the site of the old curling rink are in splendid shape and the knights of the stane and besom are enjoying the outdoor sport very much. One rink was going last night, the skips being Messrs. H. F. Foote and D. H. Moore. This afternoon and evening four rinks will be going.

The Score Formed Complete Circuit

Bell Telephone and C.P.R. Employees Play Hockey—Result Was a Draw

There was a buzz of electricity at the Brock street rink last night between ten and eleven o'clock when the Bell Telephone Co.'s employees and the inmates of the C. P. R. telegraph office met in what the spectators courteously called a hockey match. The score resulted in a complete circuit, each team getting three goals. The Bell outfit got their lines busy in the first half and got a lead of one, while the telegraphers were up against the busy sign and failed to get the right connection. On the home stretch, however, C.P.R. stock took a boost and they found the net three times to their opponents twice. The telephone people sprang a surprise on the public by playing a dark horse at point, one "Hank" Leitch, who hails from the land where the sun gets up. He is reported to have been a team mate of Harvey Pulford and much resembles the famous Ottawa player in build, and— well, we'll let it go at that. When it came to sticking to one spot on the ice he was a leech alright. In the second half he grounded a wire and with the current gone he failed to keep up the terrific pace which he threatened to commence at the beginning. Wade worked as stick as the Bell's new switchboard and had good support from the other members of the team.

For the C.P.R. outfit, Osborne, Turnbull and McGregor tore around at the rate of about 100 words a minute, although Bowes had everything outstripped, in fact he was so much stripped before the game was over that he looked like a Highlander walking in his sleep.

The teams lined up as follows.

Bell Telephone		C.P.R.
	Goal.
Cote		Carson
	Point.
Leitch		Turnbull
	Cover-point.
Noseworthy		Bowes
	Rover.
Wade		Osborne
	Centre.
Fitzgerald		Warne
	Right Wing.
Thompson		McGregor
	Left Wing.
Wilson		O'Shea

Clayton Waram made a satisfactory referee.

Fourth Win For Lindsay

Lindsay defeated Whitby in Lindsay last night in an intermediate O. H. A. game by a score of 8-1. The teams were:

Lindsay 8—Goal, Newton; point Koyle; cover, Sullivan; rover, Stoddard; centre, Lane; left wing, Coley; right wing, Randall.

Whitby 1—Goal, Huntley; point, Smith; cover, Watson; rover, A. Blanchard; centre, Gould; left wing, O. Blanchard; right wing, Paquette. Referee—Hancock.

WALKING

It is learned on good authority that Mr. George Stevens will enter Mr. Harry Castle, of East City, in the six day walking contest in Kansas City, Mo., next February. Mr. Castle is said to be a first class pedestrian.

ENTRY LIST HAS CLOSED

The entries for the ice races of the local Turf Club closed last night. There is every indication that the sport will be fast and exciting, and a field of speedy ones will break away to the starter's bell. A full list of all entries will be published in Monday's issue of the Review.

HOCKEY

The Strathconas go to Whitby on Monday to play their third intermediate game. The Strathies will take the strongest line-up they can secure, and although they are out of the running for the district championship, will make a strong attempt to defend the make a strong effort to defeat the Whitbyites on their own ice.

Ackerman's and Wm. English Canoe factory play at the Brock street rink today from 6.30 to 7.30.

ALL ABOUT OUR WORTHY MAYOR

The current number of the Saturday Utica Globe contains a particularly striking and life-like cut of Mr. Harry Rush, Mayor of Peterborough. The cut is a two column one, and is a feature of the Canadian page of the Globe. Underneath it is written, "Harry Rush, elected Mayor of Peterborough by the largest majority ever given a candidate for office there." The many admirers and supporters of Peterborough's new Mayor will be pleased to note that he is given such a creditable recognition.

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

ANNUAL JANUARY STOCK RFDUCTION AND WHITE-WEAR SALE

We are now entering upon the third week of the greatest Bargain Festival Peterboro has ever known. In spite of the socalled stringency in the money market, this year's sale has eclipsed all previous January Sales. The reason is very obvious. Every inhabitant of the city and county of Peterborough knows positively, that when a bargain is advertised at Fairs, it is a BARGAIN and will be found on sale just as advertised. Every day it is remarked in our store by a pleased customer—"I like dealing at Fair's because I find everything as represented."

The coming week we will centre our efforts specially on:

Table Linens, Towels, etc.,

Wrapperetees and Flannelettes, Carpets and Oilcloths,

Ladies' Coats and Suits,

Blankets and Comforters,

Toques, Mufflers and Clouds

on all of which the price will be suffering from very deep cuts.

The White-wear Sale goes merrily on, and that ou values are appropriate is showed by the enormous selling we have done in this department. White-wear showing on first floor.

St. Peter's T. A. S. is Making Splendid Progress

The financial statement of the St. Peter's T.A.S. society, which was read yesterday, shows a most gratifying report of the business from both membership and financial standpoint. The account shows a substantial cash balance of over $1,000 on hand. Several members joined yesterday. On every Sunday several join. The cause of total abstinence is being deeply rooted in St. Peter's parish. A plan was devised yesterday by which it is hoped to increase the membership to 1,000 by the 10th anniversary, which is two year's hence.

BROTHERHOOD TEA YESTERDAY

The Brotherhood tea at St. John's church yesterday evening was attended by a large number of men, and an excellent repast provided by two ladies of the congregation, was partaken of. After the supper short addresses were made by Mayor Rush and several others. The men then formed in a body and walked into the church, where they occupied the front pews.

PRISON REFORM WORK OF ARMY

Brigadier Collier Spoke at Barracks Yesterday—Some Coming Events

Brigadier Collier, of Toronto, gave an interesting address at the Salvation Army barracks yesterday afternoon on the prison reform work of the Army. A large number were present and listened with deep interest to the brigadier's story. Brigadier Collier arrived on Saturday night and spoke at the barracks on Saturday evening and at the different meetings yesterday.

On Thursday night an enrolment service will be held, when a number of converts will be taken on by the army. Next Sunday Commissioner Coombs will deliver three addresses. The first meeting will be held at 11 a.m. in the barracks; in the afternoon at 3 o'clock and at 7 p.m. at the Grand opera house. One of the addresses will be "The yesterday, to-day and to-morrow." Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., will occupy the chair. Several other prominent citizens will be on the platform.

Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

Mrs Albert Mann
Mrs Chester Curry

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues" sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the abdominal region, and between the shoulders; bearing-down pains; nervous dyspepsia, and almost continually cross and snappy?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Mrs. Chester Curry, Leader of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra, 42 Saratoga St., East Boston, Mass., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I was troubled with extreme nervousness and hysteria brought on by irregularities. I could neither enjoy life nor sleep nights. I was very irritable, nervous and despondent.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and proved to be the only remedy that helped me. I have daily improved in health until I am now strong and well, and all nervousness has disappeared."

The following letter is from Mrs. Albert Mann, 154 Gore Vale Ave., Toronto, Ont.:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered a long time with serious female trouble having intense pains in the back and abdomen and very sick headaches every month. I was tired and nervous all the time and life looked very dreary to me and I had no desire to live until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to get some relief. My recovery was slow but it was sure and I have never regretted the money spent for the Compound as it brought back my good health."

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine that holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female ills, and take no substitute.

Free Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write to her for advice. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with female troubles enables her to advise you wisely, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Want to Take Evidence of Mrs. Harry Thaw in Private

Thaw Fears Jerome's Cross-Examination May Be Brutal.

Question to Be Decided To-day—Prisoner Thinks District Attorney Has Motive Other Than Public Morality—Evelyn Nesbitt to Face Second Ordeal—Trial to Be Hastened to Conclusion.

New York, Jan. 20.—When the Thaw trial is resumed to-day Justice Dowling will be called upon to determine whether or not the testimony of Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw shall be taken behind closed doors. It is freely predicted that he will refuse to exclude both public and newspaper reporters, but a compromise may be reached by the exclusion of those who come only from idle or morbid curiosity. By leaving the newspaper men in the courtroom the constitution provision as to a public trial would be met, and the young woman on the stand would have to face only a handful of people as compared with the vast crowd which thronged the court last Friday afternoon. The suggestion that if any newspaper cared to repeat the details of the recital it could do so simply by reference to its files of a year ago. Justice Dowling stated on Friday that he would hear further suggestions from counsel this morning, provided, of course, there should be a general consent to the closing of the doors—a thing never before done in this jurisdiction in a murder trial.

Mr. Littleton, Thaw's counsel, who partly concurred in the district attorney's motion when it was first made, has decided to leave the matter in the discretion of the court. Under these circumstance it is thought Justice Dowling will not attempt to keep the proceedings secret, but he may co-operate with the attorneys in an endeavor to keep the general public out of the court-room.

Why Thaw Objected.

The non-concurrence of the defence in the plan is said to be due to the attitude of Thaw himself, who believes that he sees in District Attorney Jerome's move a motive other than the public morality. Thaw believes that behind closed doors the prosecutor would go even further in his cross-examination of his wife than he did at the first trial, when with pitiless persistence he drew from her many details of the story which were omitted in the direct evidence, details of which did not reach the public through any newspaper.

Mr. Jerome based his cross-examination last year on the ground of testing the probity of the witness, and under the ruling of Justice Fitzgerald this threw the doors wide open. Justice Dowling is inclined, however, to cut down both direct and cross-examniations to the material facts, and it is generally believed that neither Mr. Littleton nor Mr. Jerome will put the defendant's wife through the same severe ordeal as last year.

When young Mrs. Thaw has concluded her testimony and has been put through the fire of cross-examination, the elder Mrs. Thaw will probably conclude. This will leave but three or four witnesses to be heard before the six insanity experts retained by the defence are put on the stand to answer hypothetical questions covering all of the testimony. Two of these physicians, Drs. Evans and Wagner, will tell again of the examination they made of Thaw in the Tombs Prison following the tragedy. The trial will be pushed with all possible haste to an early conclusion.

Rehearsal For Evelyn.

Evelyn Thaw went to the office of Mr. Littleton during Saturday afternoon, and in the presence of Messrs. O'Reilly and Peabody was rehearsed in minute detail as to the story she is to relate on the stand. Questions and cross-questions were volleyed at the young woman by the attorneys for several hours. The ordeal was a counterpart in private to that to which she will be submitted in public.

Fire at Alvinston.

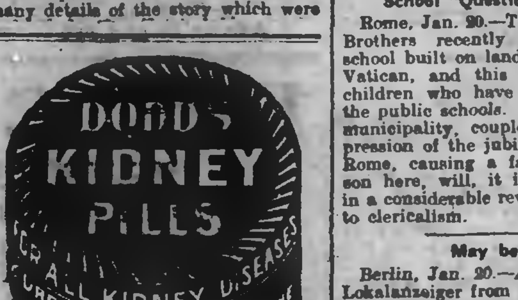
Alvinston, Ont., Jan. 20.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in Newcombe & Young's general store and before the fire could be extinguished their whole stock was completely destroyed by fire, water and smoke. Loss about $15,000; insurance $10,000, in the Perth Mutual, Caledonian, Waterloo, Northern and Equity. The block, owned by Richard Code, is damaged to the extent of about $3,000, and is covered by insurance in the Caledonian and Northern. Had it not been for the excellent fire protection of the village and the efficient work of the fire company, who had three streams of water going on the fire within ten minutes after the alarm, the loss would have been far greater. Cause of the fire is unknown.

School "Question" In Rome.

Rome, Jan. 20.—The Irish Christian Brothers recently opened a large school built on land belonging to the Vatican, and this is crowded with children who have been taken from the public schools. The action of the municipality, coupled with the suppression of the jubilee pilgrimages to Rome, causing a failure of the season here, will, it is believed, result in a considerable reversion of Romans to clericalism.

May be War.

Berlin, Jan. 20.—A despatch to The Lokalanzeiger from Teheran says it is stated that as a result of recent conflicts on the Persian-Turkish frontier the Sultan has ordered the mobilization of the Turkish army and has called out the reserves, with the intention of concentrating strongly on the frontier.



MONTREAL IN DANGER

City Had Narrow Escape of Being Laid in Ruins.

Huge Gasometer Explodes — 500,000 Feet of Gas Goes Up In the Air—Cause of Accident a Mystery—Fortunately Nobody Was Hurt and Little Damage Done to Surrounding Property.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—Half a million cubic feet of gas went up in a sudden flare, and exploded with a crash like a thunder peal Saturday morning, when the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co.'s No. 2 gasometer, at the gas works, Harbor street, Hochelaga, was blown up, and completely demolished. Not a life was lost, a limb injured, or a brick in the neighboring houses misplaced.

The explosion occurred at 4.47. Twenty minutes previously Barney Macdonald, the foreman, visited the gasometer, as it was his duty to do every half hour, inspected the valves, and found everything in its usual working order.

The gasometer blew straight up in the air. Hundreds of feet in the sky shot up the tongues of flame. The entire force of the explosion went straight up into the air. Had it spread out, a thousand homes would be in mourning, and Montreal might have blazed like another San Francisco.

Outside of the ruined gas holder, which will cost the company $30,000 to rebuild, the damage done was slight. The shock of the explosion was felt all over the island. Houses trembled even in St. Lambert, where one man reports that the pictures on his walls were moved.

Secretary-Treasurer Norris of the Light, Heat & Power Co., stated that he was absolutely at a loss to account for the explosion, for a gas holder was the last thing in the world that might be expected to explode.

"Even if you dropped a lighted match into it," he said, "nothing would happen, and if you bored a hole in the tank and set fire to the jet there would be no explosion."

The only possible theory was that some explosive mixture, probably air and gas, was in the building itself, though how gas could escape was a mystery, and how the mixture could ignite, was more puzzling still. Mr. Norris recalled, however, that an adjoining air tank exploded in 1882, before it was in use, before the contractors had handed it over to the company.

No one was allowed on the premises, so that the idea of a smoker lighting a match might be dismissed, and the possibility of an electric wire fusing and causing a spark also seemed remote.

New Home Rule Bill.

Glasgow, Jan. 20.—It is the belief that the Liberals have another Irish home rule bill in contemplation, and that it has received what is regarded as the significant support of Alexander Ure, Solicitor General for Scotland. Mr. Ure was addressing the students of Glasgow University on the contest for the lord rectorships of the university, for which Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Premier, and Lord Curzon of Kedleston are the contestants. He remarked that the Premier's name would be associated with many great reforms. "Home rule?" suggested a voice in the audience. To this Mr. Ure replied:

"I fervently hope, and I am certain that my chief shares the hope, that his name will be associated with the granting to our fellow-countrymen in Ireland of full and unfettered control of their own affairs."

Hague Conference Scores.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Mr. Leger, the Haytian Minister, was disposed Saturday to regret that American Minister Furniss should have interfered in Hayti in protesting against the summary bombardment of the rebellious forces in St. Marc and Gonaives.

The State Department officials, however, point out that the protest is entirely in the line of the rules of war in modern times, and that the second Hague conference, in which Hayti was represented by Minister Legar, had crystallised the indefinite law on this subject into permanent international obligation by the general treaty prohibiting bombardments without proper notice.

Played Violin, Dropped Dead.

Windsor, Jan. 20.—Joseph O'Neill, a popular young man of this city, for some time past bookkeeper for the Penberthy Injector Co., went to his mother's home, in Sandwich South Township, two weeks ago, for a vacation. Early Saturday morning, while playing a violin for a party of dancers who had been spending the evening with him, he dropped from his chair to the floor and died instantly. He had apparently been in perfect health up to the moment of his demise. Heart failure was the cause.

Caught Shop-Breaking.

Hamilton, Jan. 20.—Harris Heit, a Russian, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Constables Brown and Gibbs on a charge of shop-breaking and theft. The officers claim they caught him red-handed in the warehouse of Harris & Siderski, 21 North Walnut street, with a couple of bags of brass and copper, all ready to be carried off. The prisoner had $40 in his pocket.

Lynched by Mob.

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 20.—Alta Faulk, a prominent young man, was shot and seriously wounded at Dotham, Ala., by a negro, who was in turn lynched last night by a mob of 200 citizens.

Twin Boys Drown.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 20.—Arthur and Harry Morgan, twins, 15 years old, and Horace Weeks, 12, were drowned at Tenafly Saturday, after breaking through the ice of a small pond.

Mrs. Connors an aged woman in Montreal upset a lamp, and she was so seriously burned that she may die.

MINERS RUN FOR LIFE.

Underground Dash In Dark to Escape Fire Peril.

Monongahela, Pa., Jan. 20.—Miraculously escaping death by cremation or suffocation or being blown to pieces by an explosion, forty miners employed in the Catsburg Mine of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Co., made their way through the dark headings for a distance of seven miles and finally reached the open air.

Without light to guide them, and given up as dead, the men battled for five hours with fire, and when they reached the surface their faces were blackened, clothes torn and all were severely bruised from stumbling in their flight for safety. Fortunately the mine contained very little gas, or another mine disaster would have been recorded in Western Pennsylvania.

The mine was fired some time during the day by a "blowout" shot, and when the fire was discovered at 9 o'clock Saturday night by the forty men all escaped to the surface, though the Monongahela entry was cut off. Momentarily expecting an explosion with its horrible consequences the men started panic-stricken, for the entry at Charleroi, seven miles away. In their frenzy they stumbled and fell, but only to jump up again and continue their mad rush for safety.

When the men reached the surface early yesterday a majority of them were sobbing like children.

A large force of men are bratticing the part of the mine which caught fire, and it is believed the damage will be small.

G.T.R. TRAIN WRECK.

One Dead, Two Injured, Result of Collision at Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—One man was killed and two others injured in a rear-end collision immediately west of the foot of Dufferin street on the Grand Trunk track, at 4.30 Saturday afternoon.

Zacinth Laroque, aged 27, single, a French-Canadian of St. Lazar, Que., a lineman for the G.N.W., was instantly killed.

Joseph Prefontaine, a cook, aged 29, married, of South Durham, was badly injured and was taken to the Western Hospital in the ambulance.

Maxime Champaigne, single, aged 26, lineman, of Damy, Que., had his leg broken and was also removed to the Western Hospital.

The wreckage took fire.

G.T.R. cars 93,002 and 93,003 were used as boarding cars for workmen and were attached to a freight train bound for Hagersville. At the time of the collision the train was stationary, when a light engine from the east crashed into the rear car 93,002 smashed it to kindling wood and threw it into the ditch. The debris caught fire, and the body of Laroque was partially burned. An alarm was sent in to the fire department and Deputy Chief Noble and several sections responded. Two lays of hose were used to extinguish the flames.

The body of the dead man had to be dug out of the debris.

Wrecking train No. 62, from the east, arrived soon after the accident and assisted in clearing the track.

Rich Cincinnatian Seriously Charged.

Cincinnati, Jan. 20.—Evidence of a plot to wreck the five-storey Franklin Building, at Third and Plum streets, which was placed in the hands of a receiver Saturday, was discovered Saturday night.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of C. C. Breuer, the owner of the building, on a charge of arson.

A lighted candle found in the stopper of a can of oil and a fuse leading to two sticks of dynamite would have been sufficient to destroy the building and possibly cause loss of life.

Breuer is a Cincinnati capitalist, and the receivership was ordered in the interest of his two daughters, who had been taken from him by the juvenile court when they could not agree with their stepmother.

Death Toll Among Skaters.

Boston, Jan. 20.—Webster Pond, in the Town of Webster, was searched unsuccessfully Saturday for the bodies of Peter Caplette, aged 22, and Miss Annie Marier, 19 years old, who have been missing since Friday night, and who are believed to have been drowned. They were seen last skating together late in the evening towards a part of the pond where there is open water.

Robert Armstrong, aged 12 years, was drowned yesterday while skating on Crystal Lake, in Newtonville.

Edward Tremaine, aged 13, was drowned in the Cocheco River at Rochester, N. H., by breaking through the ice.

The Pope's Illness.

Rome, Jan. 20.—Dr Petacci, who visited the Pope again late Saturday evening, declared that if the attack of gout follows a regular course considerable improvement should be noted to-day.

Although the Pope was suffering acutely he expressed a desire to be up, but this was not permitted.

His sisters remained with him the greater part of the day, one of them remarking: "We at least gain when the holy father is ill, as then alone we have him to ourselves again."

Leopold Surprised.

London, Jan. 20.—Louis Leopold has received the following cablegram: "Canadian Manufacturers' Association have decided to discontinue British office for the present. Full particulars by letter." Leopold said he was amazed to receive such a notification, in view of the fact that already arrangements had been made to continue the business, and many bookings have been made.

Complicated Orders Cause Wreck.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 20.—As the result of a head-on collision at Cameron, 54 miles north of Raleigh, between a Seaboard Air Line freight and the northbound fast passenger train number 49, two men were killed and 20 injured.

The collision is attributed to complicated train orders.

SWEET REVENGE

By
Captain F. A. MITCHEL,
Author of "Chattanooga," "Chickamauga," Etc.

Copyright, 1897, by Harper & Brothers.

Our lives depended on absolute devotion to each other. If I should tell her that I was a southern man holding a commission in the Yankee army, that I had sent information north to enable a Union general to capture the region about her home, I should sap our main element of strength. On the other hand, I was accepting all this devotion under false pretenses. The thought was maddening. Had she not been looking at me with her big honest eyes I believe I should have shed tears of anguish.

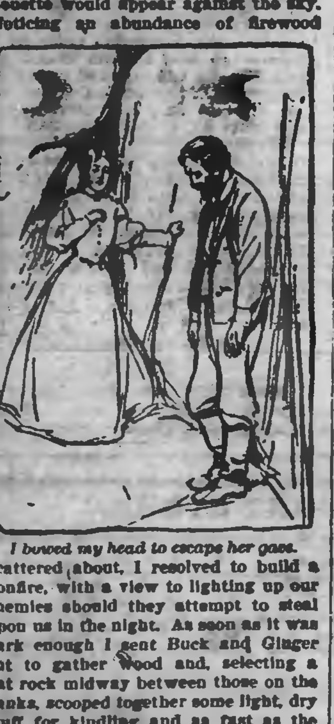
"Miss Stanforth—Helen," I said, "who and what I am can be of no moment now with death staring us in the face. You and I have a mutual purpose—to save those who have been led into this peril. There is no time for explanations. I beg of you to banish for the time this secret and think only of the work before us."

She turned her eyes out to the far distant horizon, but did not see it, intent on her own thoughts. Then, looking again at me, she said, with a burst of impulse:

"To know that you are unworthy would kill me."

I bowed my head to escape her gaze. When I looked again, she had turned and was entering the crevice.

Having failed to find an outlet in our rear, we had no choice but to face our enemies. I cast my eyes over the only route open to a night surprise. On our right, not far below, was the bare face of a rock 20 feet high, around which was no path. To the left another rock projected in such fashion that while an enemy climbed over it his silhouette would appear against the sky. Noticing an abundance of firewood scattered about, I resolved to build a bonfire, with a view to lighting up our enemies should they attempt to steal upon us in the night. As soon as it was dark enough I sent Buck and Ginger out to gather wood and, selecting a flat rock midway between those on the flanks, scooped together some light, dry stuff for kindling and as fast as the wood was brought me put it on. When all was ready, we returned to our fortress.



I bowed my head to escape her gaze.

But how light a fire? There was not a match in the party. Indeed the only means of ignition we possessed was a percussion cap. I sacrificed two cartridges and poured the powder they contained into a bit of paper, intending to explode it with percussion powder.

Night attacks always occur just before dawn, and I felt confident that we should hear from the guerrillas, if at all, between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning. At 1 I awoke the command and issued our remaining ration. It was eaten ravenously, and when the last morsel had been consumed I told all to be ready at the slightest sound. I was going down to the unlighted fire, and in case they heard me hammering the percussion powder they would know I had heard the enemy approaching. Then, taking Jack's revolver, I sallied forth.

I passed down to my firewood, inspected it to see that it was all right, then went on farther, crawling on my stomach and listening. Noticing what in the darkness I supposed to be a log, I resolved to crawl up behind it for concealment. On reaching it I raised my head and looked down into the face of a dead man. It was the body of one of the guerrillas we had shot during the day. This uncanny object, encountered at dead of night, startled me. There were the ghastly skin, the sunken cheek, the open mouth, while the eyes were staring up at the heavens as if they saw wonders bidden from the living. I drew back. A consciousness of the horrors that awaited us struck me like a gust of cold wind. Perhaps before morning Helen Stanforth or Jaqueline or little Buck or all of us would be lying stiff and stark like that dead guerrilla.

Then a greater strength, a daring, a cunning never before felt welled within me. I crawled on till I came so near the guerrilla camp that I could have thrown a stone into it. They had no fire, and this in itself was suspicious. I thought I heard a voice, but it was doubtless some animal or a bird giving a note of warning to its mate. I listened, but could hear nothing which I knew to be human. At last I sat down on a rock and began what to me seemed an endless vigil.

It was perhaps an hour after that I heard unmistakable sounds of the guerrillas. I could see nothing, though I could hear voices, and voices at that time of night meant mischief. Darting back to my wood, I set the paper of gunpowder on the rock under the dry grass, keeping a little in reserve, and got a stone ready to use for a hammer, then listened for a sign of advance. I had not long to wait. A man must have stumbled. At any rate, I heard something which convinced me the enemy was coming, and, laying on my percussion powder, I raised the stone and brought it down.

Horror of horrors! The grass was blown away without being kindled. The last chance was gone! It was dark as pitch; not even a ray of moonlight to protect us against the coming cutthroats.

Wait a bit. There are several spears of grass smoldering, a spark on the end of each. I gather them and put the ember ends into the hollow of my hand, where I hold the reserve gunpowder. A flash—a mere bit of flame no bigger than a pea! I nurse it and put more grass with it, above it all under the wood, and a beautiful bright flame shoots up that gladdens my heart. A joyful shout from the fort sends a pleasant thrill through every fiber in my body.

Ping! A bullet within an inch of my nose. I dart away into the darkness and in another minute am in the fortress.

I had scarcely got behind the breastworks when the glare of the burning wood showed me half a dozen men dashing up to the fire, and I knew they would try to scatter it.

"When I count three, fire into the crowd. One, two, three!"

Four bullets fled at the little knot of men below. We could not see who was hit, but all turned and started down the declivity, though one man dropped before he had gone a dozen yards. We lost no time in reloading and had a new charge ready in every piece before seeing any signs of their return. But Buck, who took more time and made more fuss about his work than all the rest together, had scarcely rammed his charge home and fixed the percussion cap on the nipple when three men made a dash at the fire. Two of them reached it and began to kick vigorously. I took deliberate aim at one of them and shot him through the head. My gun had scarcely cracked when Helen let drive at the remaining man. He staggered, but kept on kicking at the fire. I snatched Buck's gun and finished him, dropping him on the burning brands. The third man, who had started forward several times and each time turned back, got out of sight as quickly as possible.

"Look a' dar!" cried Ginger, pointing to the east.

I turned my head, and there above the horizon was the faintest trace of dawn.

CHAPTER XV.

WOMAN'S PLUCK.

AFTER this second defeat we could see the guerrillas gathered in a knot, evidently discussing the situation. They talked so loud that we could often catch a word, and their gesticulations were plain to us all. At last the captain took a white handkerchief from his pocket, fixed it to a stick and, holding it over his head, advanced toward us.

"A flag of truce!" we all exclaimed together.

"He's going to offer us something to eat!" cried Jack. "I knew he wouldn't let us starve!"

I stepped over the breastworks to go and meet the bearer of the flag. Buck called out:

"Tell him I'll take some fried chicken fo' mine!"

I met the captain at the spot where we had built our fire. His arm was in a sling, and he was very pale. Something told me that he did not relish the work in which he was engaged.

"I've come to tell yo'," he said, "that if yo'll surrender the rest of yo' people can go."

"What assurance have I that you will keep the terms?"

"The word of a"— He stopped. I saw that habit had led him to use an expression common among gentlemen in the south, but the word had stuck in his throat.

"Captain," I said, "you are a better man than the company you keep. Satisfy me that the women, the boy and the negro shall go free, and you are welcome to me."

"The men are divided about the women," he replied, lowering his voice.

"Which party holds the balance of power?"

"It's hard to tell."

"Then we have no assurance that if we surrender you can keep your promise to let them go unharmed?"

"There's no telling. Befo' yo'r escape and the killing yo' all have been doing I could have fixed it, but the men are exasperated at the damage yo've done."

"Can't you be blind and let us out tonight?"

"No; I've lost more control of my men within the last few days than all the time I've commanded them. If they saw the slightest move on my part to let yo' slip, they'd shoot me, and yo' would never get out alive either. I can't stand here talking any longer. They'll suspect something. What's yo'r answer?"

I turned the matter quickly over in my mind.

"Captain," I said, "I will transmit your proposition. If your terms are accepted, I will go down to your camp, and my friends will follow. If they are not accepted, we will wave to you. In this event you will know that these noble girls, this brave boy, this faithful the genius of heroism.

The first flush of excitement at the rejection of the terms being over, Jack began to show signs of irritation, a condition I attributed to the gnawing pangs of hunger. She shook her fist at the guerrillas, vowing that if she could ever get her papa again he should scour the country till he had captured every one of them, and when captured she would herself take inexpressible pleasure in making targets of them for pistol practice. Then she would call to them for something to eat. They were too far to hear her, and of course her request would not have been granted if they had. "Captain, good captain, dear captain," she cried, "do let us out of this! That's a dear boy!" Then she turned to Miss Stanforth. "Helen, what in the world did we come on such an errand as this fo'? Why didn't we send the soldiers?"

"Jack," said Helen, "I'm sorry you regret it. I don't. I never regret."

"Yo're showin the white feather," said Buck.

Jack's eyes glistened with anger.

"The white feather! What do yo' mean, yo' little pest? White feather! I'm not afraid of all the guerrillas in Christendom. They won't hurt me. I'm going down there to ask 'em fo' something to eat. I'll get yo' all off. White feather! I'll show yo'!"

She sprang upon the rampart, but I caught her and dragged her back.

"Let me go!" she screamed.

"Didn' I tole yo' Missy Jack hab de biggest temper in de souf?" cried Ginger proudly.

"Let her go," said Helen, "and I'll go with her. If those guerrillas who are disposed to protect us can do so, they will succeed as well without you as with you. Indeed, your presence will only tend to irritate them. Come, Jack, we'll try it."

I stood aghast at such a plan. I forbade it. The girls were determined. I begged, ordered, stormed at them, declaring that for every step they took toward that den of hellhounds I would take two. At last Helen laid negro, prefer to take their chances with me."

Both of us turned without another word, and in a few minutes the captain was with his men and I had joined my little half starved army. I was received with eager, questioning looks.

"He has made a proposition," I said. "I will give it to you with the information that goes with it. If we will surrender, he promises that all shall go free except me."

To be continued

Confessed Brutal Murder.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 20—Earl Jacques, a 19-year-old boy, confessed Saturday night, it is alleged, to two deaths, and that he killed and robbed Miss Mary Eddy, an aged woman, on the evening of Jan. 3 at Greenville.

Miss Eddy was employed in the Greenville Woollen Mills, where Jacques has also worked. While she was on her way to her home from work on the night of Jan. 3 she was killed by a blow from a club and her pay envelope with $13.30 taken.

An Anarchist Plot.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 20.—The Brazilian police have discovered an anarchistic plot here, having as its object the destruction of part of the American fleet now lying in the harbor. The conspiracy, while centering in Rio Janeiro and Petroplois, has ramifications n Sao Paulo and Minas Geraes. An individual named Jean Fedher, who resided in Petropolis, was the chief conspirator here.

New German Army Scandal.

Berlin, Jan. 20.—A news agency which enjoys confidential relations with Chancellor von Buelow states that a number of sensational new military scandals have come to light of a similar character to those for which the Counts Hahenau and Lynar are now being court-martialed at Potsdam.

FATAL FIST FIGHT.

Youth on Board Training Ship Receives Unlucky Blow.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 20.—Following a fist fight last Tuesday on board the United States training ship Cumberland, at this port, H. A. Hartnet, aged 23 years, of Philadelphia, a naval apprentice, died yesterday at the naval hospital.

D. M. Manning, 20 years of age, of Middletown, N. Y., also an apprentice, is under a sentry's charge, pending an investigation by the authorities into Hartnet's death. Hartnet, who had been appointed an acting master-at-arms, on account of his strength and ability to handle the youngsters on board ship, had trouble with Manning, who resented a push given him by Hartnet to enforce an order. The two came to blows, but were separated by one of the masters-at-arms. Later, when the day's duties were over for the time being, the two boys put on heavy gloves and began a battle, which, by agreement, was to go ten rounds.

With a crowd of about 300 apprentices and seamen as witnesses, the fight was a hard one from the outset. When the seventh round was ended both the youths were bleeding and seemed almost exhausted. In the eighth, however, Manning suddenly seemed to recover a great deal of his vigor, and after a little preliminary sparring his glove hit Hartnet on the jaw, sending the older boy to the deck.

Hartnet took the count of ten, and when his seconds went to his side they found him unconscious. The usual "first aid" employed in such cases failed to bring him to his senses, and he was removed to a sick ward.

There the ship's doctor worked over him until 1 o'clock Wednesday morning, when his condition became so alarming that he was taken ashore to the naval hospital, where an operation was performed upon him without success.

Yesterday Hartnet died without having recovered consciousness. Death was due to a blood clot on the brain. His relatives were communicated with, and his body is being held awaiting instructions from them.

MASKED MEN ROB BANK.

Bound and Gagged the Cashier and Escaped With the Money.

Texola, Okla., Jan. 20.—After a hand-to-hand fight with Assistant Cashier Jones, two masked men on Saturday night robbed the First National Bank of Texola. Jones was found bound and gagged and insensible from a blow on the head.

"Hands up" were the words that greeted Jones as he was working late on his books. Jones raised his hands, but when one of the bandits turned to grab some loose change the assistant cashier attacked the other robber. The two men struggled on the floor until the robber hit Jones on the head with a revolver The men then tied Jones and helped themselves. They escaped.

Spice Mills Burned.

Hamilton, Jan. 20.—Fire Saturday afternoon did damage to the extent of $40,000 to the building and stock of McLaren's, Limited, South MacNab street, formerly the Hamilton Coffee and Spice Co.

The fire broke out shortly before three o'clock and gave the firemen two hours' stiff fight. The building is a three-storey brick and the fire worked right up to the roof. The building was badly gutted and the machinery and stock damaged by water. The loss is pretty well covered by insurance.

Chief Ten Eyck and his men did well to keep the flames from spreading, as there was a lively breeze at the time.

During the progress of the fire there was a peculiar accident. The hose attached to the steamer wriggled out of the hands of three firemen and bounded about the street, striking a farmer named Thomas Bell of Glanford and breaking his leg.

Canadian Composer Dead.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—Henry Herbert Godfrey, the well-known composer of Canadian patriotic songs, died here Saturday night suddenly, of heart failure.

Mr. Godfrey was born in Plymouth, England, in 1858, and came to Canada when very young. He lived for a number of years in Toronto, and later removed to Montreal.

His songs were favorites in all the Canadian schools. Amongst his best known compositions are "Land of the Maple," "Men of the North," "The Union Jack," and "Greeting to Our King," the latter of which was composed in connection with the King's coronation.

No Word From Lieut.-Col. Taylor.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—It is stated by a prominent official of the Militia Department that no intimation had been received by the Government of the resignation of Lieut.-Col. Taylor, commandant of the Royal Military College at Kingston.

If the announcement that Lieut.-Col. Taylor will demand an enquiry into the rustication of Cadet Lancaster be correct, it will in all probability be granted, as charges that the commandant was actuated by malice were made on the floor of Parliament.

Would Lynch Them.

Elkins, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Fired by the murder of one fellow-workman and the wounding of three others Friday night by four supposed members of the Black Hand, every lumberman at Ellamore, near here, has joined in a determined hunt for two of the party who got away, leaving one of their companions dead and one injured. A lynching is expected if they are caught.

Catholic Convent Burned.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—The Roman Catholic Convent of St. Anne, at St. Remi, 30 miles from Montreal, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday, but all the inmates were got out in safety.

The loss is estimated at about $40,000.

Russian Beauty Arrested.

Munich, Jan. 20.—A strikingly beautiful Russian woman presented a 500 rouble note at one of the banks here Saturday for exchange into German money. The note bore the number of one of the notes advertised as having been stolen in the robbery at Tiflis early last summer, when $14,000 roubles were stolen, and the bank cashier telephoned at once to the police.

Seeing the officers approaching, the woman hastily attempted to swallow a slip of paper, but one of the officers grasped her by the throat and prevented her from so doing. It appeared from the paper that two accomplices were about to arrive here by the Paris express.

The officers, accompanied by the Russian charge d'affaires, went to the station, and on the arrival of the train arrested them.

May be Jewel Thief.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—A domestic of Government House named Elizabeth Lee was arrested the other day for alleged peculations there. She was charged with the offence at the police court.

Meantime the police are going further into the matter, for among her possessions are jewels of worth not usually owned by housemaids.

It is thought that the mystery of a big English jewel robbery may be cleared up by the woman's arrest. She recently came direct from England to Rideau Hall and is of refined appearance.

Col. Percy Sherwood is investigating the affair.

SPECIAL RATE TO LINDSAY

Arrangements are being made for a special train to Lindsay on Friday night. The train is to leave at 6.45, returning at 11 o'clock. The Strathconas will have the strongest team of the season and the game should be an interesting one.

As the rate is an exceptionally low one, 65 cents return, there will doubtless be a large number who will accompany the Straths on their journey to the Scugog town.

Important Change in the Peterboro' Cereal Company

Collier Bros. Take Over Cereal Department and Will Organize New Company to be Known as Canada Flakes Limited—Will Move Into New Building.

Messrs. H. B. and W. H. Collier have taken over the cereal department plant and products of the Peterborough Cereal Company and will henceforth manage that branch of the business.

The new company will be known as "Canada Flakes, Limited." The plant will be removed to the new oatmeal building of the Peterborough Cereal Company, which will still continue to conduct the big flour mill.

At the annual meeting of the Peterborough Cereal Company, held on Saturday, Mr. W. G. Ferguson, the president, presided, and reports of an encouraging character were presented for the past year. There was a good attendance of the shareholders. A bylaw was passed ratifying the agreement made by the directors with Collier Bros. to take over the cereal department. The new company to be formed will, as stated, be known as Canada Flakes, Limited.

Mr. W. H. Collier resigned as secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough Cereal Company, and will be managing director of the new concern.

Mr R. W. F. E. Davidson was appointed director of the Peterborough Cereal Co. and at a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. W. G. Ferguson was re-elected president; Mr. W. H. Meldrum, managing director, and Mr. R. W. F. E. Davidson, secretary-treasurer.

The Canada Flakes Company will continue the output of the Canada Flakes and Korn Krisp, which have a wide sale.

C. B. ROUTLEY CO. HAVE OPENED BRANCH IN MONTREAL

The firm of C. B. Routley & Co. continue to expand. In addition to their stores in Peterborough and Toronto, they have opened a branch in Montreal, and intend doing business there permanently. They have purchased the $30,000 bankrupt wall paper stock of W. G. Browne & Co., Limited, 530 St. Catharine street, and Mr. Wm. Routley has gone to Montreal to take charge of the business. The stand secured in Montreal is a splendid one, and there is no doubt but that the Routley store in Montreal will prosper.

Peterborough residents can congratulate themselves on having such a progressive citizen as Mr. Routley. He commenced business in Peterborough thirty years ago, and the Toronto branch was opened fifteen years ago. The steady expansion is a tribute to its splendid management and fair dealing with the public.

Tried to Sell His Overcoat That He Might Buy a Drink

While endeavoring to sell his overcoat for the paltry sum of two dollars on Saturday afternoon, at a local hotel, Wm. Hoskins was arrested on suspicion. It was alleged that the man had stolen the garment, and was trying to get rid of it at almost any price. The man is addicted to the use of liquor, and it is said that he wanted the money to buy beer. He was brought to the police station, where he remained over Sunday. It will be remembered that this man came to the city some weeks ago in search of work. He told a long tale of hard luck, of how he had sold his overcoat for $1.50, that he might get something to eat. Several persons sympathized with him, and helped him in his trouble. One citizen gave him a fine coat, and it was it he tried to sell. When it was learned that he had not stolen the coat he was given his freedom.

County and City Authorities Conflict, in Trial of Burke

Heated Discussion in Police Court This Morning—Gaoler Refused to Give Prisoner to City Police as He Was Under Jurisdiction of County—Charge of P. C. Newhall Thrown Out Until County Case is Disposed of.

Gaoler Nesbitt, of the county gaol, refused to hand over Charles Burke to the city authorities this morning, and as a result a rather heated controversy arose in the police court. Burke was remanded a few days ago on a charge of assaulting P.C. Newhall, and was to have appeared to-day. However, previous to the laying of the above information, another charge of robbery at the point of a revolver had been laid against him under the county jurisdiction. Mr. Nesbitt claimed that he had no right to give up Burke to the city authorities, as he was being held by the county. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of Burke and asked that, as the prisoner was not present, that the charge be dropped in favor of the more serious complaint, that of robbery. His Worship explained that at the time of the laying of the information of assault, he did not know of another charge. He had no intention of interfering with the county. He thought that it would be foolish for him to try him for a petty offence when no doubt he would be convicted on more serious charges. At this period High County Constable Cochrane stated that Detective Greer had told him that Buke would likely be wanted in Toronto for holding up a telegraph operator and for robbery. Chief Rossel intimated that he was sure Burke wasn't wanted in Toronto, or they would never have let him come down here. Constable Cochrane, when he brought the prisoner from the depot, gave him into the city policemen's custody. He was perfectly agreeable to another charge being laid against him, and thought that it was the correct thing to do. It would assist him greatly in the county case.

Mr. Gordon further contended that Burke was not under the jurisdiction of the city authorities, and it was hardly right for them to steal a prisoner. Mr. Cochrane arrested him under warrant and only placed him in the police cells for convenience.

His Worship said that he would not let the complaint of assault interfere with the others, and the prisoner having been in the custody of the law on a serious charge when this latter information was laid, and he would allow the police court case to be in abeyance until other charges against him are disposed of. His Worship directed that the prisoner be held only on the first charge laid against him, and that the gaoler may deliver him to the right authorities to answer such charges. The Magistrate also gave an order to the gaoler to the effect that Burke should be held on the robbery charge only.

However, Burke will be liable to arrest at any time on this charge after the other cases have been dealt with.

It is not often that there is a conflict between city and county authorities, but this morning the police station was the scene of a heated discussion, which finally resulted in the county winning out, but it has also, so a police officer contends, opened the way for the acquittal of an alleged desperate character.

"Service in God's Larger House" Subject of Municipal Sermon

City Council at Murray Street Church Last Night—Splendid Address by Rev. J. R. Webb—Responsibility of Position is Pointed Out.

"Service in God's Larger House" was the subject of Rev. J. R. Webb's discourse at Murray Street Baptist church last night, the occasion being the annual municipal sermon. The members of the City Council attended in a body, and a number of the members of the Board of Education and Water Commission were also present. The church was filled to the doors, and not only the city's representatives, but the scores of others present were deeply impressed by Mr. Webb's eloquent and thoughtful discourse. While not presuming to give the mayor and aldermen advice as to what action they should take on certain specific questions that they would have to deal with, he laid down some general principles that the civic representatives cannot afford to disregard. After the service the reverend gentleman was warmly complimented by the civic representatives on his splendid address.

At the commencement, Mr. Webb, on behalf of Murray Street congregation, extended a hearty welcome to the representatives of the municipal government of the city. He was not going to give the mayor and aldermen any advice as to how they should act on specific questions that would come up before them. If the people of the city had considered that he was the best judge of municipal affairs they would have elected him mayor, or an alderman at least. This, however, they had not done. Instead of giving advice, he intended laying down a few general principles that no man could well afford to disregard.

Coming to his subject, "Service in God's Larger House," Mr. Webb said that it should not be thought that God's house was bounded by the walls of the sanctuary. All the universe was God's house, and this earth was but one room. "In My Father's house there are many mansions," the Bible said. There was too much of a tendency to draw the lines too closely between the sacred and the secular. Everything God created was sacred. Duty was a sacred thing. All service is service in God's house. Going to church was not serving God. The time spent in the sanctuary was rather a time when God was serving us. When we pass out of this church into the world we go forth to God's service.

Mr. Webb laid stress on the point that the council for 1908 should make a good start. Much depended on their actions during the next few days.

What the spring time was to the farmer, what the days of childhood were to all maturity, the present hour was to the council.

The responsibility of the position to which the members of the council had been elected was next emphasized. They were the guardians of a city of 16,000 souls. Every pang caused one of these was felt by the heart of God, everyone of them would feel the results of the council's acts. Peterborough was no mean city.

Mr. Webb paid a compliment to the the police department of the city. No city on the continent had a better reputation for law and order. The Police Magistrate was also commended for meting out justice where justice was needed and punishment where punishment was required.

Speaking of educational affairs Mr. Webb said that the hope of the city was in its youth. In a few months two splendid educational institutions would be opened in Peterborough and it was the duty of the Board of Education to see that the soul within would be equal to the body containing it. It might not be amiss for the Board of Education to consider the suggestion made by Dr. Hunter to the Toronto Board that occasionally the boys and girls should be given a lesson on health and morals, the boys by a male physician and the girls by a lady physician.

The musical service was of unusual excellence. In addition to the congregational singing, which was bright and hearty, Miss Clara Kidd sang very sweetly, "Child of Nazareth," with violin obligato, by Miss Hope Miller, and a quartette, composed of Messrs. Miller and Hooker, Mrs. Miller and Miss Kidd, gave a fine rendition of "The Lord is My Shepherd."

LEARN DRESSMAKING

We teach you everything from the plainest shirt waist to the most elaborate toilet that can be found in the fashion books. We show you not only the lining but all the outer goods in coats, skirts, waists, wrappers, sleeves, children's dresses, collars, etc. Why spend months at a dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes? And then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. You will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year, than you did the first day you went there. So, why spend your time there when we can teach you in less than two weeks? You can come and try for a few days and if the course is not what we have advertised it to be you have the privilege to stop. As there is no pay in advance you certainly do not lose anything by trying. If you do not wish to be a professional dressmaker the cost is so small that you can well afford to take it up if only for your own use. We have taught over 1,000 in this way within the past five years.

Charge for full course is only $10, to be paid when through, including one of the most perfect fitting charts in use which we give free. An evening class will also be taught for the benefit of those that can not come during the day. In this class we will teach shirt waists, sleeves and usques. Terms $4.00. Hours from 7:00 to 9:30. We will teach at Peterborough from January 30 to February 1. Hours for day class form 8:30 to 5:00. For full information we would be pleased to have all those interested call and have the system explained to them at the [illegible] Hotel, on Wednesday, January 30, between a. m. and 5 p.m.

Progress of Japan Has Been Marvellous

Interesting Sermon at St. Luke's Yesterday by Missionary From Japan

Just as Great Britain and Japan are closely related in the political arena of the world so should they be spiritually and God has laid upon Britain's shoulders the responsibility of giving to that eastern country the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Such was one of the principal facts impressed upon a large congregation at St. Luke's church yesterday morning in an eloquent and inspiring sermon delivered by Rev. R. H. McGinnis, a returned missionary from Nagaya, Japan. Mr. McGinnis kept his listeners deeply interested throughout his discourse and brought home to the congregation many striking features and existing conditions in Japan, the great country of the east. On the words found in the 15th verse of the 16th chapter of St. Mark's gospel, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature," was based the remarks of the reverend gentleman. This was the command of Jesus Christ over 1900 years ago and it has come to us to-day ringing down through the ages as the commission of God to his people, began the speaker. The Church of England has been termed the Apostolic church. Then the members as apostles must be missionaries in the world. We must accomplish and carry out the design laid down by Christ in His last command. As missionary of the church, Rev. Mr. McGinnis said that he desired to speak to those present, on his work during the seven years spent in Japan. Leaving aside the labors of the missionary society in the Northwest, South America, South Africa and other heathen lands he directed the attention of his hearers to Japan. Many persons think said the speaker, that Canada is the world to which Jesus referred in giving his command. Others think that it is the foreign fields where the time and labors in the cause of missions should be devoted. However, both equally required assistance.

In many respects Great Japan of the East is similar in character to Great Britain of the West. The tremendous progress of Japan has been marvellous. It was just a few years ago that she was a recognized nation. In warfare Japan has been wonderfully successful. Also in the arts of peace she has made rapid advancement. Her railways, postal and telegraph systems, schools, colleges and banking institutions are most modern and splendidly equipped. There is little chance for Japan becoming an illiterate nation.

Rev. Mr. McGinnis recalled the circumstances in connection with the incident that resulted in the first missionary being sent out to Japan. After a large number of the natives had embraced the christian religion as laid down by the Roman doctrine an edict was passed forbidding belief in the Christian faith under penalty of death. In 1883 Admiral Perry sailed into the ports of Japan and five years later missionaries went. All churches are represented in that country by some members. Every denomination is doing good work. The Church of England has five dioceses, presided over by five bishops. The question has been asked are the converted Japanese real Christians? They are true disciples of Jesus Christ and their cry is "Come over and help us." The speaker said that it made him feel ashamed to think of the treatment the Japs had received in this country, in Vancouver and the Northwest. In all the seven years he had spent in Japan he never suffered an insult from one of that eastern land. He was always treated with courtesy and he came in contact with all classes.

In conclusion the reverend gentleman urged the people to take a deeper interest in missions and to keep themselves conversant with the work being done. Much has been done, but there is a great deal more to do and Mr. McGinnis asked for the prayers and assistance of those present.

In the evening Rev. Mr. McGinnis addressed a large congregation at All Saints' church.

Sermons on Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress

In the Springville Presbyterian church last evening, Rev. D. Marsh began his series of Sunday evening discourses on John Bunyan's Pilgrim Progress. His subject last evening was divided in two divisions, "The Sinner Awakened" and "Starting for the Cross." The church was crowded to the doors.

No Excitement at Havelock As Result of Bank Change

Bank of Toronto Took Charge and no Uneasiness Was Felt by Depositors and Customers—Sovereign Bank Had Been Located at Havelock for Four Years.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Jan. 18.—A flutter of excitement went abroad this morning when the news became public that the Sovereign Bank had gone into liquidation and ceased to exist. Large placards announced the office as a branch of the Bank of Toronto and for sometime it was regarded as merely a change in management.

Mr. W. J. Boyd, manager of this branch, had the matter well in hand but he was kept busy making explanations and giving assurances to those who have given the bank their confidence and their cash, but there was very little excitement. Although a number of small depositors withdrew their money most of the citizens were quite satisfied when acquainted with the new conditions "that the Havelock branch had been taken over by the Bank of Toronto."

The local branch opened to the people of Havelock on Jan. 15, 1903, in the Knox block and has been situated there ever since.

Mr. R. M. Williams, manager of the Chatham branch at present, was the first manager, and under his excellent management and the hearty co-operation of the citizens, the banking business in Havelock has increased greatly. Mr. W. J. Boyd, the present manager, has carried on the business of the Sovereign Bank here successfully and will likely remain as manager of this branch of the Bank of Toronto.

A representative of the Bank of Toronto arrived to-night with supplies that the bank can get under way on Monday morning.

The depositors and customers of the bank are well pleased with the change and for some time the business men of town have been contemplating sending in a petition to one of the older banks to open a branch here as the Sovereign Bank, on account of lack of funds could not handle the business. It is felt in town that in order to get good service there should be two banks in Havelock as without opposition the bank do not care whether they give good service to their customers or not.

The several shareholders in the Sovereign Bank in town are somewhat excited as they will in all probability lose a large percentage of the amount they have invested.

Thus the history of the Sovereign Bank, which the citizens of Havelock were so proud of, is concluded, and that the financial institution that was making great advancements along with the village, has ceased to exist. The people have to thank it for the good service it has given and to praise the Canadian banking system for its merits in protecting the depositors and for the great rapidity with which the change was made from the Sovereign Bank to the Bank of Toronto.

A Happy 1908

Dr. Browett Appreciates Peterborough

To our friends and patrons we extend a very hearty greeting at this glad season. Scarcely a year ago we made Peterboro' our home, and already have found many pleasant associations. We like Peterboro', its people and its prospects. We appreciate the patronage received during 1907, and although we have already had over fifteen years of the best optical experience, yet we are adding new instruments and increasing our facilities with the aim to serve our patrons with ever increasing ability

Yours very respectfully,

J. W. BROWETT

The Work Done at Local Y.M.C.A.

Following are the remainder of the reports presented at the Y.M.C.A. annual meeting on Friday last;

Mr. A. E. Dixon, chairman of the finance committee in submitting his report, stated that there was a large deficit at the end of last year, when he had hoped that the association would have been free of debt. $500 is out in subscriptions and membership pledges, and it is expected in, in the near future. The membership fees had not amounted to as much as anticipated, and owing to lack of work in the city the dormitories had not brought as good returns as expected. These with some liabilities not counted on June 1st, bring the association face to face with the following report;

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Mr. H. C. Wright, secretary, in presenting the 27th annual report of the Y.M.C.A. of Peterborough, stated that it covered but the past seven months. It read as follows; Although we find some parts of the work in a humiliating position, and some things to discourage, yet there is much to encourage us to go forward, and to make this the biggest and best year of work in the Association. Since assuming the position as your general secretary here, I have been much encouraged by the deep interest taken by the board of directors and especially the president, Mr. R. E. Harding, whose assistance has been of special value. It has also been encouraging to note the increasing interest of the members, and I feel sure great things are in store for the association and the young men of Peterborough this year. There are a great many difficulties to overcome, but this will make the association all the stronger after we have won this battle. All this is needed is the united hearty effort of every member.

The work of the religious committees have been especially commendable, and shows good results as regards our Sunday afternoon meetings. The Bible classes and foreign work has not been what they should be. This is important work, and we trust to see a big improvement in these departments next year.

We are also sorry to say the physical work has not been the success it should have been. This is partly owing to the change of physical director and secretary at the most important period of the year. To make this department what it ought to be, a capable, efficient director should be employed. The educational work has not brought forth the results hoped for, but the social work has been good and is improving.

The boys' work must have a secretary to make this department what it should be. I find 325 persons have subscribed during the year. This is a large number, but it ought to be easily increased a hundred. Subscriptions range from 50 cents to $100.

The gratitude of the entire association is due the Ladies' Auxiliary for their efficient help during the past seven months. We are glad to note the substantial balance in their bank account.

I desire to thank all who have assisted me personally since coming here, and hope that the year may be one of great blessing to us all.

Respectfully submitted.

HORACE C. WRIGHT.

Considerable discussion arose as to the state of the finances, and Messrs. Shook, Shiner, Knapman, Thornton and others expressed their views on the existing conditions.

It was moved by Mr. W. Shiner, seconded by Mr. J. S. Knapman, that the membership fee for the different clubs and reading room be two dollars. This motion was carried.

Mr. J. C. Shook, in eulogistic terms, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. R. E. Harding, the retiring president, for his faithful and efficient services rendered the association. The interest he manifested and the time he devoted to the work was worthy of recognition. This motion was seconded by Mr. H. C. Moore and heartily endorsed by everyone present.

Mr. Harding acknowledged the vote of thanks, expressing appreciation for the kind words spoken of in reference to him.

A vote of thanks was also passed to the Press.

The meeting then adjourned with prayer by Mr. J. F. Thornton.

Popular Young People Wedded at Havelock

A Nuptial Event of Much Interest—Other News From the Railroad Town

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Jan. 20.—A meeting of the Farmers' Institute of East Peterborough was held in the town hall on Saturday afternoon and night, and was largely attended. Mr. William Mathison, of town, was chairman of both meetings. In the afternoon Mr. J. N. Paget gave an instructive address on "The Growth of Alfalfa and Its Importance to Dairying." N. G. Somerville an address on "Cow Testing," and J. G. Conrell on "Cultivation and Rotation."

The same gentlemen gave interesting and instructive addresses in the evening on "The Relation that Should Exist between Producers, Proprietors and Makers," "Cold Storage," and on "Co-operation for the Farmers."

Local talent showed up well in songs, solos and speeches.

James Main has been appointed assessor for Belmont and Methuen for 1908; James Wilde, treasurer; Dr. Kendry, medical health officer; S. Cole, sanitary inspector, and Jas. Freeman was placed on the board of health for three years.

A large Masonic "at home" will be held in the town hall, Havelock, on February 28th.

The marriage of Miss Maggie Mark, only daughter of Mr. James Mark, of town, to Mr. Geo. Chambers, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chambers, took place at the Methodist parsonage, Norwood, on Wednesday evening, the nuptial knot being tied by the Rev. Mr. Adams. Miss Clara Moffat, of town, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. R. Chambers, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman. The happy young couple left on the 4.30 train for Toronto, Hamilton and other western points. On their return from their wedding tour they will reside with the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Mark. Both of the contracting parties are well known, having spent a number of years in this town. Mr. Chambers is one of the rising young men of Havelock, and is an employee of the C.P.R. Miss Marks has a large number of friends in town and is well known in musical circles, having for a number of years studied that art.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chambers will join in wishing the happy young couple every success.

AN "AT HOME"

The young folks of town held a delightful "at home" in the town hall on Wednesday night last and all in attendance thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Mr. John Weir has disposed of his livery business to Mr. Thompson, of Seymour, and that gentleman will take charge at the beginning of the week. Mr. Weir has lately purchased a livery in Norwood, and will move to that village in the spring.

A fancy dress carnival will be held at the local rink on Jan. 24, and a series of races will also be run.

Havelock plays against a Tweed seven at that town on Wednesday night.

John Charlton is seriously ill at his home at Lynedoch.

LEARN DRESS-MAKING BY MAIL
in your spare time at home, or
Take a Personal Course at School.

To enable all to learn we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month. Class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teaches how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit, to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over seven thousand dress-making, and guarantee to give five hundred dollars to any one that cannot learn between the age of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dress-making as thorough as this course teaches if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address:—

Who Will Get the Wardenship

Havelock Residents Think Reeve Thompson Will be Chosen

Havelock, Jan. 17.

Considerable interest is aroused in town and a great deal of discussion takes place daily on the matter of who will be elected Warden of the county in place of the retiring officer, Mr. P. McNulty, of Asphodel.

The name that seems to be most prominently before everyone in the county is that of Reeve Thompson, of Havelock, who has so ably discharged his duties in the County Council during the past year. Havelock has never had a member as Warden of the County, and it is quite likely that Mr. Thompson will be appointed to the position.

Mr. Thompson has successfully carried on the affairs of the village of Havelock during his term of office

New Postmaster at Trent Bridge

Mr. H. H. Pollock Appointed—New Drug Store in Havelock

Havelock, Jan. 17.

The post office at Trent Bridge has at last been re-opened, having been closed for the past few months and causing the citizens of that village much inconvenience. When the postmaster, Mr. McFadden, left for Manitoba, the post office was closed, and has continued so until this week, when Mr. H. H. Pollock was appointed postmaster.

It is rumored in town that one of the local liveries will likely change hands in the course of a few weeks

Mr. A. Ormiston, of Campbellford, has opened up a drug store in Jeff's block, in the store lately occupied by the Benike drug store.

Sensational sales are the order of the day at the local stores, and goods are being handed out for a mere song, so they say

The Farmers' Institute of East Peterborough hold a meeting in the town hall, on Saturday, January 18th

Several changes have taken place at the school since the re-opening. Miss Wood has taken charge of the 2nd primary class and Part II and Jr. 4th classes, while the other teachers will be in their old places.

Havelock play the next hockey game at Tweed, on Wednesday, Dec. 22nd.

Big Claim Against Lumber Company

Arbitration at Havelock—Thompson vs. McBurney Co.

Havelock, Jan. 17.

A large arbitration case will open here in the town hall on Monday, January 20th. Mr. Jas. Thompson, of town, has a claim for $8825 against the McBurney Lumber Company, of Toronto.

Mr. John Brown, of Rockdale, who is well known in this vicinity, will uphold the claim for Mr. Thompson. Mr. D. T. White, of Midland, will uphold the McBurney Lumber Company, and Mr. E. F. Hodgins, K.C., of Toronto, will be the third arbitrator.

The claim is for the balance due from the sale of saw logs. The case will certainly arouse intense interest in town, and everyone is waiting for January 20th, when the case will open.

Got Rid of the Offensive One

On Sunday morning, about 2 o'clock, the lingering ones who had not at that time sought the refreshing influence of their couches, and who happened to be near the corner of George and Charlotte streets, were witnesses of a rather novel combat.

A young man, who was making his presence undesirable to a member of the so-called gentler sex, found out that his attentions were undesirable in a particularly forcible way. She told him if he did not cease to molest her she would call the police. The young man was loath to go, however, so she proceeded to engage in a chastisement of the offender, at the conclusion of which he was quite willing to allow her to depart.

BACK ACHE IS THE FIRST SIGN

Mixture Said to Relieve Lame Back and Prevents Kidney Disease

Take care of backache. A great many cases of kidney complaint are reported about here, also bladder trouble and rheumatism.

An authority once stated that pain in the back, loins, or region of the kidneys is the danger signal nature hangs out to notify the sufferer that there is something wrong with the kidneys which should receive immediate attention. Only vegetable treatment should be administered, and absolutely no strongly alcoholic patent medicines, which are harmful to the kidneys and bladder.

The following prescription, while simple, harmless and inexpensive, is known and recognized as a sovereign remedy for kidney complaint. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy, and anyone can mix them: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This preparation is said to restore the natural function of the kidneys, so they will sift and strain the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, purifying it and relieving rheumatism. Backache will be relieved, the urine will be neutralized and cleared, and no longer a cause of irritation, thereby overcoming such symptoms as weak bladder, painful, frequent and other urinary difficulties.

This is worth trying, and may prove just what many people here need.

THE MILITARY SPIRIT WILL NOT BE STILL

Col. E. B. Edwards Trying to Raise Infantry Regiment in Edmonton

Col. E. B. Edwards, formerly of Peterborough, is endeavoring to raise a regiment of infantry in Edmonton, where he is now residing. The following item appears in the report of the council proceedings in a recent Edmonton paper:—

"Col. E. B. Edwards submitted a resolution regarding the formation of a regiment of infantry in the city, and urging that the matter be taken up with the Dominion Government.—Approved."

OBITUARY

GLADYS IRENE HENRY.

The death occurred on Saturday afternoon, at 8.30 o'clock, of Gladys Irene, the 21 year old daughter of Mr. Thomas Henry, Brown street, North Monaghan. She had only been ill a short time and her blow was a great shock to her parents and friends. Besides her father and mother, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Walter Fitzgerald and Hazel and two brothers, Jack and William, all of Peterborough. The affliction of the family is made unusually severe by the death of another daughter, Miss Ruby Henry, only a few weeks ago. Gladys was a bright little girl, and her death will be greatly regretted.

The funeral took place this afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock, from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery.

John A. McDougall, C.P.R. conductor, was killed at Coleridge, Alta., while coupling cars.

Great Interest Aroused By Dublin Castle Theft

Robbery of Crown Jewels to Be Thoroughly Probed.

Special Tribunal to Solve the Mystery—Unpleasant Revelations Which May Affect Some of Ireland's Aristocrats—Noble Family Said to Be Involved—Nationalist Party Press For Investigation.

New York, Jan. 20.—The World published the following cable despatch from Dublin yesterday:

The robbery of the Irish crown jewels has now developed into an affair of state of the first magnitude.

The astounding reports in circulation involving, it is believed falsely, even a family of well nigh as great reputation as that of the Irish viceroy himself, has compelled the Government to ask Parliament to establish by statute a special tribunal with full powers to probe the whole mystery to its foundation.

These jewels, worn by the sovereign at the installation of the Knights of St. Patrick, were kept in a safe in the office of Sir Arthur Vicars, officer of the order and the chief Irish Herald, styled Ulster King-at-arms.

That Sir Arthur Vicars was guilty of negligence in his measures for safeguarding the jewels, which are worth a quarter of a million of dollars, is admitted, but nothing further is alleged against him.

The keys of his office were at the disposal of others than himself, and, the report goes, this office being situated in the most secluded part of gloomy Dublin Castle, was used by a coterie of officials of the castle and their confederates for midnight orgies.

Indeed, when the police ransacked the office, following the discovery of the robbery, they came across certain paraphernalia used by the participants in these gatherings.

Sir Arthur Vicars demands a public enquiry, knowing that his negligence will be dwarfed to triviality beside the disclosures affecting other and more important persons who may be implicated directly or indirectly in the scandal.

It is said here that a certain individual from London, known there as an abnormalist, was the ringleader of these entertainments, and, though having no official position whatever, was nevertheless entrusted with the keys of Vicars' office.

The theft, it is believed, was committed by one of these visitors to the midnight saturnalias in Dublin Castle, and that the thief, feeling confident in the peculiar circumstances surrounding the whole wretched affair, is satisfied the authorities would rather let the jewels go than stir up the scandal now everywhere discussed.

The individuals affected are the permanent officials of Dublin Castle, who are men drawn exclusively from aristocratic and landlord families.

The Nationalist party intends to press for a public investigation on political grounds, to expose the class to whom the government of Ireland is entrusted.

New York Orgy on New Year's Eve; Citizens Alarmed at Much Drinking

The Punch Bowl is Blamed—Reporters Describe Terrible Scenes—Statements by Prof. Quackenbos and Rev. Dr. Parkhurst on the Scenes.

U Startling increase in the drink habit among New York women.

A million dollars spent in the wildest New Year's Eve orgy that New York ever saw.

Experienced newspaper reporters are sickened, while Prof. Quackenbos, the alcoholic expert, and Dr. Parkhurst say it is true.

This jumble of setences tells what New York realized on New Year's Day, and that even those farthest removed from Puritanic scrupulseness regard the situation with fear.

The New York World views the situation from four standpoints. It sent two of its reporters, a man and a woman, into the district of Broadway, where the great restaurants are, on New Year's eve to write up just what they saw. Then it interviewed Prof. Quackenbos, specialist in nervous and mental diseases, and Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, the well known Presbyterian divine and reformer. Here is what Roy McCardell says in part of the New Year's eve orgy:

A BACCHNALIAN ORGY.

Nothing but wine!

Every cafe, every restaurant, on bright Broadway was thronged. Men guarded the doors to permit no more within. Tables had brought premium prices, the service, as far as food was concerned, was not even as good as usual. But there was plenty to drink instantly forthcoming.

NOTHING BUT WINE.

Midnight. Just a few women were drunk here and there. But it was genteel intoxication. Nothing but wine. True, its degrading effects were the same as if the cause were the slops dispensed in a mixed ale dive, but here were women in costly gowns, bejewelled with gems of price, who drank nothing but wine.

One o'clock. More drunken women on nothing but wine. Two o'clock and more. Sentimentally maudlin women singing songs, bitter women in whom nothing but wine aroused old hates, jealousies and animosities.

Some were led off, some staggered off to the retiring rooms deathly sick on nothing but wine.

As the New Year grew older all shame or concealment died down in the dressing rooms. The doors stood open, maids and attendants, who also had had nothing but wine, worked perfunctorily with ice bags and restoratives over the retching and comatose.

DECORUM THROWN TO THE WINDS.

This was not alone in one place, but in all the women's retiring rooms in every great hotel and restaurant on Broadway.

It was the slaughter of the sophisticated at the Battle of the Bottle. Nothing but wine.

Women got as far as the door and fell over in stupor from nothing but wine. There they lay. "Down and out and all in," said the maids, helping only those who could still speak or stagger.

Jewels fell from burnished locks or from gowns torn open for more air or easement from qualms. Paris dresses, bedraggled and polluted, were torn and dishevelled as their owners were dragged out of the gangways.

Drunken men clamored at the doors: "Where's my wife? She left me an hour ago!"

"Aw, come in and pick her out!" snapped the maids if the man gave no indication of coming like the Greeks with gifts. Did he wave a bill, assistance was forthcoming to carry his lady to a cab.

But, as the hours crept on to the dawn and the number and helplessness of the drunken women increased, and when all semblance of dressing room decorum and segregation was thrown to the winds, drunken escorts came in the doors to "pick 'em out." Sometimes they picked out the right ones, but in several cases they picked out one better of looks or of less bulk to carry. Who cared on the morning following New Year's eve, the night of nothing but wine!

NO FANCIFUL PICTURE.

This is no fanciful picture. Hold up your hands in horror no more when told of wretched women lifted from the gutter and carried on hand barrows to the station houses of a Saturday night in London, Liverpool, Belfast and other towns of Britain where such things be.

These were not the gin-swilling wives of mechanics. They were New York women "of the gay set" many that say of themselves, "We are decent." They did not stagger out from the public bar to fall in the kennel, stupefied with the cheapest and vilest of liquors. They were "ladies," they were carried out to cabs. They had drunk nothing but wine.

They numbered not two or ten, or even twenty. Their name was legion. And every retiring room was the shameful scene of nothing but wine.

This counts not the thousand and one that were not wholly overcome but who, blear of eye, blurred of speech, dishevelled of hair, could yet stagger out on the arms of escorts, ride home with the window of the cab or motor car thrown open to give them the benefit of the blessed morning air.

WHAT PROF. QUACKENBOS SAYS.

"It is with real alarm that I note the rapid growth of the drink habit among women in New York city," said Prof. Quackenbos, in an interview a few days ago. "I have been in a position to watch that growth closely, and I can say with full knowledge that ten women drink to-day where one drank a dozen years ago.

"The growth of the habit has been among women of all classes, the rich and the poor, young and old. Girls in their teens evidently see no impropriety whatever in drinking publicly with men companions. Very often indeed I have had young girls brought to me for treatment, hysterically drunk.

"I have treated within a year women whose weekly bill for champagne alone was $100 and who filled up the intervals between their draughts of wine with highballs and cocktails. One woman drank a quart of champagne every morning, and when ready to go out her custom was to order her maid to bring her another quart. Then before leaving the house to enter her carriage she would empty the bottle to 'steady her nerves.'

"School misses and college girls in great numbers are among the throng of women drinkers. A case was pointed out recently of a luncheon given here in New York, at which twenty-four debutantes drank thirty-six bottles of champagne, and fifteen of them smoked seven dozen cigarettes.

BEGINS AT THE PUNCH BOWL.

"As every one knows, the punch bowl figures largely in the growth of the drink habit among women of New York. It is found at all functions, and many a girl has got her first taste of liquor by a dip into it. The punch bowl, however, is not to be blamed entirely. Many women dip into it and may do it many times without acquiring the drink habit, but many get their start there. It does give them the taste of liquor, and then, with many of them, the taste for liquor.

ADULTERATED WHISKEY.

"Conditions might not be so bad, however, if women or men drank real, pure whiskey, real, pure wine, and real, pure liquors of all sorts, but they don't. They think they do, but what they are really drinking is a deadly poison, and one swift in its execution. I feel safe in saying that out of one hundred drinks sold in New York city as whiskey, not more than one is the real article."

DR. PARKHURST'S STATEMENT.

"It is undoubtedly true, and a deplorable fact, that the drink habit is growing rapidly among the women of New York.

"I have not made a real investigation, as Dr. Quackenbos has, but one does not have to investigate; it is a fact which stares you in the face, it is all on the surface, and one cannot overlook it.

"A chief reason for this increase in the number of women who drink is, I believe, that there has been too much prosperity.

"I suppose the growth of the drink habit has been principally among the women of the richer classes. It is at least reasonable to believe so, as they have the money and time to indulge in such laxity. Idleness is usually dangerous."

MISSION WILL CLOSE ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Large Congregations at St. Andrew's Church Yesterday.

Large congregations assembled at St Andrew's church yesterday morning and evening to hear the Rev. A. Allan, the Scotch preacher. His sermons were of a most convincing and impressive character, and were calculated to do much lasting good. The music was very inspiring, the congregations joining with heartiness in the service of praise. The anthems by the choir were well rendered. "The Homeland," (Sullivan), in the morning was enjoyed by everyone. Mrs. Davidson also sang, "Does Jesus Care?" At the evening service Mr W A Greenslade sang "Arise, Young Men, Arise." Mr. Allan's morning subject was "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." He first proved the value and glory of the victorious life, the great desire and longing for a triumphant life, and when compared with other world religions Christianity was the only religion that held triumph and victory before its followers.

Victory over the world did not imply that this beautiful world was evil, but at once referred to the evil forces that come between the conscience and Christ—the aggregate of all influences that seek to undermine the soul.

The secret of this victory is that working faith, illustrated throughout the old and New Testament. An Old Testament example is the case of Elisha. When his servant brought him word of the presence of the Syrian host there was no panic, but a fervent prayer that God would open the eyes of the young man, would he open to see the will of God and when he looked he saw the Host of Heaven between the enemy and God's servant.

The New Testament case was found in Matthew's Gospel, 17th chapter, where Christ requested Peter to find in the fish's mouth the coin to pay the taxes "for me and thee." By a very interesting reference to an incident in connection with the Welsh revival Mr. Allan made a most searching appeal to every hearer.

The address to young men in the evening was of a very helpful character, and many young men will have cause to look back to last night's service as a time when difficulties, intellectural, moral and spiritual were cleared away.

The mentioned example cited was of an eminent doctor in London, England, who had for years been an agnostic, and when the power of [illegible] came into his life he discovered that Christ was a mighty Saviour, and at once cleared his house of all that had been keeping him down.

The meetings will be continued till Wednesday night. Each afternoon at 3.30 the Bible reading, and the evening service at 7.45.

An opportunity will be given all who desire to give a free will thank offering to the evangelist at the service these later days of the mission.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

The Fraser Mission Band will hold an entertainment at the home of Miss Florence Cameron, 292 Stewart street, tomorrow (Tuesday) evening

The regular weekly prayer meeting will be heled on Wednesday evening.

The Young Men's Guild will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. A good programme will be presented. Rev. Mr. Pogue will give an address on Hon. John Wannamaker. All the men of the congregation are earnestly invited to attend.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH

Rev. H. M. Manning will speak at the Epworth League meeting at George Street church tonight. The meeting promises to be an interesting one.

The Mission Study class meets tonight at the home of Mrs. M. A. Tanner, George street.

The Girls' Guild meets to-night at the home of Mrs. Shortly, Aylmer street.

The annual meeting of the teachers and officers of the Sunday Sunday School will be held tomorrow night.

The usual prayer service will be held on Wednesday evening.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

The Girls' Auxiliary will meet tonight at the rectory at 7.30.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew meet on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. The senior boys of the Sunday School are requested to be present.

Hon. George A. Cox, of Toronto, was in the city yesterday the guest of Ald. W. G. Morrow.

Mrs. F. S. Schneider, 170 London-st. will receive Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Mr. G. D. Stevens, George street, has left on a visit to Brooklyn and New York city.

Mr. Roy Byers, of Bailieboro, spent Sunday with Mr. Walter Fisher, 493 Water street.

Miss Frankie Johnston left this morning for a few weeks visit with friends in Oshawa.

Mr. W. P. Kerr of Cobourg, was in the city over Sunday the guest of his brother, Mr. F. D. Kerr.

Mrs. Davidson and Miss Helen Davidson, who have been spending some time in Boston, have returned home.

Mr W. A. Turner and wife, of Peterborough, are registered at the British American Hotel, Kingston.

Miss Annie Weir, trained nurse, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. A. Weir, 474 Weller street, has returned to Toronto.

Mr. Ed. McKeever and family have left the City Hotel, and returned to their former home, Fall City, Nebraska, U.S.

Mr. S. R. Sells, of Peterborough, District Manager for the Canada Life Assurance Co., is spending a few days in town on business.—Lindsay Post.

Mrs. Manson Comstock will receive for the first time since her marriage on Wednesday afternoon and evening, at 219 Sherbrooke St.

Mr. H. W. Monginet will lead St. John's church choir and Miss M. Flowers will preside at the organ during the absence of Mr. R. D. Devey in England.

Miss M. Doherty, organist of St. Peter's cathedral, very pleasantly entertained the choir at her home on Thursday night last. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

Miss Leeta Bennett, assistant superintendent of the Western Hospital, is spending her vacation with her parents in North Monaghan, and with friends in the city.

Rev. Mr. McGinnis, missionary from Japan, who preached at St. Luke's church yesterday morning, and at All Saints' in the evening, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Edgar, Weller street, over Sunday.

The engagement of Miss Jessie L. Benson, D.S.C., daughter of Judge and Mrs. Benson, Port Hope, and granddaughter of the late Rev. Dr. Fuller, Bishop of Niagara, to Mr. H. T. Jaffray, manager of the Imperial Bank, Revelstoke, B.C., is announced.

Mr. A. R. MacLean, of the George Matthews Co., Ltd., has returned from a business visit to Winnipeg. Mr. MacLean had a very successful trip and reports that the feeling of Winnipegers is one of confidence and a firm faith in the future.

Mr. J. J. Hartley and Mrs. Hartley, returned home Saturday evening after a very pleasant visit of nearly five weeks on the American side. While away they visited Jersey City, N.J., Newark, N.J., New York city, Brooklyn, Syracuse, Rochester and Batavia.

Rev. William Major, rector of All Saints' church, Peterborough, was in town on Wednesday. He was the guest of Mrs. W. J. Cowan and family, while here. Mr. Major is a general favorite with the people of Cannington and surrounding country.—Cannington Gleaner.

Mr. Herman Grey, who has been assistant superintendent of the Peterborough branch of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., has accepted a similar position in Belleville for the same company, at an advanced salary. Mr. Grey has been a successful representative of the Peterborough branch for the past two years. He commenced his business career here and worked in Orillia for a time and afterwards came to Peterborough.

SPORTING NEWS

Whitcroft Did Not Play Game

The value of Whitcroft's presence on the Edmonton hockey team was shown in the last Strathcona-Edmonton game at Edmonton, when the Strathconas trimmed Edmonton by 7—5. Neither Whitcroft nor Campbell played, and although at one time Edmonton one by 6—1, the Strathconas made a whirlwind finish and trimmed their opponents by 7—5. Of Crowley's work at cover the Edmonton Journal says:—"Crowley played a very hard game and worked like a hero to sustain the record of the team."

PAINTERS WERE WHITEWASHED

C.G.E. Carpenters Put the Wood to Them in Game on Saturday

The following account of the C.G.E. Carpenters-Painters game has been handed the Review for publication:—

On Saturday afternoon from 1 to 2 o'clock, the wood butchers beat the paint daubbers of the C.G.E. Co. by 3 to 0 in a fast and exciting game on Knox rink. For the painters English was the star, but he could not get them by Flowers in the net for the carpenters. Huggins, Hughes, Mowry and Armstrong all played good hockey, but could not get in on the defence of the carpenters. While Price, Barrie and Robinson were their closest checks, they could do no damage at all. Jobe scored first blood for the carps by a lift from centre ice. This made things go at a fast clip as the painters tried hard to score, but all in vain. The carpenters had a sure thing after they scored their first goal as the butchers played a stubborn game. Flowers is a whirlwind on skates. He held to the goal post all the time and could have made use of an extra pair or two of skates. His opponent in goal was equally as good. But his skates were not mates or his boots did not fit or something was wrong with his skating ability, as he was seen trotting and walking around all the time the game was going on. He had to have a rub down after the game was over, as he was terribly heated up and was a busy member of the gang. Following is the line up of the teams.

Painters		Carpenters
	Goal.
Ellis		Flowers
	Point.
English		Campbell
	Cover-point.
Pearson		Jobe
	Rover.
Hughes		Robinson
	Centre.
Mowry		Howell
	Right Wing.
Armstrong		Barrie
	Left Wing.
Huggins		Price

Jimmie Peterson gave every satisfaction as a referee.

Fourteen Games for This Week

A Busy Time Looked for in Brock St. Rink—A Record Week

This week will be the busiest one at the Brock street rink in the rink's history. Caretaker Jack Thirnbeck says every available hour has been taken up and in the neighborhood of fourteen games will be played. The demand for the use of the ice for local games is a record breaker this season and there are many teams awaiting the opportunity of displaying their ability at the winter game.

HOCKEY

ACCEPT CHALLENGE.

The hockey team of Grace church accepts the challenge of All Saints' Boys' Brigade. All Saints' boys can make the necessary arrangements by seeing Capt. Hawkins, of the Grace church club.

On Saturday night in a game between Renfrew and Pembroke, which Pembroke won by 8-6, Spittal, of the Renfrew team, was arrested for assaulting Flood, the rover of the opposing team.

In the game at Mutual street rink on Saturday between the Toronto and Guelph pros the Hogtown seven came out ahead winning by 7-2.

Sporting Comment

Strathconas play in Whitby tonight in their third intermediate O.H.A. game of the season. Judging from the respective showings of the Straths and Whitby against Lindsay, the locals should pretty nearly win. Whitby lost to Lindsay in Whitby by 9—3, and in Lindsay by 8—1, while the Scugog seven defeated Strathconas in their game here by 6—4. On a trial balance it would seem that the wearers of the red and white have a balance to their credit. But it must be taken into consideration that tonight's game is on Whitby ice.

The appointment of W. B. Rogers as postmaster of Toronto will be gazetted shortly, says the Globe.

THE BOOKMAKERS HAVE ARRIVED

Messrs. Colling and Wallace Here for Races—Look for Lively Betting

The bookmakers for the ice races anticipate a big business. They are Messrs. Colling and Wallace from Columbus, O., and are two of the most reliable and widely known bookies in the game. Mr. Colling is registered at the National and his partner is staying at the Snowden House. They speak highly of the ice races all down the stretch and look for big betting in Peterborough.

All Ready for the Ice Races

The horses from outside points are here for the races and are stabled at the local hotels. The track will be in the best of shape and the spectators may look for some very fast sport in the various classes. There are some fast ones entered, for both days, and the horsemen and enthusiasts are awaiting with impatience the tinkle of the starter's bell.

HORSES THAT WILL START

A Likely Looking List for the Two Day's Ice Races on Jan. 21 and 22

Below are the entries for the different classes in the races of the Peterborough Turf Club's ice races for both days:

FIRST DAY, JAN. 21.

Class 2.35, pace or trot.—

Jim K.—L. Ketcheson, Belleville.
City Queen, L. Bennett, Port Hope
Tobe—McFarlane, Sarnia.
Godfrey's Pride—M. Welsh, Hastings.
Lulu Chimes—Geo. Lipsett, Peterborough.
Honest Billy—Gibbs, Barrie.

Class 2.18, pace or trot.

Harry Direct, J. J. Cottingham, Peterborough.
Queen's Baron—Dr. Johnston, Peterborough.
Wm. C.—J. McDowell, Toronto.
Gypsy Girl—J. McDowell, Toronto.

SECOND DAY, JAN. 22.

Hazel Belle—Dr. Johnston, Peterborough.
Tobe—McFarlane, Sarnia.
Planet—Holman, Sarnia.
City Queen—L. Bennett, Port Hope.
Lulu Chimes — Lipsett, Peterborough.

Free for all—

Dorie B.—Lake, Napanee.
Gypsy Girl—J. McDowell, Toronto.
Harry Direct—J. J. Cottingham, Peterborough.
Orillia Belle—Daly, Orillia.
Harry D. — Montgomery, Parry Sound.

OFFICIALS FOR WINTER MEET

Competent Men Have Been Chosen—Dr. Johnston Will Not Officiate

The races from a standpoint of officials will be looked after by competent men and satisfaction to the starters is assured. In the judges' stand there will be Messrs. Wm. Lahey, Lakefield, and Donald Fraser, proprietor of the Snowden House. Mr. Fraser is a thorough horseman and was for many years one of the most prominent members of the London Driving Club of London, Ont. Mr. J. O'Shea, the popular secretary of the Turf Club, will be the clerk of the course. Starter, Mr. M. Connors.

Dr. Johnston, the president, will not be one of the officials, owing to the fact that two of the horses to start—Queen's Baron and Hazel Belle are entered by him.

CRICKET NEWS OF INTEREST

The Result of the Second Test Match in Australia

Last week the British mails brought the welcome news that the second Test Match had commenced on New Year's Day, and England was within twenty runs of the Australians' first innings' score, and only three wickets down. Saturday last a local gentleman received a letter from England with the welcome news that England had won the match in a sporting finish.

When the last man, "Bonda," the Lancashire pro., joined Fielder, England required forty runs to win.

When we consider that England was without Mr. A. O. Jones, the captain, and Blythe, the celebrated West of England pro, two of the very best men on the English side, being unable to play on account of illness, the result is very gratifying to all of us of the grand old British game.

CURLING

The Review has received a copy of the programme of the fourth annual bonspiel of the Saskatchewan Branch Royal Caledonian Curling Club, to be held at Regina on January 13th to 18th. The prizes offered are splendid ones, many of them being worth over $100.

TURF

Gypsy Girl, Planet and Wm. C. arrived in the city this morning and will workout at the Driving park this afternoon.

The four nephews who disputed the will of the husband of Mrs. Charles Cornwall, of Brockville, lost their suit after a 12 days' trial.

A river front drive from Nepean Point to Rideau Hall, to cost $100,000, is being laid out.

MELANCHOLY?

"Can't even sleep—restless day and night, brooding over imagined troubles all the time. Your disease isn't in the brain, but in the blood, which is watery and thin, because you don't assimilate your food.

Do the right thing now and you'll be cured quickly. Just take Ferrozone; it turns everything you eat into nourishment. It puts new tone into the blood, quickens and vitalizes the worn-out nerves. The weary brain is relieved, sleeplessness disappears and brooding ceases.

FERROZONE

For health—vigor—spirits, try this grand food tonic—none better. It uplifts, braces, tones, makes you feel like new. Both old and young, male and female, derive unquestionable benefit from this grand medicine.

Senate Reform is Being Considered by the Commons

Liberal Proposes to Let Them Die Off Till 50 Are Left.

Then Proposes to Pension Others and Have the Red Chamber Cease to Exist—Mr. Lewis Urges a Plebiscite as to Mending or Ending—Doings in Dominion Parliament Yesterday.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Senate reform or abolition was the issue discussed in the House yesterday, three resolutions being taken up jointly. The first, by G. H. McIntyre (Lib., South Perth), suggested an age limit for retirement, a limited term, an extension of the power to make appointments and a rearrangement of the duties of both Houses.

E. N. Lewis (Con., West Huron) favors a plebiscite on the question of abolition or reform. H. H. Miller (Lib., South Grey) would abolish the Upper Chamber by retiring survivors on a pension after their number has been diminished to fifty.

Mr. McIntyre did not believe abolition was practicable. It was not the proper line of action to eliminate the Senate without considering what remedies might be applied. What would abolition mean? It would remove all the good there was in it and deprive the country of the experience of useful members of the body. It would mean placing the destinies of this country absolutely in control of the House of Commons, and leave them to the uncontrolled democracy. It would deliver the minority over to the absolute will of the majority. Would the majority, asked Mr. McIntyre, under all circumstances have done absolute justice to the distinguished member of the Opposition at any time that a member of the press was summoned to the bar of the House for offending the member? Who would guarantee that full justice would always be done?

The people could not afford to leave the Government entirely to one set of men. The Senate was a check on hasty legislation. All arguments yet heard were against the Senate as at present constituted.

Give Them More to Do.

Mr. McIntyre proposed that in order to increase its usefulness it might be given more to do. It might be appointed a standing committee to search out new lines of legislation, such as questions of public ownership or rural mail delivery, and it could send to the Lower House pre-digested food for thought. He did not believe the Senate should have absolute veto power, and in questions where there was antagonism provision might be made for joint sessions, at which animosities might be softened and the two bodies brought together.

E. Norman Lewis said the matter was of sufficient importance to be dealt with by the "bulldogs of war of the Government benches, and not of the bull-terriers of war of the Opposition." It was a satisfaction to him to note that only a few years ago the Government had put into effect a recommendation he had made to keep out foreign shipping. The chief objection of Mr. Lewis to the Senate was that a body representing the wealth and influence of a corporation should pass upon legislation adopted by the popularly-elected chamber.

Mr. H. H. Miller's Plan.

Mr. Miller announced his disagreement with the proposition of Senate reform. He advocated abolition.

All agreed that the Senate should be reformed, but no two could agree on the proper method. Mr. Miller proceeded to say that the Senate had blocked measures that ought to have been passed, mentioning the Yukon Railway and Mr. Lancaster's level crossings bill of last session. It had been said that we could not abolish the Senate because it would not abolish itself. He could not believe that it would refuse to bow to the popular will. Mr. Miller would protect the existing members by asking the Imperial Government to pass legislation providing that no appointments be made, and that the Senate continue to perform its duties until the membership shall have been reduced to fifty, when those surviving shall be retired on an annuity of $2,000.

Mr. Schell (Lib., South Oxford) opposed abolition, claiming it was impracticable, but heartily approved the McIntyre idea.

Mr. Daniel (Conservative, St. John, N. B.), while considering that the Senate was more in need of reform than in 1896, would not do away with it.

It would be impossible, said Mr. Daniel, to get the Maritime Provinces to consent to abolition.

Sir Wilfrid replied. In all the references of the world, he said, the evidence was against the abolition of the Second Chamber. He instanced France, and showed that there was more reason here to hold to the dual chamber. The first reform that ought to be made was in the way of limiting the number of the Senate. He would copy still further the United States Senate, in which Rhode Island had no more power than the more populous State of New York. Sir Wilfrid would give each province equal representation, say six Senators, so that Prince Edward would have the same voice as Ontario or Quebec. He thought the principle of life membership in the Senate was wrong. He would limit the term and thus increase its responsibility.

He was sorry to say that the Senators were looked upon as pensioners of the state. The weakest point in the Senate was that it could not be subjected to some other authority, whereas in England the Lords could be controlled by the appointment of a sufficient number of new members to weaken their authority. Popular election for the Senate was not the best mode in Sir Wilfrid's opinion. There was a strong feeling that we had elections enough. Discussing the American system of appointment by the State Legislatures, Sir Wilfrid said there was a feeling in the United States that it was not the best system. Sir Wilfrid suggested that the Senators might be appointed by the Commons in groups of three, so that the Opposition would be sure to elect one in every three, but he was not sure that such a plan would maintain the principle of equal provincial representation.

Could It Be Expected.

Sir Wilfrid answered the taunts of the Opposition as to his attitude of Senate reform. When in Opposition he had taken the ground that not all the appointments should be made from one political party. But how could he be expected to appoint men who were constantly saying the Government was corrupt. Could it be expected, for instance, to appoint the member for North Toronto, and if he nominated a lukewarm Conservative he would be condemned by honorable gentlemen opposite. It was true that Sir John A. Macdonald had appointed a Liberal, but if there was such a man in the Conservative ranks as John Macdonald (Laurier) would recommend him. The Premier admitted in conclusion that, while the Senate ought to be reformed, he did not know how to proceed.

Mr. Foster's Opinion.

Mr. Foster followed. He thought the people would not be disposed to quarrel with the constitutional aspect of the Senate, but the dissatisfaction was based, he thought, on the quality of the appointees, and the manner of their appointment and the plain, evident purpose with which the power of appointment had been used.

How long was the Premier going to hold the opinion that the Senate ought to be reformed and do nothing. The matter was just as important as it was in 1896. Mr. Foster thought Sir Wilfrid might procrastinate too much. He might find himself on the outside and not be able to carry out his pledge.

Mr. Foster could not agree with the idea that the main purpose of the Senate was the protection of the minorities. That, of course, was part of its functions. The Senate was a repository of the mature wisdom of the country. It was an irresponsible body when it was the creation of one man and it would become a responsible body when it had proper elements in it.

Mr. Foster agreed that the number of Senators should be diminished, but he opposed the idea of mechanical distribution. The question of responsibility depended entirely upon the grade of the men mentioned.

Sir Wilfrid, proceeded Mr. Foster, had given his case away when he treated an immensely important question as a man would jolly a set of men. He was willing to reform the Senate, but when the opportunity came to him he could not see it in the same light. The party was tugging at his coat-tails.

Mr. Foster twitted the Prime Minister upon his admission of recalcitrancy from his earlier and more unpartisan views of Senate reform.

He ridiculed Sir Wilfrid's proposal to have the Senators chosen by the House of Commons. It would be the last straw which would break the camel's back; it would crush the institution below. For himself he was not afraid to trust the people. They might make mistakes, but they wouldn't make such blunders as creating vacancies for the sheer delight of filling them. The constituencies are large enough to get away from party management. It must eventually come to the people themselves, and nothing would suit the people better than the direct choice of the Senators.

"It is better," said Mr. Foster in conclusion, "to spend a little more money and get a Senate that is an expression of the will of the people than it is to spend less money and get a Senator that is largely the expression of one man or of one party."

The debate was adjourned at 10.40.

E. A. Lewis has given notice of the following motion: "That in the opinion of this House such a duty shall be placed on the export of pulpwood as will induce its manufacture into paper in this country and thus save to the labor of Canada the $6,000,000 now lost."

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—U. S. Markets Steady for Hogs and Cattle.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—London cables are firmer, at 11c to 13c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c to 9⅝c per pound.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 68 carloads, composed of 1205 cattle, 169 sheep, 8 calves and over 100 horses.

Exporters.

Prices ranged at from $4.75 to $5.25 per cwt. for steers, and $3.75 to $4.25 for bulls.

Butchers.

Choice picked lots sold at $4.75 to $5 per cwt.; loads of good, $4.30 to $4.65; medium, $4.10 to $4.25; common, $3.50 to $3.80; cows, $2.25 to $4; canners, $1 to $2 per cwt.

Veal Calves.

Trade firm for veal calves, at $4.50 to $6.25 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

Only a limited number were on sale and none of extra quality. Prices ranged at from $35 to $52 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts of sheep and lambs less than 200; sold readily as follows: Export ewes, $4.25 per cwt.; lambs, $6 to $6.25 per cwt.; picked ewes and wethers, $6.25 to $6.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

Dealers quoted selects, fed and watered, $5.50; lights and fats, $5.25. Prices were also quoted by these same dealers at $5.25 to drovers at country points, f.o.b. cars. Many of the drovers stated that they would not be able to get hogs at these prices.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Jan. 18 were 4362 cattle, 604 sheep and lambs, 2088 hogs and 164 calves. The offerings to-day for the local trade were 1600 cattle, 400 sheep and lambs, 300 hogs and 100 calves.

Sales on Saturday of choice steers, weighing 1400 lbs., were made at 5½c to 5¾c per lb., and there were purchases made this morning at 5¼c to 5½c, but the stock was not so heavy. There were no changes in prices for other grades of cattle, as supplies were ample to fill all requirements, but the tone of the market was firm, and, as the demand was good from both local and outside buyers, an active trade was done and a clearance was made early. Cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday were stronger and noted an advance in prices for Canadian cattle and ranchers of ½c to ½c per lb., and bulls were quoted at ½c per lb. higher. In this market choice steers sold to-day at 5¼c to 5½c; good cattle at 4½c to 5c; fair at 3¾c to 4½c; common at 3¼c to 3½c, and inferior at 2½c to 3c per lb. A stronger feeling has developed in the market for lambs, and prices have advanced ¼c to ½c per lb. This is due to the small supplies coming forward at present and the good local demand. Sales of choice ewes were made at 6¼c to 6½c; good at 5¾c to 6c, and common at 5¼c to 5½c per lb. The market for sheep was firm and unchanged. Receipts are light, for which there is a steady demand for export account. Choice stock sold at 4c to 4¼c; good at 3½c to 3¾c, and culls at 3c to 3¼c per lb. The market for hogs was weak again this morning, and prices declined 25c to 50c per 100 lbs. since last Wednesday. Receipts were much smaller, but as the demand was also very limited from packers and dealers, as they were fairly well stocked up, supplies were more than ample, as some were left over. A few small sales of selected stock were made early at $6.25 to $6.50, but later the best bid was $6, which was for some round lots, but at this figure drovers lost money, as they paid more in the country for them. Some holders would not accept the last price named and carried their stock over, with the expectation that few will come in for the balance of this week and next, as farmers will refuse to sell at lower prices than they have been getting of late, which will probably firm up the local market. Cable advices on Saturday from Liverpool on Canada bacon were weak and noted a decline in prices of 2s to 3s per cwt., as compared with a week ago.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 5000 head; slow and 10c lower; prime steers, $6.50 to $6; shipping, $5 to $5.40; butchers', $4.25 to $5.25; heifers, $3.50 to $5; cows, $3.75 to $4.50; bulls, $3 to $4.50; stockers and feeders, $3 to $4.25; stock heifers, $2.25 to $3; fresh cows and springers steady, $20 to $55.

Hogs—Receipts, 22,000 head; active and 10c higher; heavy, $4.65 to $4.85; mixed, $4.50 to $4.55; yorkers, $4.55 to $4.60; pigs, $4.65 to $4.70; roughs, $3.75 to $4; stags, $3 to $3.50; dairies, $4.40 to $4.60.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 20,000 head; active; sheep steady; lambs and yearlings 25c higher; lambs, $5 to $7.65; yearlings, $6 to $6.50; wethers, $5.75 to $6; ewes, $5 to $5.50; sheep, mixed, $2 to $5.00.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at about 32,000; market lower; steers, $4.25 to $6.25; cows, $3.00 to $4.50; heifers, $2.50 to $5.25; bulls, $3 to $4.25; calves, $3 to $8.25; stockers and feeders, $2.00 to $4.60.

Hogs—Receipts estimated at about 55,000; market strong to 5c higher; choice heavy shipping, $4.65 to $4.80; butchers', $4.40 to $4.80; light mixed, $4.30 to $4.45; choice light mixed, $4.50 to $4.55; choice light, $4.40 to $4.45; packers, $4 to $4.45; pigs, $4.25 to $4.35; bulk of sales, $4.35 to $4.45.

Life Underwriters' Banquet Was an Auspicious Function

Gathering of Large Number Insurance Men of Central Ontario—Many Speeches by Some of the Representative Members of the Association—First Annual Banquet a Pleasing and Successful Affair.

The Underwriters' Association of Central Ontario is an infant organization, having been in actual existence for less than a year, but as could be seen by the large and representative gathering of its members and guests held at Hooper's Palm Gardens, last night, the metaphorical infant is a mighty healthy one, and bound to grow to the full that numerical and other conditions will allow. The gathering was graced with the presence of representative men from the office and field, and was enjoyable and instructive. Speeches of a most appropriate character were delivered during the evening, and the different toasts were eloquently proposed and responded to.

The banquet was opened by grace by Rev. Mr. Pogue. After the splendid array of good things had been disposed with, the toast list was run off. Mr. H. P. Lindsay, the retiring president, occupied the chair. Previous to the banquet the annual meeting of the association was held in the offices of the Great West Life in the Bank of Commerce Chambers.

Mr. H. P. Lindsay, the chairman, said that he regretted that His Worship Mayor Rush, the newly-elected president, had been unable to arrive owing to important council meeting.

The toast of the King was then heartily drunk.

The next toast was that of the Dominion Association of Life Underwriters, proposed by Rev. Mr. Pogue, and replied to by Mr. McConkey, who took the place of Mr. H. C. Cox, president of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada, who was unable to be present.

Mr. McConkey who replied to the toast, congratulated the association on its splendid gathering, and the very creditable work that was being done.

Mr. Morphet next favored the gathering with a splendidly rendered solo, "Heroes and Gentlemen." The selection was generously applauded.

Mr. Nelson here read a letter from Mr. R. R. Hall, expressing his regret at being unable to attend. He also expressed his opinion of the insurance bill, and said it would afford him great pleasure to do all in his power in the best interests of the act. Mr. George K. Martin said that Mr. Finlay, the member for East Peterborough would do his duty in connection with the bill.

Mr. D. H. Moore, in proposing "Our Guests" said he thought the underwriters might be pardoned for being a little proud about the success of the gathering. He referred to the happy gathering of men, who in ordinary business affairs were antagonistic to each other.

Appropriate and happy replies were made by Mr. J. E. Parks, of Belleville, and Mr. S. E. Salls, of Peterborough.

Mr. Scriver ably sang "Island of Dreams."

"The Association and Agents" was suitably proposed by Rev. Mr. Pearson, pastor of the George Street Methodist church.

Mr. J. O. McCarthy, of Toronto, president of the Ontario Underwriters' Association, delivered an instructive and felicitous reply. Mr. John Crane was the efficient accompanist of the evening, the songs of Messrs. Scriver and Morphet being much appreciated.

Among those present were H. P. Lindsay, president, J. O. McCarthy Toronto; J. E. Parks, Belleville; F. C. Philp and W. J. Robertson, Port Hope; W. R. Widdess, Lindsay; T. G. McConkey, Toronto; T. G. Robson, Oshawa; H. Argue, Millbrook; Rev. B. A. Pearson, Rev. R. Pogue, Messrs. F. G. Salls, W. S. Turner, D. H. Moore, W. F. Nelson, George K. Martin, John Crane, Herbert Morphet, J. H. Scriver, G. B. Stevenson, W. H. Hill, George E. Elliott S. G. Salls and others.

MR. S. E. SALLS
Elected President of Canada Life Assurance Company's Agents

Canada Life Agents Meeting

The annual meeting of the Canada Life Assurance Agents Association of the Midland district, was held Monday in the company's office in Peterborough. Advantage was taken of the meeting of the Life Underwriter's Association of Central Ontario being held in Peterborough at the same time, and the two meetings were held together. Canada Life Insurance agents were in attendance from all parts of the district.

The business which was transacted was of a general character. The election of officers for the new term resulted as follows:—

Pres.—S. E. Salls, Peterborough.
Vice-Pres.—W. R. Widdess, Lindsay.
Sec.-Treas.—Capt. W. J. Robertson, Port Hope.

Representatives of the association were present from Oshawa, Port Hope and Lindsay.

UNDERWRITERS ASSOCIATION

Held Annual Meeting Last Evening—Officers Elected

The annual meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association was held last evening in the Canada Life office previous to the banquet at Hooper's restaurant. The retiring president, Mr. H. P. Lindsay, was in the chair and routine business was proceeded with. Four applications for membership from Beaverton were received, two from Uxbridge and one from Cobourg, and one from this city. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Mayor Rush.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. W. R. Widdess. Lindsay.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. G. B. Stevenson.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. W. F. Nelson.

Executive committee—The above officers and Messrs. D. H. Moore, T. Marks, H. P. Lindsay, Peterborough, Campbell, B. L. McLean, of Lindsay, H. A. Cameron, Beaverton, and Capt. Robertson, Port Hope.

An Exhaustive Investigation.

New York, Jan. 21.—An exhaustive investigation into the widespread belief that persons connected with financial institutions and public service corporations of this city have been guilty of illegal acts, will be made by a committee appointed by the grand jury.

The grand jury came before Justice Dowling, in the Supreme Court yesterday, and made a long presentiment on the subject, and announced that a committee will receive reliable information as to any specific crimes that are believed to have been committed, and that the committee will make an exhaustive enquiry into the subject.

His Curiosity Fatal.

New York, Jan. 21.—Winner of a debate on "Capital Punishment" at a meeting of the Debating Club of his parish Saturday night, Seth Schuyler, 18 years old, of Brooklyn, was found hanging dead in the bathroom of his home late Sunday. He had wound a silk muffler around his neck and hanged himself to a gas bracket. Friends assert their belief that the young man came to his death in trying to discover experimentally the sensations the victims of an execution by hanging might feel.

Preaching and Practice.

Lord Lawrence, one of the famous viceroys of India, was an able and very simple man. He used to do his work in his shirt sleeves and discouraged as much as possible all state and ceremony. He was inclined to treat the natives like children, although he always strenuously insisted upon their meriting and receiving justice and kindness. Lord Mayo went to India to succeed him, and on the last afternoon before Lord Lawrence was to leave for home he took the incoming viceroy for a drive. On the way he impressed his doctrine of kindness very emphatically and solemnly on his successor. Lord Mayo thanked him for his helpful advice, and they returned in due course to Government House. The syce, or footman, was slow and awkward in opening the door of the carriage, whereupon Lord Lawrence jumped out in a temper and gave his ear an unmistakable tug. Lord Mayo turned to the viceroy's aid with a smile.

"My first practical lesson in kindness to natives is undoubtedly an odd one." he whispered.

An Enemy's Courtesy.

When the crusaders under King Richard of England defeated the Saracens, the sultan, seeing his troops fly, asked what was the number of the Christians who were making all this slaughter. He was told that it was only King Richard and his men and that they were all on foot.

"Then," said the sultan, "God forbid that such a noble fellow as King Richard should march on foot," and sent him a noble charger.

The messenger took it and said:

"Sire, the sultan sends you this charger that you may not be on foot."

The king was as cunning as his enemy and ordered one of his squires to mount the horse in order to try him. The squire obeyed, but the animal proved fiery, and, the squire being unable to hold him in, he set off at full speed to the sultan's pavilion. The sultan expected he had got King Richard and was not a little mortified to discover his mistake.

Sitting on a High Hat.

"If I were to offer to wager that I could sit squarely on my silk hat without crushing it, you would take me up, I suppose," said a clubman to a fellow member. "Well, you would lose," he continued. "A good silk hat should support the weight of a man say 140 pounds without yielding, providing the weight is applied gradually and carefully. The way to do it is to place the hat on a smooth, strongly supported surface, crown downward, and lay a board across the rim, in the hollow. On this seat yourself steadily and slowly, and you will find the hat does not yield. Of course, a hat that has once been bent or broken will not do. Nor is the rule invariable. It applies only to good hats. Have I ever tried it? Yes, I have, but not on my own hat."

Eating Onions.

Persons with dropsical tendencies should eat onions frequently. This simple cure has proved effective in many cases. In one instance the patient had been given up by several physicians and only tried the onions to please a friend. She was completely restored to health and, though that was five years ago, has never had a return of the trouble. She ate the onions just as she would an apple, taking a great many during the day.—Exchange.

WHO WAS TO BLAME

Responsibility Fixed For the Importation of Japanese Coolies.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux Presents W. L. Mackenzie King's Report on Situation in British Columbia—Cites Activity of Immigration Companies With Railway and Mining Interests—Consternation Excusable.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—There was laid upon the table of the House last night by Hon. Mr. Lemieux, the report of W. L. Mackenzie King upon the enquiry conducted by him last autumn into the methods by which Oriental laborers have been induced to come into Canada during the year 1907. Daily sessions were held in Vancouver and Victoria, between Nov. 11 and Nov. 30, during which time 101 witnesses were examined, including 27 Japanese, 15 Hindus and 35 Chinese.

Mr. King's opinion is that the abnormal influx of Japanese last summer, which caused all the trouble, was not due to intentional action of the Japanese Government, but to the operations of the Nippin Supply Co., a concern engaged in the importation of Oriental laborers for employment principally on the Grand Trunk Pacific, but also in other works in British Columbia.

This company dealt with emigration companies in Japan, who have to deposit the necessary security in the shape of a cash bond with the Government, which they in turn secure themselves by having the emigrants obtain securities among relatives and friends. For their services the emigration companies are allowed to charge a prescribed commission, from $10 to $12 being a customary amount. Emigrants are only allowed to leave Japan on passport, and the companies engage to bring back when required for military services such emigrants as they may send out.

There were at the beginning of the year in Canada about 7,500 Japanese, and Mr. King does not think it a matter of surprise that the arrival of 8,125 more in British Columbia during the year should have created consternation in certain quarters. He adds that if anything more were needed to occasion unrest it was to be found in the simultaneous arrival from the Orient of Hindus by the hundreds, and Chinese in larger numbers than of the immediately preceding years. It was an alarm at numbers which Canada raised, but deducting admissions to the United States, only 4,429 of the 8,125 Japanese remained in Canada. Of these 2,779 came from the Hawaiian Islands, and 1,641 from Japan direct. Of the latter 900 were brought out by agreements with the Tokio Emigration Co., and 151 were persons rejected by United States officials, and allowed to remain in Canada; 360 were Japanese returning to Canada, and 290 were merchants, students, etc.

Negroes Awful Crime.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 21.—Two negroes whose names are believed to be Walter Cole and Jess Williams have committed a double crime, which has greatly excited the people of Morgan County, Tenn.

With robbery as their motive, it is believed that they waylaid John Brown, a Cincinnati Southern telegraph operator at Annadel, Tenn., brained him with an axe and took a pistol from him, with which they later shot and instantly killed David Langley, Jr., a watchman for the same railroad at Annadel bridge. Hundreds of whites are searching for the negroes.

Twenty-Four In One Grave.

Boyertown, Jan. 21.—The bodies of twenty-four unidentified dead who lost their lives in the Rhodes Opera House fire last Monday were buried Sunday in Fairview cemetery in this place.

Upwards of 10,000 persons attended the services that marked the interment of the fire victims, who were buried in one long, circular-shaped trench.

FIREMAN KILLED.

Fatality In Hamilton Car Barns Blaze—Loss of $50,000.

Hamilton, Jan. 21.—Fireman Roy Green of the King William street squad, was killed outright, and Fireman William Seal painfully injured last evening while fighting a fire that completely destroyed the street car barns at the corner of Herkimer and Locke streets, causing a loss of about $50,000.

The fire broke out at 7.30. When the firemen arrived the whole building was a mass of flames, and all they could do was to keep the fire from spreading.

Capt. Robert Aitchison, with Firemen Green, William Seal and A. Stinson rushed into a shed at the north side of the building to save three cars that were standing there. While they were working at the cars, they noticed the north wall of the building beginning to fall, and all ran. Green stumbled, falling into a ditch, and was buried under the falling bricks, being killed instantly. His body was recovered with difficulty.

Fireman Seal was struck on the head by falling bricks, but escaped serious injury.

The three cars were destroyed, along with another that was in the building.

How the fire started in a mystery, but it is believed that defective wiring was the cause.

During the progress of the fire the electric wires caused a lot of trouble, several of the fireman getting severe shocks.

Great Interest in the Mission

Gratifying and Inspiring Results of Last Night's Gathering

The congregation that assembled last night in St. Andrew's church, was the largest gathering on one week night during the mission, and was specially gratifying and inspiring. Mr. Allan's discourse was of a most personal and practical character, and before the close the search light was turned on every heart.

The praise service was cheering—the old Gospel hymns being caught up readily by the audience. Miss Lillian Moore sang most sweetly, "Face to Face," and Mr. Scriver's quartette gave a treat in "The Wayside Cross." The Rev. Mr. McKenzie, of Centreville, was present, and assisted in the devotional service

Mr. Allan announced his text as Revelation iii., 20, "Behold I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear My voice, and open the door, I will come into him, and sup with him and he with Me."

During prayer, a large number signified their desire to respond to the invitation given in the message, and to accept the fellowship of Christ.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan will assist in the service of praise tonight.

Williams Company Submits Proposition to the City

Regarding the Plant of the Wm. Hamilton Co.—Terms Upon Which They Will Continue the Works—Manufacturers' Committee Dealing With Matter.

At the City Council meeting last night, Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., submitted a proposition from the Williams Machinery Company, Limited, regarding the taking over of the plant of the Wm. Hamilton Co. It was as follows:—

To the Mayor and Council of the City of Peterborough;

Gentlemen,—At a meeting of the Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council and the Manufacturers' Committee of the Board of Trade, held on December 30th, 1907, I was requested to submit a proposition in writing regarding the re-organization of the Wm. Hamilton, Manufacturing Company, Limited.

I accordinly now beg to submit to you a proposition on behalf of the new Company, to be known as the William Hamilton Company, Limited.

The new company would be prepared to take over and operate the works upon the following terms and conditions, namely;

1. The new Company to be furnished by the city of Peterborough with a loan of FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($50,000.00) without interest, and to be secured by a first-class mortgage upon the land and buildings of the Company, not including machinery, fixtures and equipment, to be repayable in five years from the date the money is actually advanced to them, in ten equal instalments of five thousand dollars each, the first of such annual instalments to be paid at the end of one year after expiration of said five year period.

2. The loan would be further secured by the personal covenant of the new Company.

3. The new Company to have a fixed assessment for all municipal purposes of $10,000.00 for a period of ten years, save and except that the Company will pay its full and regular school taxes.

4. The new Company to have proper and suitable connection with the sewerage system for the city of Peterborough for the general purposes of their works.

5. The Company to be supplied by the city with a reasonable number of hydrants, at least three, as required by the Fire Underwriters' Association, and to be placed, operated and maintained by the city at such points on the property of the Company as the Underwriters' Association may direct.

6. The new Company to have a proper and sufficient conveyance from the city of Peterborough of that portion of Rubidge street lying immediately east of and adjoining its property.

7. The Company to have a proper and sufficient conveyance of a strip of land six feet wide on the westerly limit of Reid street, and immediately east of the Company's property facing easterly on Reid street.

8. The new Company to have the right to connect their works lying east of Reid street with their works lying west of Reid street by the erection of an overhead travelling crane which will be erected and maintained so as to interfere with the traffic on Reid street to a less extent than would be necessitated by hauling machinery from one building to the other by means of horses and carts.

The new Company would be satisfied on their part to comply with the following conditions, namely;—

1. As a condition of securing the loan, they would agree to employ, after the first year from the date the loan is advanced to them, at least an average number of one hundred and fifty employees for at least nine months in each year during the currency of the loan, and in the event of the company employing a less average number of employees than one hundred and fifty during at least nine months of any year of the term then for such year or years as the case may be that less than one hundred and fifty employees are employed, the Company would be prepared to pay interest upon the balance of the loan due to the city, from time to time as follows;—If a less average number of employees than seventy-five is employed during at least nine months of any year, then the company would pay five per cent. per annum on the balance of the loan for such year. If a less average number of employees than one hundred is employed at least during nine months of any year, then the Company would pay four per cent. per annum on the balance of the loan for such year. If a less number of employees than one hundred and twenty-five is employed during at least nine months of any year, then the company would pay three per cent per annum on the balance of the loan for such year. If a less number of employees than one hundred and fifty is employed atleast during nine months of any year, then the Company would pay two per cent per annum on the balance of the loan for such year.

2. The Company will expend during the first five years of the existence of said loan, at least the sum of thirty thousand dollars in new buildings, machinery plant and improvements, and in the event of the company not doing so they will be prepared to pay interest at the rate of five per cent per annum on the balance of the loan due said city from time to time until such sum of thirty thousand dollars is expended as aforesaid.

3. A reasonable proposition should be added that in the event of the failure to use the plant, being due to strikes or destruction to the buildings or machinery by fire or tempest, the time during which the plant shall cease to be used, in consequence of such strikes or destruction to buildings or machinery, not exceeding in either case one year and six months, shall nto be counted in the period to entitle the city to charge interest upon the loan.

All of which is respectfully submitted for your consideration.

Yours truly,
A. R. WILLIAMS MACHINERY CO.,
Limited.
Per T. A. HOLLINRAKE,
Vice-President.

Ald Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the matter be referred to the Manufacturers' Committee for further consideration.

Peterborough Barristers Who Are Created King's Counsel

Will Now be Able to Wear the Silk Gown and Attach the Letters "K. C," to Their Names—Messrs W. H. Moore, L. M. Hayes and R. M. Dennistoun are Among the Number.

Messrs. W. H. Moore and L. M. Hayes, of this city, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, of Winnipeg, formerly of Peterborough, and Mr. Robt. Ruddy, of Millbrook, are among the 188 barristers who have been created King's Counsels by the Ontario Government and are now entitled to wear the silk gown.

The many friends of these gentlemen will extend hearty congratulations on the signal honor which has been accorded them and trust that they may live long to wear with dignity the new distinction in the legal firmament. The official statement says:—"The appointment of King's counsel has been a question difficult to deal with, and this accounts for the delay in the making of this list."

"Up to, say 25 years ago, barristers outside of Toronto as a rule sent their more important business to a few leaders of the bar there, and the selection of Queen's counsel, made on strictly professional grounds, was much easier than it is to-day, when the argument of important cases is not confined to a small group of professional men in Toronto. To-day the majority of the members of the bar in this province are capable of dealing with, and do deal with, any important litigation which may come in their way.

"The situation is further complicated by the fact that for many years back, at each creation of Queen's counsel, a large number of Conservative barristers have been passed over, although well qualified. Indeed, since 1890 160 gentlemen have received silk at the hands of the Ontario Government, less than 20 of whom were Conservatives. No fair-minded person will defend such injustice.

"In common fairness it has, therefore, become necessary to appoint many of those who were passed over, as well as to deal with the normal increase in the number of those qualified. This has been done as far as possible, including a number of Liberals and, of course, it accounts for the large number of names on the list. It is not claimed that the list is a complete one. The circumstances indicated above render that impossible."

The legal gentlemen of this city who hre K.C.'s in addition to those just appointed are A. P. Poussette, George Edmison and D. W. Dumble.

A FAMILY OF K.C.'S

In the list of King's Counsels that have been created by the Ontario Government appears the name of Mr. F. D. Moore, of Lindsay, brother of Mr. W. H. Moore of this city. It is not often that one finds two K.C.'s in one family and more rare is it to find two K.C.'s created from one family at the same time.

CITY'S BILL CONSIDERED

Good Progress Made at Council Meeting Last Night

The City Council in Committee of the Whole last night took up the different clauses of the city's bill for legislation. City Solicitor Hall was present and also Mr. W. H. Moore, representing the City Trust Commission. The bill makes provision for the election of aldermen for a two year term, and also for several changes in connection with the City Trust. Several bylaws are also included.

Counter Hoppers Again Victorious

Cressman's Hockey Septette Win From Grafters—Have Never Lost a Game

Cressman's counter hoppers have as a hockey aggregation the reputation of having never been beaten, and it certainly held good last evening, when between ten and eleven o'clock at the Brook street rink, they administered an overwhelming defeat to the "Grafters" to the tune of five goals to one. The team were as follows;—

	Goal
Titterson		Steward
	Point
Anderson		Hopkins
	Cover
Wade		Staunton
	Centre
Tisdale		Butler
	Rover
Darling		Haskell

Mr. P. Donegan made a satisfactory referee, and Messrs. J. Lightfoot and C Little acted as goal umpires.

OBITUARY

ROBERT NURSE.

The funeral of the late Robt. Nurse, of South Monaghan, took place on Monday, and was largely attended. The remains were interred in Dawson's cemetery. Rev. J. E. Wetherall, of Bensfort, conducted the services. The late Mr. Nurse sustained a paralytic stroke on his right side a few days before his death, which occurred on Saturday last. He was a life long resident of the township, his farm being about a mile from Bensfort. He was an honest, upright man, respected by his neighbors, and enjoying the confidence of all. In politics he was a consistent life-long Conservative and a faithful worker in the ranks of his party. The deceased was 72 years old. His wife died about a year ago. There are left to mourn his loss a family of five sons—Albert, George, Nelson and Joshua, all residing in South Monaghan, and Richard, of Hoard's Corners, Otonabee. In Mr. Nurse, a kind neighbor, firm friend and quiet inoffensive resident of South Monaghan has passed away.

RAILWAY ROUTES TO THE CAPITAL

City Council Should Have G.T.R. Act on Practical Suggestion

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I see by yesterday's Review, that the C.P.R. is going to build a direct line between Toronto and Montreal via Port Hope, Cobourg and other towns on the shore of Lake Ontario, and that the Canadian Northern Ry. is also going to build a short route between Toronto and Ottawa, paralleling the former from Toronto as far as Port Hope and Cobourg, then northerly to Ottawa. It was shown by a letter in the Toronto World some time ago, written by a resident of Peterborough, that the shortest possible route between these points was via Oshawa, Millbrook, Peterborough and Perth, thus saving many miles and passing through both the fertile lands and mining lands of Central and Eastern Ontario. This route was favorably commented on by the World and our local press. Here is a splendid opportunity for our city council and board of trade to make an effort to have this route adopted. It need only be impressed on the railway company in order that it may realize the advantages of this route over all others, besides much shorter.

Yours, etc.,

ALERT.

An Explanation as to Bridges

Mr. Moher Says too Strong a Construction Was Placed on His Language

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I have seen in your paper a letter over the signature of County Ratepayer, in which it is alleged that I stated at a public meeting of the ratepayers of Douro, that Mr. Belcher admitted to me that he had left off wingdams on two bridges, known as Keene and Evans bridges, thereby saving the contractor $1600. You will allow me, sir, to say that I never intended to make such a statement and to my knowledge never did make such a statement. What Mr. Belcher said to me was that by leaving the wingdams off the bridge he saved the county $1,600. I am sorry anything appears in the paper which appears to reflect on the honor of the gentleman whom I have known a long time. I am aware of the fact that the plans and specifications signed by the contractor for the construction of these bridges, are in the possession of the county clerk, and that they have never been changed and that no wingdams are shown or provided for by these plans and specifications.

Regretting that any misunderstanding of my words should have been held, I am, sir,

Your obedient servant,

F. MOHER.

Mr. F. Moher, ex-Reeve of Douro was in Peterborough on Monday and a reporter of the Review questioned him regarding the communication.

Mr. Moher stated that perhaps too strong a construction was being placed upon the language used by him at the Douro nomination meeting. "You know," he said, "that we farmers do not always just use words exactly to express what we wish to convey." What I wished to say, said Mr. Moher, "was what Mr. Belcher said when I asked him why there were no wings on the bridges was that he had left them off to save the county."

"Then when I asked him how it was that the chairman was disappointed at there being no wing dams on the abutments he admitted that Mr. McGlenay had spoken about it, but not until the abutments were almost completed."

"The matter that I wished to bring before the minds of the people was a comparison between the abutments of this year being all that were anticipated and the ones of last year a disappointment so far as the wings were concerned."

"I trust that Mr. Belcher will see where I stand when I was showing the people how my predecessor did not see the plans before he advertised, or else he did not know wing dams when he saw them. I am not complaining. If I complain of everything and against all of it it would fill a newspaper," concluded Mr. Moher as he walked away.

City Council Favors Fixed Assessment for Two Firms

Resolutions Passed to Give Fixed Valuation to Auburn Woollen Mills and Peter Hamilton Co. for Ten Years—Approval of Legislature Will be Asked.

If the Provincial Legislature will confirm the action, City Council will grant fixed assessment to the Auburn Woollen Mills and the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Co. The Auburn Co. is to be placed at a valuation of $40,000 for ten years and the Hamilton Co. at $30,000 for the same period. The matter was dealt with at the meeting of the city council last night when resolutions to the above effect were passed. Mr. Jas. Kendry waited on the council on behalf of the Auburn Woollen Mills and Mr. Jas. Hamilton for the Hamilton Co.

Mr. Jas. Kendry said he appeared before the council to ask for fixed assessment for the Auburn Woollen Mills. Their reason for making such a request was that they had been paying taxes on their property for many years without having any improvements made by the city. They had no waterworks or sewerage and had increased their business without asking anything from the city.

At the present time it was hard to compete with other concerns engaged in similar business who enjoyed privileges that the local company did not have.

Over 100 woollen mills had been forced out of business in the past seven years. The woollen mill at Cobourg had got exemption from taxes for ten years and the manager of the company had stated recently that they expected similar exemption for a further period. Mr. Kendry cited cases of woollen mills in other places that were either exempt from taxes or were placed on a low fixed assessment. He asked that the Auburn mills be placed on a reasonable fixed assessment at $40,000.

In answer to a question from Ald. Elliott, Mr. Kendry said that the present assessment of the company was $49,280.

THE HAMILTON CO.

Mr. Jas. Hamilton appeared on a similar mission to Mr. Kendry, on behalf of the Peter Hamilton Co. He referred to the fact that the Hamilton Co. had been in business for many years and had never received any consideration from the city. Other concerns engaged in a similar line of manufacture had come in and received privileges from the city that were not enjoyed by the Hamilton Co. Mr. Hamilton referred to the lowering of the duty on implements which had brought in two of the big American firms, the McCormick and Deering. The competition in the implement business was now so close that there was practically no profit in manufacturing implements. He also pointed out what other cities had done for implement firms located therein. The Deering Co. of Hamilton, Verity Plow Co. at Brantford, and Frost & Wood Co. at Smith's Falls were among those cited. These places had granted big concessions to the above concerns, giving them a very low fixed assessment. The valuation of the Hamilton Co. for 1908 was $37,980.

After Messrs. Kendry and Hamilton had retired, the Council took up the two requests.

It was moved by Ald. Morrow, seconded by Ald. Elliott,—That the assessment of the Auburn Woollen mills be fixed at $40,000 for a period of ten years.—Carried.

The matter of fixed assessment for the Peter Hamilton Co. was next taken up.

Ald. Morgan objected to rushing the matter through Council. The Hamilton Co. had been given the use of portion of George street, had been given a portion of King street and of Water street. This he thought was enough for the city to give them. At any rate, $15,000 was not high enough for their assessment and he did not think the Legislature would grant it.

Ald. Morgan moved that a special committee be appointed to deal with the question of fixed assessments, that the committee be a permanent one to deal with such requests in the future.

Ald. Turner said that it might be well to deal with the two companies that had made application. He considered, however, that $15,000 was too low for the Hamilton Co.

Ald. Bradburn differed from Ald. Morgan. The Hamilton Co. were not on the same basis as several other industries in the city. They had received practically no concessions or privileges from the corporation.

Ald. Tovey moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the assessment of the Hamilton Co. be fixed at $20,000 for a period of ten years, this company not to employ less than 75 hands and to be in operation for at least ten months in the year.—Carried.

The two requests will be included in the city's bill to come before the Legislature.

Council Asked to Expropriate Land to Make Channel for Creek

Edinburgh Street Sewer Trouble Again in the Limelight—Board of Works to Deal With the Matter.

This trouble over the filling in of the creek between Dublin and Edinburgh, is again in the limelight. Nothing had been heard about the matter since the middle of last December till a petition was received at the meeting of the Board of Works last night, asking the council to expropriate a strip of Mr. Jas. Bogue's property to make a channel for the stream.

The Board of Works was instructed to take up the matter and report at the next meeting of the council.

A petition sent to the Board of Works by a number of ratepayers residing in the vicinity of Edinburgh street, was dealt with in committee of the whole. The petition requested that the council expropriate a small strip of Mr. Bogue's land between Edinburgh and Dublin streets, parallel to the Grand Trunk tracks, to make a channel for the creek, which had been filled in by Mr. Bogue. The petitioners asked that action be taken at once as the water would back up when the first thaw occurred, and there would be much damage to property.

Mr. Vincent Eastwood waited on the committee and explained the situation very fully and requested that immediate action be taken.

Mr. W. H. Moore spoke along similar lines. The creek had been running long before Peterborough had existed, he said. And Mr. Bogue had filled it in. It was the duty of the city to reopen the creek or provide an artificial channel for it.

Mr. Eastwood said he was willing to pay the cost of expropriating sufficient land to provide a channel if action was taken at once.

Ald. Morrow said the matter had been discussed very fully last year. The council had moved the culvert at the advice of the city solicitor, and unless there were some fresh developments, he saw no reason why anything should be done.

On motion of Ald. Bradburn and Elliott, the matter was referred to the Board of Works, to be reported on at the next meeting of the council.

Little Lake Cemetery Held Annual Meeting Yesterday

Encouraging Reports Read—Finances in Good Condition—Directors Re-appointed—Mr. W. H. Moore Re-elected President.

The annual meeting of the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held yesterday afternoon, in the Council Chamber, at 3 o'clock, when the following members were present:—Messrs. W. H. Moore, E. A. Peck, Jas. Stevenson, Charles Stapleton, B. Shortly, T. A. S. Hay, W. G. Morrow, Jas. Lundy, Wm. Collins and Thos. Tucker.

Mr. Moore was in the chair, and the minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the secretary, Mr. E. A. Peck and confirmed. The reports were then read as follows and confirmed:—

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

Your directors beg to report that during the past year no very expensive work was undertaken, but general advancement, it is believed, made, towards bringing the whole grounds into a more harmonious and desirable condition. Several driveways have been improved; Range Avenue, from the top to the foot of the hill, graded, with cement water tables laid alongside its margins, which will effectually prevent scouring out, from the large flow of water that runs down, after rain storms, and the large outfall drain, that had choked, taken up and relaid, besides much other work carried out. Your directors also built an addition to the new dwelling to provide a room, in which to carry on the potting of plants, in winter and early spring, with a summer kitchen over it.

The city debentures held by the Company, as a future maintenance fund, are the same as last year, namely, $10,917.31. The cash in bank is $582.31, in addition to which there will come in about $1,200 from the year's outstanding accounts, and your Directors would suggest to the incoming Board, that a city debenture be purchased at an early day of at least $1,000.

Your Directors, in view of the fact, that early in the year, they paid the balance of the loan for the erection of the new dwelling and office, and expended $350.00 on the addition to the house, consider there is a good showing for the year's operations, particularly as the grounds have not in any sense been neglected.

It has been gratifying to your Directors to frequently hear favorable comments upon the increasing beauty of the cemetery, from the city, the county, and elsewhere, and to know that their efforts have so generally been referred to and recognized.

In the month of May last Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, who had been a director for several years, resigned, and Mr. W. G. Morrow was appointed in his place for the remainder of the year.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

W. H. MOORE,
President.

To the President, Directors and Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company.

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit the following report of work performed in your cemetery, during 1907.

In the spring a small temporary extension was placed to the greenhouse, which was found necessary owing to the increased demand on the part of the lot owners for flowers for the decoration of their graves and lots. I still find that we are overcrowded and in need of twice our present capacity. An addition, if built, will not require to be as expensive as our present building, owing to it not being required for winter use, therefore it will not be necessary to heat it. Two of the florists have given up the filling of urns for the cemetery, the bulk of which has fallen to us to look after, hence the urgent need for extending.

The cedar hedges and one iron fence have been removed, and in consequence a decided improvement is noticed in the locality from which they were taken.

Owing to the continual washing out of Range Avenue, a permanent cement water table extending from the chapel to the junction with Ravine Avenue, a distance of about 165 feet, has been built upon each side, at the terminals of each watertable a cement catch-basin has been built. The drain leading from these basins and extending along the same avenue, owing to being blocked with sand, was taken up, cleaned and replaced.

A four inch tile drain has been placed at a depth of six feet, and 160 feet in length, in Section K. The draining of this section will be continued as time will allow.

Owing to the light fall of snow last winter, the frost got under the foundation of the front of the receiving vault, and it was found necessary to make some slight repairs. These have been done, but it will be advisable in the near future, to make the work more permanent, or construct a new vault altogether.

During the past year there has been a demand for a permanent cement grave, some of which have been constructed, and have proven satisfactory. These graves can be built any time from April 15th to Nov. 5th, at a very nominal cost.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK WISE,
Superintendent.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

We certify that we have examined the above balance sheet, the treasurer's books and vouchers, and the superintendent's fortnightly returns, and we find the same correct. The securities held by the company and consisting of nine debentures of the City of Peterborough, amounting to $10,917.31, have also been examined by us.

We further certify that we have examined the books of the superintendent for the year 1907, and find them carefully and correctly kept. All moneys received by him appear to have been promptly paid over to the treasurer.

JAMES A. HALL,
T. Q. QUARTERMAINE,
Auditors

Peterborough, 15th January, 1908.

It was moved by Mr. Shortly, seconded by Mr. Hay, that Messrs. Hall and Quartermaine be re-appointed auditors.

Mr. Wm. Collins congratulated the board upon the work of the past year and referred to the increasing beauty of the cemetery and the splendid way it is maintained. He regretted that a larger number of the shareholders were not present to learn of the affairs of the company. However, it is an evidence of the confidence they place in this board when they do not turnout to see how things are being run.

It was moved by Mr. Collins, seconded by Mr. Tucker, that the directors of 1908 be the same as those of 1907.

The shareholders' meeting then adjourned, and the directors proceeded with the election of officers;

President—Mr. W. H. Moore,

Secretary-treasurer — Mr. E. A. Peck.

Mr. Moore thanked the directors for the confidence placed in him, evidenced by his re-election. He referred to the beauty of Little Lake cemetery. It was equal to many of the larger cemeteries in this Province, and the finances were in a healthy condition.

The question of the removal of the vault to under the chapel was taken up but nothing was definitely decided upon. It was left over until another meeting of the directors.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE EYE EXCLUSIVELY

We do not profess to know all about the eye; Who does? but we have devoted about fifteen years exclusively to the study, inspection and teaching of eye examinations for eye glasses and the fitting of Artificial Eyes.

We believe we can, and do, make this experience valuable to all who consult us, and while we appreciate the liberal patronage of Peterborough, we shall ever aim to increasingly merit the confidence of our citizens.

Saturday Market Was Well Attended

There was a fairly good market inside Saturday morning, most everything being sold. Chickens sold at 80 cents and 90 cents per pair; eggs, 30 cents for newly laid, and 25 cents for held overs; butter, at 28 cents and 30 cents per pound; turkeys, from $1 to $2; ducks, 90 cents to $1.25. There was a large market on the outside and sales were good, and beef sold fast. Beef went at from 5 cents for fronts and 6 cents for hinds to 5-1-2 and 6 1-2 cents; two extra hinds sold for 7 cents. Pork sold generally for 9 cents and 10 cents. Apples sold from 50 cents to 80 cents per bag, according to quality and kind; potatoes were selling at 75 cents and 80 cents per bag. There was plenty of wood for sale on the market, hardwood selling at $4.75 to $5.50 per cord. The prevailing price for hay was $18 and $13 per ton; straw, $10 per ton.

WAS SHE POISONED?

Thamesville, Ont.—The wife of a prominent citizen of Thamesville was the heroine of a mysterious case which has just been successfully solved. About a year ago, Mrs. J. W. Dulong began to suffer with headaches. There was no apparent cause for them. After trying the ordinary "headache remedies," and failing to get relief, Mrs. Dulong consulted several physicians, who pooh-hooed the idea of anything out of the ordinary and told her she "would be all right."

Vague hints became rumors. Was Mrs. Dulong being poisoned? Yes, she was—and strangest of all, by herself. Not intentionally—nor with drugs—but nevertheless, she was slowly poisoning herself. Headaches are always a sign of blood poisoning. Bowels, skin and kidneys should rid the system of tissue waste. If one of these organs are weak or not acting properly, this waste stays in the system—is absorbed by the blood—and irritates the nerves and makes the headaches.

"I have tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and found them splendid for headaches," writes Mrs. Dulong after her recovery. "I feel so much better since I commenced taking them. I think they are a splendid medicine and" (note this) "I am recommending them to my friends." Everybody, who takes Fruit-a-tives, is grateful for the cures they effect. It is wonderful how quickly "Fruit-a-tives" give relief in all cases stomach, liver, kidney and bowel trouble. If you suffer, get a box today; 50c, 6 boxes for $2.50. At your druggist or sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa Ont.

LEGAL COMMITTEE HELD A MEETING

At a meeting of the Legal committee of the City Council on Saturday afternoon, a resolution was passed recommending the Council to join in the petition of the Municipal Association to the Ontario Legislature to have the Municipal Act amended to take away the liability of municipalities for accidents on public highways.

The legislation to be asked for by the city at the coming session of the Legislature was discussed and some further arrangements made in connection therewith. Ald. Elliott, the chairman, presided and all the members of the committee were present.
